Associated Students of Boise Junior College

"... thanks to you students, who, through diligent work have made this year one to remember.

"It is my sincere hope that through this same diligence your future years may be fruitful."

— RICHARD W. PARKER.

In a year which brought us partial victory, we have known also the meaning of total war, and we have found a new seriousness in the work which has been ours to perform. This will be, for some students, the story of a busy college year; for others, it is the final record of their school life.

The Les Bois staff of 1945 has worked under unusual handicaps. But for the fine cooperation of the students, faculty, and publishers, we would not have been able to produce a yearbook. We thank all who have helped in its production, and we sincerely hope this volume will keep the spirit of B.J.C. alive for you in all the years to come.
On November 16, 1944, Irvin E. Rockwell, educator and statesman, presented his private library to Boise Junior College in memory of his beloved wife, Lallah Rookh.

Mr. Rockwell, prominent citizen and former U. S. Senator, chose Boise Junior College because he believes it is a school with a future.

The fifteen hundred volumes cover all the liberal arts: philosophy, language, science, fine arts, geography, literature, religion, and many other fields. A section of fiction is a part of the collection, also. Carefully selected over a period of years by the Rockwells, it includes rare volumes and many books that are out of print.

The Lallah Rookh Rockwell Memorial has added much to our library, and we feel certain that in future years students will continue to be grateful for this gift. These books will remain a permanent memorial to the gracious and distinguished woman whose portrait hangs above the collection, and to whom we have dedicated the 1945 Les Bois.

"... These pleasant ceremonies dedicating to Boise Junior College the modest collection of books, and collateral items, pictures, etc., in memory of the woman I love more than life, and which we jointly assembled during our forty years in Idaho, brings me a deepening sense of gratitude...

"... it is my great joy, as it would be hers under like conditions, to have our loving gift received, protected, and maintained by this outstanding unit in Idaho's educational system...

"... may I express the hope and belief that the collection will be found useful as a wholesome part of the splendid library whose continuing development, the work of the college will demand over the passing years."

—IRVIN E. ROCKWELL.
While we work for final victory in World War II, we look forward to the day when the campus will resemble the proposed plan as pictured inside the covers of Les Bois.

Our present campus, however, has proved more than adequate for every phase of college life.

Our attractive Administration Building has become the center of activity on the college campus. Boasting one of the finest chemistry laboratories in the Northwest, it also houses a complete reference library which is constantly being expanded.

Through its glorious "north-view" windows, we are fascinated daily by the changing panorama of the mountains and the valley.

The building is not only sufficient for its academic purposes, but is also a source of relaxation for students who spend a free hour in the cozy girl's lounge, and an inspiration for the artists who use the studios on the third floor.

The Administration Building stands as a monument to a new idea in education, and will continue as the center of a growing institution.

The auditorium is the center for dramatic events, recitals, and dances. Music classes, private instruction, home nursing, and drama rehearsals are provided for in the various practice rooms and small studios.

Many social activities are held in the Union, including dances, initiations and parties of various kinds.

Student Union
This year has been an unusual one in many respects. Despite the many limitations placed upon us by the war, we have had a year rich in collegiate extra-curricular activities, among them the inauguration of a lyceum series. These things have been possible only because we have had such a loyal and cooperative student body and faculty.

The administration expresses its sincere appreciation to all who have devoted time and energy to make these things possible; and we extend our best wishes to those who leave us this year to take up their work in new and broader fields.

—CONAN E. MATHEWS.

Under the leadership of Conan E. Mathews, Boise Junior College has completed another successful year, despite wartime handicaps. Mr. Mathews is presiding as Executive Dean during the absence of Eugene B. Chaffee, president of the college. Captain Chaffee has been serving in the United States Navy since 1942.

In addition to his executive duties, Dean Mathews continues as head of the Art Department, and it is through his skillful guidance that both intellectual and social activities have continued as in pre-war days.
It is to the Board of Trustees that we are indebted for the educational privileges which have been ours during these difficult times. The members of the board, individually and collectively, have done much, not only to maintain a high level of scholastic opportunity for the students, but also to hold fast to the spirit of development and progress which is our chief pride.

While we look forward with eager anticipation to the day when the plans for college completion will be realized, faculty, students and alumni will miss the most vigorous campaigner for better education, Dean Calvin H. Barkow, who goes to take up his new duties in California. The best wishes of all friends of the college go with Dean Barkow on his new mission.

The busy and complicated social calendar is only one of the duties of our Dean of Women, Ada Poirier Burke, who finds time also to guide and advise all the girls who need help with their problems, to direct the Associated Women, through its council, and to fulfill all of the other functions of the dean.

Kind friend of students mired in the quicksands of a research paper, Mary D. Bedford patiently explains the mysteries of library filing system, Dewey decimals, and "stacks" to succeeding classes of befuddled freshmen. Her kindness, cooperative spirit, and gentle humor have become traditional.

Waggoner, Brown, Grout, Turner, Reed (Student Assistant)

Clint Waggoner, Charles Brown, David Grout and Frank Turner are the custodians, whose constant care is largely responsible for the fine appearance of the campus.
The Sophomore Class started the 1944-45 school year with forty regularly enrolled students. There were a few new faces in the Sophomore Class, but most of the students had completed their Freshman work here. The Sophomore sponsored activities were the Sophomore Dance that was held December 16 and the annual Sophomore Sneak. The theme of the dance was “The Night Before Christmas.” It was one of the loveliest dances held this year. The Sophomores’ took their Annual Sneak to Idaho City this year. Leading the Sophomores in these activities were: Roland Ward, president; Margaret Tucker, vice-president; Eileen Morris, secretary; and Yvonne Martin, treasurer.

The Freshman Class brought new pep to the campus in September, and, with the enthusiasm typical of beginners, they jumped into responsible positions and stayed there. Reusser, Conroy, and Schooler shared honors in piloting the Roundup. Reed and Cox ran the Bronco Club. Stevens was head of the "B" Cubes. All the Red Cross officers were Freshman girls, and half of the Minute Maids were Freshmen coeds. Harold Raper, with a predominantly Freshman staff, edited the annual.

Representing Freshmen girls on the A.W. Council were Betty Kuchenbecker and Tommie Lu Vaughan. I.K.'s pledged seventeen Freshman boys at the beginning of the year. The football, basketball, and baseball teams were given excellent support by the incoming Freshmen. Cheer leader for the year was peppy newcomer, Ellenor Wright.

Class prexy was Walter Emmons who, on being inducted into the army before the school year was half over, relinquished his post to vice-president Betty Langrell. Ruth Grider and Eileen Brewster were the secretary and treasurer respectively. Representing the Freshman class on the Student Body Council were Gail Coffin and Isabel Jones.

The Freshman class is proud of its record; we are proud of the class; and we hope to have many more students like them in the future.

The Executive Board of the Associated Student Body has been confronted by many problems during the year 1944-45. The Board has control of all Student Body affairs and the expenditure of all Student Body Funds.

Dick Parker led the group as president, assisted by Gene Reusser as vice-president; Bonnie Jean Pigg, secretary; and Esther Landers, treasurer. Carol Peterson and Ross Pulliam represented the sophomore class and Isabel Jones and Gail Coffin were freshmen representatives.

The Spring Formal was the big event of the year sponsored by the Associated Students under the direction of the Executive Board.

Mr. James L. Strachan is faculty advisor.
With the motto "Service before Self," as their guide, the Valkyries carried out a full year of activity as an honorary service organization for Sophomore girls.

Geraldine Hettinger led the activities as president of the group, Carol Peterson was vice-president and treasurer, and Ruth Bates was secretary. Miss Elma Tharp is advisor of the organization.

In addition to the four term scholarships which are given each year, a used book store is maintained for the benefit of students. This year the Valkyries undertook an additional project—a concession at the Student Union where school supplies were sold every noon.

The girls included in their projects, ushering at school functions, distributing literature on the Dumbarton Oaks plan, promoting the "Dance With the Dolly" benefit dance for refugee children, and helping the Intercollegiate Knights with the annual "Half and Half" dance. On May 4, the year was climaxed for members and pledges by a formal dinner-dance—"Spring Symphony."

Pledges are chosen in the spring term of their Freshman year on a basis of scholastic ability, leadership, personality, appearance, cooperativeness, school spirit, dependability and other desirable qualities. The pledges underwent a hilarious day of initiation on April 9, thus becoming members to carry on next year.
The Intercollegiate Knights, a national service fraternity dedicated to community welfare service, promotes school spirit and activities.

The Golden Plume Chapter received its charter in May of 1940.

At the beginning of the new year, the five sophomore Knights elected their officers for the ensuing new year. Ross Pulliam was elected Duke; Lyle Hamilton, Scribe; Dick Parker, last year’s Chancellor of the Exchequer, was re-elected to that office, and Roland Ward was elected Recorder.

The first activity for the year was the induction of fifteen new members to meet the chapter quota of twenty. On October 5, at 8:30 p.m., fifteen new Knights were added to the Golden Plume Chapter.

Within two weeks from initiation the Knights had established a call list for blood donors at one of the local hospitals.

They sponsored one of the most interesting assemblies of the year as a basketball pep assembly which later went to the College of Idaho as an exchange assembly for BJC.

A major project of the Knights was, as always, the publishing of the Boise Junior College Directory containing the names and addresses of all of the students and faculty of BJC.

On Thanksgiving eve the Knights presented the annual Golden Plume Ball honoring Carol Peterson as Duchess. She was also I.K. candidate for Queen of the A.W. carnival.

Students will long remember the Half and Half dance sponsored jointly with the Valkyries on January 12, 1945, as a get-together for the new term, and the annual "Ad Dance" sponsored in cooperation with the merchants of Boise.
Women athletes began their program last fall with about twenty members participating. The first big event sponsored by the club was “play night” for which women of the College of Idaho were invited guests.

The W.A.A. sponsored a Hard-Time Dance, held in February, which was one of the most successful events of the year. In April, the girls participated in the “Mistress Mary” ballet sponsored by Florence Adams’ gym classes.

Spring’s program began with a “Progressive Dinner” and slumber party. A formal banquet finished the year’s social activities at which time the control of the organization was turned over to next year’s officers.

Officers of the Women’s Athletic Association this year are: Esther Landers, president; Yvonne Martin, vice-president-treasurer; Betty Amos, secretary; Eileen Morris, sports manager; Dolores Hochstrasser, publicity manager. Mrs. Adams was the faculty adviser.
The aim of the Associated Women Students of Boise Junior College is to coordinate the all-girl activities of the school. Each girl in school is a member and is given an opportunity to participate in the projects of the organization.

The Associated Women sponsored the Big Sister Tea, the Sweetheart Ball, a sport dance, and several other activities. The biggest event sponsored by the Associated Women, however, was the Carnival, held March 31, in which all the clubs of the school cooperated by having a booth. The officers who led the women of Boise Junior College during the year were: President, Helen Jones; vice-president, Bonnie Jean Pigg; secretary, Gloria Bull; treasurer, Gerry Hettinger; social chairman, Yvonne Rutten; advisor, Mrs. Ada Poirier Burke.
ALPHA MU OMEGA

was organized this year to foster dramatics, speech and expression on the campus. Members of the club have sponsored plays, helped with the various activities connected with plays and have gone on trips to neighboring towns to see plays given by other college groups.

Officers for the year were Hope Holliday, president; Isabel Jones, vice-president-treasurer; Betty Kuckenbecker, secretary. Harold Wennstrom was faculty advisor.

A delegation from the club traveled to the College of Idaho in the fall term to see "Arsenic and Old Lace," to Meridian during the winter terms to see Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," and to Caldwell again in the spring term to see Moliere's, "The Imaginary Invalid."
Purpose of the "B" Cubes is to create pep for the Bronco football, basketball, and baseball games. The freshman girls who made up its membership were under the guidance of Eileen Stevens, president; Ellenor Wright, vice-president; Lois Willy, secretary; Annalee Speer, treasurer, with Mrs. Eunice Aust as their sponsor.

During the year, they furnished publicity for the games by paying for advertisements in the Statesman, and by sponsoring pep rallies before games. They also sold forget-me-nots for the American Legion on Armistice Day. At the all-school carnival, the "B" Cubes sponsored a "Telegraph Service" and a "Horror House." Culminating social event was the Cotton Swing, informal sport dance, held this year on the eighteenth of May.
The Press Club, organized this year to sponsor all student publications, including the Roundup, Les Bois, and Roundup-Jr., became one of the largest groups on the campus. Open to all students interested in journalism, the club encourages participation by as large a number of students as possible in the publication work.

The Roundup, major periodical of the college, appeared fortnightly this year, under the editorial direction of various members of the Press Club; Roundup-Jr. appeared on alternate weeks as a mimeographed newsletter during the winter and spring terms.

Officers were elected first term, and were reelected each succeeding term; Yvonne Martin, Maxine Gross, Carol Peterson, and Esther Landers acted as president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively.

Students will long remember the wild Friday designated "Sadie Hawkins Day" during which a squad of Daisy Maes descended upon the remnants of our male population with matrimonial intentions. During the dance which followed, Juanita Montgomery was crowned the official "Daisy" with a wreath of turnips, and Harold Raper was selected as the typical "Li'l Abner."

First annual mid-winter banquet was held this year at the Dutch Mill, honoring the previous editors and installing the winter term editor, Evelyn Conroy. Ben Hershey of the Idaho Daily Statesman staff gave the principal address of the evening; shorter talks were presented by Mrs. Francis Wiley, instructor at Boise High School, and Mr. Wennstrom, club sponsor. Adelaide Schooler acted as toastmistress.

Bill Prescott, midwinter importation from Oregon, sparked the Bingo Booth at the Carnival and went on to become business manager of the Roundup. Last activity of the year for the Press Club was the spring picnic honoring Harold Raper and Adelaide Schooler, third term editors.
El Circulo Espanol consists of second and third year Spanish students. Senor and Senora Alfredo Infante of La Paz, Bolivia were presented in an assembly on May 3, and the play "Locura Primaveral" which was translated from English into Spanish by the third year students, Mrs. Power, and Mrs. Rosa Thornton, was presented May 5.

Officers of the club include Betty Amos, president; Catherine Zupan, vice-president; Bonnie Jean Pigg, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Camille Power is the advisor of the group.

The French Club, which meets once a month at the home of Mrs. Camille Power, has been organized in order to develop the speaking and understanding of the modern French language and to promote an interest in La France and its people.

Prominent guest speakers this year were Sergeant Bill Wood, Mrs. Lycer, and Mrs. Montandren.

The meetings were conducted in French and often songs are sung in the language. The club sang Christmas carols in French at the winter formal, and participated in the singing on Language Night.

This year, officers were Betty Jean Meagher, president, and Mary Beth Garretson, vice-president and secretary-treasurer.
The Minute Maids of Boise Junior College, known as “Pauline Reveres,” have been very successful during 1944-45.

Trimly uniformed, the girls are seen every Saturday night in the Boise theatre lobbies, where they promote the purchase of stamps and bonds. They appear for the same purpose at school assemblies every Thursday.

Serving regularly at other college activities during the year, including the Lyceum, school dances, and special programs, they act also as hostesses once every two weeks at the Mountain Home Air Base Officer’s Club.

Six Sophomore and six Freshman girls form the Pauline Revere Corps under the leadership of Captain Helen Jones. Minute Maids are: Regulars—Helen Jones, Mary Beth Garretson, Yvonne Rutten, Marian Bailey, Carol Peterson, and Bonnie Jean Pigg. Substitutes are—Betty Jo Jackson, Lois Willy, Jean Barber, Maxine Gross, Eileen Stevens, and Jene Leggat.

There are in addition, a number of reserve Minute Maids who help whenever they are needed.
The Bronco Club is an organization composed of the men of Boise Junior College who have participated in major sports this year. The club is composed of eight charter members and three honorary members. The honorary members are: John Tate, Ray Koll, and Marty Lund. Five more men were voted in unanimously at the first meeting of the club this year.

1944-45 officers were: Jimmy Reed, president; Lynn Cox, vice-president; and Harold Raper, secretary. Jimmy left for the Army in the early part of May and the other two officers moved up a rank. Bill Onweiler was elected as the new secretary. Rex Engelking is the faculty advisor.

The club sponsored a sport dance on May 26 for the purpose of raising enough money to buy lettermen sweaters for the members. Aurelius Buckner was chairman of the affair.
To insure a well-balanced system of democratic school government, the tribunal court was formed. This is a judicial body whose chief purpose is to judge any student who breaks a school regulation.

The Tribunal is appointed each year by members of the executive board and is composed of three students. This year, the Tribunal consisted of Geraldine Hettinger, Betty Bushnell, and Bob Bush. James L. Strachan acted as advisor.

Among the many students who planned and carried out arrangements for the various social events of the year were the following: Pigg, Kuckenbecker, Towne, Tate, Pollard, Stearman, Rutten, Morris, Garrettson, Armstrong, Petersen, Holliday, G. Coffin, Tate, Stewart, Landers, Hochstrasser, Mays, Amos, Noble, Gross, Etter, Bull, Marten, Hettinger, H. Jones, Bush, Buckner, Reed, S. Coffin, Cox, Ward, Onweiller, Parker, Thurston, Massie, Roberts, Raper, Everitt, Taylor, L. Jones and many others.

The Student Body extends its sincere appreciation to all whose efforts made the social year successful.

The 1945 Les Bois will stand as testimony to the faith and determination of those who believe that nothing is impossible—even in wartime. Compared with the traditional production of a yearbook in normal times, we “violated” every journalistic rule and requirement, even the unalterable DEADLINE. And yet, somehow, through the impenetrable forest of priorities, the thick confusion of committee meetings, and the disappointments of the usual irresponsibles, a way was found. It has been an uphill struggle, and if we failed to reach the top, we can at least feel that this story of the course we have travelled is worth the telling.

It is impossible to work for a cause without developing a keen personal interest in its welfare and future. We who worked on the Les Bois staff are not insensible to its imperfections, and if we once had dreams of full-color plates we have learned to accept the substitutions bravely. In view of sacrifices being made in every part of the world, we think our own “yearbook as usual” desires will weather the wartime restraint.
To paraphrase Shakespeare—“this is a poor thing, perhaps, but our own—”

During the mid-year reorganization of the staff, Harold Raper was named editor, and he selected Frances Gibbons as his assistant editor and Bill Onweiler as business manager. Wartime complications not only decimated our staff, but left us without a publisher, until, through the efforts of Paul Pearson, arrangements were made for a new publisher, the Fred York Printing Co.

Mrs. Madis C. Chapin of the Fred York staff has been our kind friend, guide, counsellor, magician and dictator. Mr. Wennstrom was faculty advisor.

The Round-up was brought before the students through the cooperation of the Press Club and the Associated Student Body. The paper was published by Strawn Inc., Syms York, and the Oster Printing Company. These companies cooperated to the fullest extent with the staff, and we are very grateful to them for this help.

The editors in chief for the year were Gene Reusser, Evelyn Conroy, and Harold Raper. Make-up editors were Maxine Gross, Gene Reusser, and Chuck Massie. Copy Editors were Ruth Bates, Evelyn Conroy and Yvonne Martin. Business managers were Ruth Grider and Bill Prescott.

The printed paper was published every two weeks and a Round-up Junior was mimeographed weekly for the first two terms.

Activities
Another innovation this year was the lyceum program organized by James L. Strachan. The student council, on the recommendation of Mr. Strachan, decided to support the program as a supplementary entertainment program, to "fill in" for the shrunken athletic program. Under the competent management of Miss Bessie Falk and Betty Langrell, co-chairmen of the ticket sales committee, student captains Carol Peterson, Loreta Martindale, Phil Bailey, and Eileen Stevens sold six hundred tickets to townspeople through the members of the student body.

As a result of the successful ticket sales, we were able to schedule four outstandingly successful programs during the season.
Aloha Baker, the first of our lyceum speakers, gave a film lecture entitled "Victory in the Pacific" on January 18th. Her education and her travels had given her an authoritative background for the colorful and interesting program which she presented. In beautiful colored film, she displayed the nature of the territories of the southwest Pacific, the "spice islands", the economic importance of the islands in our conquest of Japan. She told us, too, of the jungle warfare, the "foxhole" existence of our troops and the troops of our allies of the SWP theater.

Henry Scott, piano virtuoso extraordinaire, flattered both the long-hair and the jive crowd on February 5th, when he played every type of music from serious classic to "hot" popular. Rated as one of the most dexterous finger technicians in the world, Mr. Scott combines his skill with a sense of humor and showmanship rarely seen on the concert stage. We will long remember his rendition of several numbers wearing mittens, and his "Citrus Serenade" which is a combination piano and grapefruit salad.

David Nichol, ace foreign correspondent for the Chicago Daily News, arrived on the Ides of March to give us a summary of the U.S.S.R. in his talk, "Russia as I see it." Through the eyes of a roving reporter, we received a stimulating and enlightening picture of the role Russia is playing in this world wide conflict. Spiced with his pithy personal impressions of the people, customs, travelers, troubles and censorship problems, Mr. Nichol delighted the third lyceum audience, and gave us the feeling that, in spite of the coolness with which many travelers are treated in the Soviet, Russia is an important and vital factor in the world of the future.

Harold Kennedy completed the lyceum series with a program of anecdote and humorous stories of the adventures of acting. Having played in every type of production from Shakespeare to low comedy, Kennedy was able to weave a delightful series of adventures with "women's clubs" into his lecture on the life of a dramatist. His statement that the audience is complete dictator over the theater, and the "average mental age of theater-goers is thirteen and one-half years" frightened us momentarily until he assured us that lecture audiences generally represent a higher level of development. Mr. Kennedy’s mental prodding served to instill in the student body a desire for the development of a higher taste for dramatic presentations.
Enrollments in the music department were greater this year than they have been for a good number of years. In the piano department alone there were over seventy students. The increase in the vocal department and the theory department was also apparent. Coming back to the campus was Kathryn Eckhardt Mitchell, who headed the violin department.

The outstanding musical organizations were the women’s ensemble and the string trio. The ensemble was directed by Mrs. Lucille T. Forter. The string trio was under the direction of Mrs. Kathryn Eckhardt Mitchell.
The art department, that nucleus of feverish activity on the third floor, is the stamping ground of "ze Bohemiennes" who spend a major portion of their lives drawing, painting, and sketching.

Students of the group have given generously of their time and efforts to create the beautiful decorations which have graced our dances this year; they have painted and distributed many posters for school activities, assemblies, sports, plays, carnival, lyceum programs and recitals.

The college dramatic season opened on the evening of December 5 with three one-act plays; "Smoke" with Pat Brown as the feminine crook, Phil Bailey as the detective and Nick Roberts as the dope "feend." A comic fantasy, "Don't Feed the Animals," gave Laverne Compton the opportunity to exaggerate the manpower shortage in a story of what would happen if only one man were left on earth. From within the cage he watched the intrigue of the various females plotting his fate. Arlene Emery, as "Buttons," Adelaide Schooler and Jean Barber as "Sadie and Poil." Kay Fletcher as the teacher, Kay King and Opal Hughes as the students, Bernadette Ertter as the sophisticate, and John Tate as the butler, completed the cast.

"Mooncalf Mugford," the story of the mental dream world halfway between sanity and insanity, was the final one-act play. Gene Reusser as "John Mugford," Gerry Hettinger as "Etta Mugford," Helen Lobnitz as "Tabby," Hope Holliday as "Mrs. Lowell," and Howard Waterman as "Caleb" gave impressive performances.

Outstanding dramatic department production for the year was the three-act comedy by Eugene O'Neill, "Ah, Wilderness!", presented March 6 to a large and appreciative audience. Lead role in the play, that of the adolescent Richard Miller, was taken by Herbert Everitt, Bill Onweiler played Uncle Sid, Kay Fletcher was Mrs. Miller, and Gene Reusser was Nat Miller. Other important roles were: Kay King as Lily; Jean Barber as Mildred; Judythe Rose as Muriel; Gerry Hettinger as Belle; James Reed as the bartender; Howard Waterman as Mr. McComber; Richard Quivey as Arthur; Fred Griffin as Wint; Rollo Ward as the salesman; William Wennstrom as Tommy.
A special assembly was called on the official Victory-in-Europe day to rededicate the purpose and energy of the students to the final victory over Japan. Colonel Norman B. Atkinson delivered the address keynoting the theme: "Are we worthy of the sacrifices being made for us?"

Following the assembly, Dean Mathews raised the United Nations flag as Col. Atkinson saluted. This was a beautiful ceremony as the stars and stripes and the United Nations flag flew from the gleaming new flagpole.

We set to work, following the assembly, with new determination that the job would be finished, and that those who had gone before, those who had died, had not sacrificed their lives in vain.

Student body president, Dick Parker, congratulates Irvin E. Rockwell after the talk which he made on the occasion of the dedication of the Rockwell Memorial Library. The formal reception ceremonies were held on the morning of November 16, 1944, in the library wing of the Administration building.
By hard work and perseverance on the part of the girls of Boise Junior College, the Red Cross Chapter was a success this year. The girls completed many projects given to them by the main chapter downtown. Some of their many activities included making slippers for the boys in the hospitals, making khaki aprons for the boys overseas, and completing a Canteen Aid course in order that they might serve at the Depot Canteen. Their last project was making ash trays from tin cans for the Red Cross rooms on various air fields.

During the fall and winter terms the officers were: Betty Jo Jackson, president; Bernadette Ertter, vice-president; and Norma Dale Christensen, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Adams was the Red Cross sponsor and Mrs. Power served as the Red Cross representative on the Executive Board in town. In the spring term, Katie Zupan was elected president and Catherine Norquist and Helen Jeker became vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Sports
Due to the lack of players this season, the B.J.C. Broncos had a six-man team. The team was under the direction of Coach Dolphin and went through a short season winning five out of six games played.

Opponents played this year were St. Teresa’s, Gowen Field, C.N.T. (twice), Gowen Field Beavers, and College of Idaho (twice). The first game of the season was with St. Teresa’s. The Broncos came out on top of the Saints with a score of 18-12 with Koll, Bailey, and Everitt scoring touchdowns for the Broncos.

The second game was with the Gowen Field C.N.T. Again, the opponents were defeated by a score of 12-6. In this game Tate and Buckner scored the game’s touchdowns.

In the next game, the Broncos bowed to the Gowen Field Beavers to the tune of 6-8. Oliver of the Broncs made the day’s only touchdown. The Beavers got their extra points by a safety.

In their first intercollegiate game, the Broncos rolled over the College of Idaho with a score of 32-6. Koll came charging through the lines three times to score touchdowns for the Broncos and Buckner and Reed also tallied up scores.

When the Broncos met the C.N.T. for the second time, they chalked up another victory. Buckner was the scoring star of the day by making three of the four touchdowns. Tate made the other score for the Broncs. The final score was 24-12.
For the last game of the season, the Broncos again met the C. of I. Coyotes. The score for this game was 28-20 with Tate making three touchdowns and Reed making one.

High score men for the Broncos were Tate and Buckner with five touchdowns apiece. Jimmy Reed was the team captain, and the lineup included:

Bob Oliver, Aurelius Buckner, Herb Everitt, Nick Roberts, Marty Lund, Ray Koll, John Tate, Lynn Cox, Phil Bailey, Chuck Massie, Walter Emmons, and Don Keifer.

Basketball was the major sport of B.J.C. this year; in fact it was the only sport in which intercollegiate competition was held. The scoreboard for total games played showed 18 wins and 6 losses, while intercollegiate games played resulted in 10 wins and 5 losses. Altogether the season was outstandingly successful. The Broncos also scored several victories against Gowen Field teams with a final showing of 8 wins and 1 loss against them. We again split honors with the Northwest Nazarene College, old major opponent of Boise Junior College, with three games each.

Our cagers were a great group of hard working men who wanted to send B.J.C. to the top by having a successful sports season. They gave their full cooperation to the coach, and worked hard all season to keep the team victorious.

Our coach was Rex Engelking, who was graduated from the University of Idaho. He had coached three successful seasons at Albion High School, American Falls High School, and Kimberly High School before coming to Boise to take the position at Boise Junior High School. We were thankful to get him to coach our own boys.

The athletic manager for the Broncos was Lyle Stearman.

Broncos who did not complete the season included Marty Lund, Jack Smith, who withdrew from school, and two who joined the armed forces, Phil Bailey and Bob Gess. Three men who entered from high school during the season were Wallace Walker, Dick Quivey, and Keith Thurston. These three men were loyal in turning out for practices and became loyal Bronco reserves.
Aurelius Buckner was B.J.C.'s high scorer for the season. He had three years of previous experience in Boise High School. Buckner came through the season playing a good cool game and bucketing the majority of the points, using the one hand push shot technique. His value as a player placed him among the first six, as either guard or forward.

John Tate came through the season with the second high score. Although he had no previous experience, he was one of the most valuable players on the team. He made more progress during the season than any of the Broncos. His work at the pivot position and forward continuously brought attention his way. He ranked as one of the first six, and played all season.

Lynn Cox played an excellent game all through the season. His lack of previous experience did not keep him from being a good man to have under the basket for recoveries. His height of seventy-four inches helped out when the time came for a scramble at the back board. Although he played mainly at the forward position, he was used also as a guard. One of the first six, he helped bring victory to Boise Junior College.
Jim Reed was the most aggressive floor player the Broncos had all year. With two years of previous experience at Boise High School and the excellent coaching of Rex Engelking, Reed was the terror of the boards. The ball was never safe in the hands of an opponent because Reed could usually get it away. He played all season as one of the first six.

Bob Gess didn’t get any floor burns in scrambling for the ball, but he placed for his share of points. Called to the armed forces during the season, he didn’t get full time on the court. He played guard most of the season, but also spent some time at the forward spot. His excellent record gave him a place among the first six.

Nick Roberts made a lot of progress this year in basketball. His improvement between the first and last of the season placed him as the main substitute center. He played several games on the first string. Although he had no previous experience, he shows great possibilities as a Bronco. Roberts has the aggressive sense of play which brought him to the foreground as one of the first six.

Sherm Coffin gets a little excited in a game, but he has a specialty on a shot from behind the free throw circle that could do some damage to the opponents defense. We’ll never forget the game in Jerome when Coffin got excited and made three fouls in about a minute.

Harold Raper was a little excitable during a game and lacked the polished coordination of a good cager, but, because of his loyalty in turning out for practice and the great determination he showed while he was at practice, we were more than glad to have him on our cage team.

The baseball team this year was under the direction of Coach Engleking. The team was organized in April and played until the middle of May.

The season's opponents were Boise Valley high school clubs and included Boise, Meridian, Kuna, Star, Eagle, and Middleton. The boys had a good season with seven wins out of ten games played.

The team lineup included: pitchers—Buckner, Reed, and Everitt; catchers—Everitt, Pulliam, Buckner, and Onweiler; first base—Roberts; second base—Pulliam and Coffin; short stop—Onweiler and Reed; third base—Buckner and Reed; center field—Thurston; right field—Coffin and Quivey; left field—Cox. The team manager was Bob Bush.

The season got a poor start by suffering a defeat for the Broncos. The Eagle nine led the field with a score of 8-3, but on the return game with Eagle the Broncos evened the score by winning 11-6.

In the Boise High games the Broncos also had an even score. The first game with the Braves was taken by the Broncos with a score of 2-1, but the second game was a different story with the Braves defeating the Broncs 11-2.
Middleton was another stiff opponent for the Broncos, and again broke even on the score board. The first game found the Broncs on top 11-5. On the return game Middleton rallied to win the game 7-5.

The Star team bowed to the Broncs twice this year with scores of 11-3 and 11-7.

The Meridian nine was defeated once by the Broncos this season in a hard fought game. The final score was 9-8 after Meridian had led the field most of the day.

One game was also played with Kuna, who bowed to the Broncs to the tune of 21-5.

Although the season was short the games were all interesting with the Broncos in there fighting all of the time. As in most of the sports this season the Broncos lacked experience but played hard and came out on top of most of the games.

We should be proud of this year’s athletes and give them a lot of credit for keeping up the fighting spirit for B.J.C.

Tennis

Intramural competition, under the direction of Coaches Adams and Engleking, concluded the tennis season. The contests were men's and women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles. Prizes were furnished by Sib Kleffner's Sport Shop. Most promising players among the men were Roberts and Coffin; outstanding women tennis stars were Stewart, Coffin, and Montgomery.

No intercollegiate games were held this year.

Skiing-Flying

Although not scheduled as college activities, skiing and flying are both popular with B.J.C. students. Heath, Purcell, Koll and Reed are among those whose interest in flying has continued since the C.A.A. program ended.

Among ski enthusiasts, Christiansen, Cox, Bush, Massie, Purcell, Raper, Tate, Ward and others are active during the winter season. Plans for an active ski club have not worked out, but it is hoped that the fall term will produce enough interested students to make a successful organization.
Women's sports activities at B.J.C. have been many and varied this past year. Softball was played in the fall; although a fairly good team was organized no games with other college teams were scheduled.

Volleyball was a popular sport, and a number of games were played against teams from the College of Idaho.

Probably the most successful sport of the year was basketball. The Women's Athletic Association was divided into two strong teams, with a substantial number of substitutes. The two B.J.C. teams then alternated in playing outside games. Most exciting of the outside contests were the games against College of Idaho women, as their teams and ours were well-matched. High spot of this series was the game in which the Caldwell women tied the score with a free throw in the last tense seconds of the game.

The basketball schedule continued with games against the WAC from Gowen Field and the Mountain Home Business Girls. Wins and losses were about equal throughout the season.

Other sports which were popular with various players during the year were archery, swimming and tumbling. A special program of aesthetic dancing produced one of the year's finest programs, the Mistress Mary ballet.
Two of the year's high points were the "play-days" sponsored by our women athletes with the girls of nearby high schools as guests. May 12 was the date set for entertaining of the women from Boise Valley high schools. Tennis and volleyball were the featured sports, and a good-sized crowd was on hand to watch the play-offs. Luncheon was served the guests in the Student Union hall.

The second play-day entertained girls from Boise High School, and was held May 17. This was a two-hour event, with volleyball and basketball as the chosen games.

An unusual idea was carried out in using athletic charm bracelets as awards for those women completing the required participation in sports and other activities of the W. A. A. These bracelets now carry the W.A.A. emblem and a baseball charm. Other devices may be added by students returning next year and continuing active participation.

Looking back, the W.A. A. views an active and successful year, emphasizing sportsmanship on the playing field, and in many other ways.

Mrs. Florence Adams, W. A. A. supervisor, is largely responsible for the success of every activity of the year. Members are especially appreciative of her help.

Where’s I
Keep America Free!

The crisis of war is past. May all present students of Boise Junior College be spared from combat duty in the cleanup campaigns.

The crisis of peace is yet to come and in the campaign to establish universal cooperation for the elimination of war, victory can only be attained by the persistent efforts of all honorable citizens.

The service of college men and women, whose outlook upon the past, present and future has been broadened by education, will be needed as never before in the world's history.

There are two great objectives now, which must be emphasized in the coming years:

1. Keep America free from foreign domination.

2. Keep America a land of opportunity, where the individual citizen may be rewarded for his or her constructive efforts.

We Honor the Patronage of Youth *

YES . . . the Owyhee Hotel is honored by the fact that through all the years it has remained the favorite dining and stopping place of discriminating young Idahoans. We accept this patronage as pleasing proof that though the Owyhee is deeply steeped in tradition, its many services and accommodations continue to be modern, cheerful and progressive.
