Department of Music

Boise Junior College, under the presidency of Dr. Eugene B. Chaffee, who last year was president of the American Association of Junior Colleges, has become one of the nation's outstanding junior colleges. Courses for the first two years of college are offered toward the bachelor of arts and science degrees, art, music, general business, secretarial science, education, engineering, forestry, home economics, pre-law, pre-medicine, pre-nursing and physical education. Complete courses are available in cabinet making, millwork, machine shop and auto body and fender repair.

The college is a member of the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools and is fully accredited by this association, by the Idaho State Board of Education and by the University of Idaho.

The college supplies four major educational needs. First, it offers the first two years of college to those who desire to continue toward a degree. Second, it prepares those students interested in immediate entrance into the field of general business and some of the professions. Third, it meets the needs of those individuals desiring two years of general or cultural education beyond high school. And, finally, it provides facilities for adult education either through the regular or special evening classes.

This fall the new dormitories, one for men and one for women, will be ready for occupancy. Each building accommodates 78 students and is so arranged as to provide a home-like atmosphere of living. Applications should be mailed early by those students desiring dormitory rooms. Dining facilities will be available in the modern Student Union situated conveniently near the dormitories.

The college is proud of its music department. Few colleges of comparable size offer as wide a curriculum. Besides having two excellent instructors in piano and two in voice, the faculty includes instructors in applied music, in the full fields of strings, organ, woodwinds, double reed and brass.

All faculty members possess artist's ratings on their instruments. Annually a series of Sunday vespers concerts is given on the second Sunday afternoon of each month. All instructors of the department appear in concert at least once during the year.

The music department sponsors and evenly balanced program of related student organizations. Among these are: the Boise Junior College Community Symphony Orchestra, the A Cappella Choir, the Girls' Ensemble, the College Band, the String Trio, the Woodwind Quintet and Mu Sigma Pi, a club organized for the enjoyment and promotion of music.
