THE CUNNINGHAM MEMORIAL ORGAN

TENTH ANNIVERSARY

(May 10, 1953, - May 10, 1963)

In the fall of 1951, a generous gift by Laura Moore Cunningham, in memory of her late husband, Mr. J. W. Cunningham, made it possible for Boise Junior College to purchase one of the finest organs in the West. Nearly two years in building, the organ was dedicated on May 10, 1953. Since that time it has proved its value in many ways. It has inspired the installation of many new organs in the Northwest in general, and in Boise Valley in particular. It has inspired young organists, one of whom became a national winner in the NFMC organ playing contest. For five years a weekly series of organ concerts were broadcast and in impressive number of national and international recitalists have been presented in concert. It has attracted national interest and has been called by leading organists and builders the outstanding organ of the Austin Organ Company.

The gift which made this instrument possible has enriched the culture of the College, of Boise Valley, and the Northwest beyond our ability to measure.
