2-21-1977

Arbiter, February 21

Associated Students of Boise State University

Although this file was scanned from the highest-quality microfilm held by Boise State University, it reveals the limitations of the source microfilm. It is possible to perform a text search of much of this material; however, there are sections where the source microfilm was too faint or unreadable to allow for text scanning. For assistance with this collection of student newspapers, please contact Special Collections and Archives at archives@boisestate.edu.
Miller to speak on 'Chartres Cathedral' February 23

The History and Art department of BSU will sponsor a slide-lecture on "Chartres Cathedral" by Malcolm Miller, Official Guide-Lecturer of the Cathedrals, on February 23 at 7:30 pm in the Nerc Porch room of the SUB.

Notre Dame de Chartres is one of the finest examples of 13th century Gothic architecture in Europe. Its windows contain falsies and rood screens of medieval stained glass. These windows were the subject of a Time art section essay last month. The cathedral is a splendid example of the medieval school of art and theology. It is one of the great art and religious treasures of the western world.

Mr. Miller is especially knowledgeable about Chartres as he'd studied it extensively before receiving his degree from Durham University. He wrote his honors paper on it, and has been its official English Guide-Lecturer since 1955. During the winter months, Mr. Miller lectures widely at universities, museums, and art galleries throughout England, France, Canada, and the United States.

A reception with refreshments in the Nerc Porch room will follow Mr. Miller's presentation.

Mistake corrected

In the February 14 issue a mistake was made in the story titled, "French Theatre Company will perform only on February 17." It was stated in the article: "This one-performance Boise engagement is being sponsored by the ASBSU at a cost of $9,000." To be absolutely correct, the total cost of the production was $5,900 but only $400 was received from the student funds. The French Government put up $8,500 and Boise Cascade contributed $100.

The production was sponsored specifically by the Foreign Language Department, the French Government, International Films, Boise Cascade and ASBSU. Any money made from the ticket sales went to the French government as reimbursement.

Dr. John Robertson of the Foreign Language Department stated, "If you can get them to come back next year we will have to come up with a guarantee of $2,500 for the troupe to be paid by sponsors."

Political Science Association to meet

The third annual 1977 Conference of the Idaho Political Science Association will be held February 25-26 on the BSU campus in the Nerc Porch room of the Student Union Building.

There will be several panels covering a fairly broad range of interesting topics and competent discussants. Some of the panel themes are: Points of Departure: U.S. Foreign Policy and the Carter Administration; Criminal Justice Planning in Idaho; The Future of Local Governments in Idaho; The Carter Presidency: Crystal-Balling; its Administration and Policy; and Mass Media and Idaho Politics.

An invitation has been extended to students and other persons who may wish to attend any of the panel discussions. Those who have not yet joined the Idaho Political Science Association may do so at the Conference.

KBSU to expand broadcast hours

KBSU will be expanding their broadcast hours beginning today. Monday through Friday, the station will broadcast from 8 a.m. to 1 a.m. On Saturday and Sunday, KBSU will broadcast from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m.

While KBSU is waiting permission to put their transmitter on Table Rock, there is a way for listeners to improve reception at home.

According to Dave Schwartz, Operations Director, persons wishing to improve reception should purchase approximately 20 feet of TV aerial, then cut and splice the wire to form a T shape. The top of the T should be placed on a roof, or out a window. It is best to place the antenna outside, although if this is not possible, inside is acceptable. The higher the elevation the better.
Post-Doctoral Fellowship available through Council

The National Chicano Council on Higher Education (NCCHC) has announced the creation of a Post-Doctoral Fellowship Program designed to increase the number of Chicano faculty members holding tenured positions in American research institutions. The project is an activity of NCCHC, sponsored by Educational Testing Service with funding from the Ford Foundation.

The post-doctoral fellowship program will award 10-15 grants of up to $10,000 each to allow Chicano academics to extend their sabbatical or research-time leave.

Dr. Artero Madrid, chairman of the Executive Committee of NCCHC, said the organization had proposed the Post-Doctoral Fellowship Program to the Ford Foundation after its study of the status and needs of Chicanos in higher education had revealed a cluster of problems relating to the advancement of Chicano academics.

The NCCHC found that the heavy involvement of minority-group academics in minority-related activities often occurs at the expense of their scholarly pursuits. As a result of this extensive participation in minority political and social activities, research has shown that Chicano faculty members usually cannot compete with non-minority academics who have more time to do research and to publish—activities usually required for advancement in American Research Institutions and universities.

In explaining the need for the fellowships, Dr. Madrid stated that the NCCHC wants to support "the social and political commitment of Chicano faculty members by funding longer sabbaticals during the critical period in their careers when they must research and publish if they are to succeed in the academic world.

To be eligible for consideration, a fellowship applicant must be a Chicano academic college or university teacher who has held a tenure-track position for from two to five years. The award will be chosen by a selection committee of distinguished Chicano academics.

The deadline for this year's applications is March 15, 1977.

For additional information and application forms, write to The National Chicano Council for Higher Education, 1447 Center Street, Berkeley, CA 94704.

The winners of the post-doctoral fellowship competition will be announced in May of this year.

Sorority elects new officers

The Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority, Beta Sigma Chapter, would like to announce the election of officers for the next year, serving as President for the year will be Mary Lou Virgil. Cindy Caskey has been chosen as Vice-president with Kathy O'Neill serving as Secretary. Treasurer will be Jan Noggler. Lori Loder, the past president, is now serving as a Panhelancic Delegate.

The sorority would also like to announce the initiation of three new members, Cindy Casky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Casky, 5651 N. Locust Grove Rd., Meridian; Kathy O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tim O'Neill, 1729 W. 17th St. Boise; and Mary Lou Virgil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Virgil, 6519 Saxton Ave., Boise.

Their initiation was held in the Student Union Building on December 5. After the initiation a mother-daughter tea was held in honor of Alpha Omicron Pi's Founders Day which was December 10. Special guests at

Veterans can lose GI funds

Veterans going to school under the GI Bill must report their benefits to the Federal government if they drop courses or receive non-punitive grades under certain circumstances, the Veterans Administration cautioned today.

VA officials explained that a recent Congressional amendment to the GI Bill requires the agency to retroactively cancel special assistance payments for a course dropped without a grade.

This applies also in cases when a course is completed but the grade assigned is, in effect, ignored by the school for graduation requirements.

The new regulations do not apply where the situation was caused by circumstances beyond the student's control, VA said.

VA described the new regulation as a major change in GI Bill benefit payment policy.

The new law provides that VA may not pay educational benefits for any part of a course which is not used in computing graduation requirements, VA officials explained.

This means, they said, that many students will find themselves overpaid under the GI Bill for courses from which they withdraw and for courses in which the assigned grade is not used in computing the requirements for graduation.

Payments for such a course must be stopped as of the first day of the next term, or December 1, 1976, whichever date is later, they said.

For example, if a student withdraws from a course on April 1, under the conditions outlined, VA payments will, in effect, be terminated retroactively to the beginning of the term.

In the past, GI Bill payments would have been continued up to the date of withdrawal but the new law prohibits this.

VA urged students enrolled under the GI Bill not to drop a course or request a non-punitive grade until they have contacted their school's veterans affairs office and understand what effect the withdrawal from a course or grade may have on their monthly VA checks.

The agency also recommended that both students and school officials provide a brief statement concerning circumstances of the withdrawal or grade assignment when reporting it to the VA.

VA will then determine the effect of the circumstances on the withdrawal or non-punitive grade and notify the student of the action taken to adjust his or her educational benefits.

Debate tournament draws many schools

BSU’s second annual college debate invitational drew 320 contestants from 260 west coast schools to campus February 12-13.

Schools from Washington, Oregon, Utah, California, Idaho, Montana, and Nevada joined in the tournament, which also determined state forensic championships for Idaho and Montana.

BSU places second in winning brackets for Idaho.

The debate invitational drew 320 contestants from 260 west coast schools to campus February 12-13.

Deadline for Student Teaching Applications

MARCH 1, 1977

This deadline is applicable to Secondary student teachers who are planning to do their student teaching during Block I & II, Fall Semester, 1977; and Elementary student teachers Fall/Spring academic year 1977/78.
House approves right to work

by Barb Bridwell

The controversial right to work bill was approved by the Idaho House last week 41-29. It passed the Senate earlier.

The bill may have a harder time passing the Senate and Idaho Governor John Evans said he may veto the measure if it is passed.

Right to work prohibits a union shop. In a union shop, a worker must pay union dues after a certain period of time in order to work. The Taft-Hartley Act, a federal law, prohibits a closed union shop. A closed union shop requires that a worker belong to a union to get a job.

Debate on the right to work measure lasted over an hour. Floor sponsor John Brooks (R-Gooding) stated in favor of the bill, "Good unions don't need compulsion and bad unions don't deserve them."

He said that workers should be free to decide for themselves whether to join a union. "You can't withhold a person's right to work simply because he doesn't belong to a union without destroying the constitutional right to life, liberty and property," Brooks stated.

Representative Lyman Gene Winchester (R-Meridian) said that "freedoms are the guys who wear hard hats." He added that if a man does his work well, he doesn't need to belong to a union.

Dorothy Reynolds, representative from Caldwell, opposed the bill saying the right to work bill would allow persons who don't pay union dues to gain all the benefits of those who do.

Representative Daryl Saltz (D-Boise) said the right to work bill would lower the standard of living for the wage earner.

One of the reasons the right to work bill was so controversial is the outside lobbying influences involved.

The Idaho Freedom to Work Committee, an organization that lobbied extensively for the bill, spent over $40,000 to promote the measure. Of that, $29,304 was spent on advertising.

Major labor organizations spent slightly over $2,000 against the bill. The AFL-CIO spent $1,032 to oppose the measure.

The Health, Education and Welfare committee of the Idaho state Senate denied a request last week that the State Board of Education be exempted from the Administrative Procedures Act.

The request stemmed from a lawsuit filed by the Associated Students at the University of Idaho challenging the board's authority to ban alcohol on campus.

A district court ruled the alcohol restriction invalid because the board did not publish the proposed regulation and hold a special hearing as is required by the act.

Student reps tend to be pro-management

(CPS-ZNS)-Remember all the 1960's brick throwing, tear gas ing, shouting, and general chaos of students fighting for the right to be represented on their college governing boards? Well, a new government study, entitled "Students and Collective Bargaining," has come out with the surprising conclusion that students who are currently on the boards of directors of their colleges tend to have a pro-management bias.

The report shows that students who have participated in faculty school service negotiations appear to have a "slight pro-management bias, because of their concerns over tuition levels."

Student reps tend to be pro-management
Lack of ethics

My friends, I feel compelled to speak out against someone who finds himself in a continuing battle against the Arbiter when there is no one around to defend us. Now, don’t get me wrong; this practice is by no means unusual, I would imagine that every college newspaper in America has this happening to it all the time. Nevertheless, I am not the type of person who likes to see the people he works with cut down by someone who tends to display a noticeable lack of professional ethics when dealing with his colleagues.

The particular individual of whom I am speaking is the Director of ASBSU Student Services, Mr. Howard Welsh. Mr. Welsh has in the past accused the Arbiter of “not cooperating” with his department. In response to that, all I can say is that Mr. Welsh wishes the Arbiter to cooperate with his department, he must do what other organizations did and still do to get our cooperation—and that is simply to come up and ask us. To the best of my knowledge the Arbiter has never refused to cooperate.

In addition, Mr. Welsh has sited in front of the ASB Senate and said that the State Board of Education was “well advised” to disapprove the Arbiter’s request to purchase a new graphic reproduction machine. In this instance Mr. Welsh was blatantly out of line. First of all, the State Board of Education was not “well advised” to disapprove the purchase—in fact, they approved the purchase unanimously. And secondly, the purchase was disapproved by the State Department of Purchasing because of possible duplication. In other words, the request got hung up in “red tape.” However, in continuing, he made remarks in front of the ASB senate to the extent that there were no persons working for the Arbiter who were qualified to do so.

This type of action I personally find to be quite distasteful, as well as the question of one who is considered to be a student leader. Mr. Welsh decided to start working with the people that he has been complaining about. J.S.
Writer criticizes view of ERA advocate

Editor, ARBITER

In reply to Marilyn Sandmeyer's article, dated February 14, 1977, entitled, "ERA's recission in Idaho Legislature.

As in most issues, there are two or more opposing sides. So it is with the proposed Equal Rights Amendment. To my knowledge, there has not been an issue with more emotional appeal in the Idaho State Legislature. I very strongly resent the rude and slanderous article opposing the Mormons and their dedicated efforts in combating the ERA. As both a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and a political scientist, I am very much opposed to the proposed ERA in its present form. There are simply too many snags within it, that are not evident at first glance.

Prior to making such emotional and uninformed statements against the LDS Church, and statements in favor of the ERA, you should look at the facts a bit more carefully. A few suggestions to help you see the truth, are as follows:

1) Open any history book dealing with the American women in Politics, and you will be surprised to find that the Mormon Woman in Utah were the second group to vote, preceded only by the Territory of Wyoming.

2) Study the history of the American Constitution. You will be surprised at the amount of blood, sweat, and tears that our Forefathers split to preserve the American Constitution. You will be surprised to find that the proponents of the ERA, gives the Congress provisions of this article.

3) Investigate into the sources of funding for both proponents as well as opponents of the ERA. You will be surprised again to find that the proponents are collecting money through taxes. This means everyone, whether they are for or against, are paying for the proponents' activities. Apparently, it has been erroneously assumed by some people, that the LDS Church has funded this movement to stop the ERA.

If you take the time to investigate into the Mormon Church, you will be surprised to find that President Spencer W. Kimball, (the LDS Church President) has specifically condemned against discussing political issues within our church houses.

If you have not yet been surprised enough, here is one more. Our legislators were elected to represent their constituents, and in case you haven't heard, Idaho's populace is mainly conservative—against the ERA. As for the multitude of people from Pocatello, the last time I looked, Pocatello is inside Idaho. Is it wrong for Pocatellians to visit the Capital building?

I am amazed at the brilliance which it takes to compare the LDS Church to Communism. Marilyn, I dare say that if you were to attend a so called "Sunday Sermon," you may find out that there is a difference between the two, I have never heard such absurdity in my entire life, and I feel sorry for you.

Marilyn, we are in agreement on one point, there surely is a monster. It is the camouflage unconstitutionality of the Equal Rights Amendment, and not the Mormons. We should all take a second look at the ERA, and its adverse affects. I too want equality for women, but not in this fashion.

Brad Hansen

Author responds to request

Editor, the ARBITER

In response to a request made by the LDS Institute of Religion. University Drive regarding my article in the February 14th edition of the ARBITER, I list the following sources of my information:

The IDAHO STATESMAN, February 13, 1977; section B "Analysis".

The IDAHO STATESMAN, January 30, 1977; sections D and B, page 3.

The IDAHO STATESMAN, February 17, 1977; editorials section.

The Statesman printed many articles and editorials which support my stance on religious influence surrounding the eventual recission of the Equal Rights Amendment. Women's World also printed a number of supportive articles. I urge you to read the above noted sources for your own information.

Marilyn Sandmeyer

Writer disagrees with rape lecturer

Editor, the ARBITER

Rape is a highly sensitive, yet highly serious topic. In my opinion, the only approach you can have to it is a rational, serious approach with the intention of helping people and preventing what is in my opinion one of the most heinous criminal offenses in our society today.

Unfortunately, Mr. Frederic Storaska did not succeed in his attempt to bring the subject of rape into the open. In his speech two weeks ago on the BSU campus.

Oh, Mr. Storaska dealt with the subject of rape, but it was rape in a very limited scope. Rape isn't a joke to be dealt with humorously. Rape is mean, cruel, and scary, very SCARY. As a victim of rape I know, and you deal with the rapist as the situation calls for it. But what I would have liked to know before I was raped is how to prevent it from happening? I felt like I sat in his lecture for two hours and didn't learn a single, helpful thing. I feel that Mr. Storaska's attempts to deal with the rapist simply perpetuated the myths of female passivity and manipulation. By telling a woman to use her feminine wiles (note: I'm not saying submission.) "Please wait a minute. I'll be right back," "(and kissing him with her body pressed into his);" it would seem that the rapist would get the idea that the woman really did have a desire to have intercourse, and thus, all women do. Since the laws don't provide a haven for women against attempted rapists, this rapist would be back on the street ready to give other women, "what they desire".

Mr. Storaska seems to view rape as a joke. That I feel is an insult to rape victims. It isn't a joke.

I very strongly resent the rude, cruel, and scary, very SCARY. As a victim of rape I know, and you deal with the rapist as the situation calls for it. But what I would have liked to know before I was raped is how to prevent it from happening? I felt like I sat in his lecture for two hours and didn't learn a single, helpful thing. I feel that Mr. Storaska's attempts to deal with the rapist simply perpetuated the myths of female passivity and manipulation. By telling a woman to use her feminine wiles (note: I'm not saying submission.) "Please wait a minute. I'll be right back," "(and kissing him with her body pressed into his);" it would seem that the rapist would get the idea that the woman really did have a desire to have intercourse, and thus, all women do. Since the laws don't provide a haven for women against attempted rapists, this rapist would be back on the street ready to give other women, "what they desire".

Mr. Storaska seems to view rape as a joke. That I feel is an insult to rape victims. It isn't a joke.

3) Investigate into the sources of funding for both proponents as well as opponents of the ERA.

The states powers are limited enough already. Should we lose our individual representation to the Federal Government? I say NO!

Brad Hansen

Student Government Positions Open

The Personnel Selection Committee is now accepting applications for the following positions. Applications are available in the SUB at the information booth, Senate offices, and ASB offices, or from your school senator. For more information, call 385-1440.

Senator Health Sciences

Deadline February 23
Whose voice did the mule have? (starring Donald O'Connor)?

4. Remember the movies of English language?

tongue twister to say in the

2. What is the most difficult gold records.

We feel that a serious, supportive approach which applauds the strength of women is necessary to challenge this violence on every level. Last year, the Queens Bench Foundation, an organization of women attorneys and judges, did an in-depth study of rapists and their victims. They advise that women must learn NOT TO BE NICE to potential rapists.

Many rapists, an distinguished from potential victims, tended to be timid, and project an image of vulnerability. Most of the rapists planned to rape some body that day and searched for a suitable victim, avoiding self-assured, assertive women. In conclusion, the report advises that the best way to avoid rape is to act assertively at the first moments of contact with a potential rapist.

Paradoxically, Storaska also decries the effect of social/sexual stereotypes as cause of rape, than demands money for repeatedly reinforcing these same stereotypes and values. An example is the media romanticizing rape; the classic scene in "Gone With the Wind" portrays Clark Gable carrying a protesting Scarlett O'Hara off the bed, and her awaken-ning the next morning with a satisfied grin on her face. When Storaska explains, "Clark could make a mannequin respond. He did all right!" he is condoning and exploiting these male supremacist myths. (Every woman really wants it... Clark must be Tom Hartman's hero!).

Storaska's basic analysis of rape is that "we don't treat people as people." His advice to [conf. on next page]
Roving Reporter

Gerald Cape - senior - I've never listened to KBSU.

Farnsby Scott - junior - I live in Middleton. The only complaint I have about KBSU is that it was broadcast out there.

Sammi Chindell - junior - I like the different kinds of music, especially the classical music.

Susan Moss - freshman - I live in Mountain Home, so I never listen to it.

What is your opinion of KBSU?

Patty Gilgare - sophomore - I think it's okay; they play good music.

Carmen Ordone - senior - I listen to it sometimes; I think it's alright. I like rock and soft rock music.

Rosanne Beach - sophomore - From what I've heard, I like especially the classical music.

Women's Alliance...

(Cont. from last page)

women: learn the delicate art of French kissing! Don't suck and suck and suck a man's tongue until you suck his left leg right up through his mouth!! (Castration getting the better of you Freddie?) His advice to men: "You can tell if you're kissing a woman too hard if you hear a loud crack in her neck, feel her teeth coming through her lip or blood trickling down her cheeks, or peek and see her eyeballs rolling back in her forehead." In summation, one can't help but be bewildered by Storaska's presentation. Where do his sympathies really lie? He repeatedly refers to the "poor rapist" but makes no suggestions whatsoever for men dismantling their macho mentality or taking the responsibility for the changes necessary to achieve total equality. Stating that total equality is the solution for the changes necessary to achieve total equality, he places the entire responsibility on the shoulders of women. Though what vitriolic actions can we as women achieve this little piece of heaven and earth for all humankind? Is it worth the effort? It's a unique program. It gets me into a peace of mind. Probably, some students enjoy it too.

February 21, 1977 / ARBITER / Page 7
High price...

week that the Idaho Power Co. will, in the near future, apply for a 35 to 40 per cent increase in electricity rates. A spokesman for the Idaho Public Utilities Commission has confirmed that Idaho Power has reserved a docket number from the IPUC for a future application of some sort. Bob Brown, spokesman for Idaho Power, refused to comment on Idaho Power’s reason for reserving the docket number.

Idaho Resource Group spokesman Phil Ulmen said, at the time the IRG announced Idaho Power’s impending rate hike application, that the reasons for the imminent application are the amortization of expenses incurred during Idaho Power’s attempt to build the Pioneer power plant, and the inefficiency and “uneconomic” operation of the coal-fired Jim Bridger power plant.

That makes sense. Idaho Power ran up $16 million in expenses during its Pioneer boondoggle—approximately $10 million of all of it ordered before the IPUC turned thumbs down on the plant—(an approximate $6 in engineering and consulting fees. Idaho Power still refuses to make public the amount it spent on advertising during the Pioneer advisory ballot campaign. I believe, though, that the advertising expenditures probably will not be included in the justification for the rate increase request.

The Bridger operation isn’t turning out very well for Idaho Power (or its customers) either. Since it began operation, the Bridger unit has always operated way below its rated capacity. Last year its operation was probably only in the range of 40 to 45 percent of its rated capacity (all the figures for las-year aren’t in yet).

If Idaho Power gets a rate increase to cover costs at Bridger, it won’t be the first. Residential electricity rates have already gone up 30 percent because of Bridger. And that’s only the beginning; if we follow the energy path laid out for us by Idaho Power and its stooges in the state legislature.

An indication of what our electricity bills will be like in the years to come, if we follow the coal-nuclear route rather than the conservation-solar-geothermal route, can be found in the extremely bitter pull that customers of the Utah Power and Light Co. are having jammed down their throats. In order to pay for three 400 megawatt coal-fired power plants, Utah Power and Light is currently asking for a 30 percent rate increase, and will be asking for 20 to 30 percent increases in every year through 1981. When compounded, these increases will add up to approximately a 300 percent increase in electricity rates over the next five years—at the end of that period, a family paying $25 a month for electricity now, will be paying $100 per month for the same amount of electricity. It could easily happen here, Idaho Power—and a majority in our state legislature, want us to follow the coal-nuclear route to破产.

If you want to prevent that from happening, get in touch with the Idaho Resource Group. They stand squarely against the development of coal-fired and nuclear power plants in Idaho. Presently the IRG is circulating a petition seeking to prevent Idaho Power from passing along its Pioneer expenses to its ratepayers. Two thousand signatures have been collected so far.

If you want to help, sign the petition, or just want more information, call Jon Robertson at 344-8964.

COST-EFFECTIVENESS: From 1968 through 1975 the Defense Department spent about $25 million improving the Sparrow III air-to-air missile. The World Health Organization spent $83 million, during the same period, in a successful worldwide campaign to eradicate smallpox. (thanks to The Progressive for this item) * * *

The probable reasons why Idaho Power doesn’t want a publicly owned hydro-electric generating facility at Barber Dam.

THE PLACE TO BE
Haircutting for Men and Women

* FULL SERVICE SALON
* PERMS STYLING. RESTRUCTURING
* APPOINTMENTS ANYTIME
* WALK-INS WELCOME
* cuts long & short

343-4129 800 W. Bannock - In Hotel Boise Bldg.
VICKI MINOR - Owner, Stylist

DATE: FEB 22 FEB 23 FEB 25
TIME: 11am-2pm 7pm-8pm 11am-3:30pm
LOCATION: STUDENT UNION TOWERS CAFETERIA
PROGRAMES BOARD PRESENTS

STAN KENTON
THE MASTER OF JAZZ BAND MUSIC

February 22
8 p.m.
SUB Ballroom

Tickets at SUB Info Booth
Students $1.00  General Admission $4.00

Ramparts of Clay
Jean-Louis Bertucelli — Arabic
Against the setting of a magnificently isolated village on the edge of the Sahara, Jean-Louis Bertucelli’s Ramparts of Clay presents the drama of a young woman unable to accept the subservient role that her people’s ancient traditions demand of her. Her growing conflict with her community parallels the villagers’ difficult awakening to their own exploitation.

M*A*S*H*

February 25
Special Events Center
7 p.m.
FREE

February 27
Special Events Center
8 p.m.
FREE
Meistersingers to leave on annual tour

The Boise State University Meistersingers will be leaving on their annual tour on Saturday, Feb. 26, and returning on March 2. The tour will consist of performances in Spokane, Washington at Lady of Lourdes Cathedral, and at West Valley High School. After leaving Spokane, the choir will perform at North Idaho College in Coeur d'Alene, Helgate High School in Missoula, Montana, Butte High School in Butte, Montana, and Idaho Falls and Snake River High School in Idaho Falls and Blackfoot respectively.

The Meistersingers, under the direction of Mr. Wilber D. Elliott, will present selections in Latin, Italian and German as well as in English.

These selections by John Ness Beck will highlight the program as well as the medley from the musical "The Man of La Mancha." Also appearing on the program will be the Choralade, directed by Mr. Elliott. They will present selections in both the madrigal and jazz styles.

Seven-Per-Cent Solution is 'good light entertainment'

For the most part, the plot moves along at a good pace; it does drag in spots, however, notably in the section dealing with Holmes' DTs during his withdrawal (mostly hallucinatory references to details contained in several of the more popular Holmes stories). Also, a portion of the story line concerning Holmes' stay in Vienna is painfully obvious.

Technically the film is adequate, the most interesting aspect being the dialogue. The Seven-Per-Cent Solution is not a great film, but as I said earlier, it isn't intended to be, it's good light entertainment.

Professor and students to present concert

Madeleine Hsu, Associate Professor in Piano and Dueto Piano, will perform together with her students in works for two and four pianos: NIGHTS IN THE GARDEN OF SPAIN, Manuel de Falla, and the CONCERTO IN A MINOR for four keyboards by Johann Sebastian Bach. The students are Anna Holley, Melody Yountz and Debbie Comer. CAPRECOED by Harris will be performed at two pianos by Cindy Griff and Debbie Comer.

An original composition by Bree Simmons, TORREON, specifically written for three pianos at the request of Mrs. Hsu, will be performed by the composer, Linda Jo Faylor.

"Birthday Party" is worthwhile

by Bud Humphrey

There is only one word for the effect of a play as heavily meditative and yet as farcically entertaining as "The Birthday Party" - by Harold Pinter: enjoyable. Sometimes physical exhaustion, especially when the piece is produced with some care. The theatre of the absurd -- the portrayal in a realistic setting of a situation just that side of believability is probably at its best as a vehicle to point out the basic elements of human nature. Pinter delves gleefully into that part of us which seeks transcendent level of characterization -- one can see what the character is concerned with, with almost without listening. Although not to listen to Copsey's flamboyant patter is unforgivable. More than any other character on stage, Goldberg works.

Nationally, this is not to take any credit away from Joel Fariner as deadpan sideman McCann or from Seedy Smith's incorruptible Meg. Both turn in remarkable performances with uncanny slickness; each shines as physically effective as any of the players, he trips over his drag along the easy mark.

The BSU Theatre Department's version of "The Birthday Party," which will run through February 26, is true to the spirit of Pinter's playwrighting. Director Dr. Robert Ersson's staging is impeccable, the energy level fluctuates at a storming whim, and the distortion is at a not unreasonably low level.

Of particular interest is Doug Copsey as Goldberg, the archetypal Jewish wheeler-dealer. Copsey works on an almost transcendent level of characterization; one can see what the character is concerned with, with almost without listening. Although not to listen to Copsey's flamboyant patter is unforgivable. More than any other character on stage, Goldberg works.

As a unit, the cast is at worst, lively and at best, a model of ineptitude. Particularly during the party scene, there are three or more major conflicts going on at all times. But by George, your attention goes where they want it to go.

All in all, "The Birthday Party" is a worthwhile and enjoyable experience, whether or not one is intent upon divining some sort of social comment from the elaborate framework of a highly-struc- tured farce -- because, above all, it's just plain fun.
Rape... (cont, from page 5)

and the prevention of it as a woman's responsibility and Philarmonic to visit

 Idaho communities

During the 1976-1977 season, the Boise Philharmonic will perform in six Idaho communities as part of a touring program made possible by the Idaho Constitution for the Arts and Humanities, and the Nampa Endowment for the Arts, Washington, D.C. This is the second consecutive year of the out-of-town concert program for the orchestra and Music Director, Daniel Stern.

The Philharmonic performed in Nampa, at Northwest Nazarene College, on October 19, 1976 and at ceiling, Leonard Rose, guest soloist. The December 19, 1976 concert, featuring Boise State University master classical guitarist, Joseph Baisdairse and George Thomason, was repeated in Emmett on December 9, 1976.

The two guitarists performed the Concerto for Two Guitars and Orchestra, by Castelnuovo- Terodoro, again in Sun Valley on February 4, 1977 and will perform in Mountain Home on February 10, 1977. The March 8, 1977 concert, featuring the Brahms Concerto for Viola and Cello, with guest artists, Robert Black, violist, and Roy Mann, violonist, both from the University of Oregon, will be presented in Payette on March 10, 1977. The last concert of the season, with renowned pianist, Eugene Istomin, who will perform the Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 5, will be repeated at the College of Idaho on April 20, 1977 as a part of their own fine arts series.

The out-of-town concerts compose one segment of the Philharmonic total season which includes five regular Tuesday evening concerts, five Monday "Family Night" concerts, two performances of the special Christmas Concert, and children's concerts in the schools of Boise, Nampa and Caldwell districts.

For further information, call the Boise Philharmonic office, 344-7849. Tickets are on sale there on Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays from 10 to 5 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursdays, 2 to 5 p.m. The office is located at 1020 W. Franklin.

Tired of the same old Mardi Grass? Come to a special after-game dance at the Basque Cultural Center, 2256 University Drive.

Answers to Trivia Rat from page 6

2. "The sixth sick sheik's sixth sheep's sick" -- especially when spoken quickly.
3. Valley of the Dolls by Jacqueline Susann' with a spoken quickly.
4. Chill Wills, born 1903.
6. Efrem Zimbalist Jr., Roger Smith, and Edd "Kookie" Byrnes. (Byrnes frequently ran a con while under his control.)
Women face Portland State

by Julie Howard

The ultimate goal of women’s intercollegiate basketball is to obtain that elusive national title. It’s a challenge involving hard work, perseverance, and the calm and cool to wade through endless ability-testing games that lead to more games in the qualifying and regional tournaments. But 1977 just may be Boise State’s year as they have one foot in the door towards nationals going into the final, and maybe the most important, week of seasonal play.

Currently ranked third overall in the Northwest College Women’s Sports Association, the Broncos face second-ranked Portland State Saturday in a 5:45 preliminary game to the Boise State-Idaho men’s game. BSU has dropped only three games this season, losing the season opener to the top-ranked University of Washington 60-58 and then giving up two back-to-back games to the University of Utah (57-50 and 47-45). Since then the Broncos have piled up 11 victories and are currently enjoying an eight-game winning streak which should be boosted to a ten-game winning streak as they go against previously defeated Eastern Oregon State tonight and Flathead Valley Community College on Thursday before Saturday’s Portland State clash. If the BSU women can defeat PSU, who were last year’s region 9 winner, the door to nationals may give a little and the Broncos will have only two hurdles remaining: the NCWSA Eastern Area Tournament March 3-5 in Moscow, and if BSU is one of the top four teams to qualify, the NCWSA Large College Tournament which will be held here in Boise March 11-12.

Both Portland State and Boise State appear impressive on paper, as the Vikings were second overall in the Northwest with a 13-2 record, second offensively (to Washington) averaging 69.0 points per game, and second defensively (to Boise State) giving up opponents only 50.0 points per game. Portland State also has 6-3 Karen Strong who continues to claim the second place position in scoring with an average of 18.9 points per contest and also claims third place in rebounding with an average 12.7 per clip. Boise stands third overall, and claims the number one position in defense allowing their opponents only 47.5 points per game on the average. While Elaine Elliott leads the Northwest in assists with an average of 5.6 per game on the average. While Boise State has defeated both PSU (70-50) and WWSC (62-30) by twenty points or more. So despite Northwest standings, the race to nationals is going to be close during the final two weeks of the season.

Boise faces Idaho in finale

by Marty Most

Athlete Sports Editor

In years past to last year’s dazzling sprint to the conference championship, the Boise State basketball team is now dead in the water. With a 3-9 league record, the Broncos are mathe- matically eliminated from the race for a Big Sky playoff berth, sharing that distinction with ineligible Montana and the University of Idaho.

But there are still two games left to play. Friday against Gonzaga and Saturday against Idaho, and there’s little reason to believe either of those two teams wouldn’t like to rub a little salt into BSU’s wounds.

From the standpoint of mere pride, the games are important for coach Bus Conner’s club, While the Broncos are appar- ently still a year away from being a top notch team, ending the season on a winning note would help both squad and fan morale.

Gonzaga enters Bronco Gym as the cinderella team of the Big Sky. The Bulldogs weren’t picked to finish higher than sixth in the preseason polls, but a road win over Northern Arizona coupled with last week’s 62-61 edging of Weber State-Spokane have left the Zags with a playoff spot. Gonzaga is currently 7-5 in Big Sky, which places them third behind Idaho State and Weber. Close as the Gonzaga-Weber game was (the Zags won on a Scott Finnie 25-footer with three seconds to play) rebounding and shooting percentage were clearly in the Bulldogs’ favor. Gonzaga outrebounded the Wildcats 49-35 and shot 48 per cent to Weber’s 44 per cent. Gonzaga beat Boise earlier this season, in Spokane, 68-61. In that game, GU took control and used rebounding to win. The Broncos’ rebounding has improved since that first Big Sky contest, which makes the match-up more interesting. And while BSU hasn’t been playing their best recently at home, neither has Gonzaga blazed through their road schedule. In fact, they’ve only won a single away game, a 67-66 victory over NAU in Pullman. The Idaho Vandals have had a difficult, year to come to life. If U of I was pathetic for most of the season, but they’re 3-9 in conference play after two victories over Northern Arizona and an earlier win over Gonzaga. Idaho would love to put BSU in the cellar or at least have some comebacks, the Big Sky’s last place. Idaho (and for that matter Gonzaga) will be gunning for Boise State instead of their other weekend opponents, USI. Idaho is third in the Minidome is just too tough a challenge to pin many hopes on. Idaho is going to be a team to contend with.

Boise State-Idaho men’s game, BSU can be expected to work on the bench their excellent trio of Kevin Goetz, Danny Jones, and Steve Barrett. The key to this weekend’s success will doubtless be Boise State’s mental attitude. In the face of a season of hard luck the Broncos have held up well. If they can find a reason to play their best, perhaps as a tribute to the only senior on the squad, Kevin Goetz or just to show they won’t lay down and die: they could end the season on a winning note. And serve notice that next year the Broncos will be a team to contend with.

Prepsters, JC players sign letters to play

Boise State University has signed several top prep and jcco football players to national letters of intent.

Idaho high school players who will be a BSU next fall include running back Cedric Minier and quarterback John Barrett, teammates at Boise’s Berah High School. Barrett led his Lions to the Southern Idaho Conference and unofficial State championships, despite playing a good part of the season with a rib injury.

Minier was injured just three plays into his senior year and sat out the remainder of the season. As a junior, however, Minier rushed and caught passes for over a thousand yards. Also signed was Nampa High linebacker Paul Bede and Buell running back Chris Bell, who gained 1600 yards his senior year.

From the junior college ranks comes two Morehead men, 5-8, 190 pound Rikki Hayes, an offensive tackle, was an all-state selection and linemen of the year in California’s Garden Valley Conference, while at Mendocino J.C. 6-3, 245 pound Ken Hartwick was an all-conf- erence selection and lineman at American River Junior College.
 broncos drop pair in big sky

by freddie viccnet

when your basketball team is playing on its own home court, and the fans are in an emotional state, it is sometimes difficult to lose.

boise state may have been thinking along that line since they defeated the montana grizzlies last week at home. but friday night the grizzlies put the broncos on the cake and handed the broncos a 72-67 loss to knock them out of the playoffs and a chance to defend their big sky championship.

the victory for montana was no doubt a satisfying one because they lost to boise state last week. furthermore, the grizzlies had to forfeit 11 of their last fifteen games because of an ineligible player (center lee johnson) so this win was more of pride than anything else.

the loss lowered bsu’s conference record to 3-8, and broke a series of six straight bronco victories over montana and montana state dating back to 1975.

the broncos led at halftime by six points, 39-33, and with 6:14 remaining in the game, they still held a one-point lead at 61-60.

but in the final six minutes, boise state scored only six points, four in the final 22 seconds. in the last three minutes the broncos did not let montana get second and third shots; in the second period, the grizzlies controlled the offensive boards.

most of the shots by montana were tip-ins by michael j. richardson, the grizzlies’ only starting senior. michael john had 10 points in the first half, eight of them by way of offensive rebounds including three in a row. he finished the night with 16 points and 12 rebounds.

it was probably hard for montana to see all those wins, but the emotional impact at home got them going and from them on, it was easy pickings.

forward michael r. richardson, no relation to michael j., also had an outstanding night for the montanans. m.r. shot 22 points while ben demers added 14 and craig henkel chipped in 10 points and 10 rebounds.

the broncos have a way of playing good basketball in the first half, and then folding in the second period. this year long team had been able to keep all those wins, but the emotional impact at home got them going and from them on, it was easy pickings.

the broncos’ scoring attack was led by danny johnson with 16. kevin goetz added 12, steve barrett 11, and trent johnson 10. steve connor hit three out of 12 from the field for 4 points. that leaves connor just 18 points shy of becoming bsu’s all-time leading scorer.

for mu, the win was a big step toward clinching a spot in the big sky playoffs. the bobcats are 6-6 in conference play and have just two games remaining—both at home.

for the broncos, the loss was their ninth against three victors in league play. there are two games remaining for boise in conference, as the broncos host gonzaga and idaho this weekend. if bsu can win both games at home, it will only bolster their pride.

* * *

intramural basketball, co-ed volleyball

men’s basketball

standings

league a celtics 3-0

gunners 2-1

olver’s 2-1

show’s shrews 1-1

the d zaugerts 0-2

corner club

league b

curtain rods b-f-s 2-0

dt’s 1-1

squad to p’s 1-0

ups 1-1

ke 0-2

league c

little feat 3-0

ty stickers 3-0

clickers 1-2

kelly’s heroes 1-2

old men 2-2

tke 0-3

league d

ag 3-0

b-a beaters 2-0

a-i ward 1-1

funks a-3 1-1

a-2 wackadoos 1-1

b-z zoo 0-2

results—tuesday feb. 15

feat 46, tke 23

old men, clickers 32

stickers, heroes 28

ups 32, ke 22

rods 48, squad 38

b-f-s, s, dts 32

celtics 74, gunners 52

olver’s 66, club 24.

schedule

monday february 22

6:00: heroes v. feat

8:00- a-v b 3

9:00- funks v. b-1

monday february 23

8:00- a-v b 3

9:00- funks v. b-1

women’s basketball

standings

league a falling stars 2-0

easy strippers 1-1

half-court hookers 0-2

league b

happy hookers 2-0

comas prairie stompers 1-1

the five attempts 1-1

pumpkin pushers 0-2

results—february 16

stringers 28, h-c hookers 12

stars 20, dunkettes 8

stompers 36, pushers 12

h. hookers 34, attempts 4.

schedule

wednesday february 23

6:00- dunkettes v. strippers

h-c hookers v. stars

7:00- h. hookers v. pushers

stompers v. attempts results—mon. feb. 14

jolly ballers 3-0

kimamas 2-0

white-anglo-ricans 2-1

pope’s polish 1-1

superboppers 1-2

marauders 0-2

loaders 0-3

league b

w-3 3-0

net knockers 2-1

bumpers 1-1

vo-tech 1-1

maggot’s melons 1-2

tke ii 0-3.

* * *

gymnastics face montana

the boise state women’s gymnastics team will host the university of montana gymnastics in a dual meet this saturday, february 26, at 1:30 p.m. in the bronco gymnasium.

the broncos scored their highest team total against the bsu invitational recently, placing second only to undefeated pacific university and defeating the nationally-ranked seattle pacific gymnastics team.

saturday’s meet will be the first of two final home meets for the broncos against the wcwsa regional teams in missoula march 11 & 12. there will be no admission charge.

wrestlers...

(cont. from page 14)

134- billsley dec. by price 6-3

brady dec. by nick 8-4

150- holdaady dec. by hennessy

5-3

158- watson dec. close 7-3

167- graco dec. rollins 9-2

177- matthews tech fall 6-0

190- needs pinned germondus in 2nd

hvy- moss won by forfeit

for the broncos, guards steve connor and trent johnson dominated the scoring drive. connor hit 11 of 20 shots from the field to finish with 24 points, and johnson hit eight of fourteen, finishing with 17 points.

kevin goetz had 12 points and danny jones finished with 10.

the rebounding made the difference in the clash and that hurt the broncos. montana outrebounded the broncos 34-22.

the broncos have a way of playing good basketball in the first half, and then folding in the second period. this year long team had been able to keep all those wins, but the emotional impact at home got them going and from them on, it was easy pickings.

the loss, boise state’s 12th in 13 road games, eliminated them from any chance of a playoff berth.

the broncos simply blew the game. with eleven minutes remaining in the game, boise had a 59-52 lead. but after that it was all downhill. the broncos managed one more tie at 61, but then folded. in the last 9:32 the broncos played like they did not care what happened.

montana state center bruce smith repeatedly scored from inside and sealed the bronco’s scoring drive. boise had planned to let smith shoot and attempt to hold down the rest of the bobcat team. smith took advantage of the opportunity given him, and shot after shot fell through the hoop. snappy shot 27 times and made 14 to finish with 30 points, while calfman scored 22 points.

guards craig finberg and mick durham added 14 and 13 points, respectively. mick slams shot three straight hoops bringing the bobcats back from their seven point deficit.

boise was forced to play without center sean mckenna, who suffered a knee injury in friday night’s loss to montana.

freshman john mayfield replaced the injured mckenna and played well. but may tumbled quickly without a suitable replacement.

at the beginning of the second half, mayfield hit eight quick points, grabbed four rebounds, had one assist, one steal—all in the first four minutes. he finished the night with 12 points.

the broncos’ scoring attack was led by danny jones with 16. kevin goetz added 12, steve barrett 11, and trent johnson 10. steve connor hit three out of 12 from the field for 4 points. that leaves connor just 18 points shy of becoming bsu’s all-time leading scorer.

for mu, the win was a big step toward clinching a spot in the big sky playoffs. the bobcats are 6-6 in conference play and have just two games remaining—both at home.

for the broncos, the loss was their ninth against three victors in league play. there are two games remaining for boise in conference, as the broncos host gonzaga and idaho this weekend. if bsu can win both games at home, it will only bolster their pride.

become a college campus dealer sell brand name stereo components at lowest prices.

high profits;

no investment required.

for details, contact: fad components, inc.

20 passaica ave., fairfield, new jersey 07006 ilene orlowsky

201-227-6884 call collect BSU women clobber Central

by Julie Howard

Claiming their eighth consecutive victory, the Boise State women's basketball team crushed the Wildcats of Central Washington State 65-39 last Friday in the Borah High Gymnasium. The NCWSA third-ranked Broncos now boast an 11-3 record.

It was a combination of height and defense that carried the BSU team to victory as the taller Broncos outrebounded the Wildcats 50-26 and allowed their opponents only 17 out of 63 shots for 27% from the floor.

The Boise State defense is currently ranked number one in the Northwest College Women's Sports Association as the Broncos continue to hold their opponents to an average 47.5 points per game.

The Broncos now face their final and busiest week of regular season play as they meet Eastern Oregon State tonight in LaGrande, and host Flathead Valley Community College February 24 at 8 p.m. in the BSU gym. But capping off this important week will be Saturday's game when the BSU women host second-ranked Portland State Saturday night as a 5:45 preliminary game to the Boise State-Idaho men's game.

Wrestlers claim two wins

Losing only five matches and drawing one, the Boise State Bronco wrestling squad defeated both Montana (27-9) and Weber State (33-8), easily in a Triangular meet last Saturday.

The meet was the grappler's last in preparation for the Big Sky championship meet on March 4-5 in Missoula. Boise State is the two-year defending champion in Big Sky wrestling, and appears to be in top form for the Missoula tourney.

The Boise State squad leaped to an early lead, with seven wins and one draw in their first ten matches. From then on, neither opposing squad had much chance to overcome the Broncos' domination.

BSU's Leon Madsen, Tim Matthews and Steve Needs won both their matches, with Needs and Matthews drawing a pin apiece.

Match-by-match results, with the Boise State wrestler listed first:

Boise State
33, Weber 8

118- Cedillo won by forfeit
126- Madsen dec. Isom 6-3
134- Billingsley drew Jackson 6-6
142- Brady dec. by Burt 6-5 on riding time
150- Holladay dec. McLvlahon 11-7
158- Watson won by forfeit
167- Brady dec. by Hoopes 3-2
177- Matthews pinned Freestone in 3rd
190- Needs dec. Barra 7-2
Hvy- Moss dec. White 13-5

Boise State 33, Montana 9

118- Cedillo dec. Nelson 8-6
126- Madsen dec. Owen 6-1

... (continued on page 13)
Tucker: Louisville to be upset

by Benjamin Tucker

The University of San Francisco continues to dominate the Atlantic 10 Conference Basketball Poll, as the Dons have swept to twenty-seven wins out of a possible forty-six. USC took all the first place votes in the February 20 voting, to easily outdistance the Kentucky Wildcats, who took advantage of losses this past week by UCLA and Purdue to take over second place.

UCLA, second last week, fell to sixth in the balloting after losing to Washington and Oregon in Pac-8 action. The Michigan Wolverines, although suffering a loss to Indiana, climbed from fourth to third this week after blasting Iowa and victorious over Purdue. The Arkansas Razorbacks, who, at 24-1, have the second best record in Division I this year, Tennessee jumped from eighteenth last week to #7 this week after beating Mississippi and Alabama.

The same story goes for Florida, who lost to Virginia at home, and for Minnesota, who lost to Wisconsin at home. The Tar Heels walloped South Carolina, plodding on to twenty-seven victories. The same is true for the Wild Cats, who, after losing to Iowa and Northwestern, lost to UNLV earlier in the month. The Boilermakers, led by Bruce Parkinson and Mark Layden, have compiled a 17-6 record to date. It is this prognosticator's belief that the Purdue quintet can topple the Blue Jays and the Wildcats.

The top national games for the week of February 21 through February 27 feature Purdue at Minnesota on Thursday evening, Alabama at Kentucky on Saturday, and Louisville at Northwestern on Sunday’s televised contest. The February 24 Boilermakers-Goodyear contest is the battle for second place in the Big Ten. Additionally, if the Purdue quintet can topple the Kentucky Wildcats, they will remain only one game behind league-leading Michigan with one game left against the Wolverines on March 5 in West Lafayette. The Boilermakers are led by Bruce Parkinson and Walter Jordan and have compiled a 17-6 record to date. It is this prognosticator’s belief that the Purdue quintet can topple the Blue Jays and the Wildcats.

The top national games for the week of February 21 through February 27 feature Purdue at Minnesota on Thursday evening, Alabama at Kentucky on Saturday, and Louisville at Northwestern on Sunday’s televised contest. The February 24 Boilermakers-Goodyear contest is the battle for second place in the Big Ten. Additionally, if the Purdue quintet can topple the Kentucky Wildcats, they will remain only one game behind league-leading Michigan with one game left against the Wolverines on March 5 in West Lafayette. The Boilermakers are led by Bruce Parkinson and Walter Jordan and have compiled a 17-6 record to date. It is this prognosticator’s belief that the Purdue quintet can topple the Blue Jays and the Wildcats.

The top national games for the week of February 21 through February 27 feature Purdue at Minnesota on Thursday evening, Alabama at Kentucky on Saturday, and Louisville at Northwestern on Sunday’s televised contest. The February 24 Boilermakers-Goodyear contest is the battle for second place in the Big Ten. Additionally, if the Purdue quintet can topple the Kentucky Wildcats, they will remain only one game behind league-leading Michigan with one game left against the Wolverines on March 5 in West Lafayette. The Boilermakers are led by Bruce Parkinson and Walter Jordan and have compiled a 17-6 record to date. It is this prognosticator’s belief that the Purdue quintet can topple the Blue Jays and the Wildcats.

The top national games for the week of February 21 through February 27 feature Purdue at Minnesota on Thursday evening, Alabama at Kentucky on Saturday, and Louisville at Northwestern on Sunday’s televised contest. The February 24 Boilermakers-Goodyear contest is the battle for second place in the Big Ten. Additionally, if the Purdue quintet can topple the Kentucky Wildcats, they will remain only one game behind league-leading Michigan with one game left against the Wolverines on March 5 in West Lafayette. The Boilermakers are led by Bruce Parkinson and Walter Jordan and have compiled a 17-6 record to date. It is this prognosticator’s belief that the Purdue quintet can topple the Blue Jays and the Wildcats.
Student Pictures

Student pictures will be taken from 10:00 to 4:00 Monday and Tuesday, February 21 and 22.

Pictures are $1.00, payable at the door.

Subscriptions to the 1977 Les Bois are now on sale at the SUB Info Booth.

Subscriptions are $3.00.