STUDENT UNION PROGRAMS BOARD

1979-1980 was a year of transition for the Student Union Programs Board. It was a year in which students began to take pride in what they were doing and in what the board could do. The most substantial change came in the form of Senate Bill #9, introduced by Senators Annie Malcolm, Jim Barnes, Steve Marcum and Sylvia Burley. The Office of Student Activities worked very closely with these students and finally developed very workable guidelines for the SUPB.

The new guidelines called for a name change. The Student Programs Board now has four or five (depending on whether the ASBSU President chooses to make a special appointment such as she did this year) voting members and four non-voting members. They are: the SPB Director; SPB Special Appointee for Program Development; three chairpersons, Concerts and Public Relations, Lectures/Campus Forums/Special Events, and Fine Arts/Films (all voting members). The Publicity Officer, a Student Senate Representative, the Advisor and the Business Manager will all be non-voting members. The appointments will now be made in January, which will allow the Student Activities Office ample time to train new appointees. and will also allow the new board members a chance to develop their new budgets for the coming year.

For the first time, the SPB will have their own Business Manager. This addition has been long overdue. The Business Manager will, hopefully, insure a more financially responsible board and will take a lot of pressure off the individual chairpeople during the programming process.

The selection of the appointees has also changed. They will now be interviewed by a selection committee who will in turn, submit a list of qualified candidates to the ASBSU President or the SPB Director. They must then make their appointment from this list. We feel this will be a real plus for student programming and are very excited to set it to work.

While the Programs Board admittedly had a few problems last year, the 1979-80 school year was filled with new and exciting programs. The largest problem which arose was the inaccurate estimate of revenue. The PB fell far short of the revenues they predicted they would receive. This limited the spring shows they had planned, but none-the-less they presented a wide variety of programs all year long.

LECTURES:

Again this year, the SUPB teamed up with the Faculty Wives and Women to present the Faculty Lecture Series. The SUPB included this in their regular lecture series, which made for a very well-rounded program in lectures. The following is a list of the lectures presented this past year:

- Mr. Peter Strudwick spoke on how to overcome your handicaps. He is the foremost authority on the handicapped in the world. He has no feet or hands and needless to say, his speech was very inspirational.
- Mr. Ralph Nader spoke on the energy problems and how they effect the consumer. He was very well received and provided a good lecture for the start of homecoming week.
- Mr. Hank Aaron, the home run king, was supposed to speak on October 31, but due to a serious injury to his son, had to cancel at the last minute.
- Dr. Robert Simms spoke on the return of the Japanese Americans to the West Coast following World War II. His lecture was very well received.
- Dr. Berry Asmus spoke on the causes, consequences and cures of inflation. Dr. Asmus has many controversial reviews and was extremely interesting and popular with the audience.
- Dr. Mamie Oliver, of the Social Work Department, spoke on the family of today. She was extremely interesting and popular.
- Dr. Felix Heap, Associate Professor of Art, spoke on the life and times of St. Francis of Assisi and the effect of art during this time in history.
- Mr. Uri Geller, a favorite of Boise audiences, again played to a packed house. His powers astounded all. He was extremely well received and will always be popular in this area.

-Dr. Jerry Tucker spoke on the correography between concern for environmental quality and economic well-being and the role of government, industry and citizen's groups in education for survival.

-Senator William Proxmire spoke to a crowd of approximately 300 people. His speech on government waste was very informative.

-Dr. Marcia Wicklow-Howard spoke on mushrooms in the United States. It was informative and very popular with outdoor enthusiasts.

-Hugh Prather--While the Programs Board did not sponsor this event, they helped coordinate and make it the success it was..

FIILMS:

While the selection of films was not agreeable to all students, the SUPB film series was the most popular of all programs offered by the board.

The films were generally of the popular/contemporary nature, but a few foreign and classical films were also included.

This past year, the SUPB tried to offer the movies on Friday afternoon as a service to commuter students. This did not prove to be as popular as was first believed. After analyzing this idea, it was decided Friday was not a good day to try this and perhaps another day of the week would prove more popular.

The following are the movies shown during the 1979-80 school year: Smokey and the Bandit, The Front, Midway, Two Women, The Goodby Girl, Tommy, House Calls, The Sentinel, All the President's Men, Investigation of a Citizen Above Suspicion, Quinet, MacArthur, Jesus Christ--Superstar, A Star is Born, A Clockwork Orange, Outlaw Jossie Wales, Day of the Dolphin, 8½, Family Plot, Capricorn One, Sound of Music, Zardoz, Oh God!, The Assassination of Trotsky, Coma, The Big Fix, and the Groove Tube.

CONCERTS:

The 1979-80 concert season was very well planned. The only complaint the SUPB received was that there were too few concerts. The reason for this was the underestimation in possible revenues. This forced the use of Concert Committee revenues in other areas to make up for the non-revenue making programs. The Student Activities Office worked closely with the Treasurer to eliminate this problem next year and succeeded in securing the concert's budget for next year. The money for concerts will remain with the concert's budget exclusively on a revolving basis. Concerts was budgeted for only the fall semester, and spring semester will be budgeted through revenues produced in the fall. We feel this will allow for a year-long concert programming schedule and the students are very excited about this possibility.

The Concert Committee experienced no large problems with any of their scheduled events. The following is a list of their programs:

- High Noon--This was a last-minute concert, which through a prior agreement the SUPB had to supply the ballroom. (The winner of the Battle of the Bands was given a concert at BSU and we could not convince them to wait until school started.) The concert was very poorly attended. Luckily, the SUPB had no financial connection with this concert.
- Charlie McGuire, a popular solo artist, again enchanted audiences with his great talents. This was presented as a coffeehouse concert.
- The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band--This world famous country/rock band (just back from a tour of Russia) played to two packed houses. They were very well received. The only problem the committee encountered was with the sound system. At noon, the day of the concert, we found their sound and lighting equipment was sitting in Logan, Utah. After a few minutes of panic, the committee members contacted the local agents and were able to set up a good system. The concert then went off without a hitch.
- Snail--This rock group played to near full houses. While this kind of music is not as popular with our students, it gave the committee a chance to review their objectives, and the kind of music they should be presenting.
- The B.S.U. Jazz Festival--Again this year, the SUPB co-sponsored this annual event. While the big-name band was absent from the program, the SUPB sponsored two lesser known groups who were just as successful. They were "Oregon" and "Simon and Bard".

HOMECOMING 1979 - BSU YESTERDAY, TODAY AND TOMORROW

"A sense of pride and camaraderie, a renewed tradition and a hunger for victory over the Northern Arizona University Lumberjacks combined Saturday to make Boise State University's homecoming one of its best, students and Alumni agreed."

Linda Funaiole
Idaho Statesman 11/79

Yes, this year's homecoming celebration was one of BSU's best! It was the successful culmination of a two-year effort aimed at uniting students, staff, faculty and alumni in planning and implementing a truly university-wide program. Old traditions were revived and revised . . . and contemporary entertainment selected to make the week of October 26 through November 3 a memorable blend of social, educational and athletic events.

Perhaps the greatest achievement of Homecoming 1979 was the 'esprit de corps'. There was a real unity of purpose and a sense of pride shared by the entire university community. Everyone contributed toward this week's success . . . over fifteen organizations built floats for the parade; the Dean of the largest school on campus worked with boy scouts to blow up balloons for the football game; the homecoming magazine for the first time was written, edited and printed by students; the Vocational-Technical School worked for days, well into the morning hours to surprise the University and community with the repair of BSU's Calliope for the parade (experts said it would take thousands of dollars to recondition the Calliope--if it could even be accomplished at all); the executive assistant to BSU's President along with a county commissioner were disc jockeys for the dance; local merchants donated prizes for the week's activities; and the ASB President strummed his guitar and sang during a special evening honoring homecoming royalty.

The calendar of this extended week of activities included:

Oct. 26--Ralph Nader, consumer advocate, was the week's opening headliner.

Mr. Nader's talk on "The Energy Monopolies and Energy Consumers--

Who's Winning?' was attended by a crowd of over 1,000.

- Oct. 27--"Winewood", popular local music group played for a benefit dance to "Save the Elms".
- Oct. 28--Students and alumni were invited to bring their blankets and pillows to the SUB Ballroom, relax (if they could), and watch the horror film "Sentinel". This newly released film was selected not only for its popularity, but also because this was Halloween week.
- Oct. 29--Student Residential Life and Saga Food Service combined efforts in a festive meal for "Bronco Spirits". A pep rally was led by Coach Jim Criner, the football team and the cheerleaders. To revive the formalities of crowning homecoming royalty, a special evening was planned in the Lookout. It included the crowning, entertainment by ASB President, Mike Cramer and fellow student Sue Criner and watching the burning of the "B" on Table Rock, sponsored by Sigma Phi Epsilon.
- Oct. 30--Five hundred people attended the Greek "All Stars vs. Campus All Star" game held in the stadium.
- Oct. 31--Hank Aaron, due to a personal emergency was unable to appear. This was our only disappointment of the week.
- Nov. 1--The 2nd Annual All American Talent Show was a great success. Fifteen finalists performed, and tickets were sold out days in advance. Prizes included a waterbed, a studio recording session, and dinners at fine local restaurants.
- Nov. 2--The Homecoming Dance, held at the Red Lion Inn (formerly Rodeway), drew a crowd of 1,500, which is the largest attendance ever achieved. Music was provided by disc jockeys "Salt and Pepper", with selections from 1930 to 1980, and this gave everyone a chance to dance their favorites and relive the sounds of their college days. A light show with a revolving crystal ball added an extra atmosphere. The bookstore staff was on hand to sell homecoming mums designed by the BSU Horticulture Department.

Nov. 3--Dr. Keiser, BSU President served as Grand Marshall of the revived Homecoming Day Parade. This was the first homecoming parade BSU has had in almost a decade. The parade started early and wound through downtown Boise. There were fifteen floats, Borah High's marching band and drill team, the University Jazz Band, the Calliope, cheerleaders, antique automobiles carrying area high school homecoming royalty and the ROTC color guard, who assisted with parade control. The winning floats were parked inside the stadium. Half-time events included the presentation of Homecoming Court, Distinguished Friend of Alumni, Distinguished Faculty, and Mrs. Velma Morrison.

Victory over Northern Arizona (44-7) ended a winning week on a winning note.

SPECIAL EVENTS

This was a very busy year for the Special Events Committee. Besides homecoming, they were involved in many major programs. They were:

--The Republic of China, Youth Goodwill Mission--This group of young people from the Republic of China presented an evening which will not soon be forgotten. Not only did they enchant their audience, the students involved made friends with the cast members and are still corresponding with them.

--Mark McCullom--This very talented musician and comedian presented his program to a small audience who cheered him and laughed until they cried.

--Bill Alexander--This talented comic played before a very small audience. His show "Is there life after college?", was very well done and had special meaning to the all-student audience.

--Parent's Visitation Day--The Office of Student Activities sponsored an open house for our area in conjunction with this university-wide day.

--Preview Day--The Student Activities Office worked on this project by supplying tables with information concerning our activities and opportunities.

--Silver and Gold Awards--Presentation was supported very strongly by this office. It gave students a chance to receive recognition, where none is normally given. We are planning to expand this next year.

--Photo Contest--This was a very successful event sponsored by the Program Board. This contest gave student photographers a chance to display their talents while competing for prizes. It was very popular and will be repeated next year.

--Side by Side by Sondheim--This fine production played before an all-student audience on February 15, 1980. The following quote is from the March 1980, ACUI Region 14 Newsletter and gives details of staff and student involvement: "The staff of the Student Union at Boise State University has just completed a major project resulting in the commitment of state and private funds which will be used in the construction of a major classroom building and 2,000 seat auditorium and performing arts complex.

During the summer of 1979, Velma Morrison donated 3.5 million dollars toward the construction of the new Harry W. Morrison Center for the Performing Arts, with the understanding that the remaining 8.5 million dollars would be allocated from state funds and other private donations.

The Morrison Center, a dream come true for Boise State University and the city of Boise, will provide a setting where artists, audiences and art can come together. It will enrich the cultural lives of Idahoans for generations to come. As well as being a center for the performing arts, the Morrison Center will house the departments of Music, Theatre Arts and Communication. Plans are now under way to bring the much needed Morrison Center to Boise.

The University Community Arts Association, a new organization at BSU, operates with the aim of focusing and formalizing cooperation and assistance between the University and the many artistic groups of Boise. The Association's first major project is the fund raising and follow-through for the Morrison Center. Their first step was successful. The Association sponsored the show "Side by Side by Sondheim", and its success has proven a marvelous beginning for the University Community Arts Association. It is the intent of the University Community Arts Association to advise and assist the artistic presence at the University, to encourage increased mutual aid, to assist students at BSU in pursuing education in the arts and to support future projects that have artistic merit.

As a lobbying effort, the SUB Director, Fred Norman, and the University Community Arts Association presented the Stephen Sondheim classic "Side by Side by Sondheim". Under the direction of Fred Norman, the cast of three women and four men rehearsed for nearly four months. The four months of work proved successful as the opening night audience of state legislators voted to fund the project with a five-million-dollar appropriation. The legislators called it one of the most enjoyable and entertaining lobbying efforts they had ever experienced. The production then ran through the month of February playing to nearly 7,000 people including three special group performances, one for BSU students, one for faculty and one for alumni of the University. Due to the great success of the show, it was held over for two additional performances.

While Fred Norman was the driving force behind the entire project, the other staff members and student workers in the SUB were also very much involved in the project and still managed to carry on their day-to-day duties. Staff members Mike Henthorne, Assistant Director of the SUB, served as production coordinator; Steve Dingmann, Coordinator of Special Events, acted as scenic and lighting designer and stage manager.

We would be remiss if we did not stress the tremendous effort of the entire SUB staff. Besides their regular duties, Mary Foley found the time to keep the books straight and oversee all ticket sales; Vicki David used her artistic talent to create the needed promotional displays; and Tina Gunter, Mary Sims-Gerdes and Carol Covington answered the constantly-ringing telephones for over a month selling tickets and answering questions about the show. Countless others, too numerous to mention, also gave time and effort to making the production a success.

This tremendous effort by the staff and their Director teamed with a previous three-year effort which resulted in the construction of a 12,000 seat sports and cultural pavilion proves the dedication of the students and SUB staff toward excellence in higher education at BSU."

--St. Patrick's Day Smoker--Again this was a favorite for local boxing fans. This year the program was better prepared and better attended. This was an event co-sponsored by the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

--Beach Party Dance--This was a new idea this year which turned out to be the programming highlight. All audience members dressed in beach attire and danced to surfing music in an atmosphere created by umbrellas, surfboards, the Beach Patrol (security), and shades of the sixties. The only complaint voiced was that it ended too early (1:00 a.m.).

NATIONAL STUDENT EXCHANGE

The 1979-80 school year marked BSU's third year of participation in the National Student Exchange Program. This year twenty-six BSU students exchanged to other campuses, while we hosted 16 students from various states across the country.

Brenda Freeman welcomed the 79-80 exchange students with a weekend camping spree to Stanley that served not only as welcome to everyone, but to unite the NSE students. After this event, the pangs of loneliness felt by many of the NSE students were greatly reduced. Brenda also held a welcoming reception in which BSU students, student government officers, NSE Advisory Committee, and campus officials were on hand to meet and greet the new NSE students. Other special activities this year included: an all-day jaunt to the Bruneau sand dunes, a trip to McCall for the annual Winter Carnival, an all-day cross country skiing expedition, and a spring picnic at Ann Morrison Park.

The National Student Exchange Program became more firmly entrenched at Boise State with the accomplishment of the following: the establishment of a point system for use in ranking applications, revisions to the guidelines for the NSE Advisory Board, and the acquisition of films of the Plan A and Plan B schools from the consortium. Brenda Freeman and Diana Fairchild both worked very hard to further public relations with important departments on campus; and to provide more entertainment for the NSE students on campus in order to insure their exchange would be enjoyable.

BSU was represented at the March Placement Conference in Reno, Nevada, and came away with a better placement record than ever before. We were able to place all 32 students, 31 of which went to their first choice college; and accepted 37 students--more than the last three years combined! We were finally able to resolve the problem of financial aid distribution. To be effective beginning with the 1981-82 academic year, the following policy was approved:

The institution at which tuition/fees are paid shall be responsible for assessing need; and committing, awarding and disbursing federally funded financial aid.

Naturally, the NSE program is continuing efforts to expand and four new universities have applied for membership to the consortium. If accepted, we will add Alaska and Nebraska to the states represented in the program. Total students participating in the program has increased, also. At the March conference, 1761 students were placed for the 1980-81 school year, as opposed to 1527 last year.

JUDICIARY

The Associated Student Body Judiciary Council serves as the Court of Original Jurisdiction for all cases involving alleged violations of ASBSU and/or University regulations or policies. They hear all complaints other than academic complaints. In recent years, BSU students, faculty members and ASB officials have become increasingly more aware of the purpose of this body. Therefore, they have turned to the Judiciary for advice and to resolve their problems.

This year, the ASB Judiciary reviewed four Senate Bills and Constitutional Amendments, rendered three formal opinions, reviewed and sent to the Senate thirteen student organizational constitutions and had four hearings. In addition to this business, they also worked to improve their internal procedures. At the beginning of the year, the Judiciary revised the "Order of Hearing" format; however, due to the complexity of the cases handled, the need to be more specific was recognized and it was revised once again in May.

In an effort to assist students wishing to establish new organizations, the Judiciary developed as a reference guide a model constitution.

New Judicial forms were also used this year, including Notification of Decision, Statement of Fact and Notice of Hearing.

- 11/7/79 Bill #1, establish guidelines to prevent bodies funded from ASBSU budget from overspending their allocated allowances.
- 11/7/79 Bill #2, combine Acts #8 and #11, Program Board and Public Relations Department

ASB ELECTION BOARD

Voter participation in the Homecoming Election increased 30% over previous years. This greater voter turnout was attributed largely to the enthusiastic advertising efforts of the Election Board. Their early informational campaign resulted in doubling the number of candidates for homecoming royalty. During the polling days, classroom announcements were made, flyers listing polling places and times were posted and Election Board officials made loudspeaker announcements throughout the campus while driving the motorized "Bronco Helmet". In total, nine hundred and eighty-one students cast votes for the 13 Homecoming Queen candidates, 8 Mr. Broncos and 8 Distinguished Faculty/Staff nominees.

Two ASB Lobby proposals were also decided from this poll. Students overwhelmingly indicated to the ASB Lobby they favored: support of (1) legislation to require the State Board of Education to secure student consent prior to affixing fee increases; and (2) legislation requiring car insurance companies to end discrimination based on a student driver's age, sex and status.

The ASB Primary Election, instead of accomplishing its normal purpose of narrowing the number of contenders for the General Election, served actually as a slate to add candidates to the ballot. Three write-in hopefuls won Senatorial spots in the General Election, and brought the Senate race up to 8 candidates for 10 positions. Perhaps the major surprise in the primary was the result of the Presidential race. Only a nine (9) vote margin separated these two candidates.

Before the General Election, the campaign pace stepped up. More publicity was evident on campus and the Election Board sponsored an open debate between candidates. Gary Monchief of the Political Science Department was invited as moderator. Each candidate was allowed a three-minute statement and a one-and-a-half minute rebuttal. After candidates gave introductory remarks on the future of student government and their major goals if elected, questions on PIRG and faculty evaluations dominated the time remaining.

The number of students voting in the General Elections practically doubled that of the Primary. Sally Thomas won the Presidential office with a 138 vote lead over her opponent, Neal Wilson. All senate seats were filled.

Two constitutional amendments won approval on the primary ballot. In the spring of 1979, students voted to reduce membership in the Senate to two representatives from each of the five schools. The constitutional amendments listed this year designated "there shall be two ASB elections, one in the spring for the President, Vice-President, and one senator from each school; and a separate election in the fall semester for the remaining half of the Senate". All elected officers would serve a one year term. However, the senate terms would be staggered. Since this was the first year it would be effective, it was determined that the student senator in each school receiving the highest vote in the General Election would serve for a full year, and all others would need to seek reelection in the fall. It is felt this system of biannual elections will lend continuity to the ASBSU. Half of the Senate will always have some experience, and programs are more apt to be continued with each new administration.

Senate Act #15, the Election Code for the governance of campus elections was changed this year. The major revisions dealt with absentee voting and campaign literature. Eligible voters may now request an absentee ballot five days prior, but no less than two days prior to the election. "Said voter must be able to vote during regular polling hours in order to obtain an absentee ballot." In an effort to insure campaign material will be taken down, the following rule was added to Senate Act #15: "All posters and handouts must be removed the day prior to the first day of regular voting . . . flagrant violation of this rule will result in the candidate's name being removed from the ballot."

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Student organizations at any university do not easily fall into categories. Boise State's are no different. BSU students are drawn from a variety of ethnic, social and economic backgrounds and they represent all age groups, from the recent high school graduate to community senior citizens returning to school to enrich their lives.

The wide range of student organizations and activities on campus reflects the individuality and the vitality of this diverse student body. Some organizations trace their origins to the early days of the campus, while others reflect new student interests. All of the organizations pride themselves in offering BSU students the opportunity for fulfillment and self-expression through a wide range of extracurricular activities.

In 1935, the first student organization was established. Today, the Student Activities Office serves as the campus resource center for over 90 diverse student groups. In this capacity we provide support and advisement to individual organizations in matters of organizational structure, leadership, program planning, promotion, public relations, contracts, budgeting and fundraising. We also assist new groups with the recognitional process. This year ten new student organizations were formed.

In addition to working on an individual basis with student organizations, the Student Activities office also sponsored and co-sponsored all campus organizational events and publications. At the beginning of the fall semester, we planned and hosted a "back to school" get-together to acquaint organizational leaders with the many BSU resources. Over 30 student organizations attended. Representatives from the Arbiter, Focus, Student Union, Associated Student Body Government, Programs Board and Activities Office described their services and explained how campus groups could utilize them. Handouts on leadership and BSU resources were also distributed. Following the presentations, small group problem-solving sessions were held.

During the year, Beta Sigma Lambda Eta, BSU's student leadership honorary facilitated several training workshops. Their "funshop" was held Saturday, November 10, 1979, and was open to all student leaders. This workshop's agenda included small group exercise, parliamentary procedure, recruitment/program development, non-verbal communication and graphics. Second semester, Beta Sigma offered traveling workshops. Groups could request help in specific areas, and the honorary would visit them to present a short workshop focusing on their need.

The third annual Organizational Faire was a tremendous success. It was sponsored by the Activities Office and is designed to promote student organizations, aid in membership recruitment and inform students of various groups on campus.

The time and location was changed this year. The Faire was held on September 26th, a month after classes began. Holding the Faire later in the semester gave organizations ample time to plan quality booths. Also, locating it in the quad area provided greater accessibility and visibility. The Activities Office promoted the Faire with posters, ads in the Arbiter, a telephone campaign, and a carnival setting. Helium balloons, ten foot banners ("Welcome to the Organizational Faire"), circus canopies, a barker, and multicolored flags added to the festive atmosphere. Curious students who visited the Faire had the opportunity to sample a variety of homemade goodies, test their skill at chess, view slide shows, witness a judo demonstration and receive information on the extracurricular activities available at BSU.

The Student Activities Office publicized these groups in addition to these all-campus events by:

1. A series of four major posters advertising the availability of student organizations on campus.
2. Publishing two Organizational Directories, a large comprehensive one, and a smaller "quick reference guide" to allow for greater distribution.
3. Updated the Certificates of Recognition in the Senate Chambers to reflect the existing organizations on campus.

TRAVEL CLUB

For the last few years, the Student Activities Office has been researching to assess the travel needs of BSU students. Through this research, two major areas of need were determined. First, the students living in the Treasure Valley area, plagued with the rising fuel prices, desired a method of traveling together daily to Boise State. Secondly, the general student population lacked group travel opportunities for scheduled vacations which could offer students a new dimension to their educational experience.

In response to the local base travel, the Share-A-Ride board was initiated, designed and constructed by the Student Activities Office. The board consists of a Treasure Valley map for those who would like to share rides to school, and a United States map for those pursuing cross-country journeys. The board, which is located in the main lobby of the Student Union Building, provides an opportunity for students to advertise need for a ride or rider. Many students are now sharing daily travel expenses as well as expenses for travel across the country.

To develop the concept of group travel, the BSU Travel Club was formed. The Arbiter article of January 30, 1980 adeptly describes its purpose:

"It is the dream of almost every student to escape from their books and classes and experience the world around them, leaving behind them the traditional methods of education to learn by seeing and doing. This has remained a dream for most students, though, as they too often discover their dream is too expensive. Twenty-four BSU students have not accepted this blockade. They have come together to plan educational trips to sites of interest and at costs within the budget of the average student.

These students are members of the newly formed Travel Club whose purpose is to create an opportunity for all BSU students to experience group travel with an emphasis on both educational and recreational learning. The Travel Club plans the location, transportation, accommodations, and possible activities for trips where the students can expand their education in many ways. The members of the Travel Club do all the planning but any BSU student, faculty or staff may go on the trips."

The first trip on the agenda was to Seattle over Spring Break 1980. The six-day venture proved to be relaxing, recreational and artistically enlightening. The participants relished a fine evening of music performed by the internationally renowned Beaux Arts Trio. The Conservatory Theatre's production of The Chalk Garden; a tour of the traveling exhibition "Peru's Golden Treasures", depicting the gold work of five ancient Peruvian civilizations, and the Charles and Emma Frye Museum were also highlights for the group. Other activities included a tour of Underground Seattle, a ride on a ferry to Bremerton, shopping at the Pike Street Market, a monorail ride to the Seattle Center, and excellent Japanese and seafood dinners. The Seattle trip provided a diverse group of students with an exposure to the cultural and recreational experiences of a unique city, with an opportunity for the creation of new friendships, and with a much needed break from school books, and all six days for only $75.00.

As a result of the successful Spring Break trip, the Club was ready to embark on another ambitious venture. Yellowstone Park was chosen as the site and geology as the educational emphasis. With the assistance of Dr. Kenneth Hollenbaugh, the facilitator of the expedition; a four-day trip was planned. One Geology credit hour was offered as an option for participants. The 25 students were given the option to either camp or stay in Yellowstone lodging.

This last fling before school starts in the Fall will allow students not only to earn one credit studying geothermal energy and the flora and fauna of Yellowstone, but also to relax and enjoy the great outdoors.

Buenos Días, Senior! Yes, the Travel Club even ventured across the border. Dr. Norm Gardner annually sponsors two Mexico City Summer trips for seven credit hours. This year, the Travel Club assisted Dr. Gardner by helping with the publicity of these Mexico trips.

THE GREEKS

Overall, the Fraternities and Sororities had a successful year with a high level of involvement in on-campus activities. In addition to participating in the student Organizational Faire, Homecoming Week, Family Day, Preview Day and several philanthropic projects, the Greeks again planned and participated in the Annual BSU Greek Week. Some of the highlights of this year's Greek Week included the Alpha Omicron Pi Volleyball tournament; the Scholarship Awards Dinner and All Greek Song Festival, sponsored by Alpha Chi Omega; the Sigma Phi Epsilon scavenger hunt; the Gamma Phi Beta Car Rally; the Greek Bar Hop, sponsored by Delta Delta Delta; the Kappa Sigma Greek Orgy/Toga party; and the year-end Panhellenic picnic. The annual Tau Kappa Epsilon Raft Race was cancelled this year due to the dangerously high waters of the Boise River.

Fraternities:

The 1979-80 school year proved to be a very productive period for the fraternity system. While receiving a set-back early in the fall, they were able to regroup and make great strides.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity reviewed their alumni situation and decided not to colonize on our campus. They could not rally the support among their local alumni they felt they had to have. While we were sorry to see them pull out, it was in the best interest of our Greek system also, as a failure of a new fraternity could have damaged the many years of work already achieved by the system.

The Interfraternity Council became a recognized student organization this year and wasted no time in becoming a vital force in our Greek system. They were given permission to charge dues to the members ($50 per year); and were also allowed to establish their own judicial system, which was tested twice during the year, to the satisfaction of everyone. They also began meeting on a weekly basis and planning events which they sponsored. Examples of such events were a monthly "Greek Night" at the Other Office, fraternity softball tournament, awards for the house having the highest grade point average (Kappa Sigma) and the house most active in community affairs (Tau Kappa Epsilon). The IFC will also sponsor the Toilet Bowl football game next year.

The IFC was also very active in the selection of a new national fraternity, who should begin colonizing this fall. The Alpha Tau Omega fraternity was selected because of their strong national system and the strong local commitment by their alumni. We feel they will be an asset to our system and will work closely with them to insure their success.

The following is a breakdown of the three existing fraternities on campus:

Sigma Phi Epsilon	37 members
Tau Kappa Epsilon	36 members
Kappa Sigma	22 members

Sororities

Congratulations are in order! The National Panhellenic Awards Committee selected BSU as the third place recipient of the NPC Awards Committee Trophy . . . "It's truly an honor to be chosen from among so many highly qualified applicants (throughout the nation) . . . your college Panhellenic has been working hard and we are pleased to recognize your efforts . . . we do congratulate you all." The awards are given to panhellenics "whose achievements and programs have best developed fraternity loyalties and friendships, confidence in one another, and mutual respect and helpfulness." BSU Panhellenic was very pleased to have their program recognized by NPC as a model of one of the best in the nation.

Pleased with the present, and anticipating a quality tomorrow, the Future of Greek Housing Committee reconvened this fall. The group discussed and re-evaluated the approach to the future of Greek housing. They concluded that currently no one is financially able to do more than limited remodeling to their present housing. In order to realistically consider larger housing, sorority membership total (ceiling of 30) would need to be raised. If memberships increased, sororities would be in a more financially secure position to be considered for national and local bank loans. The group decided to look in greater depth at the pros and cons of raising membership. Several meetings were held to discuss this issue. A list of pros and cons was compiled by the Student Activities Office and presented to each of the sororities. After lengthy discussions, the sororities decided to postpone voting on raising the ceiling until all groups reached membership totals of 30. Consequently, Panhellenic Council initiated "Project Greek," a master calendar of Greek events designed to promote Fall, 1980 Formal Rush. Approved in January by each sorority house, Project Greek included fund raisers such as the Panhellenic Ice Cream Social and the Spring Panhellenic Formal, and various innovative publicity ideas. Top priority of these publicity ideas was the revision and improvement of the annual Panhellenic Rush Brochure. After careful writing of interesting copy, and hours of pain-staking lay-out work, a fantastic Rush Brochure emerged. In addition, a second mailer was designed and printed, and a welcome booklet for registered rushees was written for the first time. Other Project Greek publicity measures included three telephone marathons, several Arbiter articles, Greek bookmarks, large posters for high schools, public service announcements, Greek displays and bulletin boards, and five days of referrals called "Word of Mouth" week.

STUDENT UNION

OPERATIONS AND SCHEDULING

The Union Operations Office implemented a new room-rate classification system in 1979-80. This policy change altered the office routine for only a few weeks, until the patrons began to realize the many advantages to the new room policies. The initial resistance melted into acceptance and we were experiencing no problems by mid-October. The new rate system allows the Union management and the scheduling office some flexibilities without creating loop-holes for many "coat-tail programs".

The scheduling of Union facilities was at an all-time record this year. The building was used by over 106,000 people for events in 1979-80 (see attached sheet). This figure does not include regularly scheduled meetings of student organizations. The room rental revenue will be over $15,000 for the first time in Union history. The Board of Governors for the Union also approved a 50% rate reduction for room rental when the room is used for a catered meal. This policy adjustment has met with great acceptance.

The Housing System has formulated a new coordinating committee for expediting conference planning at BSU. The committee's work has begun to provide a better communication level between the offices involved. Plans for the future of the committee include publication of a comprehensive brochure of available conference services and the combined billing for services in all Housing System Units.

The Operations office has also redefined the cash handling procedures of the Game Room. We now utilize the staff more and rely less on student access to funds. This same procedure will be applied to other area's handling cash transactions.

Reductions in maintenance staff positions resulted in little effect on daily appearance of the building. The duties have been absorbed by remaining personnel without difficulty.

The Information Center has added new dimensions to its services this past year. The responsibilities for all Union promotion and publicity have come to rest with the Information Center Clerk. The student staff, hired to provide coverage of the front desk, also assist in designing and creating the many seasonal and special event displays in the Union. This added touch of class and color has been widely noticed by students, staff and visitors to the Union. We will definitely continue to emphasize this project as part of the Information Center goals. The Center also began selling discount passes to several local movie theatres. This program also is a "service only" effort, since no upcharge can be added by BSU. The Information Center volume in ticket sales and other service sales will have reached $35,000 by July 1, 1980.

The major improvement of resealing the SUB roof required additional funds to alleviate subsequent problems identified during installation. These other problems added a great deal of expense, but will prove in the long run to be necessary for a safe, dry building. The only facet that is uncompleted at this time, is the resealing of the patio on the 3rd floor. This project will be accomplished prior to September by an outside contractor. It will be separate and distinct from the roof company bid, which is due June 15, 1980 for final inspection.

The Operations Office, additionally, gave support and effort to the University Community Arts Association production of "Side by Side by Sondheim!" The audio arrangements for the dinner theatre and Special Events Center productions were designed, built and operated by Mr. Lee LeBaron and Mr. Mike Henthorne. Additional production assistance was given by Ms. Mary Foley, who coordinated campus and Union publicity and ticket sales with her staff of students. Special art productions by Ms. Vicki David gave additional color and life to many special events of the University held in the Union, as well as "Side by Side." The office wishes to continue giving service, whenever possible, to special University events.

The 1979-80 year was exciting and fast paced for the Operations staff. The desire to continue a high level of service to the University Community remains the top priority for the Operations Office and all of its staff members.

STUDENT UNION

GAMES AREA AND OUTDOOR ACTIVITIES CENTER

The Student Union Games Area and Outdoor Activities Center continues to be an integral part of the Union and Student Activities program. We feel we are a vital part of the Student Affairs concept at Boise State University. By providing for the students' recreational needs, we feel we can contribute to his or her success while attending the University.

This year's report will be divided into the following categories:

- A. Bowling
- B. Special Events and Tournaments
- C. Groups Using the Games Area
- D. Games Area Items of Interest
- E. Outdoor Activities Center
- F. Games Area Staff

A. BOWLING

Bowling continues to be a major part of the Games Area Activities. Our six lanes were open on a daily basis for open bowling, leagues, and classes. This year, the P.E. Department scheduled four bowling classes: Two beginning classes by Colleen Sweeney and one beginning and one advanced class by Ross Vaughn. Two life-time sports classes from the Boise Public School system held bowling classes during the year. We provided three bowling leagues for students: 1) Monday Night Mixed, 2) Thursday Night Mixed, and 3) Varsity Singles. All leagues were sanctioned through the American Bowling Congress, Women's International Bowling Congress, and the ABC/WIBC Collegiate Division.

The BSU Varsity Bowling Team is coached by Greg Hampton. Tournaments this year included:

Washington State University, November 2-3, Men 1st Place, Women 2nd Place.

Montana State University, November 16-17, Men 1st Place, Women 1st Place.

The Annual Boise State University Invitational was held November 30 and December 1 at 20th Century Lanes and was directed by Greg Hampton. Twenty-four teams participated in the event which continues to be one of the largest in the Northwest. Montana State University won the men's team event and Washington State University won the women's team event. The tournament is scheduled for December 5-6 next year.

Greg Hampton and Boise State were selected for the fourth consecutive year to host one of the 11 Pabst Sectional Collegiate Tournaments. The tournament was held March 28-29 at Meridian Lanes. After hosting the tournament for four years, the men's and women's teams both qualified for a spot in sectionals.

The men's team finished third and the women's team finished fifth. Washington State University won first place and then placed second to Wichita State at the Pabst National Collegiate Championships. University of Oregon won 1st Place and placed 10th at nationals.

We feel the Varsity bowling program is a vital part of the Games Area operation. The teams are selected through the bowling classes and leagues. This encourages student participation. The teams have brought national recognition to Boise State. The local men's and women's bowling associations provide an annual scholarship for the bowling teams.

This year marked the beginning of the Northwest Collegiate Bowling Conference. Member teams include: Washington State University, Boise State University, Montana State University, University of Montana, University of Idaho, and Eastern Oregon State College. Progress has been made for the varsity bowlers at BSU. Starting next fall, the bowlers can earn one credit for their varsity participation.

D. GAMES AREA ITEMS OF INTEREST

Following is a listing of items of interest which occurred this past year in the Games Area.

1. We are currently doing all of our own billiard table recovering. This results in an annual savings of $1,000.
2. We purchased a new brown-top foosball table by Tournament Soccer. Table use has been excellent.
3. We participated in the Arbiter "Name the Pavilion" Contest by donating awards for bowling, pool and equipment rentals.
4. We sanded and resurfaced the bowling lanes in August.
5. Fred Davis and Greg Hampton constructed a partition wall to divide the Games Area Office into an office area and a lounge area.

E. OUTDOOR ACTIVITIES CENTER

The Outdoor Activities Center is an important part of the Games Area. There is, however, one area concerning rental equipment in which the State of Idaho must make a change in policy. We will never be able to show a profit from the O.A.C. rentals until we are allowed to sell the used equipment. It is hard for the Games Area to support the O.A.C. rental program. We must come to an agreement with the State in order to maintain our current O.A.C. program.

Following is a list of events in which the O.A.C. organized or participated in:

SPECIAL EVENTS CENTER

1979-80 was an extremely busy year for the Special Events Center. The Center has now become a very vital assembly and performing arts facility for Boise State University and the community of Boise as a whole.

For the first time in the history of the Special Events Center, it produced a revenue of over $10,000, but since the equipment in the center is reaching the age of repair, a fair amount of this revenue was used to keep the equipment in working condition.

The Special Events Center again reached out to new people in 1979 and 1980. The Economics Department found the center an ideal facility for testing purposes. Their large section of students were able to take tests with ease. The large hall meant no one sat close together, so "wandering eyes" were not a problem.

The following is an overview of the 1979-80 year at the Special Events Center:

1. Off Campus Tenants

- A. The American Legion conducted their annual oratory competition here.
- B. The Boise Civic Opera--Their Spring performance was held in the Center. During their stay, we experienced some problems with our lighting system.
- C. The Idaho Folklore Society held four events in the Center over the past year.
- D. Dance Spectrum presented two performances. It is a local dance school, with a resident ballet company.
- E. Lloyd Carlton Dance School held their annual recital in the Center.
- F. Muscular Distrophy Association sponsored a fund raising performance.
- G. Association of University Women sponsored one lecture for it's members.
- H. National Theatre of the Performing Arts--This national touring company has used the center in the past, with one performance this year.
- I. The Mental Health Association sponsored one of their annual workshops.
- J. The Boise Symphonette--This group of young musicians used the center for their annual Summer concert.

- K. The Boise Tuesday Musical presented one concert in the Center.
- L. KFXD Radio sponsored a concert and dance program this past year.
- M. Magic and Stuff presented an illusion show.
- N. The Center was used by many religious groups over the past year. They were the LDS Church, the Church of Christ Sciences and the Trinity Fellowship Church.
- O. The Madrigal Club sponsored the annual Spring concert in early May.

2. On Campus Events

- A. The Music Department sponsored twenty events in the Center over the past year.
- B. The Theatre Department sponsored four events over the past year.
- C. The Communication Department sponsored three events over the past year.
- D. The Business Department used the Center ten times during the past year.
- E. The History Department used the Center for their 10th Annual American Institute.
- F. The President's Office used the Center three times during the past year.
- G. Many student groups used the Center this year. They were the Programs Board, the Student Nurses, KBSU, the LDSSA and the International Student's Association.
- H. The Center was the site for the University Community Arts Association production of "Side by Side by Sondheim".

The Special Events Center experienced a very devastating change this past year, when the Physical Plant decided not to supply janitors for the Center. This put a real burden on the student workers and the student workstudy budget we receive. The appearance of the Center also suffered, but it always appeared clean when groups began their events. This problem must be worked on in the coming years if the Center is to maintain its elegant appearance.

The Special Events Center also succeeded in placing one of its student workers in an internship with the Tulsa Performing Arts Center. This is a nationally recognized program in the performing arts facility management. Only three students from around the nation were selected and Chris Humphery was honored by this choice.
