Musical proposals

At first glance, one wouldn’t think that where students sit in a stadium turn out to be such a touchy issue. Most level-headed people would assume that because it is on a college or university campus and because it was initially built with student money that students would be given the greatest consideration when it came time for dividing the facility in accordance to seating areas. Yet, one would think that, wouldn’t one? But also, this is not the way modern civilization functions. First of all, you have to deal with an athletic administration. These people have many interests they must be responsive to; such as, community support, public relations, general and reserved ticket holders, printing agents, crowd control, drinking problems, alumni requests, student petitioning. Student priorities? Oh, yeah! How many seats do we have left!

Then comes initial proposals. The student body president is contacted and he is left up to him to present their initial proposals to the executive council or the senate, or, yell at it at the top of his voice in the lunchroom during the noon rush!

After presenting their first proposals for the remaining 25 seats in the stadium, the executive council instructs the president to return the initial proposals and then to request the gentlemens to place the floor in another week where they will do the most good.

The executive council then drafts their own proposal. Likewise, the athletic officials instruct the student body president, to insert that proposal in an out-of-sight/out-of-mind office for later reference.

It is now time for the senate to take action. They are presented the proposal suggestions and either given the rules of the game. At this point in history, they form an ’ad hoc’ committee and prepare an iron-clad proposal which is immediately shot down by the alumni organization and several students at-large. Not to mention the fact that the chairman has now changed the rules of the game by announcing that there is no longer any crowd control problem.

The ’ad hoc’ committee argues, debates, reads facts, debates, reconsider, debates, laughs, cries, debates and then reorders itself a damn fine proposal.

6000 student and guest tickets; unrestricted seating on both decks of the stadium with the exception of the reserved areas. PAS: student entry one-hour before the gates open to students.

Congratualations, gentlemen...it’s been a long way getting here; let’s hope the trip is over.

Christensen apologizes to students

In your letter, you presumably stated, “As a student leader, I’m sure I speak for thousands of Idaho’s youth when I urge your support for...”

I do not recall you asking my opinion, or for that matter, “Idaho’s youth”’s opinion on the issue. Had you done so, your article might have resulted in a more objective presentation that could have justifiably been representative of your constituents. Let’s face it, Mr. ASBSU President, what you stated was your own personal opinion, not mine. Not the student body’s...not “Idaho’s” youth, and it should have been identified as such. An office and a title, be it national, state, local, or collegiate, can be abused. Generalizations, presumptions of universal support, and assumptions of “divine knowledge” are for story-books, novels, not student body presidents.

Mr. President, I invite you to step down from your throne for a moment among us commoners where you might realize what true movement on campus against the power plant proposal. Have you bothered to find out how many students, even just the ones who have the time and energy to write in your newspaper, how many students, even just the ones who have the time and energy to write in your signature in protest, that you do not represent in your viewpoint?

Do you speak equally for those people in your opinion, or do they crumple to the ground at your feet? In this case, Mr. Christensen, for an ego check. If you are going public with an office and title, how about a little representation?

Graduation fees returned

As of November 1, 1974, graduation fees are not to be paid by students. Students who have paid the $5.15 for either December 1974 or May 1975 are entitled to a refund which can be picked up at the cashier's office in YOUR CAMPUS STORE. A university ID is required.
Proposed constitutional amendment explained

A constitutional amendment to Article II, section 1; clause 1 of the ASBSU Constitution which deals with student membership will be on the General Election ballot. It will require a two-thirds majority vote to be adopted.

The amendment, sponsored by Senator Ken Christiansen (R-Tech) and Senator Dewey Mayer (sen.), reads as follows:

A. There shall be three senators for each hundred and fifty (350) students in each of the schools, with one additional senator from each additional three hundred and fifty (350) students or fractional part thereof above one half.

B. There shall be at least one senator from each school.

C. The apportionment of senators shall be based upon the previous fall semester’s enrollment figures.

The sponsoring senators sent correspondence to 43 colleges and universities. They received 43 (23 affirmative and 20 negative) replies.

Out of the replies they received, four institutions operated according to the following model being proposed, differing in the student-senator number ratio; four used the first in-office in the petition and one utilized neither system.

Both senators agreed that cost was the major drawback, but felt that the proposal was a plus. "Senators will have to work harder and longer on their jobs," stated Blutler.

The present constitutional clause provides that twelve senators be elected proportionally from each of the university’s schools. The senators provided a list of pros and cons. Under "Pros" they mentioned:

1. More student input.
2. More representative representation.
3. More people responsible to student needs.

Under "Cons" the senate to fluctuate with enrollment.
5. Limited governmental elitism.
6. More united voices to protect student rights and powers.
7. The re-introduction of defined procedural order.
8. Elimination of extraneous debate.
9. Work-load distribution. (More investigative potential)

The "Crisis" includes:
1. Added cost through service awards. ($450 yearly per senator) (Copies of bills, etc.)
2. Strain on already crowded schedule.
3. Possible duplication of effort.
4. Procedural time elements.
5. Redefinition of Board control of meetings. (The vice-president responsible for maintaining order.)

New stadium plan

"4000 student tickets, 2000 guest tickets; general seating in both stands, and the new reserved section with the exception of reserved seating areas."

This proposal authored by Senator Ron Stephens, was questioned by Doug Gouchnour. - "This proposal equates the Legislative Process to a group of people who are interested in getting into the stadium." The committee include Ken Butler, Dewayne Mayer, Lenny Hertling and Doug Gouchnour.

"4000 student tickets, 2000 guest tickets; general seating in both stands, and the new reserved section with the exception of reserved seating areas." This proposal was authored by the Senate Ad Hoc Committee on Student Sports. The proposal was authored by the Senate Ad Hoc Committee on Student Sports. This proposal will be discussed at the March 4 meeting of the ASBSU Senate.

Several proposals have been made over the past month dealing with the stadium. Most of the above proposals were presented to the ASBSU Executive Board and will be placed on the senate agenda. The present request has been authorized as a result of questions raised by Alumni director Dyke Nally and students at large. "It is really difficult to deal with an issue of this nature and please all concerned parties," stated Arts and Sciences Senator Ken Christiansen. "The committee has really tried to come up with an acceptable proposal keeping in mind crowd control problems; Alumni reservations and general admission ticket obligations. We at all times kept the best interests of the students at heart in order to provide the best possible solution."
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF STUDENT RESIDENTIAL LIFE JOB OPENING

This is to announce a vacancy which will be occurring within the Office of Student Residential Life for the position of Assistant to the Director. This is a part-time job involving approximately 20 hours per week for $300 per month for ten months. The assistant to the Director of Student Residential Life should be a student of upperclass standing who has a minimum 2.25 GPA.

The job involves working with residence hall students, open students, and off-campus students. It includes counseling and advising, organizational supervising, staff training, research, and general programming. The Assistant often is expected to attend evening meetings, but the schedule of work hours is generally left up to the student.

Applications can be picked up in Room 110 of the Administration Bldg. The deadline for submitting applications will be March 27, 1975.

Channel 4 to broadcast all night on March 8

KAID-TV is staying up all night Saturday, March 8, to air off Festival '75, a part of Public Television Awareness Week (March 6-15). Not only are they broadcasting into the wee hours, but they have planned a studio party for all Channel 4 members! Festival '75 is a national public television fund-raising awareness week being held to promote public television in the United States. Channel 4 will be providing a number of special programs during this week, including the movie Z, a cartoon show by Child's Television Workshop who produce Sesame Street, an hour with country and western singer Tom T. Hall, Gimme Shelter featuring the Rolling Stones, and many other programs of unique appeal. Viewers should check their TV schedules for these programs.

To get the week started, Channel 4 at Boise State University, is inviting all its members to join the staff and management at an all member party March 8. The party will feature live and unusual entertainment, along with refreshments provided by the Red Steer Restaurant. From time to time during the evening, Channel 4 will turn its cameras on the festivities and allow the viewing public to enjoy some of the entertainment.

During the rest of the week, Channel 4 will be inviting community members to help promote public television in the United States. Every evening will be different, and every evening will be another opportunity to help promote this vital public service. Channel 4 will be, as usual, providing a number of special programs during this week, all designed to attract and inform the potential viewers of the quality and the variety of public television. Each night will feature a special program that will highlight the diversity and the importance of public television.

BSU chemistry student goes to Chicago

A Boise high school graduate now completing his junior year at Boise State, has finished what BSU chemistry chairman Jack Dalton calls "an unusual research opportunity" at Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago. BSU student Eric Fenn, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fenn, Boise, worked at the Chicago laboratory operated by the Atomic Energy Commission on a scholarship grant he obtained through the Boise State chemistry department. Result of Fenn's work at the Argonne is a paper-filled project on the behavior of specific chemical properties exposed to nuclear-magnetic resonance laboratory procedures.

"It's a fine piece of pure research," Fenn says. "I'm not sure I can ever again work on as wide a range of topics as I did in this project." Adams chemistry chairman Dalton, who helped Fenn through the study opportunity, "was elated." Fenn spent the entire 1974 fall term at the Argonne lab project, and is back at Boise State for the spring term.

Modern comedy 'Born Yesterday' to run March 6-15

Born Yesterday is one of America's most beloved comedies. The plot centers around Miss Davis, a former chorus girl, and her relationship in the course, usurpacious Harry Brock, who has come to Washington D.C. to buy a few senators standing in the way of his financial schemes.

Designer Roger L. Bedder has captured the flavor of the show with a gaudy, "almost offensive" setting which, according to play reviews, "is designed to reflect Brock's total lack of taste, but bubbly pocket-book." "Born Yesterday" takes place in an overly-expensive suite in the best hotel in Washington D.C. and Bedard's setting nicely fits the maid's remark, "Anyone renting 67 D (for $235.00 a day) I don't wanna know."

The costumes, too, are presenting something of a problem, especially since it calls for a series of most suitable from the period, which are becoming harder to find. The real problem lies in the continuity between the costumes which are closely fitted dresses worn by Billie, played by Sherry Lattimer. Costume designers Vic Holoway and Frances Hopson spent a lot of time selecting displays of the bubble Miss Davis, in keeping with the post-World War II styles.

"Born Yesterday" is played by Sherry Lattimer, and Jon Irwin plays the bombastic Harry Brock. Others in cast include John Edgerton, L. J. Pendlebury, Yam Cudd, Rich Darrington, Rich Tolton, Simon Barta, and Kathleen Kleino, who is also acting as assistant director.

"Born Yesterday" runs for ten nights March 6-15. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Reservations may be made at the booth box office by calling 385-1462 between 3:00 and 6:00 p.m. BSU students with an activity ticket are admitted free.

California's the place to go

Regulated from the Columbus State College HAWE EYE.

By Linda Lang.

Many states currently have much lower tuition than Washington. California's community colleges are free to their state colleges run about $80 or 900 a semester. After establishing residency, by living six months, the person is entitled to these rates.

If current tuition rates are raised, we suggest we all go west to live for six months, then reap the benefits a state that knows what it is doing.

Among all the talk of tuition increase, little is being said about the pros and cons of the issue. Obviously, the students are against such action, but who is supporting it and why?

The main reason for the increase is to keep up with inflation. Everything is rising, and tuition has stayed the same for many years. Isn't it about time for Washington school to keep up with the times?

It currently costs junior colleges, about $1000 a year to educate one student of 37% of that is coming from the student. At first glance it would seem that the student has to foot the bill. After all, the taxpayer must shell out the rest.

There are, however, good reasons why the student shouldn't have to pay even this much for his education. "Making the grade" is a full time job, and a student that must work outside of school is at a disadvantage. Those on scholarships and grants have a definite edge.

After graduation, students often take jobs and become taxpayers themselves. At this point they are much more capable of shell out the extra bucks needed to run the colleges.

The conclusion is simple. Let the state students get their education without heavy financial burdens. They can make up the difference through taxes after graduation.

Deloria slated for March 5

Jr. is an executive director of the National, N. T. H. American Indian. As an attorney, he is president of the Institute for the Development of Indian Law and a leader in the movement to guide students of Indian descent into the nation's law schools.

Other Deloria Jr. works include "Custer Died for Your Sin!" "We Talk Too Much about Our Good Faith!" and "Red Man in the New World Drama."

Graduation fees returned

As of November 1, 1974, graduate fees are not to be paid by students. The fee was $42.50 for 1974-75. Beginning in January 1975 for the fall semester, $52.15 for either December 1974 or May 1975 are entitled to a refund which will be returned to the student immediately. The student will have to apply in the student life office at YOUR CAMPUS STORE. A university ID is required.

Ohoor from BSU to appear on Mike Douglas show March 11

Dan Peterson, now nationally recognized orator from Boise State University, will make a guest appearance on the Mike Douglas show to be aired in Boise on March 11, 2:30 p.m., Channel 2 KBCI.

Regional newspapers carried a story about the young man who had spent time in prison for offenses from disorderly conduct to cattle rustling and other crimes. After Dan's release from the Idaho State Penitentiary in July, following a 120 day sentence, his life has made a complete turn around.

After winning the Western Speech and Communication Association's persuasive oratory championship, placing first in an oratory tournament at Pacific University and second in the Idaho Speech Tournament, deliberating on prison life and reform, Dan Peterson has become nationally known.

An article appeared in People's magazine on Dan's accomplishments, and from there the Mike Douglas show staff became interested.

Dan flew to New York in late January for the 30 minute filming of the show which included such guests as Joey Heatherton, David Steinberg and Craig Stevens.

Mike Douglas and the other guests chatted with Dan on the show asking why he had become a criminal to begin with, how he had ended up in the state penitentiary and what his ideas on the present penal code were.

Dan spoke of Joey Heatherton as "a beautiful woman who never got excited", David Steinberg as "nerve and excitable", and Craig Stevens as a "very calm and cool person."

As Dan reflected on the recent events in his life he commented, "I wonder about all this. I try to keep myself together. I wonder what will happen next year. It's a good cause speaking on prison life and reform, and I'll always be doing something about it."

Music department groups to tour

The Boise State University Meistersingers and Chorale will be leaving on tour Thursday, March 6, returning on Monday, March 10. They will be touring southeastern Idaho, appearing at high schools in Burley, Soda Springs, Idaho Falls, and Arco. One day will be spent in northern Utah with an appearance at Weber State College.

The highlight of the tour will be two performances with the Idaho State Civic Symphony in Pocatello in the program "The Music of Psalms" by Igor Strawinsky. This work is extremely difficult and demanding on both the orchestra and chorus.

The programs given for the high schools by the Meistersingers will feature much variety and include a special arrangement of "Blue Ronda A La Turk" by Dave Brubeck, a mal-chorus number "In That New Jerusalem" and an avant-garde selection entitled "S", which deals with the sounds of the letter "S".

The Chorale will feature special arrangements of "Day by Day" and "California Dreamin").

An enjoyable evening for all, to include an Italian menu and excellent entertainment, is scheduled from 7 to 10 p.m., Thursday, March 6. The Biblical Studies Center Student Association is sponsoring the event at the Biblical Studies Center, 1025 Belmont Street. The features of the evening are pizza, lasagna, a salad bar and other items on the menu, and the singing group "Manna" and guitar soloist, Dan Toel, are on the agenda for entertainment.

The atmosphere at the Biblical Studies Center is set to an Italian pace. Some of the decorations are compliments of Johnson's Floral, Jack's Flowers, and House of Flowers, local florists.

The students selected the name "Rainbow International" because, like the rainbow, they hope to blend people together that evening as they share an enjoyable experience. The term International was included since the organization is planning to host such a meal once each month featuring a different international menu each time.

Music department groups to tour

Dan Peterson will appear March 11 on the Mike Douglas show. He was also the subject of an article in "People" magazine recently.

Indian institute March 4-6

Vince Deloria, noted author and speaker, will speak at the Fourth Annual American Indian Institute March 4-6. The Institute is sponsored by the Department of History, the Honors Program, Dana Sochop, and the ASB Program Board.

The program on March 4 includes Alan P. Slickpoo, editor of the New Indian Legend and We, the New People. He will conduct seminar sessions at 9-40 a.m. in LA 403 and at 12:30 p.m. in B 101.

'Cutthroat' competition obvious at Relays

by Bob Christens

Not since the days of the Hill-fields and the McCays has a rivalry attained the degree of intensity as the one that currently existe between BSU and ISU. The intra-state feud stems from the "cut-throat" athletic competition that occurs between the two schools, and is especially apparent in track.

Because of BSU's overall performance in the Benning Relays (which were held on the Maidome on Saturday, February 22) was in doubt before the team even set foot in Bengal country.

Bob Beeten, ISU track coach and the organizer of the meet, extended an invitation to compete in the track meet which was BSU's only relay entry and BSU were placed in separate heats. BSU's speedy mile relay team which has a time of 3:24.4, had been discreetly overlooked.

Because of these injuries, there was considerable pressure on the 2-mile relay team to capture a measure of revenge. In the publicity buildup prior to the meet, ISU officials, had stated that their relay team would be shooting for the American record. Nothing would be sweeter than for the Broncos to spoil everything by winning the event. "I prepared my whole week for this," stated Samarro. "It was a real "skinny" in the making.

But Beeten had also prepared, and had the Broncos effectively corralled. The field was split into two heats. Not surprisingly, ISU and BSU were placed in separate heats. BSU won its heat on the strength of a tremendous anchor leg by Collier (1:51.9), who was running his first relay ever in college competition. Although they set a new school record at 7:37.0, it was good enough only for third place behind ISU's front-running time of 7:27.8. "In track you usually run with the competition," lamented Hockenberry disappointedly.

Bob Walker and Kerry Harris, competing in the 2-mile run and the high jump respectively, were BSU's other representatives at the meet. Walker who is one of the most outstanding distance runners in BSU's history, has been having his problems. Last year he was tagged most of the season with a hip injury, and is just now regaining top competitive form. He ran a courageous race, but was held up in the pack and failed to place.

Harris (the third freshman competing for BSU at the Benning Relays) was also eliminated, but did make a jump equaling his previous best of 6'7". Although they lost round one, the team is just beginning to realize their potential. An upset was in progression of spring training. As soon as the weather breaks, the Broncos should be making great strides.

One out of every three Marine Corps officers is in aviation. And we're looking for more good men to join them. Men who will fly some of the world's most exciting aircraft, as members of this world's finest air-ground team. If you're in college now, look into our PLC-Aviation program. There's no better time—and no better way—to get started.

The Bolle State University upset their second straight Big Sky wrestling champions, while Idaho State lost their third in a row.

Bolle State defeated Northern Arizona 98-75 and Montana State 95-74. The Broncos went on to win the Big Sky crown, while Idaho State fell to the same two teams, giving both ISU and Boise State 7-4 conference records.

Steve Connor scored 24 points and Pat Hoke dropped in 22 to lead all scorers and BSU to a 78-77 win over Gonzaga University.

Matmen win second Big Sky crown

The Boise State Broncos captured their second straight Big Sky wrestling championship last Saturday in Bozeman, Montana. The Broncos scored 187 points while Idaho State took second with 124. Weber State was third with 99, followed by Montana State fourth with 74, Northern Arizona fifth with 72, and Montana sixth with 9. Gonzaga failed to score.

Gal cagers take first

by John H. Reeves

Boise State's women cagers advanced another step toward their goal for a National Playoff berth. The women placed first in the Northwest Division "A" Basketball Tournament in Pullman and are now headed for Pullman, Washington to compete in the National Regional playoffs, March 6-8.

John Burrell rankled up 29 points to lead the Broncos as they edged Montana State 76-65 in the first game. Both teams showed a strong defense to make up for their poor shooting and most of their points came from their first game. Elliot Elliott added 27 points.

In game two the Broncos put together a strong team effort and balanced scoring to gain revenge on the Mountaineers of Eastern Oregon State College, downing them 61-47. EDSC handed the Broncos their only loss earlier this season. Kendra Faden scored the Broncos' 14 points. Burrell and Elliott had 10 each while Betty Will and Elaine Godfrey combined for 15.

In the third game Boise State stunned Washington State University with a 66-63 win. Elliot Elliott, for the second time this season, defeated them 65-49. WSU hit 47 rebounds to BSU's 35, but Boise State's press aided the defense. They forced the Cougars into 29 turnovers to Boise's 19. Boise State hit 45% of its shots from the field while WSU shot a meager 35%. John Burrell pumped in 28 points to lead the Broncos. Kendra Faden and Elliot Elliott each had 16.
