The New U Rising

Idaho's fastest growing research university is the "New U Rising," with a reputation for excellence in both the classroom and the laboratory. New buildings, record enrollment, new academic offerings and cutting-edge research combine to create a thriving, engaged campus community. In fact, the university was ranked among the nation's "top up-and-coming schools" in U.S. News & World Report's 2009 "America's Best Colleges" issue.

Just a heartbeat away from Idaho's commercial, cultural and civic capital, Boise State plays a crucial role in the region's economic development and quality of life. Its nearly 170 academic programs and ever-expanding campus master plan are helping it better serve its almost 19,000 students as well as the community at large.

The university is in the midst of its first-ever comprehensive campaign to raise $175 million to strengthen its people, places and programs. "Destination Distinction: The Campaign for Boise State University" is bolstering Boise State's current reputation as an excellent undergraduate teaching university while also helping it advance as a metropolitan research university of distinction.

President

Dr. Bob Kustra is in his seventh year as president of the largest public university in Idaho.

He has led the university during a period of dynamic growth in student enrollment, new construction, fundraising and research.

His tenure has been marked by an emphasis on research, upgrading standards for admission, improving the undergraduate experience, and increasing the number of graduate and doctoral programs. Since 2003, faculty awards and grants for research at Boise State have increased from $19.6 million to $37 million annually.
