Green Room Gossip - Facts About Theatre at BSU

Eight students and two faculty members of the Theatre Arts Department attended a combined meeting of the Northwest Drama Conference and the American College Theatre Festival regional finals at the University of Oregon at Eugene, Oregon on February 12-15. The Northwest Drama Conference is the area's equivalent of the Rocky Mountain Theatre Conference held at Boise State last November. This area's regional finals of the ACTF were held in Ogden, Utah in January and was attended by the cast and crew of "A Thurber Carnival". The participants in the Eugene conference attended many plays and workshops presented by various university and community groups.

Members of the BSU Theatre Arts Department are anxiously awaiting the completion of the new Special Events Center now under construction to the south of the Subal Theatre. The Theatre Department will be one of many organizations to utilize the new facilities. A large stage and advanced technical equipment will encourage the production of musicals and other elaborate shows demanding large casts and numerous set changes now impossible in the Subal Theatre. Music events, films and lectures are to be showcased in the new building.
