Foreword

Silver City is located high in the Owyhee Mountains of southwestern Idaho at the headwaters of Jordan Creek in a picturesque valley between War Eagle Mountain on the east and Florida Mountain on the west at an elevation of approximately 6,300 feet. In 1863 gold was discovered on Jordan Creek, starting the boom and bust cycle of Silver City.

During the peaks of activity in the local mines, the population grew to a few thousand residents with a full range of business services. Most of the mines played out by 1914. Today there are numerous summer homes and one hotel, but no year-long residents.

Nine miles “down the road” from Silver City was DeLamar, another mining boom town. Although DeLamar wasn’t as big as Silver City, it was also rich in mining history. Other small, short lived mining towns in the area were Dewey, Ruby City, Fairview, and Wagon Town.

Silver City was the county seat of Idaho’s Owyhee County until 1935 when the county seat was moved to Murphy, a more central location in the county. The “Owyhee Avalanche” was the local newspaper for Silver City, founded in August of 1865. The “DeLamar Nugget”, a spicy, local newspaper, was started in May of 1891.

As miners and their families moved to Owyhee County in search of treasure and riches, preachers and ministers arrived in search of souls to save. The Episcopal Church was one of the earliest and most active missionary churches in the Idaho Territory. The Rev. St. Michael Fackler established the church’s presence in Boise in 1864, a year after Congress created the Idaho Territory. In October 1866, he conducted religious services in Silver City.

A year later, the Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, newly elected bishop of the missionary district of Montana, Idaho, and Utah, arrived in Idaho with a party of missionaries to serve the new mission field. One of the missionaries, his brother-in-law the Rev. G. D. B. Miller, accompanied him to Silver City in October 1867 and performed the first baptisms for the Episcopal Church there. Silver City was served by visiting clergymen from Boise, 73 miles away by road, for many years. In 1898, an Episcopal Church, known as St. James, was erected high on a knoll overlooking the town.

Besides the Episcopal Church, other denominations established themselves in Silver City in the 19th century as well. The Union Church and Sunday School was started by Rev. Case in 1865 for the Protestants who wanted a place of worship. The Catholic Church was established in Silver City in the early 1870s. Methodist ministers also visited Silver City. There was also a significant Chinese population. Mine closures prompted families to move away and the churches to discontinue their services. The Episcopal congregation dwindled and St. James Church was sold to the Catholic Church and became Our Lady of Tears. It is still a landmark in Silver City.

The three original Episcopal parish registers transcribed in this book are located at Boise State University, Albertsons Library, Special Collections Department. Alan Virta, the Head of Special Collections, assisted with the proofreading of this work and donated invaluable input to this process. The registers were donated to Boise State University by the Episcopal Diocese of Idaho in 1989. They have been microfilmed by the Family History Library in Salt Lake City, Utah, film #1429811.

All of the entries in these registers were handwritten, sometimes with penmanship that was difficult to read. Many names were spelled inconsistently over the years. We have attempted to transcribe these names as closely to the original as possible; correcting only what appeared to be obvious, unintentional errors. The number in () after each entry indicates the page on which the entry appears in the original registers.

The clergy who visited Silver City for the Episcopal Church between 1867 and 1916 were F. H. Argo, William Bollard, Almond Chamberlaine, S. W. Creasy, Frederick W. Crook, Charles E. Deuel, Thomas E. Dickey, H. L. Fitch, H. S. Foote, James Funsten, William A. Hamilton, S. J. Jennings, John M. Johnston, David H. Jones, Herbert Jukes, G. D. B. Miller, Jacob Probst, J. P. Sylton, Ethelbert Talbot, Daniel S. Tuttle, and A. Osmond Worthington. They are listed in the Index of Surnames at the back of the book but are not indexed on every page on which their names appear.

History

Silver City, Idaho

As will be seen from clerical signatures, farm Priests from Boise City, [Idaho] have given visits here. Rev. Th. Dickey came as resident Pastor in 1875 remaining about a year. In May 1880, Rev. Frederick W. Crook held the mission as visiting Minister in charge for the Bishop, making monthly visits.

[The above "History" was handwritten in the front of the parish register.]

Church and Clergyman's Record Book Historic Notes

St. George's Mission - De Lamar, Idaho

Rev. Jacob Probst took charge of this Mission August 11th 1895, being inducted by the Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, Bishop of the Diocese.

For thirteen months previous to his coming, Mr. F. H. Argo, Lay Reader, had charge of the work.

No parish record was kept during his term of service, so that the records in this book date only from the beginning of Mr. Probst's work.

The records of work at Silver City and other places are not to be found in this book - nothing but the work in De Lamar and at Muir (the Mine) being kept herein.

On Sunday, 15 Dec 1895, Mr. Probst was ordained Priest in St. Michael's Church, Boise, Idaho, by Rt. Rev. E. Talbot, presented by Rev. C. E. Deuel.

Rev. Jacob Probst conducted his last service on 16 Feb 1896, leaving thereafter for Rock Springs, Wyoming.

[The above "History" was handwritten in the front of the parish register.]
