One of the faults with the new system stems from the painting of unsold spots. Many spaces in the Union parking lot are painted but not sold.

New policy creates problems

With the Scholarship Parking System in existence for less than 3 weeks, several unforeseen problems have arisen, according to Nate Kim, ASB President.

One of the problems stems from the painting of reserved numbers on unsold spaces. Slots in the back of the Student Union Building are painted numerically, however, cars are not parked in many of the spaces.

"None of the spots were supposed to be marked until they were sold," Kim stated. "The Parking Control Office went ahead and painted them even after that agreement was reached."

Gordon Phillips, director of the parking office, said that his office needed time to paint the numbers on the slots. "The decision to paint the spaces before they were sold was between Buildings & Grounds, Roger Green and myself. The numbers have to be painted on by hand and we felt that it would be impossible to number the spaces as they were sold." The deadline for space sales is September 19 according to Phillips, and after that date numbers will be removed from unsold slots.

"If any student receives a ticket for parking in a numbered slot, bring it to the Parking Control Office and we will determine whether that space is reserved. If it is not, the ticket will be voided," Phillips stated. The Parking Control Office is located on the second floor of the Administration Building.

Phillips clarified parking procedure in the area of the SUB. Cars may be parked in front of the SUB on the far side of the fire lane with a $2 decal. Cars may also parallel park at the side of the SUB by the game room, he said.

A check with the Boise Police Department revealed that there is a problem with cars being parked on private, residential property around the campus. According to Lt. Jim Lamborn, patrol director, cars are being parked on private property and blocking driveways.

"We are trying to pacify the residents but it's getting to the point where we can't anymore," Lamborn stated. The police department will impound cars parked illegally. The cost to the owner of an impounded car is high, he said.

"There is a minimum of $4 for the actual citation, plus a minimum of $15 for a wrecker fee, plus the storage fee at a lot. A twenty dollar bill is gone," Lamborn said.

"We understand the problems with parking on the campus, but at the same time we have to protect the residents," he added.

Fire regulations to be enforced at concerts

All fire regulations are going to be strictly enforced at concerts this year, according to John Elliott, publicity director for the Programs Board. Among the regulations are no smoking rules barring any smoking in the gym during concerts and any open flame.

smoke break between bands for the spectators to indulge in their smoking habits whatever they may be. We feel it's important that no one place another person or the concert series in jeopardy by ignoring the fire code," Elliott stated.

Homecoming planned

All campus organizations are invited to sponsor a candidate for Homecoming Queen or Mr. Bronco, according to the Student Union Programs Board. To be eligible, a candidate must be a full time student and be sponsored by a recognized campus organization. The deadline for entrance is Oct. 10 by 5:00 p.m. Entry applications are available in the SUPB office on the second floor of the Student Union Building.

Positions offered for Judiciary

The ASBSU office is still accepting applications for the Judiciary, according to Mark Welsh, Personnel Selection Committee chairman. Applications may be obtained in the ASB offices. They must be returned by 1:00 p.m. Tuesday, September 16, Welsh said. The Judiciary Selection Committee will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. to interview all those applying for the positions.

'Look Out' changed into dining area

A new dining facility for students, faculty and staff will open September 22 in the Student Union Building, according to Gary Ribeiro, director of ARA Dining Service. The facility will be located in the Look Out on the third floor of the SUB and seat 80 people. Serving hours are 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

According to Ribeiro, the facility has been planned for several years. Original plans called for the Nez Perce room being remodeled. This was revised, and the Look Out was the final decision.

The purpose of the new dining room is "to offer the university community an alternate dining room," Ribeiro stated. "The dining room will be open to students, faculty, staff, administration, alumni and their guests," he added.

The format calls for limited waiter service in a buffet style with beverages and desserts served.

Among the daily fair will be hauf brau style food, a salad and sandwich bar, soup, chili and a packaged lunch. The cost will be somewhat higher than the snack bar according to Ribeiro because "of the extra cost of linen and table service."

"The school is picking up the initial cost," Ribeiro said, "then we will take care of it. All equipment is designed to be mobile," he said that there are no plans at this time to open the facility in the evenings. "Maybe when the Special Events Center is open, we'll consider it."

Prior to the remodeling, coffee-houses were held in the Look Out. These have since been moved to the Boisean Lounge on the first floor of the SUB. Ribeiro said that students still may use the Look Out in the afternoons after the dining service has closed.

The Lookout has been remodeled into an alternate dining area for students, faculty and staff.

Nominations requested for Who's Who among students

Boise State University has again been requested to submit nominees for inclusion in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, according to Dr. David Taylor, Vice-President of Student Affairs.

or her participation and leadership in academic and university related extracurricular activities, his or her citizenship and service to the school and his or her promise of future usefulness, Taylor added.

This annual selection is open to junior or senior students. Nominations are requested from all interested individuals, student organizations, departments and schools, according to Taylor. When considering possible nominations, individuals should keep in mind the students class status, his Areas included in the application are organizational membership, special honors, recognition and offices held. Self-nominations are encouraged. Deadline for nominations is October 3, 1975. Applications may be obtained and returned in either the Program Office in the Student Union Building or the Office of the Vice-president for Student Affairs, A-110.

Senate Report

Faculty suit, parking considered

by Helen Christensen

Scholarship parking, faculty salaries, classroom utilization and presidential appointments were major topics of business at the Sept. 9 ASBSU Senate meeting.

"Why should we let you put our heads on the chopping block?" was the response of Royanne Klein, senator School of Arts and Sciences when Senator Howard Welsh, Health Sciences, suggested that the senators respond to a roll call vote concerning the scholarship parking system. Welsh asked that the vote be published so that the senators' constituents would know how they stand on the issue.

Klein explained, "it's not fair that Welsh force this issue. The senators should not be pressured into committing themselves unless they want to on an individual basis.

We also need to keep in mind that we would be voting on an issue already in effect," she added.

"I'm in favor of this parking system because it opens up all the parking areas. I sat in on the meetings with Dr. Barnes when scholarship parking was proposed. I helped set it up and I support it. It isn't the ultimate system, but it is adequate for now," said Klein.

"The scholarship parking plan was not a decision for us to make," stated Senator Dave Wynkoop, School of Business. "It was taken out of our hands when Barnes took his own proposal to the State Board," he said.

Welsh stated, "this parking system is a thorn in the sides of a lot of students. The senate reneged on their responsibility to thoroughly investigate this issue. Whether or not the senators support this system is important. Students deserve to know how their representatives stand on this issue.

"What we are talking about is a parking situation over which a scholarship collection system is imposed. We need to find out just how this money is going to be spread around. Who is going to define what an "academically superior" student is?" he said.

Several senators concurred with Doug Gouchnor, Arts and Sciences, when he stated that a simple "yes" or "no" vote is not adequate to fully explain their positions. "This is the best plan we've got until we can get a totally open parking system," he said.

"I'm in favor of this parking system in relation to what we've had in the past," said Mike Hoffman, senator Arts and Sciences. "I would prefer an open parking situation, but when it was suggested last year, there was so much adverse feeling from the faculty and administration that it just wasn't feasible. I would like to see it in the future, but meanwhile scholarship parking is more equitable since any student who wishes to purchase a parking space can park anywhere on this campus, with no preferential parking for faculty and staff. It also provides money for scholarships. The students are benefitting from this," he stated.

"I don't like the scholarship parking plan and I would like everyone to know it," said Lenny Hertling, Arts and Sciences. "But we're stuck with it for the rest of this year," he added.

No vote was taken on the parking issue.

Welsh also proposed that the student senate endorse the faculty in their bid for salary increases, including support of the English Department's suit concerning salary inequities on the basis of sex discrimination. The motion was seconded by Hertling who stated, "I've had classes from both male and female instructors and I received a comparable education from both."

Welsh explained that BSU's faculty salaries are rated "D" on a national scale of "A" to "E".

Wynkoop objected to the statement of support on the grounds that "this is none of our business. We represent students and the touchy issue of faculty salaries is none of our concern. Why is it that just the English Department professors are upset about salaries and not the faculty as a whole?" he added.

"Everything that happens on this campus is our concern," said Hertling. "This is a clear case of salary discrimination and we should offer a statement of support," he added.

"I'm sure that the people in the Business Department, who are at the top of the pay scale, want to protect their own interests," said Welsh. "Many other departments, especially those where females are primarily employed, such as Home Ec. and Health Sciences, are also concerned," he said.

Those senators voting "no" were Crawford and Wynkoop. Senators who abstained from voting were Brown, Gouchnor, Jorgenson and Klein.

Klein stated that she abstained on the grounds that the faculty senate, on which she serves as the student senate liaison, did not ask for student support. "We also didn't have a chance to find out how the students we represent feel about this issue. We shouldn't vote on the basis of individual biases," she said.

The proposal failed for lack of a majority.

ASBSU President Nate Kim reported that a classroom utilization report had been compiled by Dr. Richard Bullington, BSU executive Vice President. The report stated that between the hours of 7:40 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. 92 per cent of all classrooms are in use. From 12:40 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. there is 99 per cent utilization and from 2:40 to 4:30 58 per cent of the classrooms are in use. There is 93 per cent utilization of classrooms during evening classes.

Kim also reported that John Steppe, former Personnel Selection Committee chairman was asked to resign. Kim proposed that the senate accept his appointment of Mark Welch to head the committee. The motion passed a unanimous voice vote.

Other appointments approved by the senate included Robin Waddell as Personnel Selection committee member and Janet Palno as Election Board Chairperson.

In other senate business a bill proposed by Klein which would assign senators to visit recognized campus organizations and living groups in order that pertinent

Correspondence study available in Idaho

Correspondence study in Idaho has been in existence since 1928, and yet not many people are aware of the advantages and possibilities offered by this type of schooling.

According to Susan Burcaw, U of I coordinator of Correspondence Study in Idaho, the program first began on the University of Idaho campus but the State Board of Education soon found it more feasible to use the faculty of all the universities.

Boise State University, ISU, U of I and Lewis-Clark State College work together to provide a correspondence study program of high caliber where credits are easily transferred between campuses.

Susan Burcaw appears on the BSU campus as much as possible, usually every six weeks to evaluate the program at this end of the state. "The Boise valley has the population and guidance needed to provide a tremendous correspondence program."

"Bill Jensen, Director, Off-Campus Programs, is so dynamic...he has really improved the program since he joined BSU," exclaimed Ms Burcaw. "and Dr. Bullington, Vice President, has been of tremendous help since the program first began."

Correspondence courses offer college credit from the four cooperative schools; high school courses and special non-credit courses. Registration is any time.

The purpose of correspondence study is to provide an opportunity for students to continue their education, complete degree or certification requirements, to work at your own pace at home, and to receive individual attention on a one-to-one basis.

"In all cases we recommend that if students can take a course in class or a group situation that he take that route," commented Susan Burcaw. "But, in many cases when a student simply cannot travel to a campus the correspondence courses are invaluable."

Continuing education through correspondence is especially helpful for such professionals as nurses and engineers who are unable to take a leave from their jobs and attend class.

In general, up to 32 credits are allowed to fill requirements for a college degree. Each college credit costs $22.00, the fee strictly going toward offsetting costs.

Currently, the program encompasses 1,000 individuals who are enrolled in over 100 different courses.

Seminar aimed at exchange of ideas

An honors seminar will meet for an hour on Tuesdays at 2:30 to offer students and faculty an opportunity to present scholarly papers to honors students for discussion. The semester will be divided between presentations by faculty members concerning scholarly research in a university setting or discussions of their own research projects; and presentations of students' research papers.

The class will be aimed not only at an exchange of ideas on a variety of subjects but also to aid students in learning to prepare papers on the graduate level. In addition the class will provide an opportunity to increase the students' awareness of topics outside their own particular major field of interest and will increase the opportunities for communication between faculty members and students.

Any faculty member or honor student interested in taking part in this seminar please contact honors student Ann Burr at 344-5670; the honors office; or Dr. Bonachea, history department. A sign up list is posted in the history department reception area, second floor, of the library and also in the honors office, fourth floor of the library.

Educational Media sets new policy

In an effort to assist the academic program, Educational Media Services has initiated a new policy on individual student loans of A. V. equipment. Formerly, faculty authorization was required for each loan and the faculty member was responsible for the equipment.

EMS has shifted the responsibility and liability to the student. A limited number of A. V. equipment has been designated for student checkout. The availability of equipment will be limited to the designated pool on a first-come, first-serve basis, subject to the following procedures:

1. Student requesting equipment must sign a liability agreement indicating that the equipment will be used on campus only for academic or classroom related activities.

2. Student agrees to return equipment on time and in good condition.

3. Student agrees to leave on deposit his/her student ID and Activity

Card until equipment is returned. 4. Loan period is not to exceed 24 hours unless special arrangements are made by the supervising faculty member.

Women's Committee programs

The Women's Committee of BSU has arranged a series of programs for the Brown Bag Forum which meets every Wednesday at noon in the Clearwater room of the SUB. In September, the focus will be on the legal right of women. This week, September 17, the speakers are Linda Wagner from the Idaho Personnel Commission and Gail Bissell from the Human Rights Commission, who will discuss the areas of employment and credit.

During October the theme will be communication and speakers from the media will be featured. Special problems in education will be highlighted in November. Students, employers and faculty members are invited to bring their lunches and discuss these issues. For more information call Dr. Wylla Barsness, Psychology, 1196 or 1207.

Women veterans eligible for G.I. benefits

Some 94,000 women veterans who have not yet used their current GI Bill for education or training still have time to do so, but they should apply immediately to the nearest Veterans Administration regional office, VA advises.

The deadline for completion of training (even including last year's two-year extension for veterans discharged after January 31, 1955) is May 31, 1976, or 10 years from the veteran's date of discharge, whichever is later.

Only 46 per cent of the 174,000 women veterans eligible have trained under the current GI Bill. The comparable figure for male veterans is 59 per cent.

Biofeedback talk scheduled

The Ada County Mental Health Association in conjunction with the National Federation of Student Social Workers will present a lecture on biofeedback Thursday, September 18 at 12 noon in the Nez Perce room of the SUB.

Dr. Max Callao, Assistant Professor of Psychology will be the featured speaker. Biofeedback is a technique which enables an individual to assert a measure of personal control over their own physical health.

FOR THE BETTER BUYS IN CLOTHES WHETHER YOU'RE GRUB'IN IT OR DINING YOUR SWEETIE GET INTO IT AT THE FARM STORE 1414 GROVE

Of the 80,000 women veterans who have used the current GI Bill for training, some may now be eligible for a special retroactive payment from VA. Those who were enrolled under the GI Bill, while married, between June 1, 1966, and October 24, 1972, are eligible for an additional $30 for each month of enrollment if they were not paid at the rate for married veterans.

The special payment is to equalize benefits with those received by married male veterans who trained under the GI Bill during this time, as the men received an allowance for wives.

Women veterans who meet these requirements should contact the nearest VA regional office to file claims for the money. The cutoff date for filing claims for the special payment is July 1, 1976, and proof of marriage while training under the GI Bill must be furnished in connection with the claim.

Women veterans who proved to VA while they were in training that their husbands were permanently disabled and incapable of self-support already have been paid the additional amount, as have the women veterans who trained after October 24, 1972.

Women who trained under the Korean conflict and World War II GI Bills are not eligible for the retroactive amount for husbands, it was noted.

Business majors asked to join Alpha Kappa Psi

All business majors interested in an organization with a purpose and in getting a chance to make friends with fellow students with common interests are urged to look into Alpha Kappa Psi, the honorary business fraternity. Alpha Kappa Psi stresses involvement in community activities and participation in all worthwhile projects.

One of the major plusses in any organization is the contacts that one can make, and Alpha Kappa Psi gives each member a great opportunity to meet local businessmen and get to know them. Along with the contacts that are made available through an association with this business fraternity, there are excellent chances to develop leadership abilities and to exercise these abilities through practical application.

If you are looking for brotherhood and fellowship Alpha Kappa Psi is what you seek. Feel free to contact any member or drop in for a free cup of coffee in room 315 in the Business Building. Meetings will be on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. in the Caribou Room in the Student Union Building. Anyone interested in pledging Alpha Kappa Psi is invited to attend, but hurry as the pledge class will be starting soon.

Preprofessional Club votes to include all

On Thursday, September 11, over fifty students of the school of Health Science met to consider the direction of the BSU Pre-professional Club. The issue was raised as to whether the Pre-professional Club should continue to limit its program and activities to the interests of premedical, pre-dental and preveterinary students. The students overwhelmingly voted to include all health science majors and other students with an interest in the health profession as voting members of the preprofessional club. The students also voted to change the name of the organization to the Preprofessional Association.

Other votes were taken to determine the schedule of meetings and coordination of activities of the Preprofessional Association. The meetings of the Association have been set for the second Tuesday of each academic month, unless otherwise decided by a majority of the members. The meetings are to be designated in advance so that examinations in health science courses can be scheduled so that they do not conflict with the meetings of the Association.

Two specific activities were approved by the membership. First, the coordination of a tour through the Mountain States Tumor Institute. Second, the arrangements for interested students to view an autopsy.

A schedule of lecture presentations and panel discussions is now being worked out to complement the activities of the Association.

In conjunction with the emphasis of the Preprofessional Association, the Health Science Steering Committee will be meeting Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:00 to 7:00 p.m. The officers of the Preprofessional Association are members of the steering committee. All interested students are invited to attend these meetings during weeks when the entire Preprofessional Association is not meeting.

Library hours posted

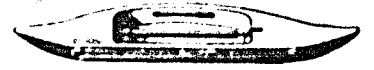

Loan periods for most items in the BSU Library collection are for one month. Any book can be recalled after two weeks if requested by another campus borrower, or recalled immediately for reserve. For circulation periods of other library materials, such as magazines, check at the appropriate desk.

Books may be renewed either by returning them to the library or by calling 385-1204.

The library collection is for your information needs and the librarians are willing to help you find the information you need.

Potential interest clash in higher education

realities, created the "calm" which has prevailed on campus during the early seventies.

Today the polls continue to show that underneath this calm, alienation from cultural values and from future life prospects in the society remains high among students. The unresolved issues regarding who the university serves and how it will be governed remain. And now new forces are combining, which may this time crystallize, rather than submerge, the potential clash of interests within higher education.

Faculties, traditional defenders of the idea of a community of interest among all constituents of the university and critics of those who would politicize and polarize academia, are now unionizing! Moreover, administrators' promises of innovations and reforms are now replaced by apologies for "how tight things are" in this era of declining budgets. Talk of more open admissions has given way to talk of doubling tuition in the public institutions. The search for relevance has receded before an even greater "vocational" emphasis. Enthusiasm for humanizing the bureaucratic institution is now subjugated to pressure for state-wide centralization to improve efficiency. And students, affected by all of these trends, see others within the university organizing to protect their respective interests, and naturally think of doing the same.

Events at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, where the student government has funded a professionally-staffed "Organizing Project", may indicate what the future holds. The students want recognition for a student union empowered to bargain collectively on their behalf with the university. They want to negotiate tuition and fees, degree requirements, and all "conditions of learning". They began a campaign this fall to test student support for the idea, and initial response has been overwhelmingly positive.

It should be noted that the appropriateness of applying the collective bargaining model to the student/university relationship has emerged only recently. The decline of the in loco parentis theory and the rise of a contract theory to explain the legal basis of the student/university relationship, along with the extension of majority rights to 18 year-olds, seems to remove any existing legal obstacles. More importantly, perhaps, the rapid swell of faculty unions has created a climate on campuses in which it is hard to argue against student unions. Having been assured for so long of balanced representation in university governance, how can students now be denied a prerogative which the faculty enjoys, and which is transforming the landscape of university governance processes?

Indeed, student collective bargaining may be more than just a good idea for the students themselves, concerned about their interests as the consumers of, the younger workers in, and the products of, higher education.

Unionized students on campus may also help to maintain equilibriums in the fact of the widespread academic collective bargaining by other groups. They may provide the best way of preserving the role for students which student development personnel have helped to create over the past few years.

Also, student unionization may ease the conflicting pressures on student personnel administrators, some of whom will be able to become simply student personnel, working directly for students, as do the new staff members of the Student Organizing Project at the University of Massachusetts. For NASPA members, so often caught in the middle when conflicts of interest arise in the university community, this alone might be no small relief!

information be disseminated to the senate was approved.

Organizations included in this proposal are Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Kappa Psi, Chaffee Hall, Driscoll Hall, Esquires Club, Gamma Phi Beta, IK's, International Club, Kappa Sigma, Morrison Hall, Sigma Nu, Sigma Tau Gamma, Tau Kappa Epsilon, The Towers, University Courts, Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Omicron Pi and Pi Sigma Epsilon.

Margo Hansen, '74-'75 Les Bois Editor reported that the budget for the '75-'76 yearbook had not yet been approved by the senate. She explained that it was impossible to begin on the next yearbook without a senate approved budget. The senate previously set aside $16,500 in a contingency fund for the Les Bois. The senate voted to send the matter to the Financial Advisory Board. Hansen also reported that she had not yet heard from the Personnel Selection Committee regarding her application for '75-'76 Les Bois Editor.

Nick Casner, ASBSU Public Relations Director stated that he represents a group of "Concerned University Citizens" who wish to be heard at the next senate meeting in regards to the Les Bois. The yearbook will again be considered at that time.

Casner also reported that "Outlook, A New Perspective on BSU" is a radio news program on KFXD Sundays at 8:44 p.m. which his office has produced at a cost of $200 a year as an effort to inform the public about the various aspects of BSU.

In other business Welsh reported to the senate that he is investigating the student health insurance policies available to BSU students. Welsh stated that due to rising cost of student insurance, he recommends that the senators look into the matter and ask that the campus insurance representative be invited to the next senate meeting to answer questions. No action was taken.

Vice president o'Halloran stated the senate meetings will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesdays in the future.

Programs Board sets policy for preferential film seating

It was decided at the weekly meeting of the Student Union Programs Board held in the SUB Wednesday that only students and faculty members with ID cards would be admitted to the Pop and Foreign film series until fifteen minutes before showtime. General public will be allowed after the students and faculty if there are any available seats remaining.

This decision was made because of the attendance records set during last year's film series. The board's new policy is designed to assure every student and faculty member preferential seating for all films to be shown during the coming year.

There was some discussion dealing with the feasibility of charging the general public a minimal admission; however this suggestion was tabled until a later date.

Other business included an Outdoors Activity pack trip to the Anderson Ranch Dam later this month. It was stated that anyone interested in joining this outing is urged to contact Scott Logan in the Games Area of SUB.

The October concert will more than likely be Joan Baez, according to Eric Bishoff, concerts chairperson.

There will be a one man student art show featuring the works of Grady Myers who became familiar to BSU students through his cover designs for the ARBITER. The show is slated for sometime in October.

'Private Lives' opens at BLT

A classic comedy for mature audiences will open the 1975-76 Boise Little Theater season Friday at 8:15 p.m. Private Lives in the words of its writer, Noel Coward, "is the lightest of light comedies based on a serious situation. It's about two people who love each other too much."

Director, Colleen Fordyce, after discussion and thought, decided to set the play in the Art Duo period of the '20's in France. "Art Duo," she explained, "first flourished then. We hope to capture the feeling of the period in geometric set design, sleek, plush furniture and typical chiffon and crepe costumes."

Private Lives, with a cast of five people, opens Friday, September 19, with performances continuing through Sunday. Doors are closed Monday evening, September 22, and the play resumes Tuesday, September 23 through Saturday, September 27. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Reservations are preferred. Admission is $2.85 for each seat. Box office will be open for two weeks beginning September 15 through Saturday each week. Hours are 12 noon until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and Saturdays 11 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Season tickets for seven outstanding plays are still available and may be purchased during daytime box office hours and evenings at Boise Little Theatre.

Ringmaster-clown Nick Weber and escapologist Kevin Duggan demonstrate buckling technique for straight jackets used in the new 1975-76 circus.

Circus act slated for September 19

The Royal Lichtenstein Circus will be making its second appearance September 19, at noon, on the lawn by the SUB. On its fourth national tour, the Royal Lichtenstein Circus is once more dancing its way to colleges, shopping centers and city parks across the country. To the happy hum of a Frankfurt barrel organ, the World's Smallest Circus features a rapidly-paced melange of clown comedy, pantomime, magic, balancing, juggling, animal antics and escapism.

The ringmaster-founder of the circus, Nick Weber, will present his barefoot walk up a ladder of sharp swords. Performing with him is Tommy Crouse, the show's featured story-teller and comic from Houston, Texas; and San Jose's Kevin Duggan, who, with his partner presents the fastest straitjacket maneuver ever exhibited to the American public. Included in the animal portion of the performance is circusdom's favorite spider monkey, Penelope, queen of the parallel bars.

cold-drill solicits works

for '76 issue

Literary contributions by students, staff, and faculty are being solicited for the 1975-76 issue of the Boise State University literary magazine, the cold drill. The award-winning magazine, published annually by the BSU Department of English, is looking for poems, short stories, and essays for publication consideration. If you have literary work which might be suitable, please bring your manuscripts to the English Department secretary, Ms Taunya Semanick in LA 228. Manuscripts should be carbon or Xerox copies (they will not be returned) and should have the author's name and address typed or clearly printed on them. (Manuscripts are selected by student editors who receive them with names and addresses removed, in order that the selection be as fair as possible.) Notification that your work has been accepted will be by personal letter from the cold drill advisor in November/December of this semester. Inclusion in the March, 1976 issue entitles authors to fame and one free copy of the boxed, loose-leaf magazine.

Health service answers queries

Editor's Note: Student Health Services Questions & Answers will be a regular feature in the Arbiter. Please submit any questions you have to the Student Health Services. Phone 385-1459.

Q. Has a new form replaced the entrance physical required for admission to BSU?

A. Yes - it's called a DASH form. The questionnaire is completed entirely by the student at a cost of $7.00 paid by the student.

Q. When I enrolled as a freshman this fall I submitted a standard entrance physical. Is this acceptable, or do I now have to complete a DASH form?

A. Either the standard physical or DASH form will be acceptable for enrolling freshmen for Fall Semester 1975 only. In Spring 1976 and thereafter only DASH forms will be accepted.

Q. Where can I get a DASH form?

A. At the Student Health Service

(Health Building, 2121 College Blvd., across from the Campus Elementary School) or at the Admissions Office in the Administration Building.

Q. What happens if I don't turn in a DASH form or physical?

A. You may be seen once at the Student Health Service if you have not submitted a physical or DASH form. After this initial visit you will be refused service until a form is submitted. An emergency situation will be the only exception.

Q. If I am a full-time student, are my wife, a non-student, and our children eligible for care at the Health Service?

A. No. At the present time our facilities and funding provide for treating full-time students only.

Q. Do you dispense birth control pills?

A. Contraception examination, prescription, and counseling are available.

Q. What are your hours?

A. We're open 9:00 to 4:00,

Monday through Friday. For birth control prescriptions or pap smears or faster service, we suggest 9:00 a.m. Tuesday through Thursday. Of if you have morning classes, try to come at 1:30 in the afternoon. We do not make appointments.

Q. Isn't your office a part of my student insurance?

A. There seems to be no end to the confusion over this. We are a separate entity, a clinic which is open during the hours that day-time classes are in session. The insurance is intended to cover specialized services, hospitalization, and emergency care when the Student Health Service is closed. Guarantee Trust Life Insurance will have a representative in the SUB in the Student Senate Office (the old Arbiter office) upstairs, Monday through Friday, 1:30 to 3:30. His phone number is 385-1547, or you may call the company direct at 345-9885. Claim forms are available in our office or at the representatives office.

Poetry competition announced for spring

The National Poetry Press has announced it's spring competition. Any student attending college is eligible to submit verse with shorter works preferred by the board of judges because of space limitations. There is no limitation to form or theme.

Each poem must be typed or printed on separate sheets and bear the student's name, home address, college address and the name of the student's English instructor. Deadline for submission is November 5.

Manuscripts should be sent to the Office of the Press, National Poetry Press, 3210 Selby Ave., Los Angeles, California 90034.

Movie orgy slated

Sigma Nu, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Kappa Sigma, the three Greek Social Fraternities at Boise State University, will sponsor an old time movie orgy on Thursday, September 18 in the Ballroom of the Student Union Building at 7 p.m.

All BSU students are invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Jamboree

Better off upstream

by Bill Sargent

Billed as the first Annual Snake River Country Music Jamboree you would have been better off far upstream from this one. Plagued by poor planning, inadequate promotion and staging, it suffered more than most outdoor events of its kind.

Staged on a single forty foot flatbed, performances were confined to a sturdy, but ugly, stage, completely void of even the slightest hint of professionalism. An example would be the absence of steps to the stage, substituted with bales of straw. This shows a lack of consideration for the performer. This same lack of consideration was shown for the audience, in the absence of adequate sound equipment to meet the needs of the various musicians performing. This ended up as a muddled, garbage-like sound, not fit to listen to. Other things, including the lack of any type of stage lighting, gave me the impression this jamboree was jammed together.

The performances by various artists including Muzie and Billy Braun, and Home Grown were inspiring, and gave hope to those wishing for good country music in this area. Wilson - Fairchild, after a long and gruelling day on the road, were not up to their own usual standards of brilliance, but this wasn't noticeable to most.

What was noticeable was the obnoxious attitude of some members of Tarwater, the "Stars" of the jamboree. It seems as though our friends from Featherville have picked up some tricks from "The Big Boys" i.e. a black M.C. "We ain't gonna git down, 'less everybody get back twenty feet from the stage", with his (the M.C's) phony, hip, jive-ass language, he only managed to antagonize the biggest portion of the audience. But the first utterance from Tarwater had to do with staying "off the f---ing power cords", and away from the superstars. Given the proper directions, I've seen much large audiences handle much larger requests. But it seemed the set was doomed. Violence eventually brought an end to Tarwater's set. How's that for instant Karma.

Before it was all over, we caught a glimpse of the inproportionate ego of our Tarwater friends. When overcome by a desire to be stage level with the group, a member of the audience brought out this reply. "While I'm on here, you can stay off the damn stage, Man." All of which shows, that small town acts are not superstars overnight. They remain small until showing their audience the respect their public deserves. Tarwater would be wise to learn that one.

Music Department names new instructors

Boise State's Music Department has hired two new full-time instructors to help ease the overload problem currently facing the Music Department.

Mr. Joseph Baldassarre, originally from Ohio, has been hired to instruct guitar. He did his undergraduate work at Baldwin-Wallace College and is finishing work on his MA at Kent State. Baldassarre also plays piano, saxophone, and lute in addition to guitar. He also has received training in the music history field.

The other new faculty member is Sarah Blood from Caldwell. She has been hired to teach piano. She received her training at Indiana University where she acquired her Masters degree. In addition to piano, Ms Blood also gives instruction in bassoon. She plays bassoon in the Boise Philharmonic.

'Monty Python' called cinematic perversion

by John Elliott

According to the promotional promises made in the advertising for the new Cinema 5 release Monty Python and the Holy Grail, this movie is better than Mel Brooks comedy classics Young Frankenstein and Blazing Saddles; however, upon closer scrutiny you will find that this movie is a total waste of time and money and probably the worst movie ever produced.

The plot centers around a bumbling incompetent King Arthur in search of knights to populate his conference room at Camelot. There are many things that get in his way such as plague, a group of communists, a bevy of lady degenerates, the bridge of death and of course the script...which is the least of the technical culprits guilty for this movie.

The basic ideas of "sick" humor utilized in our trite fantasy are indeed amusing and probably would have been quite entertaining had the studio who filmed it spent more than four days and $800 to produce this millstone of cinematic perversion. There are parts of the movie that almost bring unsolicited laughter from the viewer, but they are few and far between.

The performances handed in by the first year acting students and other members of the cast, who appeared briefly in their high school production of Our Town, approaches ludicrousness through its inaptness. You can be well assured that no one has ever heard of any of the performers and with luck they will remain virtually unknown.

All in all, the movie is not worth the $2.50 admission or the two hours viewing time. If there is a redeeming factor to this production, it is that the next time you plan to see a movie you know nothing about you will think twice before you go.

Welker (left) and Cunningham performed September 10 for the first in the series of Coffeehouses to be held this year. Due to the remodeling of the Lookout, Coffeehouses will be held in the Boisean Lounge on the first floor of the SUB.

Music faculty attends workshop

Several of the BSU Music Department faculty attended special workshops, clinics, and other events during the past summer. Dan Russell, director of the University Singers and noted for his accompanying abilities, attended accompanying workshops and conducting workshops at the University of Oregon in Eugene. Gwendolyn Koldofsky from USC was the clinician for the accompanying workshop and Helmuth Rilling of Germany was the conducting clinician. Mr. Russell also attended a choral reading workshop under the direction of Norman Luboff and Eskil Hemberg at Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, Washington. Performances by Mr. Russell included piano solos for the Grand Chapter of Oregon Masons in Portland and accompanist for the University of Oregon's Summer Festival.

Sara Blood, the department's newest addition in the piano area, attended a special class piano workshop in the Baltimore area.

For the eighth consecutive year, William Hsu taught strings and performed with his chamber ensemble at the USDAN Center for the Creative and Performing Arts, Long Island, New York.

Madeleine Hsu coached in Paris with the French composer Nadia Boulanger and the Hungarian pianist Georgy Cziffra. She gave a lecture and a recital in Paris, and performed, among other works, the Sonata Op. 26 by Samuel Barber, the noted American composer.

Don Oakes, Associate Chairman of the Music Department and Instructor of Organ, attended an organ workshop on the campus of Colorado State University in Fort Collins, Colorado.

Violinist Sidney Harth to perform October 7

Violinist Sidney Harth, concertmaster and associate conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, will perform with the Boise Philharmonic and music director Daniel Stern on opening night, Tuesday, October 7, 1975 at 8:15 p.m. in the Capital High School Auditorium.

The October concert is the first of the five concert series planned by the Philharmonic for the 1975-76 season. As a salute to the nation's bicentennial, the orchestra will feature a work by an American composer at each concert, in addition to a carefully selected program of symphonic pieces performed by the Philharmonic and its special guest artists.

The program for opening night includes Beethoven's Violin Concerto, to be performed by Harth. The evening will mark the world premiere of Amendment I, an original work written for the Boise Philharmonic by Sy Brandon, director of instrumental music at Blue Mountain Community College in Pendleton, Oregon, and Boise State University composer in residence in 1973-74. The three parts of the composition represent Brandon's personal tribute to the American freedoms of religion, speech and press.

Other works on the program include Handel: Suite from The Faithful Shepherd, and two pieces by Smetana: The Moldau and Three Dances from The Bartered Bride.

Season tickets for the Boise Philharmonic are now on sale at the Philharmonic office, 1020 W. Franklin, weekdays, 2 to 5 p.m. For information, call 344-7849.

Intramural sign ups

With the kick-off of a new flag football season close at hand, the deadline draws near for interested persons or organized teams to sign up in the Intramural Office. The last sign-up date is September 18, and team play will begin on Monday, September 22.

The Intramural Office has also announced plans to form a coed softball program which will swing into action this fall provided there is sufficient interest generated to form teams. Contact the Intramural Office for further information.

Intramurals need more interested people who are willing to officiate at games. Applications may be picked up at the Intramural Office.

Recreation board needs members

Ross Vaughn of the Intramural Office announced last week that the Recreation Board is in the process of recruiting new members to serve during the 1975-76 school year.

Members take part in planning and making arrangements for gathering money to support the bowling team, rodeo club, judo club, fencing club and other team sports not falling under the financial reign of the athletic department.

Applications from those who wish to be members on the Board will be accepted in the ASBSU offices on the second floor of the SUB.

Soccer club needs players

Tom Kelly, captain of the Boise State soccer club, has announced that the club is in need of those persons wishing to play the game. Interested persons should contact the physical education department or call 345-8688. Practice will begin September 16 at 7 p.m. on the soccer field between the auxiliary gym and the SUB.

Athlete of the week

Starting next issue, the ARBITER sports staff will pick among all sports an athlete with the most outstanding accomplishments for that week. Each coach will be contacted and asked to weigh his best player's performance against those in the other sports. The sports staff will then consider all accomplishments and publish their decision.

10 p.m.; ARA Food Service on Tuesdays from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.; scratch singles on Wednesdays from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.; and mens varsity on Thursdays from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

From 6 p.m. on Fridays till closing on Sundays is Monte Carlo Bowling. Hit the striped head pin and win a free game.

If the women will take notice, you'll see there is no women's varsity league. There wasn't enough interest or persons to sign up to have one. There is a time space on Monday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. if any women are interested in forming a league.

If you have a group or club that would like to use the Games Area on any particular night, contact Greg Hampton or Mike Wentworth to make arrangements and prices for the evening.

BSU Distance Running Clinic to be held September 19

Such topics as synthesizing your own system; physiology of the woman runner and the injury syndrome will be discussed during the BSU Distance Running Clinic this Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom.

"What we are attempting to do," said cross country coach Ed Jacoby, "is draw local people to the clinic so that they may learn more about the importance of training procedures, fitness, injuries and the women's programs. It's for anyone interested in distance running for health reasons, competition or just fun," he added.

Noted feature speakers will be Dr. Ken Smyth, Geoff Hollister and Tom and Janet Heinonen.

Dr. Smyth is currently the Director of Medical Services for the Idaho Elks Rehabilitation Hospital and has authored several articles on fitness and rehabilitation.

Tom Hollister was a nationally ranked steeplechaser for the University of Oregon and now has a foot care center in Eugene, Oregon, specializing in rehabilitation, prevention and technical referral.

Heinonen is a former NCAA All-American in the 6-mile and Big Ten Champion in the 3-mile while attending the University of Minnesota. He is currently the women's coach for the cross country team at the University of Oregon and is an olympic candidate for the marathon.

Janet Heinonen has been running for 13 years and is a correspondent for Women Sports, contributing editor for Runners World and currently is the sports information representative for the Oregon Women's Intercollegiate Athletics.

There will be no admission charge in hopes of attracting as many runners as possible. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Coach Jacoby in the little gym.

As to Jacoby's own runners, he has become increasingly optimistic as the season progresses. "We're running over 100 miles a week in our workouts now," he said.

"Overall, we are getting very good performances in our practices and have had at least three workouts that have been better than at any time during previous seasons."

Jacoby attributed his teams success to their unity and togetherness. "They're running as a pack now, consistently grouping together. We have nine guys fighting for the top six spots," he said.

Jacoby's harriers will have a chance to prove their worth against previous stars as the Varsity will take on the Alumni at Julia Davis Park. The meet will begin at 11 a.m. Saturday, September 20, with added attractions Tom Heinonen and Geoff Hollister running in the race also.

It should make the meet more competitive," stated Jacoby. Although Hollister and Heinonen have glittering accomplishments, Jacoby let it be known that a few of the guys had better beat the two clinic speakers.

Third annual Bogus Basin hill climb slated

The third annual Bogus Basin hill climb will be held Sunday, September 21 at 11 a.m. The hill climb is sponsored by the Idaho Lung Association and the Boise Cycling Club.

Registration and starting point of the race will be the Highland grade school parking lot on Bogus Basin Road. Finish will be the entrance to the ski area. There is a $2 entry fee for each person entering the race.

There are two categories: A.B.L. and Tourist. Included in A.B.L. are senior men - 1, 2, and 3; juniors and women. Tourist categories are boys and girls under 15; 15-17; men and women, 18-26; 27-39; and over 40.

Tourist class registration at Highland school will begin at 10 a.m. A.B.L. registration will begin at 11 a.m. Tourist class racers will begin at 11 a.m. while A.B.L. racers will begin at noon.

Prizes will be awarded to the first three places in each class. Certificates of completion will be awarded to all riders finishing the race.

For more information contact Bryan Day, race director, 343-8446 or Tom Harper, BCC president, 344-1920.

Womens wrestling begins at BSU

"We're going to coach some of the most adventurous girls in Boise on how to wrestle; put them in uniforms specifically designed for girls and let them improvise on the mat," stated Mike Young, coach of the Bronco's two-time Big Sky Championship wrestling team.

Young said that he hasn't set a gate price yet, but hopes to fill the gym. Young is optimistic about using the proceeds for a wrestling trip in the future.

Each girl will be paired up to another according to size and ability. There will be two teams, one competing against the other while tallying up a team score.

"It'll be great," commented Young. "We already have about a dozen enthusiastic girls ready to go." Wrestling under the same rules as the guys, they won't have to worry about any dangerous holds," Young added.

Any young ladies that are interested should contact Young in his office on the second floor of the gym. Tryouts will be held in mid-November with the big day scheduled for early December in the gym.

Young showed interest in having a girls powder-puff wrestling match every year. "When girls get fired-up over something, they really go all out. All we need to do is stir up some interest and let the young co-eds put on the show," mused Young.

Bronco's make second half comeback, defeat Hayward 42-20

by Melinda Scharf

The Boise State Broncos opened the 1975 season on a winning note Saturday night, defeating Cal-State Hayward 42-20 before a record crowd of 18,046 fans.

The BSU attack was slow going, as the Broncos had only 190 yards total offense and trailed 10-7 at the half. Hayward's defense, led by inside linebacker Greg Blankenship, was a key problem for the Broncos, as their constant pattern changes confused the BSU offense time and time again.

First quarter action saw the Bronco offense in less than perfect form, while the defense performed like a perfectly tuned machine. The defense held the Pioneer offense to 114 yards in the first half. The only Bronco touchdown in the first half came after a Lee Huey pass connected with fullback Bob Cleveland for a 22-yard gain, putting the Broncos on the Pioneer one-yard line. The following play, Huey called on Cleveland again to carry the ball over for the score. The point after was made good by Avi Rofe, making the score BSU 7 Cal-State 0.

After a Clint Sigman kick was returned 32 yards by Pioneer Brian Hill, the Cal-State drive was cut short by the menacing Bronco defensive line, and the Pioneers were forced to punt. Once regaining the ball, Huey's pass attempt was intercepted on the BSU 30 by Blankenship, which set up a Dan Flavin pass to Lonnel Perkins for a Hayward score. The conversion was good, which tied the score at 7-all. The Pioneers took a 10-7 lead at the end of the half when Reed Robinson, Hayward's place kicker, connected with the ball for a 30-yard field goal.

The second half opened with Cal-State taking possession on their own 20 yard line. Unable to move the ball, Boise State took over on their own 38 yard line. Within six plays, the Broncos were threatening. Huey handed off to John "Superneedle" Smith, which set up the Broncos' second TD of the game. That score came on a 3 yard pass to Cleveland. PAT by Rofe was good, and the Broncos led 14-10.

With Cal-State having problems moving the ball, BSU took over again, this time on the Bronco 42 yard line. Boise State began a 58-yard drive which led to a nine-yard ramble over the goal line by Huey. Another PAT was good, making the score BSU 21 Cal-State 10.

Again the Pioneers could not move the ball and turned it over to Boise State on the BSU 21 yard line. Huey handed the ball off to Ron Emry for a six-yard gain. After an incomplete pass Huey again called on Cleveland twice for 22 yards, bringing the ball to the Hayward 49 yard line. An eleven yard pass to Mike Holton and a six yard gain by Smith set up the fourth Bronco touchdown when Huey delivered the ball to wide receiver Bruce Pooley for a 32-yard touchdown pass. The conversion was good, making the score 28-10. Fourth quarter action saw a change in Bronco quarterbacks, as junior Greg Stern took the helm in place of Huey to start still another offensive attack. Stern piloted his squad from the Cal-State 34 to the one yard line, where BSU head coach Tony Knap sent in Huey with a play from the bench. Huey then handed off to freshman Kent Hollingsworth, who took it in from the one for six more points. Following, true-to-form Avi Rofe added the extra point, bringing the score to 35-10.

The Pioneers then began a 50-yard comeback drive to the Boise State 47, where the awesome BSU defense forced a punt. Pioneer Dave Friday's punt was downed on the Boise State one-yard line, where the Broncos could do nothing. Gary Gorrell's punt was returned by Cal-State's Perkins to the BSU 33, where Pioneer quarterback Flavin completed a pass to Perkins for the second Hayward TD. The conversion was made good by Robinson, which made the score 35-17.

Boise State again changed quarterbacks, when Hoskin Hogan led the Broncos in a 60-yard touchdown drive, capped by a Hogan to Clarence Smith 36 yard pass for the score. Again the magic toe of Avi Rofe connected, making the score 42-17.

Hayward's final attempt was a 58-yard drive, where Robinson connected for a 28-yard field goal making the score 42-20.

Final game statistics saw Boise State rolling up 314 yards rushing while Hayward had 62. In the passing department, Boise State had 256 yards for 570 yards total offense. Hayward had 200 yards passing for 262 yards total offense.
