Hoffman election

Student body president.

James in last week's student body election for the position of vice-president.

Kim Jenkins is the top candidate with 139 votes, followed by Scott McKee with 120 votes, and Christine Rudd with 13 votes.

TOPS of Business are Robert Hayne with 170, Toni Iller with 140, and Bun Frazier with 83 votes.

In the ASBSU election, candidates received a variety of votes. Holly Welsh topped with 280 votes, followed by John DcWeerd with 170, Mike Holm with 140, and Mike Holm with 83 votes.

Protest at pageant

Several BU students protested the Miss BU Pageant last Tuesday night. The protest occurred after the withdrawal of the pageant from the campus.cheap.

The protestors gathered in front of the Special Events Center, a crowd of 150 people. The protestors withdrew from the pageant with the support of the Women's Alliance.

Ms. James and Ms. Scott entered the contest in an attempt to learn what the pageants were like and to select the winner. Both women dropped out of the contest to protest the dehumanizing nature of the event. They also protested the stress placed on clothing and the "pretty smile" attitude and the lack of emphasis on academic abilities.

Protestors voiced their dissatisfaction with the pageant and the Women's Alliance's support for it.

Another group of women object to the granting of a diploma to the winner. The women were concerned about the large expenditure of student funds. The women pointed out the ethical implications of Miss America's use of pageants as a means to raise money.

The BU Women's Alliance objects to the pageant, and its members have recommended that the pageant be discontinued. The Alliance feels the limitations of the event's goals and the implications for students.

Ms. James, Ms. Scott, and the Women's Alliance want to emphasize that their concerns are not meant to diminish the women who participate in the event. Related photo page 5.

The Miss BSU Pageant came off again this year, although not without a hitch. Two contestants, MIllynn James and Fawnbee Scott, withdrew from the final judging because of the pageants sexism, exploitation of women and discrimination.

These points are well taken. Perhaps the pageant does discriminate against those women who cannot afford to buy the clothes necessary to impress the judges. And perhaps the pageant does exploit women, but is that a woman's wish, or be exploited, so be it. A bigger point of contention however, is the granting of a $500 scholarship to Miss BSU using student money.

Miss BSU is supposedly the official hostess for the university, although she is not required to do so. She really has no tasks that are that of a woman's wish, and exploiting, so be it. It's time such a poll or survey was taken and the school should abide by the results.

Most schools in Idaho have given up holding such beauty contests. Boise State should take a hard look at it's priorities. There are much better ways to spend the money now spent on The Miss BSU Pageant. B.B.

Arbiter takes blame

Editor, the ARBITER
I wish to let it be known to the student body that there was absentee balloting for the last General Election. It was held March 29 & 30, in the ASBSU office from noon till 6 p.m.

The election board chairperson asked that advertising about absentee voting be included in the March 22 and March 29 Arbiter Issues. After a bit of detective work, it was discovered why very few people were turning out for the balloting.

The requested advertising had not been placed in the Arbiter.
I apologize if, because of this matter, any inconvenience to the students was caused. However, this apology is not a confession of guilt. The guilt lies more on the shoulders of a particular Arbiter staff member than on the shoulders of the Election Board.

Thank you.
Ann L. Hansen
Co-chairperson
Election Board

Barb Bridwell,
Editor,
The Arbiter

by Helen Christiansen

"I wasn't afraid to tell anyone in the ASB where to shove it," says Barb Bridwell, Editor of the Arbiter. BSU's student newspaper.

"I think the other student newspapers haven't allowed the content or philosophy of this paper to depend on the whims of those people elected to student government offices.

"I believe I've done an adequate job of watching dog the ASB. I've kept an eye on the student senate and haven't been afraid to come down hard on them when they've pushed something they shouldn't have."

"I didn't pick on the senate this year, just called to the attention of the students what they've elected officials were up to. Consequently, people in student government know that if they screw up, I'm going to get them. I think our senators and student body officers have a tendency to forget that they're accountable to the students."

"The Arbiter has been to keep the student newspaper accountable to the students. "

"I believe we have the best student newspaper in the state. The layout and content of the Arbiter is definitely self-sustained by us. The Arbiter is definitely not a house organ. My philosophy has been to improve our newspaper in a general way, in journalism and in the writing, to make it a better newspaper."

"I believe the Arbiter is well taught journalism and we've done very well by it."

"Despite these handicaps, I believe we have the best student newspaper in the state. The layout and content of the Arbiter is far superior to BSU and U of I's student papers."

"Reasons for this include the fact that we are not nestled by a faculty advisor and, thanks to the cooperation of BSU President John Barnes, we haven't had to worry about the administration breathing down our necks.

"We've improved our paper by sending staff members to journalism conferences, one in Denver and another in New York, to see what other papers are doing and to learn how to improve our paper. We learned a lot by attending these conferences, and the paper is far better because of them."

"I would say my two main accomplishments with the Arbiter this year have been to change the style of box cut and expanded the paper to include off-campus news. The lampoon issue that we recently did went over very well. It was a fun, change-of-pace paper and I hope the future editors will keep up with this tradition.

"It is my belief the paper was unbiased as possible during the student government election. If some candidates received more ad placement in the paper, it was because they were on the ball enough to come on and reserve ad space before the other candidates. As to the complaints concerning candidates holding strategy meetings in the Arbiter office, a couple of the candidates happen to be close personal friends of mine and I saw no reason to kick them off of the office."

"It's impossible to be totally unbiased. However, I did not support any candidates personally. I believe that would give them an unfair advantage. There were a lot of dirty tricks pulled in this election. Certain candidates campaign managers went around starting rumors. Candidates signs were knocked down. No one has room to point a finger at the Arbiter on this issue.

"I've had trouble making organizations understand that we have a deadline, just like any other newspaper. When some one brings in an ad or article on Sunday night and wants it in Monday's paper, they really get irate when I tell them it's not possible. I think we've gone out of our way to cooperate with organizations such as the Programs Board. The Arbiter is always available to put in ads, as long as they're paid for. I think the $20 could feasibly be raised so that the paper at least breaks even. We have to pay printing expenses, for every page we run. The Programs Board and other organizations have to understand that they can't get away with not paying for ads. Other student organizations in this year's charge as much as $1.90 per month. All in all, we're getting a pretty good deal here."

"The Arbiter budget usually runs around $33,34 thousand a year from the student funds. We've raised 32 thousand dollars in ad revenue by the end of this year. This is the first year the paper has been able to do this. $34 thousand was our goal, but it's barely enough to cover our expenses. I think if the Arbiter had better equipment and more space it is possible for this paper to be a genuine making organization."

"President Neil's desire need for a communication Board to be established for choosing the Arbiter editor. The Student Selection Board and ASB President have the expertise of knowledge to choose an editor. The position should be given to the person who was the best bulldogger. An editor needs to have some patience, be bright and an operating knowledge of the budget and finance. I think the Communication Board should be comprised of people who have some knowledge of what the political and journalistic and financial aspects of a journalism course are."

"The editor should no longer be a political appointment."

"The reason this board has not been established is that the ASB is afraid of losing some of its power. We want to choose an editor who will stand up when they pull the strings. I have refused to name the ASB President and Senate. No one ever editor has been willing to fight them.”

'Cast your fate to the wind'

by Rich Landlott
On Monday morning
On Monday morning
I stood near the gas light and I cried.
The city mist had seeped inside
It took me on some kind of brassy ride.
They told me Charlie Parker
died and I don't want the night to end.
1973 Phube Snow.

It was really a coincidence
That I was listening to Phube Snow.

"I Don't Want the Night to End," while reading about the death of Vince Guaraldi. He died February 6 of a heart attack at the age of 47.

You may recognize him for "Cast Your Fate to the Wind," or for his composing and piano playing on the "Peanuts" television specials. Or you may recognize him as a damn-good jazzman, a brilliant pianist, and one of those elements that made San Francisco the special city.

And now Vince Guaraldi is gone. First it was a "Big Daddy" Tom Donahue, the father of F.M. underground who started KMPX, and until the time of his death, headed KSAN in San Francisco. Next was Ralph J. Gleason, newspaper critic, friend of Donahue's and longtime friend of the Grateful Dead among others city greats, as well. So Donahue and Gleason died, people were saying Hey!.. that's a lot of the Bay Area gone. And I ask myself, who is next?... they told me that Vince Guaraldi died and I don't want the night to end. It seems like many of the people that were of a certain mellow and explosive era are dying.

Senior recital slated for April 11

A combined senior recital featuring brass ensemble music will be presented by Barbara Howard, trumpet, and Michael Elliott, trombone, on Sunday, April 11 at 4:00 p.m. in the Boise State University Music Auditorium.

Mrs. Howard has participated in various vocal and instrumental ensembles at BSU, and was trumpet soloist with the BSU orchestra in 1975. She has been awarded numerous scholarships, and was named to the 1976 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon. Michael Elliott has also been involved in many vocal and instrumental ensembles. He has won music scholarships from BSU and the Idaho Federation of Music Clubs. He is an active member of MENC and Phi Mu.

The recital will be open to the public without charge. All are invited to attend.

GRAB BAG... In keeping with the trend toward names or slogans for concert tours (AC/DC turn on T-shirts) ELTON JOHN is billing his first show in England in quite some time as "Louder Than Concorde!"... On the West Coast, the World Trade Center, Crabtree & Evelyn, and the Nobel Peace Prize all offer CARNEGIE HALL'S "Tapestry" album has earned its third year on the Billboard Top 20 LP's chart, with total sales to date of over 13 million copies. We learn that JEFFERSON STARSHIP'S "Red Octopus" has topped 2 million copies sold, quite a feat in its own right... SARAH VAUGHN has signed with Atlantic Records, which promises a solid showcase for one of the finest jazz singers around. Atlantic also signs former BIG BAND and the DON HARRISON BAND, which includes former CREEDENCE CLEARWATER REVIVAL members DOUG CLIFFORD and STEVE COOK. ROB O'BRIEN is back on Monument Records, where he had a tremendous string of hits in the 1960s... There are rumors that the long delay in releasing STEVIE WONDER'S "IN My Life" may be due to problems involved with his much ballyhooed million dollar deal with Motown Records, which was announced last summer but never officially signed...

WHEN GOVERNOR ANDRUS signed the antipiracy law last month, Idaho became the 29th state to make unauthorized duplication of recordings a felony (Distribution, sale, and advertising of such unauthorized duplications is now a misdemeanor). A good many record and tape outlets, service stations, etc. would-be-advised to stop advertising bootlegged tapes and let the pirates take the few customers away without effective laws. If vigorously enforced, the law will protect consumers from the shoddy quality of tapes so often produced, the bootleggers more interested in a fast buck than anything else. We strongly urge you to support the law...

TOURING ARTISTS rarely include Boise on their itinerary, a situation that has frequently raised the question of why. In the case of the superstars, we would guess that the problem lies in the absence of large, metropolitan centers and the relative lack of population. Bigger cities simply are more lucrative for superstars, we would guess that the question of why. In the case of the locals, a matter that has frequently raised concerns here, the Nor-Pac related... It would be our wish...

Instructon to serve you...

BRONCOS TAKE TWO ON ROAD

In Boise State's Nor-Pac opener, the Broncos found themselves pitted against the University of Portland. In the second game, Broncos pitcher Mike Krakovich nailed down a no-hitter.

Musicworks

345 S. Orchard, Boise 83702
Open 7 days and evenings
The second time around promises to be even better than the first time for the Northern Pacific Baseball League. University of Puget Sound, despite its 4-6 record through March 29, appears the team to beat. The Loggers won the 1975 title and participated in the NCAA championships. Actually, UPS is a two-time champion, winning the 1974 pennant when Nor-Pac was only a four-team circuit.

Gonzaga (14-14), after a tough California swing and splits in the Banana Belt and Boise tournaments, rates high in preseason figuring. Also figuring in the championship picture are Boise State (11-7), Portland (6-5), Seattle University, under new coach Frank Papac, Idaho (2-4-2 and running like 28 stolen bases), Idaho (3-7), still is trying to clear the snow off its home field, and Portland (2-7-1) are off slow starts.

But this is only preseason. Nor-Pac play begins Saturday and Sunday. The 1976 Nor-Pac season is assured an invitation to the NCAA playoffs and the winner will receive consideration as an at-large invitee, now that the Nor-Pac has made the NCAA's automatic qualification list.

Opening weekend pairings, the beginning of 24-game league schedules:

SATURDAY: Gonzaga at Puget Sound, 1 p.m.; Boise State at Portland, 1 p.m.; Idaho at Seattle, Sicks Stadium, 5 p.m., all doubleheaders.

SUNDAY: Idaho at Puget Sound; Boise State at Portland; Gonzaga at Seattle, Sicks Stadium, all games 12 noon, all doubleheaders.

Portland State opens April 7 at Portland while Seattle is at Puget Sound and Idaho at Gonzaga in 3 p.m. single games. Opponents are switched April 8, with UPS and Seattle playing a 7:30 game at Sicks and Portland playing Portland State at 4 p.m. at Civic Stadium.

The pitching of Dan Bevett, sophomore lefthander, and Rod Melharte, freshman righthander, and the slugging of catcher Ron Reeves helped UPS to a share of second in the Banana Belt. The Loggers defeated Gonzaga and Washington State.

Stronger pitching has helped Boise State off to a strong start. Holding the tie for second with UPS in the Banana Belt. Oregon and UPS have fallen to the Broncos. Senior righthanders Ron Marek and Scott Parsons is stroking .350. The Bulldogs pushed UCLA and USC before losing a day-night tilt 3-2 and 5-4.

Portland State, third behind UPS and Gonzaga last season, has had strong pitching from Gary Zagelow (.3-0) and Ben Reichenberg (2-1). Shortstop Gary Donovan is rapping .404 and second baseman Jeff Dunn .351.

The season is here—and all seven Nor-Pac teams are ready.
