10-10-1977

Arbiter, October 10

Associated Students of Boise State University

Although this file was scanned from the highest-quality microfilm held by Boise State University, it reveals the limitations of the source microfilm. It is possible to perform a text search of much of this material; however, there are sections where the source microfilm was too faint or unreadable to allow for text scanning. For assistance with this collection of student newspapers, please contact Special Collections and Archives at archives@boisestate.edu.
Hollenbaugh builds 'basic' program

by Patrick Cux

Kenneth Hollenbaugh was living in rural Ohio going to high school and trapping furs for a living in 1954. He went to Bowling Green University in 1954 on a track scholarship and decided to take engineering over music. In 1956 he found the text to a geology course and took the class to save $12. Today, Dr. Kenneth Hollenbaugh is chairman of the Department of Geology and Geophysics and the Dean of the Graduate School.

In that first class, Ken Hollenbaugh saw that "Geology is the basic science because without the discovery of mineral deposits or the discovery of energy deposits in an industrial society, there just isn't a hell of a lot that you can do. Not only that, but nine times out of ten, the environmental problems are based on a geological question." Since then, K.M. Hollenbaugh has had industrial or geological societies and has held a variety of leadership positions in several national and international organizations and quite a few have been majoring in geology eight years ago. Last year there were 185.

As Dean of the graduate school, his "second full-time job," he has worked on streamlining the internal mechanisms of the program. In Dr. Hollenbaugh's words, "The graduate school tries to help the student achieve his goals, not to say here's your degree in spite of it. Graduate school suffers much as undergraduate school and I see an opportunity for Boise State, because the graduate program is so new, to achieve a new level in quality education that would even be enjoyable for the students."

Dr. Hollenbaugh, like many professors, could be making more money in the business sector, but Kaiser Industries' loss is BSU's gain. To quote Dr. Hollenbaugh, "I think that working with people in the classroom, seeing the changes and the successes the students have in their intellectual growth and in their careers, is just as exciting to me as working in industry and showing a profit at the end of the year."
Presidential quest continues

by Tim Schaff

Using a combination of computer listings and traditional references, the Presidential Search Committee will evaluate 180 candidates who apply for the BSU presidency.

The committee, which has narrowed the field of candidates down to a manageable size of three to eight, will work to select its final choice.

The 18-member search committee includes representatives from BSU faculty and administration, student body and alumni, business and state government.

Dr. John Swartly, a Boise physician, chairs the search committee in addition to serving on the State Board of Education and the BSU Executive Committee. David Swartly has also assisted the University of Idaho and ISU in personnel selection.

The committee defined the general qualifications of the new president in July, then began a 60-day period of nationwide advertising for the position.

Announcements were sent to over 500 sources of potential candidates. 181 applications have already been received and the total is expected to top 200 before the November 1 deadline.

At the committee's next meeting, the members will approve the rating sheet that each chairperson will use to rate each candidate. This list, to be held on October 22 at 9 a.m. in room SE-101, is the last meeting that will be open to the public.

The candidates' ratings will be analyzed by computer to assist the committee in choosing the finalists.

The committee will interview the finalists in January and make their recommendations to the full board by March 1. The finalists' names will be released to the public.

The Board plans to make their choice before February 15. The new president of Boise State University will take office July 1, 1978.

Graduate exams essential for admissions, awards

In order to apply for graduate scholarships in advanced scholarship such as the Fulbright or Danforth, students must take the Graduate Record Exam.

"Cold-drill" gets gold

The 1977 BSU literary magazine, the cold-drill, has been awarded the gold medal in the University and College Designers Association's 80th Annual Competition in Rochester, New York.

The Department of English publication, printed at Boise State University's Graphic and Center and edited by English majors Georgia Evans and Rhonda Booth, will be on display at the UCDA exhibition and at the Rochester Institute of Technology, October 13-16. Thereafter, the magazine will be distributed to the Designers Association's traveling exhibition which visits leading colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada.

"It's A Fact!"

1. "Music Matters" has the lowest prices on guitars, drums, and accessories.

2. "Music Matters" handles only quality products such as Hagstrom, Ovation, Rickenbacker, Yamaha and more.

3. "Music Matters" marks items with both list and our discount price for your convenience and comparison.

4. "Music Matters" is the music store with emphasis on quality and value. All products are researched before we buy and tested when they come in.

5. At "Music Matters" it is our service to give you better than department store prices.

6. MUSIC MATTERS is at 610 FRONT(right turn off Capitol)

342-2221 Open Mon.-Sat. 10:30-6pm

ACLU spokesman to offer comment

by Barb Bredwell

The mountain states regional director of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), Dorothy Davidson, will speak in Boise, Thursday, October 13 at 7:30 p.m. She will speak at an organizational meeting for the Boise chapter which will be held at 1081 Leadville.

Davidson is expected to comment on two current cases the ACLU is handling. One involves a medical student in California who was denied admission to a California school because the institution had a certain minority quota to meet.

The other case involves a Nazi group in Skokie, Illinois who were denied a permit to march in a Jewish section of the city. According to Samantha Silva, a Boise State student who has researched the case, the group of Skokie went to court to prevent the Nazi group from demonstrating in their community. The Illinois Appellate Court upheld the decision of the lower court.

Silva says the basic issue at stake is the Bill of Rights and whether it protects all Americans, not just some. Richard Boydstun, director of the Boise chapter of the ACLU, said the civil rights question is the reason the ACLU filed the case.

Silva said that while many people do not view Nazis as a particular problem, they still are American citizens and have the same basic civil liberties as any other citizen. "Next time it might be us liberals," she stated.

Senate approves requests

by Diane Barr

During their regular Tuesday session, the Senate heard and accepted the allocation of $450 toward the Idaho Student Senate Committee (ISC), voted to transfer $500 from the Boise Trap Club. The $450 to ISC was aimed at two purposes: (1) to pay for the ISC's supply budget to the travel category, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Photo by Rich Ferguson, has requested a budget reallocation to present three delegates to attend the BSU-UC Student Committee convention, and (2) to allow them to maintain their travel expenses. HSU has been allocated twenty-seven delegates for the convention and this group will comprise the largest single voting block at the gathering. Business Senator Shane Bengochea will head the BSU delegation.

Alumni, business and state senators and representatives from BSU faculty and administrators will be on hand to present their requests.

The Ways and Means committee was directed to study the possibility of setting up a program of emergency student loans while President Hoffman was asked to set up a meeting between BSU administrators and members of the BSU Senate. The meeting will allow Senators to find out what the various committees' requests are within the university and how that role relates directly to student government.

In motion proposed by Business Senator Shane Bengochea, Vice-president Chris Rudd was given authority to select two delegates on behalf of the Boise chapter.

Senate meetings are held each Tuesday at 3:30 in the Senate Chambers on the second floor of the SUB. Student participation is encouraged and appreciated.
Otter decries Governor's lack of 'leadership'

by Rick Mattson

Butch Otter, Republican candidate for Governor of Idaho, said at a Press Club interview last Thursday that Governor Evans did not exercise a little leadership, and took the State Board of Education as an example.

"I wish the Governor had exercised a little leadership, and taken the State Board of Education on the spot."

He went on to say that because of the 1977 Landlord-Tenant Act, the student becomes the landlord once a student pays RCA to deal with rape

by Aletha Fidchelt

A group of women determined to alleviate the impact of rape formed the Rape Crisis Alliance. Its primary objective is to help sexual assault victims and rape victims get the proper care and information, and to help the victims and those close to them adjust and heal from the traumatic experience. The RCA provides strictly confidential counseling, referral agencies, and information. Another objective is to cooperate with other city agencies such as medical, mental health, law enforcement, and legal services to assist in thorough and appropriate action in cases of rape and sexual assault.

The Rape Crisis is currently a United Way project with the YWCA acting as the administering agency.

The practical operational systems used by the women is quite simple. They have an emergency phone (345-RAPE). When a victim calls in, hook."} or would like to obtain additional information about the services mentioned in this article, please call the RCA at 208-343-3688.

In a prepared message to the Idaho Press Club at large, Otter noted that his relationship with J.R. Simplot (his father-in-law) is a false issue and he has tried to deal with it early in his campaign. He is currently Vice-President of Administration of 3rd Division with the Simplot Corporation.

Otter has served two terms in the Idaho Legislature, and sees the real issues as the water problem, centering around the drought and the building of more dams for energy; land-use planning, which he was against while in the 1975 legislature; and the Right-To-Work bill, which he said would sign if in the nature he wished it to be. He noted that last session, the bill was such that even the most conservative members of the legislature were against it.

Otter does not see any more power coming from the Snake River, but sees coal and nuclear energy as two alternatives. He said he sees no need for a State Department of Energy.

Next week Larry Jackson, the third major candidate for Governor, will be featured.

YOUR MOLENAAR'S REPRESENTATIVES ON CAMPUS

Pat

Choose From Our Selection of

Diamond Jewelry

Earrings

Pendants

and much more

ONE OF YOUR "STUDENT BUYING POWER CARD"

REPRESENTATIVES - 2 BLOCKS SOUTH OF BRONCO STADIUM

YOUR MOLENAAR'S

Jewelers

1207 BROADWAY

PAT RICK

"If we get even four or five women from BSU it would be great," says Sandy Myshin, coordinator of RCA. "The campus does have a share of sexual assaults. In the daytime two women were abducted after attending their classes last summer..."

If you would like to volunteer, or would like to obtain information about the services mentioned in this article, please call the RCA at 208-343-3688.
Student body government is a wondrous thing: there are boards and committees, groups and cliques. There are large and small manipulations, massive and petty power plays. Much of how a committee or for that matter any group functions within a student government depends on the relative favor or disfavor that group enjoys with groups above its level — especially its ultimate source of finances, the ASSBSU senate. However, there are certainly departments that cannot wait for political machinations to work out for them, that are expected to provide a service to the students continuously, at a constant quality, regardless of who says what about whom. Such an organization is the Programs Board.

It's easy to sympathize with Programs Board chairman Steve Robertson. To him, administrative details are simply a block in the path toward giving the students part of what they pay for at this university. Budget hearings and paperwork are no more than a temporary obstacle. Other committees can simply cease to function until they are funded or officially recognized; not the Programs Board. The Programs Board must produce.

And produce they do. The student body government has treated to popular and foreign films of a consistently high quality, and an incomparable jazz concert (at which, it is rumored, security was unusually well-engineered) - all at a fair price.

But Robertson was shocked in November. A schoolÍ°.To his “unbelievable narrator” was the following item which appeared in the September 21st issue of the Idaho Statesman.

"The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday approved career diplomat George Landau as ambassador to Chile after he pledges to personally undertake efforts to improve human rights there. Landau, currently ambassador to Paraguay, said he believed human rights matters have to be handled by the ambassador personally because of his direct access to the foreign minister and the president of the country where he is assigned."

Actually, I wasn't surprised that Landau would make such a statement. The Foreign Relations Committee would buy it: what shocked me was the fact that the Carter Administration would so willingly expose its "Human Rights" policy as a complete and patent fraud.

The reason for Carter's "Human Rights" campaign in Latin America is not hard to discern. Over the past decade a large segment of the American press and public has become extremely disgusted with the subversion of the democratic process and the support of corrupt dictatorships in Central and South America by the U.S. government. Actions such as the CIA-engineered ouster of the Arbenz government in Guatemala in 1954, the Goiart regime in Brazil in 1954, and the Allende government in Chile in 1973 (all democratically elected), as well as the direct U.S. military intervention in the Dominican Republic in 1965 have been very illuminating. Such acts have graphically demonstrated that the only type of freedom in which the U.S. government is interested is the "free enterprise" variety, that is, the "freedom" of U.S. based multi-national corporations to exploit the resources and labor supply in those countries.

Growing public and congressional opposition to U.S. support for dictatorships has been making it increasingly difficult for Washington to make its presence felt for the Sanduatas, Bananzas, Videlas, and Pinochetos who in turn make it safe for U.S. multi-national corporations. What was needed was a means of defusing criticism while leaving basic policies unchanged. To do Carter's "Human Rights" campaign, a clever program, combining a barrage of rhetoric, a few symbolic actions (for example, the recently trumpeted abolition of DNA, Chile's dreaded secret police; what wasn't trumpeted was the fact that DNA's functions were simply transferred to other government agencies), and essentially the same policies pursued by previous administrations.

It's easy to sympathize with Programs Board chairman Steve Robertson. To him, administrative details are simply a block in the path toward giving the students part of what they pay for at this university. Budget hearings and paperwork are no more than a temporary obstacle. Other committees can simply cease to function until they are funded or officially recognized; not the Programs Board. The Programs Board must produce.

And produce they do. The student body government has treated to popular and foreign films of a consistently high quality, and an incomparable jazz concert (at which, it is rumored, security was unusually well-engineered) - all at a fair price. But Robertson was shocked in November. A schoolÍ°.To his “unbelievable narrator” was the following item which appeared in the September 21st issue of the Idaho Statesman.

"The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday approved career diplomat George Landau as ambassador to Chile after he pledges to personally undertake efforts to improve human rights there. Landau, currently ambassador to Paraguay, said he believed human rights matters have to be handled by the ambassador personally because of his direct access to the foreign minister and the president of the country where he is assigned."

Actually, I wasn't surprised that Landau would make such a statement. The Foreign Relations Committee would buy it: what shocked me was the fact that the Carter Administration would so willingly expose its "Human Rights" policy as a complete and patent fraud.

The reason for Carter's "Human Rights" campaign in Latin America is not hard to discern. Over the past decade a large segment of the American press and public has become extremely disgusted with the subversion of the democratic process and the support of corrupt dictatorships in Central and South America by the U.S. government. Actions such as the CIA-engineered ouster of the Arbenz government in Guatemala in 1954, the Goiart regime in Brazil in 1954, and the Allende government in Chile in 1973 (all democratically elected), as well as the direct U.S. military intervention in the Dominican Republic in 1965 have been very illuminating. Such acts have graphically demonstrated that the only type of freedom in which the U.S. government is interested is the "free enterprise" variety, that is, the "freedom" of U.S. based multi-national corporations to exploit the resources and labor supply in those countries.

Growing public and congressional opposition to U.S. support for dictatorships has been making it increasingly difficult for Washington to make its presence felt for the Sanduatas, Bananzas, Videlas, and Pinochetos who in turn make it safe for U.S. multi-national corporations. What was needed was a means of defusing criticism while leaving basic policies unchanged. To do Carter's "Human Rights" campaign, a clever program, combining a barrage of rhetoric, a few symbolic actions (for example, the recently trumpeted abolition of DNA, Chile's dreaded secret police; what wasn't trumpeted was the fact that DNA's functions were simply transferred to other government agencies), and essentially the same policies pursued by previous administrations.

The case of George Landau is most instructive. In light of Landau's statements that he would work to improve "human rights" conditions in Paraguay, the ambassador should personally attend to such matters because of his direct access to top officials, it's most interesting to consider conditions in Paraguay, the last country in which Landau "served." That should be essentially interesting as Landau was on very good terms with Paraguay's dictator, General Alfredo Stroessner. They were on such good terms that Stroessner reportedly described Landau as an ex-officio member of his cabinet. (The Nation, 11.13.76.)

So how are conditions in Paraguay? Economically, they're both good and bad; they're very good for foreign corporations and Paraguay's privileged elite, but they're very very bad for most Paraguayans. Eighty-four per cent of Paraguay's economy is controlled by foreign companies; 90% of its banking is controlled by foreigners; 80% of its exports are controlled by foreigners; twelve of its fifteen largest companies are owned by foreign or 20 foreign corporations own 30% of Paraguay's land, and 1.1% of Paraguay's 2.5 million population is only $85 per year. But, you may argue, such conditions are but one of the myriad blessings of the free enterprise system. What about political rights, what about "human rights" once the economic conditions are both good and bad; they're great if you're a police torturer, and they're horrifying if you're a civilian. During the first six months of 1976 alone 1,100 Paraguayans were arrested for political reasons; torture is commonly used by the police (if you ever get the chance, see Clea-Gravas' excellent film State of Siege which graphically portrays such torture, and in general provides a very accurate picture of current conditions in South America); and Paraguay currently holds some 600 political prisoners. The Stroessner regime does permit some token opposition to exist, but harrasses and occasionally kills members of the two permitted opposition parties, the Liberals and the Liberal Radicals (Stroessner's party is the Colorado Party). Criticism of Stroessner (none what so
by Jean King

It is a fact that the upper echelons of the larger corporations often lose touch with their own offices. Their executives are often so preoccupied with world affairs that they fail to notice that their own building is on fire.

This must be the case with Morrison-Knudsen Co. Surely a company which is so involved on an international level would not knowingly allow the sort of sick racism that is running rampant in their own world headquarters office building. If they knew that company-owned ditto machines were being used to produce the racist pseudo-application forms that is being circulated among their office employees, they would stop it. Wouldn't they?

This pseudo-application form was probably intended as a joke. But what a sick joke! Why must middle class white society find humor in degrading members of other races? When are they going to realize that a "put down" of one group of people is an automatic "put up" of their own status? Middle class white America needs some indoctrination into self-improvement before it is ready to pass

Letters to the Editor

'Shenandoah' student show set

Editor: the ARBITER,

We are pleased to announce a special performance of the musical "Shenandoah" for BSU Faculty, Staff, and Students only. The performance will begin at 8:15 p.m. on November 10 in the Boise High School Auditorium. The cost of admission will be $5.00. Tickets will be available at BSU personnel at the Student Union Information Booth, Monday, October 5 through Friday, October 7, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. per day.

Please provide your name and address to receive your tickets.

Problems with parking

To whom it may concern:

I am one of many students of Boise State University who has put $39.00 of my hard earned money to have a Reserved Parking Space. I find it very annoying to find that the reserved parking space is not a Reserved Parking Space. We have paid for a Reserved Parking space in a little nook of being late for classes and so on because of the incessant complaints of a few people. Please show a little more consideration for those who have paid. If you have a hard time finding a parking space, come to school earlier.

Your Pal
Tim Bower

---

Data Processing Center represents 'breakthrough'

Fellow Students,

The ASBSU experienced a major breakthrough last week. The ASBSU senator allocated just $9,500 to go towards the creation of a student data processing center. The money will be used primarily for two purposes. First, $5,000 is set aside for purchase of time on the University's Hewlett-Packard 3000 computer. The time will be distributed among the student body at the rate of $5.25 per hour or $450 per month, which ever is less. Second, $4,500 will be utilized to buy a terminal, and the material needed to hook it up with the HP-3 000 and to create/implant the programs which will allow the ASB to provide new services for the student body.

Most people probably wonder what the ASB will be able to do with access to a computer. For one thing, it means that student operated faculty evaluation program will become a reality in the very near future. Such a system, the results of which could be published, has been a goal of the student government for a long time. Finally, this would be very much a laWM 650, which authorizes the expenditures of college funds for making a very good decision.

It would seem that at least some of that money should be spent on racial education for its employees. A little more time spent in racial consciousness raising and a little less time and money spent rerouting racist documents on computer-owned machines at company expense might prove more profitable for both BMCo. and its employees.

A group of Black, Chicago area students at the University of Illinois is currently attempting to purchase a computer for the ASB. The job of the computer can be defined by computer scientists to be a very important one. Just as the ASB will be able to computerize a good portion of its activities, so too will the faculty and the student body.

Mike Hoffman
Chairman, Ticket Committee
Sometimes vanning's not bad— in comparison

by Sally Thomas

If no one else noticed that cold weather is coming on, I did. When one lives in a van, with only micro-inches of cold-rolled steel separating one from the elements, one tends to notice those elements rather quickly. In response to this keen observation, I redoubled my efforts to obtain other housing. One of the battle plans I tried was to find a co-roommate and set up the two of us, to find an appropriate place to live. Keenly aware of the importance of paying one's dues, as it were, in the form of half the rent and half the utilities, I first inquired of the prospective roomies the nature of their financial affairs, all the while, of course, coughing delicately behind my hand.

"My mother sends me $100 from time to time," was the response of the first prospect.

"And when was the last time?" I asked.

"Three months ago," Next!

"Well, I have a steady job."

"So you can make the rent and half the utilities?"

"Let's see. I take home $60 a week and my car payment is $50 a month and I have this little loan from the bank that costs me $65 a month. Then there's my charge account down at the clothes store. Would you believe they want $50 a month from me? But of course, most care if I'm a little late, at least they didn't ask to get a little behind, you know? And then I figure I need about $100 just for beer and stuff...."

"You're already spending more than you make."

"Well, what the heck. I always say, what's one more bill when you've already got so many?"

The third attempt needed:

"Well, oh, no, actually. I really can't. But you'll find I'm a very congenial person and I know a lot of real neat fellows."

The fourth and last time I asked, I started running as soon as I heard, "I don't have any money but I can cook and clean and I'll do your washing...."

Like, I wasn't looking for a wife.

An altogether different course of action seemed to be indicated. So I sat for an hour, writing down the names of all the people who wanted to rent a room and board in exchange for, shall we say, a bit of light housework.

"Can you cook?" the first lady asked as she opened the door.

"Yes...."

"Fine. We shall expect dinner promptly at 7:00 each evening. On Saturdays and Sundays, we prefer something light; a salad or an omelet or a sandwich."

The next name on my list and down and up and down. "Reckin' you 'n me'll get along real fine, real fine." He showed his left eye grotesquely.

"Course, that'll be when mama ain't home. Hey! Where 'ya goin'?"

Time for another change of tactics. This time I checked out all the "Roommate Wanted" ads. Feeding dimes into the pay telephone at a dizzying rate, I almost expected to see the wheel spin and three cherries come up. But true to Vegas style, I kept getting lemons.

"I want a guy."

The first woman slammed down the phone.

"Sorry, already taken.

"Do you drink? Cause I'm looking for someone who will party with me. Study? Who needs it?"

"Do you mind sharing a bedroom? With the guy?"

"I gotta' understand that my boyfriend has live-in privileges and he can bring his buddies over anytime he wants and he don't pay no bills. Got it?"

"You can't possibly have friends over because I like to bollywood nude in the living room. I'd be uncomfortable with strangers hanging around."

I trust you can understand me when I say that my enthusiasm for this adventure has lessened somewhat by my participation in it. It isn't only me, many of my friends feel the same way. There should be a better way.

Eddie Frank Wilson, Sophomore: I am new to Boise State, and the one thing I would like to see changed on the campus is a Post Office on the campus. A Post Office with all the facilities that the students' on campus would need. When a student needs to use a post office they have to walk over to the main one, and that is a ways to go.

Val Brown, Freshman: I don't know if this is true for all lecture studies, but in my science class the teacher comes in to the room and talks for an hour. The students take notes and walk out not feeling that they have gotten all the information that they need. It's not only me, many of my friends feel the same way. There should be a better way.

Gordon Brown, Freshman: The students should have a better study system at the football games. During the last game I went to I was over there at 7:00 p.m. and I had to sit down in the walkways on the top level. This shouldn't be the case.

Allen Hansen, Graduate: At the university I came from we had lockers in the different buildings, almost like a high school. I think it would be nice to be able to have a place for my game clothes and books during the classes. The only classes I have see in the Industrial Business Building and I would be nice to have lockers in there. I think that a $3.00 fee we owe the cost.

Mr. Gene Widdel, Seamer: The library needs to be open later on Saturdays for the students who work during the week.

Jeff Maya, Freshman: I would like to see better parking. I mean when you don't have an early class and you have a regular parking decal you have to park miles out by the Stadium just to find a parking spot. They do need a better parking system.

Dennis Lind, Senator: The seating at the games. All the students are all in one little section. The students should have a chance to get the seats they want.
'Inherit the Wind' opens October 12

At 8:15 p.m. on Wednesday, October 12, the curtain will rise in the Special Events Center for the first time this year on "Inherit the Wind," a first production of a five-show season produced by the Theatre Arts Department. "Inherit the Wind" will run for four nights (Wednesday through Saturday), enabling the spectators for a few hours to go back into time and see what was happening to the American way of thinking in the mid-1920's. For it was at this time that there was a great controversy going on over man's right to think, stemming from Darwin's claim to a new fact of evolution (or "evolu- tion," as it was more commonly referred to then). Two of the nation's most renowned orators took opposing sides in a court case against a high school biology teacher for discussing evolution in his classroom. The supporters of both sides decide to make this case an example for the whole world to see. It rather became a three-ring circus with the world watching before either side got a good going.

Can't believe the American people would do such a thing, believe it or not, it happened, and "Inherit the Wind" is a semi-fictional account of that event. Theatre department students and faculty and students from many other majors have been working hard to present both an enjoyable evening of theatre and a realistic interpretation of American life at that time.

Director Charles Lauterbach has been maneuvering 38 people on stage and guiding 38 individual characters into one cohesive unit. The challenge of directing has been increased by working with such a large cast, plus cost ranging in age from elementary school to university professor. (Some of the costumes, created by Jones with affection for the late 1920's antiques, but none of the actors are.)

Tickets for performances of "Inherit the Wind" are free to BSU students and may be obtained by calling the box office in advance for reservations at 365-1462 or 365-3566. Box office hours are from 3-6 p.m. daily through the run of the show. General admission tickets are $3.00. Season discount cards offering $15 worth of admissions for $10 are also available for area residents and spouses of BSU students, and may be purchased either through the Theatre Arts office or at the box office.

Theatre opens with 'White Magnolia'

Trunk opens with "White Magnolia"

Preston Jones' hilarious comedy "The Last Meeting of the Knights of the White Magnolia" will close Trunk's sixth season October 14. The play, which runs through October 29 with the exception of Mondays and Tuesdays, will showcase a lode meeting in a small Texas town — Bradleyville, population 6,000. The cast of eight small-town characters has been created by Jones with affection and considerable humor.

Theatre in a Trunk season tickets are now on sale, according to Executive Director Randy Krawel, and may be obtained by writing TRUNK, 1629 W. Bannock, Boise 83706.

If You Don't Stop It... Exercise in vulgarity

by Chuck Buday

If You Don't Stop It You'll Go Blind is advertised as being funnier than Blazing Saddles. It isn't. On the other hand it should be noted that The Exorcist, BTW, and The Diary of Anne Frank are also funnier than Blazing Saddles.

While Blazing Saddles was merely blatant stupidity attempting to pass as comedy, If You Don't Stop It You'll Go Blind is an exercise in vulgar stupidity. Sitting through the first forty minutes of this flick reminded me of two things; it reminded me of mead resident's and spouses of BSU students, and may be purchased either through the Theatre Arts office or at the box office.

You Don't Stop It... also engages in (for this genre) some obligatory queer-baiting, in one scene having a very prissy looking guy observing that "For me sex is just a pain in the ass." And from there it goes downhill (presumably -- I didn't stick around for the second half of this dog).

The only thing that puzzled me when I saw this flick was the response of the audience (they looked fairly normal, mostly in their early 20's with no obvious abnormalities such as foetors or pointed heads). Judging from their reactions, most of them found this cinematic atrocity to be funny. The again, most of those who saw Blazing Saddles... among my personal acquaintances at least-thought it was hilarious.

If you liked Blazing Saddles, you'll love If You Don't Stop It You'll Go Blind. It's currently playing at the Overland Park #1.

The Tim Weisburg Band by Mark Ellsworth

Tim Weisburg's 'I'm usually good about making sure that if one might come across in a quiet jazz nightclub--good music to relax and unwind, but re-ever is permitted) and of other aspects of Paraguayan society is limited. For example, no discussion is tolerated concerning the narcotics traffic in Paraguay (Paraguay is a major conduit for hard drugs bound for the U.S.). Last year Robert Molinas, former editorial secretary of the Asuncion daily ABC Color, was jailed for four months because the newspaper criticized the giveaway terms of a pact concluded with Brazil concerning the exploitation of Paraguayan hydro-electric potential (the Paraguayan negotiators were reportedly paid a bribe exceeding $1 million by the Brazilians).

And what's more bizarre is the fact that repression is being directed not only against political dissidents, but against the Catholic Church as well. Over the past eight years the Stroessner regime has disrupted many Catholic schools, arrested and tortured priests, nuns and laitymen and expelled about 20 foreign priests and nuns, and has forcibly disbanded Catholic peasant communities. Several people were murdered by the security forces during these activities. As a result of one episode in this continuing horror story, the Paraguayan interior minister, the head of the criminal investigations department, and the chief of police were excommunicated in 1971 by the Paraguayan Catholic Bishops Conference.

The worst aspect of the “human rights” situation is, however, the plight of the Paraguayan Indians. The Guarani, one of the two major tribes, have been reduced in numbers from a population of 150,000 to a population of 30,000. The situation of the other major tribe, the Guayakis, is similar. The remaining Indians are hunted like animals by the rancheros (some reportedly keep the heads of Indians mounted like deer trophies), and many, especially young females, are sold into outright slavery.

What has been the response of the U.S. government to this horrifying situation? Since 1954 (the year Stroessner assumed power), the U.S. government has given Stroessner $160 million in aid. It has also sold him $400,000 worth of arms (U.S. corporations have sold Stroessner $1 million worth of arms during the same period), and will provide him with credits for the purchase of approximately $1.2 million more during the current and upcoming fiscal years alone under the Foreign Military Sales program. While the armaments figures might seem small, it should be remembered that Paraguay is a small country and that the arms sold to Stroessner will be used by him solely to suppress his own people.

Would anyone care to venture a guess as to how effective George Landas, the ex-officio member of Stroessner’s cabinet, will be working for “human rights” in Chile?
Absentee ballots for Homecoming on October 20

Absentee voting for Homecoming will be held Thursday, October 20 at the ASB office (2nd floor of the SUB) 12:00 noon to 6:00 p.m. Regular voting will be held October 26 and 27 between 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. You may vote in the SUB lobby, Business Building, Liberal Arts Building, Library or Vo-Tech. On October 26, extended hours from 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. will be held in the SUB only. Students must have their activity card stamped "full time" and have some other form of identification.

"Insider" focuses on fitness

A series of special color supplements to The Arbiter will start appearing mid-October entitled Insider. The first in the series will feature "The New Fitness: Focus on Personal Energy."

According to the Insider sponsor, The Ford Motor Company, the "New Fitness" subject is "a guide to increasing a student's physical, mental and emotional energy through exercises, activities, proper eating, relaxation and other programs."

Each issue of Insider will deal with one feature topic such as "The New Fitness." The second will focus on "Tactics and Strategies" and deals in "the fine art of exam-taking." A third, with a yet to be determined subject, will appear early in 1978. Each supplement, done in a magazine format, will be 24 pages long and appear in full color.

The first issue of Insider is designed as a concise primer to leading a high energy but healthy life. It will cover three topic areas: physical well-being, mental ability and emotions (particularly tension). A series of articles will be presented and charts and graphs displaying factual information such as "how many calories are burned in five minutes of jogging, bicycling, jumping rope, etc." will be given. All information will be geared specifically to the student life style.

Each issue of Insider has been edited and designed exclusively for insertion in college newspapers by 13-30 Corporation, Knoxville, Tenn., for The Ford Motor Company. Insider will be distributed on 200 universities. The first copy will be inserted into The Arbiter on October 17 and will be available at all regular distribution locations.

Poll workers are needed for the Homecoming election on October 26 and 27. The position will pay $2.30 an hour and students may work as few or as many hours as their schedule permits. Workers must attend an orientation meeting October 20 at 4:00 p.m. in the Teton room. Interested persons should apply in the Programs Office, 2nd floor of the SUB.

A nice body is within your grasp.

Find out how next week. That's when you'll be getting "Insider" - a free magazine supplement to your college newspaper. It's another better idea from Ford. "Insider" won't give you advice on your love life, but it will give you help on what's almost as important. The subject is "Focus on Personal Energy: The New Fitness." Watch for it!

Look for "Insider" - Ford's continuing series of college newspaper supplements.

answers to trivia rat page 8

1. United Network for Command of Law Enforcement
2. "Why must I be a teenager in love?"
3. The Amagiri
4. Yvonne De Carlo
5. Tombstone, Arizona
6. Bill Malone
7. "Somewhere I'll find you."
8. McArthur Park
9. Astro
10. Hedy Lamarr, White Cargo
L.A. 106

Friday, Oct. 14
“Closely Watched Trains”

Winner of the Academy Award as Best Foreign Language Film Kiri Menzel’s CLOSLY WATCHED TRAINS is unpretentious, lacking in cinematic flashiness, and a masterpiece of understatement. Its subject—the experiences of Milos, a 17-year-old trainee in a provincial railway station during the German occupation of Czechoslovakia—seems slight. But the station represents a microcosm of the world; it is in its detailed observations of the station’s inhabitants that the film derives its richness.

Ballroom

Sunday, Oct. 16
“The Longest Yard”

It’s survival of the fiercest. And the Funniest.
by Freddie Vincent
Arbiter Sports Editor

This weekend's football game should be a real zinger. Boise State travels to "The Biggest little city in the world." At least the locals like to think it is. The Broncos face the Wolfpack of Nevada-Reno in non-conference competition at Mackay Stadium. The contest should be a classic, as Reno had an 8-3 record last year, losing to Idaho State 27-22, Nevada-Las Vegas 49-33, and Boise State 28-6. And if that wasn't enough, Coach Weiler felt that the Wolf Pack would look as good on the field as they did in spring 1975, when Boise State was 26 and finished third in total offense. His main targets were All-American honorable mention Jeff Wright, who caught 55 passes for 791 yards as a sophomore, and Steve Senist (6'4"), who grabbed 20 passes for 300 yards. Add in the running of fullback Wayne Ferguson (6'72 yards) and transfers Stanley Wilson (5'11"), 190 and Manny Rodriguez (5'11"), 220 and you can see how potent UNR's offense will be.

The defensive line includes the likes of junior college All-Americans David Hann (6'4"), 230 and guard of center Roberto Salden (6'2"), 240, just a sophomore. Defensively, the Pack will have the other half of the Selden brother act, Carl, a 6'4", 245-pound tackle. Junior outside linebacker Bruce Collins (6'2"), 210 will be counted on to lead the linebacking corps, while senior Alex Wells (6'2"), 180 will be asked for the leader in the secondary.

This weekend should be fantastic. What more could you ask for, with gambling: shows, and above all, football? See you in Reno.

Hockey team to LaGrande
by Nancy Phillips

After a tough weekend at home, the BSU women's field hockey team travels to LaGrande, Oregon Friday and Saturday for the Eastern Oregon Invitational.

BSU came out of the BSU Invitational in Bronco Stadium this weekend with one victory and three losses. Their season record now stands at 2-3. Victory marked the beginning of the tournament with BSU defeating Northwest Nazarene College 6-1 Friday morning.

Junior Trudy Eckcord scoring two goals while senior Jeanne Brandel and freshman Sue Schenk each added a score. In afternoon action, the Broncos were defeated by the University of Idaho 1-0.

Saturday, with all games being played under blue skies, the BSU team faced another strong opponent by Brigham Young University. Trudy Eckcord scored the lone BSU goal as they were defeated by the Broncos 3-1.

The women were defeated by Treasure Valley Community College and Idaho State the 22nd of October. The game was played in Bronco Stadium and required several to use only ten players total for JV and varsity, requiring several to use only ten players total for JV and varsity matches. EQSC 7-15 for the best 2 out of 3 games.

Brandel and freshman Sue Schenk each added a score in afternoon action, the Broncos finished a disappointing 6-15 and 4-15 and 7-15 for the season.

Kevin Nichols of Montana State and Karl Knapp of Boise State were the eighth and ninth finishers of the race. Nichols' time was 26:14 with Knapp three seconds behind at 26:17. Stan Link, even though running with an injury, still finished and placed seventh with a time of 26:39.

Mike Henry and Gene Stone were the Broncos' sixth and seventh when they placed seventh on page 13.

X-C women run through mud
by Alice Myers

The course was something straight and rugged. BSU women cross country runners who shared in the grueling experience of their meet Saturday at Portland State University have become closer as a unit. Not only were the course hilly, it was a challenge to the runners and at places dangerous. The 2,400 meters or 2.48 miles was run on a muddy surface and the competitors had to jump several ditches and tackle hills through the mud.

The game is a lot faster on the field than it is on the track. The ladies are again on the road this weekend with one victory at the Treasure Valley Community College meet Saturday at Portland State University the 22nd of October. The game is a lot faster on the track than it is on the field. The ladies are again on the road this weekend with one victory at the Treasure Valley Community College meet Saturday at Portland State University the 22nd of October.

The ladies are again on the road this weekend with one victory at the Treasure Valley Community College meet Saturday at Portland State University the 22nd of October.

Volleyballers falter at EOSC
by Bettie Will

Hampered by injuries, sickness and inexperience, BSU's women's volleyball team just couldn't put it together against stronger foes.

Tuesday, October 4th, BSU traveled to Eastern Oregon for its second match of the season. EOSC was ready and proved the point, defeating the BSU JV's 6-15 and 7-15 for the best 2 out of 3 match. The varsity was forced to face defeat with game scores of 15-7, 15-10 and 15-8. Sophomore Sue Virginia was a victory. varsity finished with a loss by scores of 6-15, 6-15 and 15. A weakness had been served. They were averaging 4 missed serves a game, yet against TVCC they had only three the entire match, a big plus for the offense. BSU's defense was bad and breaking the other team's offense by blocking their spikes again and again, a big plus for defense. Coach Fahlebon summed it up best when she said, "Against ACW we had one factor, the team set goals and attained them. Also indicative of a victory should be the fact that the ladies played effective volleyball."

In both matches, EOSC and TVCC, the teams were forced to use only top players total for JV and varsity, requiring several to double as JV and varsity. Coach Fahlebon has noticed an increase in injuries and she attributes this to "I find that this year the players are putting in that extra effort or that little bit extra."

The following Wednesday, September 28th, BSU defeated Willamette 3-0 in Bronco Stadium.

Barbara Buchanan, who placed 26th for BSU with a time of 18:54, came over the finish line first at 18:58. Add the running of fullback Wayne Ferguson (6'72 yards) and transfers Stanley Wilson (5'11"), 190 and Manny Rodriguez (5'11"), 220 and you can see how potent UNR's offense will be.
The Boise State Broncos put a damper on the University of Montana Homecoming party by pounding on an awesome display of speed and power as they destroyed the Grizzlies 43 to 17, in front of 8,000 onlookers at Donnelley Field, in Missoula. The first day game the Broncos had to play this year was cold and rather overcast with the wind coming out of the west. It was a hard hitting game; you could hear the crunch of the tackles for miles, and although no one was seriously hurt there were a lot of players on both sides shaken up and bruised.

The Bronco team physician, Dr. Richard Gardner and trainer Gary Cramer had good workouts trying to ease the many aches and pains suffered during the game.

Because the players on both sides were hitting so hard, there were a lot of turnovers on both sides. Starting Q.B. Hoskin Hogan threw an interception in the first quarter and fumbled in the second, while back up Q.B. Dee Pickett threw and interception of his own in the 4th quarter. Larry Mortel lost the handle on the kick off starting the second half, and finally Terry Zahner had the stripped away in the 4th quarter. Overall Boise had 5 turnovers. On the other side of the coin, Montana had the same misfortune, giving up the ball up 7 times themselves. Starting Q.B. Mike Roban, about 5 minutes later Nash Ballanton intercepted a Roban pass to end the Montana mistakes for the half. Early in the 3rd quarter Willie Beauman intercepted a Roban pass. Then about 6 minutes later Bob Macauley recovered a fumble committed by back up Q.B. Rocky Klever. Finally, in the 4th quarter Keith Anderson intercepted a Klever pass.

The massive scoring went as follows: With 2:36 to go in the 1st quarter Terry Zahner went over from 1 yd. out, and after Tom Sarette kicked the extra point the score was Boise 7 Montana 0. With 9:53 to go in the 2nd quarter Montana kicker Bruce Carlson kicked a 45 yard F.P.G. to change the score to Boise 7 Montana 0. Then with just 4:33 to go in the half Hoskin Hogan hit Lonnie Hughes with a 25 yard T.D. pass, after Tom Sarette kicked the extra pt. the score at half time was BSU 14 U of M 3.

The Grizzlies opened the scoring in the second half with 14:45 to go in the 3rd quarter BSU Grant Kleckner went over from 5 yards out, and Bruce Carlson kicked the extra point the score was BSU 14, U of M 10. With 11:18 to go in the 3rd quarter Terry Zahner ran 2 yards for 6, after Sarette kicked the extra point. The score was Broncos 21, Grizzlies 10. At 9:16 to play in the 3rd quarter Hoskin Hogan hit Steve Woodward with a 17 yard TD pass. Sarette missed the extra point, leaving the score BSU 27, Montana 10. With 2:46 to play in the 3rd quarter Terry Zahner took the ball 12 yards to pay dirt, and after Tom Sarette made this one good the score was moved to Boise 34, Montana 10. Then with 1:09 left in the 3rd quarter the Montana punter Allen Green stopped out of the end zone, giving Boise a safety and making the score BSU 36, Montana 10.

With 13:22 left in the 4th quarter Pickett passed 27 yards to Hughes for a TD; after Sarette kicked the extra and final point for Boise the score was the Broncos 43 and the Grizzlies 10. Montana was to score one more time, when with 4:54 remaining in the game Grant Kleckner ran 6 yards for a TD; after Bruce Carlson kicked the extra and final point of the game the final score was Boise 43 and Montana 17.

Some offensive standouts for the game were RB Terry Zahner who ran 24 times for 103 yards and 3 TDs, RB Cedric Minter who carried 10 times for 64 yards, and QB Hoskin Hogan who completed 9 out of 19 for 143 yards and 2 TD passes. Flanker Lonnie Hughes with 77 yard completes for 134 yards and 2 TDs, and punter Cory Bridges punted 3 times for 115 yards and an overwhelming 39.7 yard average, including an off-balanced left-footed 44 yarder deep out of our own zone in the 4th quarter getting Boise out of trouble.

Defensive standouts were DT Chris Malmgren who made 13 tackles, LB Larry Pollowski who made 10 tackles, SS Sam Miller who had 12 tackles, and DT Vince Mendiola who had 8 tackles.

This win gave Boise their 3rd conference win and pushes them well on their way to a Big Sky Championship. The next BSU game is at UN-Reno.
Hogan: QB only slot I ever wanted to play

by Freddie Vincent

He stands 6'3" and weighs in at 175 pounds. He's slim for his size, but he can throw a football as if it were shot from a cannon. That is the way to describe the sensational sophomore quarterback Hoskin Hogan, who has led the Boise State Broncos to three impressive wins in the Big Sky Conference.

Hogan, who hails from Connecticut, Cali-fornia, started playing football in the streets around age eight. Hogan comments, "The quarterback position was the only slot I ever wanted to play because it is the most exciting position, and because you control the game." He does admit, however, that the offensive lines deserve a lot of credit since they protect him at 175 pounds. He's slim for his age, but he has a rock solid base because he plays football in the streets.

Cross-Country...

[Cont. from page 11] 13th and 14th respectively.

Coach Ed Jacoby was not happy with his team's performance except that of Collin's and Blackberry. The head coach noted, however, that there were some reasons for his team's poor showing. The course was deceivingly slow, Jacoby said, because of the many gradual hills. Hogan was happy with Collin's time because it was faster than the time Coach Jacoby ran in the same course in 25 minutes and 11 seconds the year before. Hogan keeps running like he should be "probably be the top contender for the conference championship."

The Bronco cross country team will finally get a week of rest as they have no meet scheduled for this weekend. On October 22, they will have their first home meet when they host Weber State and Northern Arizona University. Both of these teams are rated by many to be the two top cross country teams in the Big Sky Conference. After two weeks of practice and this loss, Coach Jacoby and his young team should be ready for these two tough teams. Hogan said, "The Fresno game was a nightmare. There were offensive and defensive breakdowns and we were not up for the game."

At the Nevada-Las Vegas game, where the Broncos crushed the Rebels 45-14, Hogan had an amazing record of 13 of 25 passes completed and piled up 347 yards and four touchdowns. The final total offense was 529 yards.

The following week, Montana State, the Division II national champions, were handled by "Hogan's Heroes." BSU trounced the Bobcats 25-0 before the largest crowd ever to witness a conference game, 20,552 people. Hogan completed 8 of 16 passes for 85 yards and one touchdown. The other touchdowns came by the running of Fred Goodie and Cedric Minter. Final total offense was 305 yards.

To what does Hogan attribute his success?

"I would have to say hard work during the summer, spring practice and the time in between, like throwing the ball, lifting weights and running," says Hogan.

Hoskin feels the future is promising to him if he continues to improve on his abilities in football. Let's hope the future will bring bigger and better things for the young man whose dream has been fulfilled.

Hogan started playing organized football in the ninth grade at Pius X High School, where he was a second string quarterback until his senior year when he was moved to the number one position on the Pius X Warriors, only had a 4-5 record his last year of high school. Upon graduation Hogan had athletic scholarship offers from Idaho State, Oregon, West Point and Boise State. He and his parents were impressed with Tony Knap, who was head coach at BSU at the time, and decided to attend Boise State. Hogan played only three games in his freshman year but was impressive, regardless.

The following year he was redshirted because of being the youngest player and inexperienced at quarterback. Hoskin is glad that he was allowed to play and show what he can do. He is happy with his abilities and the performance the team has displayed.

Hoskin said, "The Fresno game was a nightmare. There were offensive and defensive breakdowns and we were not up for the game."

At the Nevada-Las Vegas game, where the Broncos crushed the Rebels 45-14, Hogan had an amazing record of 13 of 25 passes completed and piled up 347 yards and four touchdowns. The final total offense was 529 yards.

The following week, Montana State, the Division II national champions, were handled by "Hogan's Heroes." BSU trounced the Bobcats 25-0 before the largest crowd ever to witness a conference game, 20,552 people. Hogan completed 8 of 16 passes for 85 yards and one touchdown. The other touchdowns came by the running of Fred Goodie and Cedric Minter. Final total offense was 305 yards.

To what does Hogan attribute his success?

"I would have to say hard work during the summer, spring practice and the time in between, like throwing the ball, lifting weights and running," says Hogan.

Hoskin feels the future is promising to him if he continues to improve on his abilities in football. Let's hope the future will bring bigger and better things for the young man whose dream has been fulfilled.

Hogan started playing organized football in the ninth grade at Pius X High School, where he was a second string quarterback until his senior year when he was moved to the number one position on the Pius X Warriors, only had a 4-5 record his last year of high school. Upon graduation Hogan had athletic scholarship offers from Idaho State, Oregon, West Point and Boise State. He and his parents were impressed with Tony Knap, who was head coach at BSU at the time, and decided to attend Boise State. Hogan played only three games in his freshman year but was impressive, regardless.

The following year he was redshirted because of being the youngest player and inexperienced at quarterback. Hoskin is glad that he was allowed to play and show what he can do. He is happy with his abilities and the performance the team has displayed.

Hoskin said, "The Fresno game was a nightmare. There were offensive and defensive breakdowns and we were not up for the game."

At the Nevada-Las Vegas game, where the Broncos crushed the Rebels 45-14, Hogan had an amazing record of 13 of 25 passes completed and piled up 347 yards and four touchdowns. The final total offense was 529 yards.

The following week, Montana State, the Division II national champions, were handled by "Hogan's Heroes." BSU trounced the Bobcats 25-0 before the largest crowd ever to witness a conference game, 20,552 people. Hogan completed 8 of 16 passes for 85 yards and one touchdown. The other touchdowns came by the running of Fred Goodie and Cedric Minter. Final total offense was 305 yards.

To what does Hogan attribute his success?

"I would have to say hard work during the summer, spring practice and the time in between, like throwing the ball, lifting weights and running," says Hogan.

Hoskin feels the future is promising to him if he continues to improve on his abilities in football. Let's hope the future will bring bigger and better things for the young man whose dream has been fulfilled.
Wisconsin vs. Michigan: Battle of the Biggies?

by Jerry Richards

In the words of a certain former ASIBSU student leader: "Humility comes cheap."

Of course, anybody could have picked Alabama to squeze over Southern Cal 21-20, or Texas to surprise Oklahoma 38-10... or Kentucky to humble Mississippi State 23-7... or Heaven forbid BYU to lose to Oregon State and lose Gifford Nilsen to boot... or even talk about unacceptable Idaho State to win a game, albeit over Idaho. If they really felt safe with it, that is.

Let's just say that we picked the wrong games to predict last week — and it wasn't Tate and Jerry that failed, it was the classic formula. If you believe that, I've got some nice waterfront property in Arizona that failed, is was the week - and it wasn't Tate and Jerry that failed, it was the classic formula. If you believe that, I've got some nice waterfront property in Arizona you might be interested in. . . .

At any rate, even though last week's rate was a slightly less-than-sparkling 6-7-1, we still kept our heads above water with an overall 76-61-1 cumulative record for a .708 percentage.

Tate Simmons was in Moscow this weekend, and as a punishment for such a hollowless week of predictions, had to watch Idaho State (gpad) win a game. Expo, I'm flying solo on this effort.

(Columbus's notes The Arbiter Sports Editor wishes to inform the general public that he's picking Boise State over UNLV by 10 points, but reminds the team that they'd 'better be on their Ps and Qs, 'cause the Wolfpack is out for blood.' Mr. Past F.V. has picked some pretty dubious point spreads in BSU's favor, and hasn't had to eat one yet.)

Back on track: Wisconsin at Michigan: The battle of the unbeaten in the Big Ten. Really, it appears to have about as much significance as All vs. Evangelistata.

Michigan 31, Wisconsin 24 Tennessee vs. Alabama in Blomhingham. Notice this week's games are just a bit safer to pick than last week's? Don't expect even a Johnny Majors team to knock off the Tide fresh from a victory over USC.

Bama 42, Ten 10 Colorado at Kansas: Meanwhile in the Big-8, the Buffs continue to stampede, and a random Jayhawk's health is in jeopardy.

Colorado 36, Kansas 20 Texas at Arkansas: Watch out; the annual scrap of the SWC perennial is back in full swing — and Texas is sharpening its horns after going Oklahoma. Texas 24, Ark 21

Ohio State at Iowa: The Buckeyes continue to trudge ankle-deep in the mire of the lower echelons of the Big-10...

OSU 21, Iowa 7

Okafoma at Missouri: It's sort of an adage around here that any team that loses to Iowa State in midseason can't be all that good.

Ole Miss, Missouri 17

Oregon at USC in general. Southern Cal does not lose twice in a row, or for that matter, in a season. In general, Oregon does not win.

USC 52, Oregon 3

Penn State at Syracuse: The Nittanies must have gotten badly shaken up after shockingly losing to Kentucky, as Utah State actually came within ten points of them. They think it will be for Syracuse? This sports guy says so.

Penn St. 23, Syracuse 34

Navy at Pittsburgh: Just look at that and it's all in Navy at Pitt. Sort of sickening. inn't it? Pitt 45, Navy 2

Brigham Young at Colorado: Nobody makes a better play than the Wolfpack, and its SEC opponents can't keep the ball in their own endzone — or even (talk about inconsiderable) Idaho State to win the annual scrap of the SWC perennial.

BYU 28, Colorado 25

Kansas State at Oklahoma State: Meanwhile, back in the Big-8, we see a cloud of dust off in the distance: just a bunch of Cowboys having fun with a pack of Wildcats.

OSU 38, KSU 24

OUTLINE

KNOW WHY DRAUGHT BEER IS SPILLED OR DRAFT BEER?

Don't worry. Nobody does. Not even me, your Denn of Beer.

However, I do know that draftie beer from Schlitz tastes as fresh as any beer can taste. Because it's kept icy cold from the time it leaves our Chill-Lagering cellars to the time it reaches you.

All of which, I think, makes a good deal of scents.

SIGLINDA STEINFULLER, DEAN OF BEER.

THEIR'S JUST ONE WORD FOR BEER.

AND YOURS, TOO!

Intramural Football

Standings

League A

The D Zaugerts 3-0
Corm Spells 3-0
A-1 Meats 3-0
D.L.L.L.G.A.F. 3-0
B-3 3-0

League B

Barr's Bum-Outs 3-0
B-2 Zoo II 3-0
G. Eagles 2-1
Land Sharks 2-1
A-2 Weck'A-Doos 2-1
Morrison 0-3

League C

A-3 Penthouse 3-0
TKE's 3-0
B-3 Bosses 2-1
Good, Bad & Ugly 1-1
B-1 Beavers 0-2
Red Eye 0-2

Results

Tuesday, Oct. 4th: A-1 3 - B-3 0 (forfeit)
A-1 11 - B-3 0 (forfeit)
Zaugerts 8 - D.L.L.L..0
Barr's 12 - G. Eagles 6
Zoo II 22 - A-3 36 (A-3 won on first downs)
Bozos 20 - Beavers 6
A-2-4 Sharks 8
TKE's 1 - Red Eye 0 (forfeit)

Wednesday, Oct. 5

Zaugerts 20 - A-10
Spells 62 - B-3 0
Zoo II 6 - A-20
Barr's 26 - Morrison 0

Schedule

Tuesday, Oct. 11 - 6:30
B-3 vs. D.L.L.L.G.A.F.
A-1 vs. Spells
Zoo II vs. G. Eagles

Powderpuff Football

Standings

League A

Towers 6B 3-0
Towers 5A 3-0
Towers 4 6-2

Results

Towers 6B - 1 Driscoll 0 (forfeit)
Towers 6A - 4 Driscoll 0 (forfeit)
Towers 5A head coach Chris Atilt predicted the Pack to take BSU 45-10. Thanks, Chris; you saved us some trouble.

USM 28, ISU 7

Cal State-Fullerton at Northern Arizona: The Lumberjacks praxe for next week's Bronx game by tromping on Titans. The Lumberjacks, NAU 24, CS-F 18

UNLV 34, WSC 24

YOUR CAMPUS REP. RANDY "RADAH" BIRKENBINE 377-1411

NOTICE! DUE TO a scheduling conflict, this issue of The Arbeiter will appear at your local liquor store, or at your local newsstand, or by contacting your local newsstand. You decide.
Intramural Co-Ed Softball

Standings

League A
Mankos... 4-1
Ripley's Believe It... 3-1
Bad News Broncos... 2-1
B-3 #2... 1-2
Imperial Star Troopers... 1-2
Whoppers... 1-3
Little Rascals... 1-3

League B
Upis... 3-0
CCPO... 1-0
B-3 #1... 1-0
Windigoes... 0-1
Tojo's Jets... 0-3

Results
Ripley's 18 Whoppers 16
Mankos 22 Rascals 11
Upis 24 Tojo's 6
B-3 #2 Troopers 0 (forfeit)
Rascals 18 Ripley's 16
Mankos 1 Troopers 0 (forfeit)

Schedule

Tues., Oct. 11
Broncos vs. B-3 #2
B-3 #1 vs. Windigoes

Wed., Oct. 12
Ripley's vs. Troopers
CCPO vs. Upis

Thur., Oct. 13
B-3 #2 vs. Rascals
Broncos vs. Troopers

Mon., Oct. 17
Broncos vs. Mankos
B-3 #1 vs. Upis

In London or Avignon with BSU credit.
$1,205.00 pays for winter term;
includes homestay, 2 meals-
day, books, tuition, excursions.
Apply by Nov. 1. See P.
Schoonover, LA 212. [Your financial aid or veteran's benefits applicable.]

WAITRESSES: At the Bronze
but. See Monte, 1203 Broadway.

MODELS WANTED for Gallery
Magazine, gld next-door contest. 343-3700.

TANTRA YOGA APPRENTICE,
Business Partner. Yogi to learn
& teach "Tantra Kriya Yoga
Sublimation Sutras." Write:
Gary J. Warren, The Yoga Posti
P.O. Box 635, Napier, ID 83661.

WANTED
R.oadster, 5 sp. conv. Call 342.7490 after 5:30.
GARCIA CLASSICAL GUITAR:
Extra select, excellent condition-$200. Call 385-3401, ask for Barb.
Come to CASEY'S to watch Monday night football. Saturday & Sunday football. Casey's Beer Depot.

The log cabin that has the outside beer garden, complete game room, fun people, the world's best popcorn, and still the coldest beer in town. Budweiser on tap. The place to go!

ATTITUDE REAJUSTMENT HOUR: 5-7pm daily. Caseys, open noon until, then mmm-ah.

To see more the special handwritten menu and the menu to be famous 'Depot King.'

610 VISTA