PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Welcome to Boise State University's 2009 Winter Commencement. This ceremony, in your honor, is our University's finest hour. Your years of hard work and dedication have paid off. The challenges set before you have been met after enduring countless late nights, lectures and exams. Another impressive class of Broncos is ready to make its mark on the world.

To the graduates, we are very proud of you and your accomplishments, and we are committed to continually improving the academic profile of Boise State to ensure that you take pride in your alma mater. Boise State University is on the map and on the move. The value of the degree you will receive today will grow along with our reputation as a metropolitan research university of distinction.

To the loved ones of the graduates, take pride in the accomplishments being recognized today given the supporting role you have played in the lives of our graduates. Without your love and support, this celebration may not have been possible at all.

Finally, let us all remember that learning does not stop with graduation. The noble, lifelong pursuit of knowledge, enrichment and enlightenment is critical to a full and meaningful life.

Thank you for placing your trust in Boise State University for your higher education aspirations. On behalf of the faculty, alumni, staff and students, let me be the first to offer a heartfelt congratulations and best wishes for a bright future.

Go Broncos!

Sincerely,

Bob Kustra
President

BOISE STATE UNIVERSITY
THE NEW U RISING

With record student enrollment, new academic buildings, additional degree programs and an expanding research portfolio, Boise State University is The New U Rising. Growth in all these areas has been the defining characteristic in recent years for the largest institution of higher learning in Idaho, culminating in Boise State’s 2009 ranking by U.S. News & World Report among the nation’s “top up-and-coming schools.”

With Idaho’s fastest growing research program, Boise State is in the midst of a transformation that nurtures its traditional teaching strengths while expanding its capabilities in research and scholarly activity. This is not a revolution, but instead an evolution that reflects the integral part Boise State plays in contributing to the quality of life in the Treasure Valley and beyond.

Boise State has embarked on a mission to become a metropolitan research university of distinction. Its efforts are focused on:

• Providing a quality undergraduate experience
• Offering more graduate programs
• Enhancing and expanding its research mission
• Forging partnerships that contribute to regional growth and development
• Providing a center for cultural and intellectual exchange that enriches the community

Boise State’s broad range of undergraduate programs and several highly regarded programs at the graduate level make it an institution that can meet the educational needs of many. Boise State features academic programs in seven colleges: Arts and Sciences, Business and Economics, Education, Engineering, Graduate Studies, Health Sciences, and Social Sciences and Public Affairs. Students can study abroad, participate in one of the largest internship programs in the Northwest and work with professors on cutting edge research in a variety of fields.

With an enrollment of nearly 19,000 students, Boise State is a progressive learning-oriented, student-focused university dedicated to excellence in teaching, innovative research, leadership development and community service. These students are benefiting from a renewed emphasis on the undergraduate experience and reaching graduation day better prepared for the challenges of the 21st century.

STUDENT SPEAKER

JENNY STERNLING, a native Idahoan, is graduating with honors, earning bachelor’s degrees in both Theatre Arts Performance and Theatre Arts Secondary Education.

She has a distinguished and active career in theater as a professional actor, director, and producer. Her impressive work history in drama includes performances on stage, television, and in movies. She also was a company performer in the early years of The Idaho Shakespeare Festival.

Throughout her career she has taught drama to youth groups and directed multiple productions.

“Although she loves the stage and is a gifted performer, bringing the joy of drama to a new generation is arguably her greatest achievement and source of personal and professional fulfillment,” said Leslie Durham, an associate professor in theatre arts and one of two faculty members to nominate Sternling as the student speaker for Commencement.

Sternling has directed plays at Bishop Kelly High School in Boise for the past six years and developed and taught the school’s Theatre Arts Summer Camp. She also has instructed young artists at ArtsWest School, the Eagle Performing Arts Center, the Idaho Shakespeare Festival Education Program and the Boise city YMCA, among others.

She volunteers her time as an active member of the Boise School District Parent Community Advisory Committee and on the Board of Directors for TVCTV, a community access television station in Boise, where her focus is youth involvement and creative community connection.

“She is exhilarated by challenge and embraces opportunities with infinite enthusiasm and gratitude,” said Holly Anderson, a curriculum instruction and foundational studies professor who also nominated Sternling. “She is an academic marvel, an enthusiastic life-long learner, a person who will undoubtedly have a substantial life-changing impact through her theater activities for her students and the wider theater community.”

Sternling is pursuing her master’s degree in Interdisciplinary Studies and will combine her research in theatre history, English literature and communications. She has been married for twenty-three years and is the mother of two sons.

CEREMONIAL TRADITIONS

The Commencement exercise is a fitting conclusion to a successful academic career and earning of a university degree. The ceremony is based on 800 years of academic tradition handed down from European universities of the Middle Ages. Commencement ceremonies, with their academic gowns, mortarboards, tassels, hoods and maces, are colorful, festive and dignified. It is a ceremony recognizing the successes of the University and the students who merit degrees.

ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The academic procession is a featured part of the commencement program — a symbolic declaration that all members of the academic community are bound by a common purpose and shared commitment to the ideals of higher education, including the search for meaning, truth and understanding.

The presidential party — the president, the provost, the vice presidents, and deans — is led by a mace bearer, who is a faculty member and the president of the faculty senate.

THE MACE

The mace, generally made of wood and clad in metal, was used as a weapon during the Middle Ages. The mace has evolved into a symbol of authority and is carried at commencement and at ceremonies where honors or degrees are to be awarded.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

The caps, gowns, and hoods in the processional are symbolic of the Middle Ages. Because universities developed from church schools, both faculty and students were regarded as part of the clergy and wore clerical clothing based on monastic dress.

The traditional hat developed from the skull cap worn in cold weather. In Europe, a bonnet with tassel is still worn, but in America it has been replaced by the mortarboard cap or tam with tassel. The bachelor’s gown, with its long, pointed sleeves, is worn closed. The master’s gown has an oblong sleeve open at the wrist; the rear section is square cut. The doctor’s gown often was furred, a decoration that survives today as the velvet on the front and sleeves.

The tassel colors seen in the processional correspond to the field of study.

THE MASTER’S HOOD

The academic hood was originally worn over the head in bad weather. Now, it is added to the apparel of those with master’s and doctoral degrees.

The colors on the hoods represent two things: the wearer’s Alma Mater and the department of learning. The lining of silk is in the colors of the college or university granting the degree. The trimming of velvet is the color that represents the departments of learning in which the degree was obtained.

The master’s hood presented by Boise State University’s Graduate College, displays a blue and orange chevron, denoting the University’s colors. The color of the velvet border represents the field of study in which the degree is awarded.

OUR JOURNEY TO DESTINATION DISTINCTION

Destination Distinction: The Campaign for Boise State University is Boise State’s $175 million fundraising initiative launched in August 2007. The comprehensive campaign will transform Boise State into a metropolitan research university of distinction, providing unparalleled opportunities for students, solving problems locally, nationally and globally and improving the quality of life for all Idahoans.

The campaign focuses on three areas: People, places and programs. Boise State’s students, faculty and staff (people) are our motivation and our most critical resource. New buildings, labs and other facilities (places) will enable us to impart knowledge and share in discovery. Exceptional academics and an enhanced research agenda (programs) will help us to achieve distinction.

Meeting these goals requires a broader base of support. Achieving and sustaining this level of greatness requires a commitment from our alumni, supporters and community partners. As we improve the university’s reputation, we will attract talented students and faculty and secure even better opportunities.

Destination Distinction: The Campaign for Boise State University is spearheaded by the Boise State University Foundation. A nonprofit Idaho organization, the Foundation is Boise State’s official fundraising organization and also serves as the custodian for donations to the university. With generous help from individuals, industry and foundations, we can achieve the goals of Destination Distinction and take Boise State to unprecedented heights.
