UNIVERSITY

SPRING COMMENCEMENT ♦ MAY 17, 2008

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Welcome to Boise State University's 2008 Spring Commencement. This ceremony in your honor is our university's finest hour. The years of hard work and dedication have paid off. The challenges set before you have been met after enduring countless late nights, lectures and exams. Another impressive class of Broncos is ready to make its mark on the world.

To the graduates, we are very proud of you and that the university is committed to raising the academic profile of Boise State so that you can continue to be proud of your alma mater. Boise State University is on the map and on the move. The value of the degree you will receive today will grow along with our reputation as a metropolitan research university of distinction.

To the loved ones of the graduates, take pride in the accomplishments being recognized today given the supporting role you have played in the lives of our graduates. Without your love and support, this celebration may not have been possible at all.

Finally, let us all remember that learning does not stop with graduation. The noble, lifelong pursuit of knowledge, enrichment and enlightenment is critical to a full and meaningful life.

Thank you for placing your trust in Boise State University for your higher education aspirations. On behalf of the faculty, alumni, staff and students, let me be the first to offer a heart-felt congratulations and best wishes for a bright future.

Go Broncos!

Sincerely,

BOISE STATE CELEBRATES 75 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE

It all began on a Tuesday morning in the midst of the Great Depression – September 6, 1932, the day after Labor Day, to be exact – on a tree-lined Idaho Street near downtown Boise. Led by its founder and president, Idaho Episcopal Bishop Middleton Barnwell, Boise Junior College opened its doors for the first time. The numbers that first day: four buildings, 15 faculty members, 41 male students and 37 female students.

Despite the nationwide economic downturn at the time, Barnwell was undaunted in his belief that Boise was ripe for a two-year college – and he was right. Thanks to the clergyman's initiative and persistence, BJC survived the hard times those first few years and eventually gained solid community support.

Barnwell's fledgling two-year school is now Boise State University, which celebrated its 75th anniversary in the fall of 2007. The numbers today: more than 165 owned and leased buildings at various sites, a 175-acre main campus in the middle of Idaho's largest city and state capital, a full-time faculty of nearly 600, and an enrollment of over 19,500, the largest in the Gem State.

Today, Boise State is Idaho's metropolitan research university in the hub of government, business, the arts, health care, industry and technology. The campus is home to 11 Idaho Professors of the Year honorees as selected by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and the 2008 national champion student debate and speech team. Boise State also generates $330 million in economic impact on the state in jobs, earnings and sales while educating the work force of tomorrow.

Students can study abroad, participate in one of the largest internship programs in the Northwest and work with professors on cutting edge research in a variety of fields.

Campus life offers adventure and activity. More than 200 student organizations, residence halls along the Boise River Greenbelt and a state-of-the-art Student Recreation Center provide opportunities for both individual development and fun. More than one million visitors come to campus annually for Nobel and Pulitzer Prize-winning speakers, Bronco football, the Martin Luther King Jr. Human Rights Celebration and other events. Imagine what will happen over the next 75 years!

HONORARY DOCTORATE

BARBARA RADDING MORGAN is NASA's first Educator Astronaut.

Barbara Morgan has joined the ranks of Idaho's most honored and accomplished citizens. In 1985 she was selected to be the backup Teacher in Space for NASA, and trained alongside Christa McAuliffe at NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas. After the Challenger accident, Barbara served as the Teacher in Space Designee, and continued working for NASA while also teaching school in McCall.

Her duties as Teacher in Space Designee included public speaking, educational consulting, curriculum design, and serving on the National Science Foundation's Federal Task Force for Women and Minorities in Science and Engineering. In 1998, Barbara became NASA's first Educator Astronaut. Among other duties, she worked as Capsule Communicator in Mission Control.

The nation was captivated when, in 2007, Barbara flew on the space shuttle Endeavour on a construction mission to the International Space Station, traveling 5.3 million miles and logging over 305 hours in space. She served as loadmaster and robotic arm operator, and interacted with teachers and students on Earth.

Barbara was born and raised in Fresno, California. After graduating Phi Beta Kappa in Human Biology from Stanford University, she earned her teaching credential from Notre Dame de Namur University. She took her first teaching job on the Flathead Indian Reservation in Montana, specializing in remedial reading and math. Barbara taught elementary school in McCall, Idaho for a total of 21 years. She also taught English and Science for a year at the Colegio Americano de Quito, in Ecuador.

Barbara is married to Clay Morgan. They have two sons. Adam is a Film student at the University of Texas. Ryan will be a freshman at Boise State University this fall.

STUDENT SPEAKER

CHRISTOPHER OHGE of Boise. Ohge is a double major in philosophy and English, with an emphasis on literature. His internship research for "Melville's Marginalia Online" focused on Herman Melville and comparative literature and philosophy. Ohge has had the opportunity to study in Germany, present articles both in and outside of Idaho, and receive Boise State's President's Writing Award. He is the president of the BSU English Major's Association, and a member of the BSU Philosophy Club and Sigma Tau Delta, the international English honor society.

Ohge's volunteer projects include work with the Idaho Academic Decathlon, Rake Up Boise, the Idaho Food Bank, and helping to coordinate a literacy program with The Cabin Literary Center. Ohge worked for The Arbiter, Boise State's independent student newspaper, and the university's TRIO Student Success Program as a tutor in math, philosophy and English. His experience with TRIO and his internship led to his decision to attend graduate school in order to teach and continue scholarly research.

TOP TEN SCHOLARS

Top Ten Scholars are chosen from among the top 10 percent of Boise State's graduating class of more than 3,000 students for 2007-08.

They are selected based on academic performance, recommendation from college deans, and extracurricular and research activities.

Each student also honors a Boise State professor who was particularly influential to his or her success.

This year's award winners, in alphabetical order, and their honored professors are:

ISAAC BARRETT of Boise. Barrett, a computer information systems major, has balanced internships with Boise State Student Affairs, Blackboard and the Idaho Department of Labor with his extracurricular and volunteer activities. Barrett has participated with several organizations outside Boise State, including the Idaho Chess Association where he was one of the main tournament directors at the official Idaho State Scholastic Chess Championship.

He has held multiple leadership positions with the BSU chapter of the Association of Information Technology Professionals, including president, vice president and secretary. He earned two first-place awards at the AITP National Collegiate Conference in 2007 for Systems Analysis & Design and Business Intelligence. Barrett has been one of the key organizers of the annual PC Repair Fair and was a member of the Boise State Ballroom Dance Team. After graduation, he looks forward to continuing his work relationship with the Idaho Department of Labor and furthering his education with a master's degree. Honored faculty – Rob Anson, professor of Information Technology & Supply Chain Management

KYLIE BOGCESS of Twin Falls. Boggess is a political science major with an emphasis in international relations. Boggess has crafted a thoughtful route to her ultimate goal of impacting underserved populations in the United States and abroad. She was accepted into medical school at the University of Washington, where she plans to earn her M.D. and a master's in public health and then work to reduce health-care disparities and improve care throughout the world. Her employment with Family Medicine Residency of Idaho has provided in-depth experiences with Medicaid and Medicare patients and refugee populations, and allowed her the opportunity to travel to Guatemala where she saw first-hand the need for public health measures. Her internship with the public affairs office of Planned Parenthood of Idaho and her time spent at Camp Heartland, a camp for youth with HIV/AIDS, have helped solidify her commitment to underserved populations. Honored faculty – Dr. Brian Wampler, assistant professor of political science.

HEATHER CARLSON of Idaho Falls. As a student in the Honors College, Carlson, a psychology major, conducted research on the strategies students use when taking exams. Her honors thesis, directly tied to her research, explores the impact of working memory on creativity and problem solving skills. Her interest in assisting others was generated in part by her summer experiences throughout her college years. She has worked as a barista, a drug rehabilitation intern with Addiction Recovery Center at Saint Alphonsus Regional Medical Center, a research intern with the Idaho National Laboratory, a developmental therapist with SL Start, and as a residential rehabilitation volunteer with Catholic Charities of Idaho. Carlson also worked as a teaching assistant and a research assistant while in school. Her future plans include a graduate degree in educational psychology culminating in a career where she can positively impact the field of psychology and teach at the university level. Honored faculty – Heather Thompson, special lecturer in psychology

JULIE CARR of Boise. Carr graduated summa cum laude in December 2007 in nursing. Her research experiences included work with Health Literacy and Informal Caregivers of the Elderly and as a member of the Department of Nursing's Team China, where she conducted a comprehensive cultural and community assessment of Hangzhou Nursing College. Carr was one of only two undergraduate students asked to present at the Western

Institute of Nurses Conference, and as an elective, she assisted migrant farm workers at the La Buena Salud mobile health clinic. Her volunteer commitments included teaching tae kwon do and participating in Mexico Mission of Help, where she worked to build churches and orphanages. She is employed as a nurse consultant at Bonaventure Place. Her future career plans include using her nursing degree to benefit the elderly population as she prepares for her ultimate career goal – to pursue a master of science in nursing and teach nursing at the college level. Honored faculty – Pamela Gehrke, associate professor of nursing

RYAN COOPER of Boise. Cooper is a biology major with a business minor focusing on human biology and pre-medicine. He has participated in ASBSU student government as a senator both for the College of Business and Economics and the College of Health Sciences. He attended the international Model United Nations conference in New York City and twice placed in College Bowl competitions. He is employed as a marketing specialist with The Real Estate Group/Mirlyn Inc. and has volunteered with Saint Alphonsus Regional Medical Center, Into the Streets, Toys-for-Tots and the Volunteer Services Board at Boise State. Cooper has assisted with research projects both in biology and economics and recently developed a creativity index assessing creative resources of major northwest metropolitan areas (including Boise). He has also held several leadership positions with the “Tennis Crazy” student organization. He is applying to medical schools. Honored faculty – Nancy Napier, professor of International Business

BRIANA FLAHERTY of Boise. Flaherty is a chemistry major with a Spanish minor focusing on biochemistry. Flaherty combined her pursuits of language and science by spending a semester in Heredia, Costa Rica, studying the preservation of natural resources – an experience that led to her decision to specialize in green chemistry. Her passion for science parlayed into summer research jobs and presentations as far away as New Orleans. Her research with the Charlier Lab is funded by the U.S. Department of Defense and Boise Technology Inc., and last summer she was an INBRE fellow. Flaherty worked for the Bureau of Reclamation as a physical science technician and now balances her academic load with her research position and her job as a BSU lab instructor. Flaherty has volunteered with the BSU Chemistry Club’s Halloween Carnival, Special Olympics and a local Brownie troop. She plans to teach English to South American students prior to attaining her Ph.D. in chemistry. Honored faculty – Dr. Henry Charlier, assistant professor of chemistry and biochemistry

BRIAN HONAN of Boise. Honan graduated summa cum laude in December 2007 in computer science. One of the many honors bestowed on this U.S. Marine veteran was his selection as the student speaker for the 2007 winter Commencement. He received National Science Foundation scholarships in 2006 and 2007, and his energy for his chosen field led him to three internships with software companies including Micron Technology Inc., and Sybase iAnywhere. He was appointed a NASA undergraduate research fellow in 2006 and worked with students from across the nation at the NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif. Honan has completed two Marine Corps marathons and six Race to Robie Creek half-marathons, is a volunteer lacrosse coach for eighth- and ninth-grade boys, and is an Idaho Shakespeare Festival volunteer and patron. He has accepted a position with Hewlett-Packard in Boise and looks forward to staying engaged with Boise State activities. Honored faculty – Dr. Amit Jain, assistant professor of computer science

CHRISTOPHER OHGE of Boise. Ohge is a double major in philosophy and English, with an emphasis on literature. His internship research for “Melville’s Marginalia Online” focused on Herman Melville and comparative literature and philosophy. Ohge has had the opportunity to study in Germany, present articles both in and outside of Idaho, and receive Boise State’s President’s Writing Award. He is the president of the BSU English Major’s Association, and a member of the BSU Philosophy Club and Sigma Tau Delta, the international English honor society. Ohge’s volunteer projects include work with the Idaho Academic Decathlon, Rake Up Boise, the Idaho Food Bank, and helping to coordinate a literacy program with The Cabin Literary Center. Ohge worked for The Arbiter, Boise State’s independent student newspaper, and the university’s TRIO Student Success Program as a tutor in math, philosophy and English. His experience with TRIO and his internship led to his decision to attend graduate school in order to teach and continue scholarly research. Honored faculty – Steven Olsen-Smith, associate professor of English

PATRICK PRICE of Boise. Price is a materials science and engineering major. After working construction, completing a five-year apprenticeship and becoming a licensed journeyman electrician, Price discovered astronomy. Night classes in interesting subjects turned into life as a full-time engineering student. His aptitude, his approach to problem solving and his exemplary research led him to the position of lead research lab assistant with professor

Bill Knowlton. Both a non-traditional and a first generation college student, Price independently taught himself to use several pieces of lab equipment, works 10-20 hours in the lab each week, and finds time for his family as well as volunteer opportunities with the Boise State Materials Science and Engineering Club, the Engineering Honor Society and the Discovery Center of Idaho. He next plans to earn a master's degree in materials science and engineering and then a Ph.D. in a field related to energy or alternative fuel production. Honored faculty – William Knowlton, associate professor of materials science and engineering

HOPE WESTON of Boise. Weston is a mechanical engineering major. While she has been involved in research since her freshman year, including an interdisciplinary project last year, it is her dedication to her discipline and her extraordinary outreach to young women that have propelled her through her time at Boise State. The Idaho State Professional Engineers honored Weston as the 2007 Outstanding Junior of the Year in mechanical engineering. She has presented her research both inside and outside of Idaho, and has taken on a leadership role in the ceramic micro-electro-mechanical lab. She chairs the student section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, she is the president of the student section of the Society of Women Engineers, and she has been a mentor for the college's Science Camp and for E-Girls. Weston plans to work in the mechanical engineering field in Boise. Honored faculty – Donald Plumlee, assistant professor of mechanical and biomedical engineering

CEREMONIAL TRADITIONS

The Commencement exercise is a fitting conclusion to a successful academic career and earning of a university degree. The ceremony is based on 800 years of academic tradition handed down from European universities of the Middle Ages. Commencement ceremonies, with their academic gowns, mortarboards, tassels, hoods and maces, are colorful, festive and dignified. It is a ceremony recognizing the successes of the University and the students who merit degrees.

ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The academic procession is a featured part of the commencement program – a symbolic declaration that all members of the academic community are bound by a common purpose and shared commitment to the ideals of higher education, including the search for meaning, truth and understanding.

The presidential party – the president, the provost, the vice presidents, and deans – is led by a mace bearer, who is a faculty member and the president of the faculty senate.

THE MACE

The mace, generally made of wood and clad in metal, was used as a weapon during the Middle Ages. The mace has evolved into a symbol of authority and is carried at commencement and at ceremonies where honors or degrees are to be awarded.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

The caps, gowns, and hoods in the processional are symbolic of the Middle Ages. Because universities developed from church schools, both faculty and students were regarded as part of the clergy and wore clerical clothing based on monastic dress.

The traditional hat developed from the skull cap worn in cold weather. In Europe, a bonnet with tassel is still worn, but in America it has been replaced by the mortarboard cap or tam with tassel. The bachelor's gown, with its long, pointed sleeves, is worn closed. The master's gown has an oblong sleeve open at the wrist; the rear section is square cut. The doctor's gown often was furred, a decoration that survives today as the velvet on the front and sleeves.

The tassel colors seen in the processional correspond to the field of study.

THE MASTER'S HOOD

The academic hood was originally worn over the head in bad weather. Now, it is added to the apparel of those with master's and doctoral degrees.

The colors on the hoods represent two things: the wearer's Alma Mater and the department of learning. The lining of silk is in the colors of the college or university granting the degree. The trimming of velvet is the color that represents the departments of learning in which the degree was obtained.

The master's hood presented by Boise State University's Graduate College, displays a blue and orange chevron, denoting the University's colors. The color of the velvet border represents the field of study in which the degree is awarded.

OUR JOURNEY TO DESTINATION DISTINCTION

Destination Distinction: The Campaign for Boise State University is Boise State's recently launched $175 million fundraising initiative. The comprehensive campaign will transform Boise State into a metropolitan research university of distinction, providing unparalleled opportunities for students, solving problems locally, nationally and globally and improving the quality of life for all Idahoans.

The campaign focuses on three areas: People, places and programs. Boise State's students, faculty and staff (people) are our motivation and our most critical resource. New buildings, labs and other facilities (places) will allow us to impart knowledge and share in discovery. Exceptional academics and an enhanced research agenda (programs) will help us to achieve distinction.

Meeting these goals requires a broader base of support. Achieving and sustaining this level of greatness requires a commitment from our alumni, supporters and community partners. As we improve the university's reputation, we will attract talented students and faculty and secure even better opportunities.

Destination Distinction: The Campaign for Boise State University is spearheaded by the Boise State Foundation. A nonprofit Idaho organization, the Foundation is Boise State's official fundraising organization and also serves as the custodian for donations to the university. With generous help from individuals, industry and foundations, we can achieve the goals of Destination Distinction and take Boise State to unprecedented heights.
