3-6-1978

Arbiter, March 6

Associated Students of Boise State University

Although this file was scanned from the highest-quality microfilm held by Boise State University, it reveals the limitations of the source microfilm. It is possible to perform a text search of much of this material; however, there are sections where the source microfilm was too faint or unreadable to allow for text scanning. For assistance with this collection of student newspapers, please contact Special Collections and Archives at archives@boisestate.edu.
Elections slated for Wednesday

by Mary Struhs

The Associated Student Body general elections are Tuesday, March 7 and Wednesday, March 8. Candidates are vying for the following positions: president; vice-president; treasurer; six senators from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences; two senators from the School of Business; two senators from the School of Health Sciences, and two senators from the Vo-Tech School.

Those persons whose names will appear on the ballot include: Bob Perez and Rene Clements for president; Mike Fisher and Steve Buiter for vice-president; Chris Hansen and J.D. Finley for treasurer; Jerry Smith, Michael LeTour and Richard Trevino for senatorial positions in the School of Business; Chuck Gould, Jerry Ostermiller, Joy McLean and Paul Klott for senatorial positions in the School of Arts and Sciences. (see candidate layout pages 8-9).

In regard to voting for senators, students can vote for the candidates who represent that student's school. Any ballots which do not conform to this stipulation will be considered invalid.

No applications were received for senatorial positions from the Schools of Education, Health-Science, and Vo-Tech. These positions, in addition to the rest, are open for write-in candidates. In order to be considered officially a candidate a person must receive at least thirteen write-ins.

Also appearing on the general ballot will be two proposed constitutional amendments pertaining to whether or not the positions of ASB Treasurer should be an appointed post and the specification of minimum GPA requirements for students running for ASB offices. In addition to the proposed amendments there will be an opinion poll dealing with whether or not students should help fund a multi-purpose pavilion. The question will read as follows: "If we students of BSU are to have such a facility, then we will have to pay for a significant portion of it. Keeping this in mind, would you support the proposed staggered fee increase for the pavilion (i.e. $25 per semester 1978-79 academic year and an additional $25 per semester 1979-80 academic year) totalling $275?"

Polling centers will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Building, Vocational-Technical Building, SUB, Business Building and the Library. The SUB and Business Building will have extended voting hours on March 7 from 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Students must have two types of identification including their activity card in order to vote.

The election of ASB officers, proposed amendments and opinion poll are all issues which, in one way or another, will effect each and every student. It is to each student's advantage to exercise his/her own voting rights.

The Student Recognition Banquet held on March 2 honored students who have provided leadership to Boise State this year. Chris Rudd, ASB vice-president, received the Presidents Award. W.B. Root ISA Director, received the ABSU Award with the Director's Award given to Program's Board chairman Steve Robertson. ASB President Mike Hollman also received special recognition. Guest speaker for the dinner was Dr. John Keister, newly appointed BU president (center of photo.).

William Root to speak

William Pitt Root, a writer whose poetry a New York Times critic says "leans heavily on the natural world, with man the center," will speak in Boise March 8 at 8 p.m. in the Boise Art Gallery of the University Student Union Building.

Root appears as the fifth speaker this year for the Boise Reads Consortium. Winner of the Atlantic Monthly "Younger Poet" award for 1967, Root was presented the "Guggenheim Award" in 1975 for an animated film collaboration with the International Poetry Film Festival. One of his poems, "Song of a Blind Traveler," was chosen for display last year by the Poetry in Public Places panel of the New York State Transit System.

"After years of working with an incredible variety of people," Root says, "I am convinced that few people will remain uninvolved by poetry once they are exposed to it, particularly to the act of writing it. Poetry is like a fluid, capable of assuming the shape of any container, any heart and mind."

The poet has received creative writing grants from the National Endowment of the Arts, John Simon Guggenheim and Rockefeller foundations, and was first price winner in 1956 of the American Academy of Poets University Poetry Contest.

He is an artist-in-residence and poet-in-the-schools for art commissions and foundations in Oregon, Vermont, Montana and Idaho, where his work takes him to the arts, Boise, Cheyenne, Idaho, and Navajo Indian reservations.

Root's appearance in the Consortium series is sponsored by the BSU Department of English, Boise Art Gallery of the Boise Independent School District, Book Shop, Idaho Heritage and the National Endowment for the Arts.
Positions open in Student Government

The following positions are open in the ASBSU Student Government: Arbiters Editor, Personnel Selection (1), Election Board (1), Building & Structures (1), International Students (2), Financial Advisory Board (2), and Matriculation (2).

Below is a brief job description for each of the above mentioned positions:

Arbiters Editor: Puts together weekly student newspaper.

Personnel Selection: Responsible for interviewing applicants for all ASBSU committees and related boards; making recommendations to the ASB President.

Election Board: Shall conduct and supervise all elections in its jurisdiction and shall conduct and supervise all official campus opinion polls.

National Lampoon show comes to BSU

"Sock! Bullf*ck! It's so funny I wet myself!" So (in effect) read the blurb in the promotional literature on the National Lampoon's newest roadshow, "THAT'S NOT FUNNY THE'S SICK."

The show opens tonight at 8 p.m. at the SUB information booth. and Idaho Camera, downtown and Vista Village.

Building & Structures: Responsible for providing student input on all proposed structures to be built with student fees.

International Students: Establishes a body to meet the needs and problems of foreign students at BSU.

Financial Advisory Board: This board scrutinizes all requests for ASBSU financial events.

Matriculation: Responsible for all matters of policy regarding the registration, orientation and all other basic medical sciences, and also public health and community medicine. The specific orientation of the program is to prepare qualified American students for advanced placement in European medical schools.

This summer a limited number of students will have the opportunity to participate in an exciting as well as educational venture to Mexico and Central America by car. The two-month long trip is tentatively scheduled to depart May 20 and return July 20.

Ostensibly, the trip is designed to be an educational and exciting adventure. However, the cost is sick, funny, or both as it arrives one day in the BSU Ballroom. Tickets are $4 for BSU students, $5 for general admission and are available at the SUB information booth, and at Budget Tapes and Records.

History department goes to Mexico

This summer a limited number of students will have the opportunity to participate in an exciting as well as educational venture to Mexico and Central America by car. The two-month long trip is tentatively scheduled to depart May 20 and return July 20.

Ostensibly, the trip is designed to be an educational and exciting adventure. However, the cost is sick, funny, or both as it arrives one day in the BSU Ballroom. Tickets are $4 for BSU students, $5 for general admission and are available at the SUB information booth, and at Budget Tapes and Records.

In your career planning have you considered:

Tired of Ridiculous Record & Tape Prices

- BUY, SELL and TRADE -

We Guarantee What We Sell

Highest prices paid for your used records & tapes

Lowest prices in Boise on selected new releases

NEW and USED RECORDS and TAPES
424 ORCHARD - BOISE, IDAHO 83702 - TELEPHONE 344-5015

Open Monday-Saturday 11am-7pm

- RECORD EXCHANGE -

- TIRED OF RIDICULOUS RECORD & TAPE PRICES -

- WE GUARANTEE WHAT WE SELL -

- IN YOUR CAREER PLANNING have you considered?

Nature photographer featured speaker

Charles T. Henthorn, nature photographer, will be the featured speaker of the Audobon Wildlife Film series March 23, at 8 pm in the Special Events Center.

Henthorn has spent many years exploring and documenting Big Bend National Park, the film and lecture is the 6th in the Audubon series and $1.25 admission will be charged. Tickets are available at the door, Water World, Ketchum Mall and Idaho Camera, downtown and Vista Village.

Student Services computer terminal arrives at BSU

by Larri Caldwell

Two years ago, a proposal was brought before the Senate by Howard Welch to provide a computer terminal for the Student Services Office. This terminal would be acoustically coupled with the H.P. 3000 and the IBM 370 computers, located in the Data Processing Center, by a telephone line. The Senate allocated 16,000 dollars for the purchase of the terminal, but due to personnel problems, that money was returned to the general fund and Howard Welch resigned as Student Services Director.

Throughout this past summer, Mike Hoffman met with the new members of the Senate to explain the purpose of acquiring the computer terminal for the Student Services Office. Then, in August, Rene Clements, who had been working hard behind the scenes to get the terminal, became temporary Student Services Director. After the Senate allocated 9,000 dollars for the terminal, Clements ordered it on September 20, 1977.

The expected arrival date of the terminal was February 23, but to the surprise of Clements and Marvin Ferdig, the new Student Services Data Processing Manager, it arrived one week early on February 16.

Upon its arrival it began service by keeping track of inventory and play lists for KSBU.

Future plans for the terminal include listing of housing referrals, car pooling, budget reports and student accounts. A long range plan that has been discussed is Electronic Democracy. This could only be possible in the distant future if more terminals are provided on campus. This idea would do away with the Student Senate for students would be able to represent themselves by use of the terminals.

For those students who have had experience in programing and operating computers, the Student Services Office will be needing help in the near school year. Interested persons should contact Marvin Ferdig in the Student Services Office on the second floor of the Student Union Building, 385-3573.

New VA benefits booklet available

In addition to reflecting the changes resulting from the GI Bill Improvements Act and the 1977 Tax Act, the 1978-79 edition includes new compensation and pension rates, the 71-page booklet provides an updated summary of other VA and non-VA benefits available to veterans and dependents.

One major improvement in the 1978 edition is the listing of toll-free as well as local VA phone numbers. The toll-free numbers enable everyone in the 50 states and Puerto Rico to call VA, without charge, to obtain veterans benefits counselor for first-hand information on benefits.

Senate allots funds

by Diane Haar

On Tuesday, February 28 the ASB Senate allocated an additional $100 to the French Department in an effort to assist in bringing a group of French actors to BSU for two weeks in March. An additional $100 was added to the $400 already allocated in order to host a traveling French troupe for two days. ASB President Mike Hoffman reported that the French Department encountered some problem in bringing the troupe to campus due to the Photo Bureau Act. The legislative Revision committee is trying to study the possibility of eliminating the Photo Bureau Act. The study was directed to the legislative Revision committee by unanimous vote.

Education Senator Partijio Paulus moved that a minimum GPA standard of 2.0 be established for all appointed ASB personnel. Motion passed unanimously by voice vote and then sent to legislative revision for further study. The next scheduled Senate meeting will take place at 4:00 p.m. in the Senate Chambers on the second floor of the Student Union Building.

The ARA first annual Food Service scholarships were awarded to the following persons: Marc Absec, Ben Buchendorf, Marc Absec, Ken Birch, Richard Trevino, and Lucinda Harp. Also present in the picture is Sam Maestas, Director of Dining Services. The funding for this scholarship program comes from ARA's Corporate Office and is not attributed to the Boise State Program.

Freshmen enter business

by Helen Johnson

Campus Digest News Service

College freshmen this year are more interested in entering the business world and making money than those of a decade ago, a new survey shows.

This is the 12th annual survey conducted by the American Council of Education with the assistance of the University of California at Los Angeles. Alexander W. Astin, conduct- or of the survey, received almost 300,000 responses from 546 colleges and universities from across the country.

The percent of students who want to be "very well off financially" has risen from 41.1 percent in 1967 to 58.2 percent last fall.

Astin's future plans show a rising interest in business. 6.3 percent more students are interested in entering the business world after they leave school.

More students are going to college to earn more money, says Astin. 62.1 percent of the freshmen interviewed stated this reason for school.

Astin is also going to college to improve their reading and study skills. "More students than ever say that an important reason for going to school is to improve reading and study skills," according to Astin.

But one of the most telling figures is that only 22.7 percent of the 77 freshmen now know the difference between stocks and bonds as compared to the 40.8 percent in 1967.

If freshmen are as business oriented as Astin says they are, these freshmen have a lot to learn.

The ARCA annual French film festival will be shown from March 13-18 at 8:00 p.m. The films are "Moose, Goats, Sheeps, Minks, Pia, Bear and Seals." Three of the films have been released by the BSU Music Department.

Piano recital rescheduled

The piano recital of Boise State University student Larry Curt- right has been rescheduled from February 27 to March 9 at 8:30 p.m. in the BSU Music Auditorium. The public is invited free of charge to the recital which is given in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a Bachelor of Music degree. Curtright is a student of Sara Blood, BSU music instructor.

Stipulates that the out-going ASB President must submit a budget to the in-coming Senate while the out-going Senate will do the same for the incoming President.

Vu-Tech Senator Mike Nicho- tas submitted his resignation effective February 28.

Arts and Science Senator Steve Bitzer moved that the Senate study the possibility of eliminat- ing the Photo Bureau Act. The study was directed to the legislative Revision committee by unanimous vote.

Education Senator Partijio Paulus moved that a minimum GPA standard of 2.0 be established for all appointed ASB personnel. Motion passed unanimously by voice vote and was sent to legislative revision for further study. The next scheduled Senate meeting will take place at 4:00 p.m. in the Senate Chambers on the second floor of the Student Union Building. Student participation is invited and encourag- ed.

Student participation is invited and encouraged.

Library lists

hours

Saturday, March 11 9:00 am to 5:00 pm
Sunday, March 12 closed

Monday through Thursday, March 13-16 9:30 am to 9:00 pm
Friday, March 17 7:30 am to 9:00 pm
Saturday, March 18 9:00 am to 5:00 pm
Sunday, March 19 closed

LELCER LOOMS—BEKA LOOMS—IMPORTED & DOMESTIC YARNS—WEAVING & SPINNING SUPPLIES—DEKA DYES—BARTIK & LACE SUPPLIES—CLASSES & WORKSHOPS

BOOKS FOR FIBER CRAFTS 15% OFF LIST PRICE

"She's only complete hand weaving & spinning supply!"

Arbiters: Woolrich shirts, chamois shirts, Icelandic wool sweaters, down & polarguard parkas, snowshoes & much more

25-30% OFF

Monday thru Saturday Only

344-3821

Arbiters: Woolrich shirts, chamois shirts, Icelandic wool sweaters, down & polarguard parkas, snowshoes & much more

25-30% OFF

Monday thru Saturday Only

344-3821

March 6, 1978 / ARBITER / Page 3
Editorial

Believing that it is time for the ASB to fulfill its function as the representative of all Boise State University Students the general consensus of the Arbiter is that Rene Clements is the best candidate for the ASBSU President.

Her determination to establish a open-door policy, to make the ASBSU more accessible for the free exchange of ideas between students and government, coupled with her dedication to the principles and the practice of equal rights opportunity, are necessary steps in this direction.

Neither can she or her opponents, on the principle of not arbitrarily rejecting the proposed pavilion, Rene, choosing, instead, to ask, "what if?" in order to determine the impact the facility will have on BSU's campus, demonstrate good thinking.

Her concern over the image of BSU projects within the community and toward prospective students, the State Board of Education, and the legislature, can only be satisfied, in our opinion, when students are established as being intelligent and credible, a goal toward which Rene is dedicated.

Rene has demonstrated her capability to deliver what she has promised. Her experiences in the Senate, where she served as vice-chairman, has prepared her for the awesome responsibilities involved in implementing her ideals while her involvements with the National Student Exchange and as director of Student Services have quickened her awareness of student's needs.

Her proposal to actively utilize the executive cabinet, composed of deans and other heads, in order to provide a coordinated effort for running the executive branch of ASBSU, to encourage the creation of new student initiated programs, and to immediately fill vacant ASB positions in order to begin as effectively as possible next fall, speaks of practical leadership. ASBSU stands in need of sound, thinking leadership.

A leader who is actively and involved with practical experience. A leader who's concern for student representation is more than just a slogan. Such a leader is Rene Clements.

Mike Goodell

and furthermore . . .

"Due to the lack of tomorrow, apathy has been cancelled."

This was the unspoken slogan of the '60's: a time when excitement filled the air, when students were alive with ideas and were not afraid to demonstrate their belief in themselves as human beings. "We have no future," many of them shouted, "with good reason. The A-bomb, the Chicago riots, and personal harrassment..."

This was the unspoken slogan of the '60's: a time when students and government, coupled with their dedication to the principles and the practice of equal rights opportunity, are necessary steps in this direction.

Therefore.

D.S.

Guest editorial

I support Rob Perez above any other candidate for ASBSU president. The reason is simple. Rob has lived among and interacted with the students of BSU for four years. Therefore, I must conclude that Rob has a superior understanding of the problems and needs of the students. If experienced, he has the best possible experience to adequately serve the students of BSU through his day to day dealings with them. His concern, sincerity and energy are the ingredients that will make Boise State proud of their president.

Mike Goodell

back in the u.s.s.a.

Statesman found contempluous

by Chuck Halle

For that quality of journalism, Statesman subscribers pay rates which are among the highest in the nation. The price of the daily Statesman is 20 cents and the monthly subscription rate of the daily is $3.75; the price of the Sunday Statesman is 50 cents, and the daily plus Sunday subscription rate is $6.25 per month. In comparison, the cost of the Lewiston Morning Tribune is 20 cents for the daily paper, 35 cents for the Sunday issue and $4.50 per month for the daily and Sunday (no daily only rate); the cost of the (Portland) Oregonian daily is 15 cents, the Sunday issue 25 cents, and subscription rates are $3.50 for the daily and $6.50 monthly for the daily plus Sunday. Of the ten papers I surveyed, only the Boston Globe and New York Times are (marginally) more expensive than the Statesman.

Payng such high subscription rates, subscribers to the Statesman should have a right to expect a high quality paper. They certainly don't get one. The quote with which I opened this piece exemplifies the number one problem of our daily newspaper; the Statesman (or, at any rate its owner, the Gannett Corporation) is contemptuous of its readers. That contempt manifests itself in many forms, one of which is the chopping up of news stories to fit around advertisements. The sentence fragment reproduced above is an example of that practice. What purports that practice especially reprehensible is the fact that cut-up stories are often, if not always, not rewritten, but simply printed in mutilated form.

Another reason for the disdain of the Statesman for its readers is its practice of running "front-page headlines" as "Foreman Dies After Perilous Amputation," and "Mother Kills Husband, Two Children, Then Turns Pistol on Self." The Statesman's photos are almost invariably of cute kids, cute animals, cute old people (when one reaches the age of seventy, one becomes cute again), car crashes, train crashes, plane crashes, fires, or the aftermaths of earthquakes, volcanoes, etc. In fairness, however, it should be noted that the Statesman does, once in a while, run an honest-to-god news story on its front page.

Those are not the only irritating aspects of The Idaho Statesman's news coverage; another is story discontinuity. Apparently the Statesman's wire editor is either incompetent, or just doesn't care about the national and international news printed in his paper; the Statesman commonly will run one or two pieces on an ongoing or developing situation, and then simply drop the story. To cite one rather inconsequential example, I'm sure many Statesman readers (including myself) are still wondering about the fates of Joyce Kimminck and Kirk Anderson (you'll recall that Mormon missionary Anderson accused ex-beauty queen McKinney of abducting him, shacking him to a bed, and "forcing" him to have sex with her). The most recent dispatch on the subject reported the arraignment of McKinney on kidnap charges. It appeared on November 30th of last year, and nothing relevant has appeared since.

Also to be noted is the disproportionate amount of local news carried by the Statesman, as compared to the amount of national and international news carried. Further, the amount of national and international news carried consists of AP and UPI stories. In other words, very little in-depth coverage or analysis appears in the Statesman; what little that is printed is mostly the news services of the Washington Post and Los Angeles Times, but the access of the Statesman's staff to material from these sources has been restricted.

Even though the Statesman is making scads of money (just how much is a closely guarded secret), the Statesman, in an economy move, quit subscribing directly to the Post's and Time's news services over a year ago. Instead, Gannett's news service, based in Washington, D.C., subscribes to those services and sends selections to the Gannett papers.

And that's not the worst of it. According to a well-placed source within the Statesman, Gannett recently dropped both The Times' and The Post's news services at the end of the current fiscal year. From then on the Statesman will be left with only AP, UPI, and Gannett's news service, which is extremely "soft," as it has correspondents or city editors in most major American cities.

For that quality of journalism, Statesman subscribers pay rates which are among the highest in the nation. The price of the daily Statesman is 20 cents and the monthly subscription rate of the daily is $3.75; the price of the Sunday Statesman is 50 cents, and the daily plus Sunday subscription rate is $6.25 per month. In comparison, the cost of the Lewiston Morning Tribune is 20 cents for the daily paper, 35 cents for the Sunday issue and $4.50 per month for the daily and Sunday (no daily only rate); the cost of the (Portland) Oregonian daily is 15 cents, the Sunday issue 25 cents, and subscription rates are $3.50 for the daily and $6.50 monthly for the daily plus Sunday. Of the ten papers I surveyed, only the Boston Globe and New York Times are (marginally) more expensive than the Statesman.

Printer's Marks

Established May 1968, The ARBITER is a weekly publication of the Associated Students of Boise State University.

Arbiters and letters to the editor must be submitted to the ARBITER office prior to 5pm the Thursday before each publication, must be typewritten and bear a legible signature.

The ARBITER reserves the right to edit for libel and accuracy.

Opinions expressed in the ARBITER are those of the author and not necessarily those of the ARBITER staff, the University Administration or the University Administration.

The ARBITER is a member of and subscriber to College Press Service, Collegiate Headlines and United Features Syndicate.

The offices of the ARBITER are located in the second floor of the Student Union Building, Boise State University, 1910 University Drive, Boise, ID., 83725.

PHOTOS BY PHOTO BUREAU: Ron Ferguson, Dick Selby, Patti Quong, Rob Williams, Andrea Douglas.

Established May 1968, The ARBITER is a weekly publication of the Associated Students of Boise State University.

Arbiters and letters to the editor must be submitted to the ARBITER office prior to 5pm the Thursday before each publication, must be typewritten and bear a legible signature.

The ARBITER reserves the right to edit for libel and accuracy.

Opinions expressed in the ARBITER are those of the author and not necessarily those of the ARBITER staff, the University Administration or the University Administration.

The ARBITER is a member of and subscriber to College Press Service, Collegiate Headlines and United Features Syndicate.

The offices of the ARBITER are located in the second floor of the Student Union Building, Boise State University, 1910 University Drive, Boise, ID., 83725.

ADVERTISING: 881-7144
College should be liberal experience

Editor, the Arbitr:

Not being a student of Boise State, my letter may not carry much weight. However, I would like to say that I enjoyed the National Arbiter very much. I thought it was funny.

What struck me as outrageous was the administration’s official action taken after complaints made by the L.D.S. Institute. Universities are usually the setting for innovative and open-minded learning experiences, but because we are located in Idaho (instead of Massachusetts) this idea does not apply. Your university experiences should be the most liberal—yet will ever have, unless you attend BSU.

Any institution which so strictly defines the minds and lives of its members deserves and asks to be criticized, even in the form of a college satire magazine. If not criticized, at least seriously questioned as to whose benefit the institution exists for: itself or its members. Since the L.D.S. church is the most successful coalition in the world, the answer seems obvious.

J. R. Kiss

Pavilion needed

Editor, the Arbitr:

The proposed pavilion is of dire need of students at Boise State University, it will bring much desired concerts, lectures, meeting rooms, performance rooms, a place to shoot baskets in one’s spare time, quality intramural facilities, and, most of all, a decent place in which our top-notch basketball team can play.

Last week an editorial appeared in the Arbitr referring to the argument for a new basketball facility, saying there was no need because Boise State was a second-rate team playing in a third-rate conference. Is that why Boise State was in the playoffs, despite injuries suffered by their three best players for most of the season? I suppose this individual would call the Pac-8 a fourth-rate conference, since the Big Sky’s representative in the NCAA Playoffs, namely Idaho State, defeated the best Pacific 8 Conference could offer, namely UCLA? Hardly so.

According to the latest surveys 92% of all college students listen to radio. Obviously, the college student enjoys music. Who is, your favorite? Led Zeppelin? The Bee Gees? Abba? They’ll be performing in the Boise State pavilion if it passes. Major stars touring the West will want to make a special point to stop in Boise, since they will have an excellent facility and will be practically guaranteed a sellout of enthusiastic fans. When artists performed at Boise State, every concert drew a sellout crowd. And the same generous, roaring support that we give our football and basketball teams has been evident in previous concerts. What performer wouldn’t welcome the opportunity to sing and play for an audience like that?

O.K., don’t support the pavilion—but don’t complain that performers come to Pocatello, a city less than half the size of Boise, and refuse to come to the capital city because, as one recent group member put it, “Boise has the worst concert hall we’ve ever been in.”

It’s really hard to see a playoff basketball team which has a facility of less than 4000 capacity. It’s a wonder other teams visiting Boise State don’t die laughing, victims of the puny size of structure supposed to be part of a University. We can hardly be proud of our gymnasium, which is the laughing stock of the Big Sky Conference.

Input on the pavilion issue has been 4-1 in favor of it. Although a ballot vote will mainly represent those against the pavilion, if everyone for the pavilion turns out, we can retain this 4-1 margin. Let’s change the image of Boise State from Riverside Tech to a university respected throughout the Northwest. Don’t let a 20% minority influence the future of BSU for the rest of us.

Sincerely,

Rod Couch

Editor’s Note

The “editorial” referred to was not in fact an editorial; it was a letter to the editor.

Janet Lynn Emery

Hoffman urges students to vote in election

Editor, the Arbitr:

The proposed pavilion may not be the best type of athletic/enrollment facility we could build, but don’t deny that a facility of this type is needed. Let’s see someone come up with a better idea, but whether or not it’s this particular pavilion, IT NEEDS TO BE DONE NOW.

Let’s stop complaining and start using our heads. We grew out of our shoes long ago.

So what if our fees increase? They’d only be about the same as our other Idaho Universities. Our current fees are pretty cheap, and our current facilities? Well, I guess you get what you pay for.

Sincerely Yours,

Mike Hoffman

A promising beginning

Editor, the Arbitr:

Mid-terms are here! Can you believe it? The time passes so quickly and everybody is so busy. I’d like to ask you all to do me, yourselves, and the university a big favor. Don’t be too busy to cast your vote in the general election. There are many good reasons to do this. First, on the ballot you will find listed an excellent slate of candidates. This group represents what I feel to be the most talented slate of students ever placed before the BSU Students. Second, the student government can really be hamstrung by a lack of student body support. The Student Government can play a vital role in university, city, state, and national politics only if you give it that visibility through your vote. Your contribution to the student government helps it to help you.

You get what you pay for

Editor, the Arbitr:

The proposed pavilion is of dire need of students at Boise State University. It will bring much desired concerts, lectures, meeting rooms, performance rooms, a place to shoot baskets in one’s spare time, quality intramural facilities, and, most of all, a decent place in which our top-notch basketball team can play.

Last week an editorial appeared in the Arbitr referring to the argument for a new basketball facility, saying there was no need because Boise State was a second-rate team playing in a third-rate conference. Is that why Boise State was in the playoffs, despite injuries suffered by their three best players for most of the season? I suppose this individual would call the Pac-8 a fourth-rate conference, since the Big Sky’s representative in the NCAA Playoffs, namely Idaho State, defeated the best Pacific 8 Conference could offer, namely UCLA? Hardly so.

According to the latest surveys 92% of all college students listen to radio. Obviously, the college student enjoys music. Who is, your favorite? Led Zeppelin? The Bee Gees? Abba? They’ll be performing in the Boise State pavilion if it passes. Major stars touring the West will want to make a special point to stop in Boise, since they will have an excellent facility and will be practically guaranteed a sellout of enthusiastic fans. When artists performed at Boise State, every concert drew a sellout crowd. And the same generous, roaring support that we give our football and basketball teams has been evident in previous concerts. What performer wouldn’t welcome the opportunity to sing and play for an audience like that?

O.K., don’t support the pavilion—but don’t complain that performers come to Pocatello, a city less than half the size of Boise, and refuse to come to the capital city because, as one recent group member put it, “Boise has the worst concert hall we’ve ever been in.”

It’s really hard to see a playoff basketball team which has a facility of less than 4000 capacity. It’s a wonder other teams visiting Boise State don’t die laughing, victims of the puny size of structure supposed to be part of a University. We can hardly be proud of our gymnasium, which is the laughing stock of the Big Sky Conference.

Input on the pavilion issue has been 4-1 in favor of it. Although a ballot vote will mainly represent those against the pavilion, if everyone for the pavilion turns out, we can retain this 4-1 margin. Let’s change the image of Boise State from Riverside Tech to a university respected throughout the Northwest. Don’t let a 20% minority influence the future of BSU for the rest of us.

Sincerely,

Rod Couch

Editor’s Note

The “editorial” referred to was not in fact an editorial; it was a letter to the editor.

Janet Lynn Emery

for the springtime of your love—

bridal diamonds from Zales!

a. 6-Diamond duet set, $500
b. 7-Diamond bridal set, $600
Both in 14 karat yellow gold.

Charge it!

Open a Zales account or use one of five national credit plans
Zales Revolving Charge • Zales Credit Charge VISA • Master Charge • American Express
Diners Club • Carte Blanche • Layaway

ZALES
The Diamond Store

HILLCREST PLAZA
The idealist and the realist sat together, the warm, spring sunshine flooded in through the window, washing across the carpet and lapping at the front of the couch.

"Better draw the shades," said the realist, "else the sun will fade the carpet and rot the fabric on the couch."

But it feels so good to have the sun on my shoulders and it looks so bright and cheerful after a long, cold winter," replied the idealist. "Besides, the plants need the light to grow."

"It's your house, shrugged the realist."

The shades staved up and the plants stretched up and out, growing and greening until the day came when the idealist could scarcely move for fear of bruising a leaf or breaking a branch. The large, luxuriant plants, however, helped to hide the faded spots on the carpet, and when company came, they drew attention away from the sun-rotted place on the couch where the stuffing poked through.

The realist and the idealist went for a walk together. The early spring sunshine peeled out from between high, fluffy white clouds, shedding its rays onto an awakening earth. From a distant freeway came the roar of traffic grumbling along while, close at hand, the summer to come.

The idealist and the realist spent Saturday together. They walked along in silence, "Just listen to that traffic . . . " said the realist.

"Isn't it nice out?" the idealist asked.

"Brr, the wind's cold today," the realist replied, "and that watery sun doesn't help much."

They walked along in silence, then almost in unison said, "Look at the ducks," the idealist said softly.

"Makes me wonder how they can survive among all that garbage," said the realist.

The idealist and the realist finally pronounced them clean. It was time to get ready for the opera. Finely dressed, hair just so, the idealist, glanced at the clock, "walked" out of the house, climbed into the waiting car and drove off, anticipating a gala evening.

Carefully scrutinizing each hand, the idealist finally pronounced them clean. It was time to get ready for the opera. Finely dressed, hair just so, the idealist glanced at the clock, "walked" out of the house, climbed into the waiting car and drove off, anticipating a gala evening.

The idealist and the realist agreed.

"Look at the duck's," the idealist said softly.

"Makes me wonder how they can survive among all that garbage," said the realist.

The idealist and the realist finally pronounced them clean. It was time to get ready for the opera. Finely dressed, hair just so, the idealist walked out of the house, climbed into the waiting car and drove off, anticipating a gala evening.

Carefully scrutinizing each hand, the idealist finally pronounced them clean. It was time to get ready for the opera. Finely dressed, hair just so, the idealist walked out of the house, climbed into the waiting car and drove off, anticipating a gala evening.

People's Lib

by Jean King

One of the most important steps toward our own liberation that we (male and female) can take is to refuse to accept those false standards foisted upon us by Hollywood and the various media.

If we are to take Hollywood's word for it, and most of us do, all people of either sex must meet certain physical standards before they can be worth the time of day. All females must be of a certain height, weight and perfectly proportioned in strategic areas. They must have startlingly beautiful faces and treasurers to rival the famous Fawcett-Majors locks. Any woman who is a little too tall, or too short, too fat, too thin, too old, too young, or just plain average is made to feel like a real loser.

She is threatened, coerced, bribed and bribed into thinking that she must spend all her time and effort to approach this artificial standard of perfection. She must be extremely handsome. She must also drive a racy sports car, have lots of money at any and all forms of competition. Added to this, she must have the advantage they have in developing their personal relations.

The blind have the advantage of being able to dispense with the surface garbage. Their physical perfection or lack thereof is not important to them. Because they are not distracted with what they should see, they can look deeper and find the real person underneath.

A very old and very wise man who had been blind from birth opened my inner eyes for me. When I first met him he said, "Tell me about yourself." But before I could begin spouting usual drivel he said, "Please don't bother me with all the terms I can not understand... your height, weight, what you look like... how old you are... where you work... how much money... those things are not important, I want to really know you. Tell me what is inside." Let your own show through...how easy that sounds...and yet what a difficult thing to do!

And yet if our society is ever to truly accept all its various members and become a valid community of the world, it is extremely important that it is.

It's time to say NO! You can't isolate me into looking for someone else's ideal in everyone I meet. I will not accept it. I will set my own standards. I will choose my own friends for what is inside them and what is inside me. To them I say, "I am female I cannot be made to fit any mold."

Looking average can be okay
The Last Word

Stump snatching natural man

by Terry McGuire

"What kind of power you claiming these days, Bluenose?"

"Spiritual power," Bluenose told him, shaking a long, knotty finger at Orzo as he dropped the words. "The spiritual power of an absolute stump-nailing 'ching natural man, and that be me, all right."

"Times changes," said Orzo.

In terms of decisions, Brant Lancaster had few, but delayed ones were sometimes obvious; returning home after a four year absence. His life would have at the whim of fate, but Howell Raines pens into Lancaster that outclevation, pride and tinge of audacity, hurling the man headlong into tradition and the reverse—where all hell eminates from the mention the two words, Whiskey Man.

It's a clever little tale that Raines uses as a backdrop to explore the darker baselines of life in the Alabama hills; religious, sex among the courting circle and intermittent violence among the dirty and heaven struck.

Much in the rich, peculiar vein of southern authors, Raines spins many a tale into one long narrative, leaving a gaping sense of reality, but striking emptiness once the book ends. It's doubtful the dull impact of Whiskey Man hits one after the first reading, but pieces itself slowly dissolves in Laster's eyes as Bluenose's wife, Elmira sends the amiable lush—two by two when asked why a play spoken in French gains such enthusiastic receptions in non-French speaking societies. He added, with a smile, 'Humor is universal."

"The BALD SOPRANO seems to be universal ally," continously running in Paris for 21 years, the comedy is a tribute to Lecoix's avant-garde thinking. 'His humor,' says Bataille, 'is of this time and of all the world.' Supporting Bataille's argument is the fact that Lecoix maintains a high level of popularity with the French people, and that his plays are part of French grammar and high school curriculums.

"C'est la France." Rephrased 'Art is universal."

What is THE BALD SOPRANO? The only reference to her in the play is an inquiry made by the fire chief, who just happened by to see whether or not the house was on fire, and who is informed that 'She still wears the same hair-do.' To the latter, Mme. Smith replies, "What an amusing family.

On the same billing are poems and sketches by Jacques Prevert entitled, WHAT DOES IT MEAN? IT DOESN'T MEAN ANYTHING!" Prevert is perhaps the most popular French poet since World War II. He writes about the common scenes of everyday life but his poetry, described by Bataille, is "fresh, unt, on page 10

feature

Bald Soprano shows stupidity by Eugene Ionesco, exposes the 'stupidity of people everywhere,' according to Nicolas Bataille, director of the Du-Piano Ensemble will pre-designed for children March 10

at 8:15 p.m., in the BSU Recital direction of Associate Professor of Camille Saint-Saens, while

Duo piano

concert set for children

The Boise State University
Duo Piano Ensemble will present a program specifically designed for children March 10 at 6:15 p.m. in the BSU Recital

Hall.

The ensemble, under the direction of Associate Professor Madeleine Hax, will play the "Carnival of the Animals" by Camille Saint-Saens, while Ramishad's 'Tarantelle' will open the program.

Denise Klaas and Anna Holley, graduates, and Harold Nuss- baum, Shari Tompkins, Debbie Coteur and Julee Miller are the performing musicians.

Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for students and senior citizens, and will be available at the door. BSU personnel and students will be admitted free of charge.

Visit a Skipper's Near You!

• 1306 Broadway Ave.
• 3919 Overland Rd.
• 5588 Fairview Ave.
The 3.5 years I have been at BSU students have suffered the pains that result from a student body that is isolated from its decision makers (student government). I see a crying need from students to obtain a closer proximity to their executives and legislators. Such a perception on my part may appear clear yet it is still shadowed by the uncertainty of resolving the dilemma. I would like first to show how significant this need is and then share my plan to resolve it.

Just before this semester began, $3,000.00 of the $100,000.00 that was appropriated for programming was spent on a film festival in which less than fifty students attended. It seems to me that in planning this, the assessment of student wishes, which is a vital part of any activity, was neglected. A year ago out of a lecture class of 100 students only two realized that a lawyer was provided as a service to them even though students pay $6,000.00 a month for nine hours a week of this service. The examples could continue, but 500 words doesn’t lend itself to such verbosity. I realize we are often surveyed for opinion, yet when do you remember the last time you could understand the survey questions or felt hesitant to respond with the ambiguity demanded by the survey. At present ASBSU has a computer and through its usage the processing of student surveys would be much more effective and expedient. At the same time students would be alerted to the kinds of things their representatives consider important and react to such considerations before the decisions are made and the money spent.

BSU is also suffering from a real image crisis. We are a university that is perceived in such a myriad of ways that we often wonder what we really are. Are we only a business school? Or a university getting itself in an excellent athletic program? or an academic institution flourishing in computers and lacking in funding to grow an inevitable growth? the answer lies not in any one but a combination of scholastic and extra-curricular achievements. I believe such a balance must be displayed to our external public through effective public relations. Under my administration this need would be satisfied by an active public relations department. They would help plan and promote the total spectrum of on-campus activities. Also the utilization of two administrative assistants would keep me in touch with all organizational activities that presidents have been too busy in the past to be aware of.

I offer you an opportunity for an increased awareness of BSU on all levels. My experience is as diversified as are our students, administrations, students and the system are not strangers.

I feel a need to do what I know can be done. I hope you can see what I feel. Thank you Arbiter for your interest and consideration.

Rene Clements views issues in terms of ASB

The major issues facing Boise State University are introducings a BSU president and furthering a positive image. These particular issues overcrowd all the vital needs of this campus.

Viewing these issues in the context of the Associated Student Body, an urgent need can be seen for an articulate BSU President with a working knowledge of students’ roles on campus and in the community. A specific service required is vocal but thoughtful participation in the integration of a new BSU president. In this integration, promoting the general welfare of the students is the prime consideration of the ASB executive.

Concerning the university image, we were commended by a potential BSU presidential candidate for having pride and deep concern in our university. This pride can be extended outward and multiplied on fold by responsibility and unseverable actions of our student government.

My bid for the executive position is an illustration of my confidence that I can serve the BSU student. As Vice-President I would plan and promote the total spectrum of on-campus activities that comprise the student government.

Steve Botimer

Let me begin by outlining three different facets of a vice-president’s obligations: 1) responding to the needs of BSU students; 2) providing leadership and direction to the student senate; 3) representing the student’s BSU in the administration, State Board of Education and the State Legislature. In regards to the first area, we students need a more responsible system of advice and information so as to avoid such a high dropout rate among lower classes. My participation in the faculty senate ensures adequate advising parameters.

Mike Fisher

During the past year I have served as an ASBSU Senator and have I been able to see the needs at Boise State. The most important need for BSU is to be increased funding for the university. Right now, BSU has more students than the University of Idaho and Utah State University, yet, we are third in the funding received. Our academic programs do not have the necessary funds to give us as good an education as we could receive.

Another problem area is where best to allocate the $200,000 ASBSU Budget so to best serve the student. In the past this budget has not been used to its full capacity. Most students are not very informed about what their student government is doing for them and also they don’t feel they have a channel in which to voice their opinions to student leaders. Along this same line many students who work in the A.S.B.S.U. don’t know the opportunity exists.

Since I’ve been in the Senate this year I can see these problem areas clearly. Also, I know what the job of Vice-President entails. More importantly though, I see how the position of Vice-President can be used as a vehicle in solving these problems.

As Vice-President I would plan
Joy McLean-Paul Krott A&S
We have decided to run as a team because we represent similar interests and concerns and we felt that our teamwork now will pave the way for teamwork in the Senate. In the Senate we would apply ourselves to a number of concerns that we feel are of importance to students. Boise State is a university of the future. Of primary importance to us will be the establishment of good relations with the BSU president. We want the BSU government to work with the new administration, to have a voice in policies. We don't want administrators to forget who this school exists for.

Besides establishing relations with the new administration, we want to improve relations between student government and the students themselves. The few lines of communication between students and their government fail to operate effectively. It is easy to transfer responsibility to the students by saying they should get motivated, contribute more input into government. It is more difficult for the government to take the responsibility for going to the students to find out their needs. In the past, many senators have followed Senate Rule II which states that "Each Senator shall serve as liaison between the various organizations and living groups" and shall "attend one of every three meetings." The spirit of the rule is the kind of spirit we feel is necessary. The students' opinions should also be gathered by polling procedures. We would accept this kind of responsibility.

In addition to seeking the opinions of the students, we need to keep them informed. The public relations office should have responsibility for letting the students know what is happening, what might happen, and what services are available. We have only been able to discuss a couple of aspects of Boise State that are of immediate importance to the student. There are many, many more. We want to serve you by working on them. And, if elected, we would welcome your ideas and suggestions.

Jerry Ostermiller
Like most of you who are taking the time to read these short essays about those of us with "political ambitions," I often wonder why any of us would ever want to serve the state with all the time consuming procedures, channels, rules, legalities, and technicalities which usually all but destroy whatever enthusiasm that makes the system function in the first place. However, I would like you to consider some other aspects of student government besides the petty squabbles, the game playing, the maneuvering, and just plain political paranoia that we are all burned out on and tuned off by.

BSU is unique in many ways, especially in relation to its students. BSU had campus with little heritage but phenomenal growth, constant construction and a faculty that with few exceptions works hard to give us the consumer, our money's worth.

I believe that there is much that we can do as an undergraduate (BSU) and an ASB Trea- surer. I feel the position of ASB Treasurer is a job that I am qualified for and that I am qualified for and that I can do to the best of abilities.

For those of you that are active or have been active in student government, I am sure that you are fully aware of the frustrations one encounters when working in committees with all the time consuming procedures, channels, rules, legalities, and technicalities which usually all but destroy whatever enthusiasm that makes the system function in the first place.

BSU is unique in many ways, especially in relation to its students. BSU had campus with little heritage but phenomenal growth, constant construction and a faculty that with few exceptions works hard to give us, the consumer, our money's worth.

I believe that there is much that we can do as an undergraduate (BSU) and an ASB Trea- surer. I feel the position of ASB Treasurer is a job that I am qualified for and that I can do to the best of abilities.
Candle making explained

by Bob Guar

For many it is the arrival of spring in many parts of the country. But even so, here in the Boise Valley it will probably be too soon to open the windows. The answer for many is a scented candle. The berry and lilac scents are delightful, but lime and vanilla also blend well.

Candlemaking books are often less than informing, in many instances a little too revealing. But even so, in the Valley, the answer for many All of these items, with the exception of the pressure cooker (ideal because you can regulate the temperature of the wax), coffee pot, the can of silicone spray and water bucket, can be bought at most hobby shops. You should also be able to purchase the other items at a thrift store.

Heat the wax to 200 degrees. A Heat the wax to 200 degrees. Add one teaspoon of steric acid and one teaspoon of luster crystals per pound of wax (the more scent you add, the stronger it will be). Select the mold you are going to use. If it is a plastic mold, reduce the temperature of the wax to 180 degrees. Spray the inside of your metal mold with silicone lubricant. Never use silicone spray on plastic molds.

Cut a wick, the length will be determined by the mold you are using. Dip the wick into hot wax, shake dry, and feed through the hole in the bottom of the mold. At the other end, loop the wick. Over the wooden dowel placed up to the top of the mold. Pull on the wick to make it taut. Take a small amount of putty and completely over the wick on the bottom of the mold. Do not let the wick and hole are not completely covered, water will seep into your mold and ruin the candle.

Place the mold inside an empty five-gallon water bucket. Heat the ladder wax in the mold. The temperature of the wax should be 250 degrees. Continue to fill the mold until the wax runs over into the water bucket. Now, fill the water bucket with cold water. The water level should never be higher than an inch from the top of the mold. All you can do now is wait for the wax to solidify. But as you wait, keep adding wax. It doesn't hurt if the wax runs over into the bucket. All you can do now is wait for the wax to solidify. (The answer for many)

A frosted candle is easy to make. Just remelt the wax that was left over from your last candle. Pour the wax into an empty coffee can and heat with an egg beater until the wax is fluid. Then apply a thin coat of wax over the entire surface of the candle. A fork or kitchen knife is ideal for this operation. You can also experiment with a Jell-O mold candle. Melt both pounds of wax, add a teaspoon of steric acid, one cup, and three cups-full of scent. Pour into a large cake pan. Just before the wax hardens, cut into squares, much the same as if you were making candle. Once the wax hardens, remove the squares and loosely place them in a metal Jell-O mold. Melt more wax and pour over the squares in the mold. When the wax has set, remove from mold. The Jell-O mold candle you have created can be used as a room freshener, or a gift for any occasion.

Also on the market is a product called liquid rubber. It is a small rubber dog, turtle, or any other toy that that catches your eye. Place the object on a board. There apply a cost of liquid rubber. Be sure to spread the liquid over a fairly large surface. This will act as a base for your candle mold. Let dry overnight, then repeat the process at least ten times. The more liquid rubber you apply, the thinner the mold will be. But always remember to lower the temperature of the wax because it gets thinner, it gets weaker. It should never exceed 150 degrees. Cool in a water bath.

Candlemaking is enjoyable, and it can also be profitable. Try it, you'll see.

Candidates

MIKE LATOMO, CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

I feel it is vital that student views are effectively communi- cated to the administration. Sometimes students just don't know how student fees are being spent. They are concerned with the embarrassment of the student body. I am a member of a student teacher evaluation summary. Student views about fiscal on campus are vital. I am concerned with this issue. As a senator, I would listen to students and make sure they are communicated. I also promise to stand for all free tennis courts and rebelling them somewhere else seems a waste of money.

I feel that if the city of Boise is planning on using the pavilion, then they should help pay for it. I don't think that the students should be forced to pay 25 to 50 dollars to use the pavilion. All they need is some public money, so they can use it in a more efficient manner. As an active member of campus organizations, I feel the allocations and the problems that are associated with anxiety. With the Senate posi- tion, I would know both sides of the coin.

The Senate, its policies, by-laws and legislative authority is a large responsibility. With a position in the Senate (School of Business), my time will be yours. In contingency your vote for me is my vote for you. I would like to thank the Arbiter for their efficiency in providing layout for the candi- dates. THANK YOU!

Soprano

cost, from page 7

simple, and, "I keep,"

One of Pretre's poems tells of the simple, happy life of a French family. The wicker chair, the kitchen knife, the father attends to his business affairs, and the son goes off to school. One day, the scene unfolds as the mother continues to knit, the father continues to read, and the son is killed in battle. But all is well, the family is closer than before, with the mother and the father now able to express their love for their son in the cemetery.

An anxious, repetitious world. The view from the window of the surreal and the present as the world is not as it was before. The father remarks, 'People are universal.'

RICHARD (DICK) TREVEN CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

As a candidate for ASBSSU Senator, I feel that the most important need that is arising right now, is the need for a pavilion, where people can relax and at Boise State University need a place to hold special events. The pavilion is not big enough, nor is it safe, to have events in. This is also true with the SUB and food court. We need to be better to them and let's get the ball rolling.

If I am elected in office I will try to represent the students of BSU. If they want the pavilion and we have to pay for it. Then I will vote yes. If they don't, then I will vote no.

After the next page, it will be...
Win a Cessna Airplane
Plus Free Flying Lessons
Natural presents this up-in-the-air contest just for the fun of it. Here's all you do: Fold, Crimp, Lick and Tape this ad or other paper into anything that flies in accordance with the Official Rules. Then, send it to us.
The Grand Prize is a Cessna 152 II Airplane plus free flying lessons (Up to 40 hours). Our runner up prize of a free flying lesson will be awarded to all finalists. And, the first 5000 entries will receive an official contest patch. Get flying, you could win.

Greatest Distance Wins The Cessna

Special Awards To Most Original, Most Attractive, And Maximum Time Aloft

At The National Fly-Off 100 finalists will be chosen on the basis of farthest distance flown. From these finalists, the Grand Prize Winner will be selected at a National Fly-Off judged by a panel of experts to be named later. Bonus Awards: At the National Fly-Off all finalists will also be judged in such categories as most original design, most attractive and duration of flight. These category winners will receive special recognition awards.

Quick. Get your entries in today. Then, relax, take a "Natural Break", we'll notify you if you're a winner.

To Enter Complete The Following
And Mail (See Rule #1 for contest address)

Your Name __________________________

Address __________________________

City____ State____ Zip____

To learn more about learning to fly, call toll free 800-447-7700 (In Illinois call 800-322-1400 and ask for the Cessna Take-Off operator.

Official Rules

1. Construct a fixed-wing paper airplane which sustains flight solely by use of aerodynamic forces, with a total length and wing span of no more than 80". Clearly print your name and address on a visible part of it, and mail these wrap securely in a folded, ready to fly condition to:

   Paper Airplane Contest
   P.O. Box 5404
   Blair, Nebraska 68009

2. All entries must be received by May 15, 1978.

3. All entries must be received by May 15, 1978.

4. Paper airplanes may have ailerons, rudders, elevators or tabs, but the only acceptable materials to be used in construction are paper and cellulose tape.

5. All airplanes will be launched by hand only. If there are any special instructions regarding launching such as the angle of attack and force, securely wrap them in your entry. Please print them clearly on a visible part of it. There will be only one launch per entry. Enter as often as you wish.

6. Preliminary judging will be conducted in an indoor location by the D.L. BLAIR CORPORATION, an independent judging organization. The Anheuser-Busch Natural Light Paper Airplane Contest will be selected from among the farthest flying 100 paper airplanes. The winners will be notified by mail. All Federal, State and local laws and regulations apply. All entries become the property of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and will not be returned.

7. The top 100 farthest flying airplanes (the Finalists) will be flown again indoors to select the farthest flying paper airplane using the same criteria as stated above. Selection of a winner will be made by a distinguished panel of judges who will be named later, under the direction of the D.L. BLAIR CORPORATION.

8. Bonus prizes of Special Recognition Awards will be awarded to finalists in the following categories:

   A. Most original design
   B. Duration of flight (maximum time aloft)
   C. Most attractive overall appearance of design, and color of paper airplane

   Selection of bonus prize winners will be made by a distinguished panel of judges under the direction of the D.L. BLAIR CORPORATION.

9. In the event of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded. DECISION OF THE JUDGES IS FINAL.

10. Contest is open to residents of the contiguous 48 Continental United States who are of legal age for the purchase and consumption of alcoholic beverages in the State of their residence, except employees and their families of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., their affiliates, agents, wholesalers, retailers and the D.L. BLAIR CORPORATION. This offer is void wherever prohibited by law. Winners will be notified by mail. All Federal, State and local laws and regulations apply. All entries become the property of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and will not be returned.

11. For a list of the top 100 winners, send a stamped self-addressed envelopes to "Paper Airplane Winner's List", P.O. Box 5404, Blair, Nebraska 68009. Do not send this request with your entry.
Stump Trivia Rat

by Mark C. Brough

1) Who said: "We must learn to live together as brothers or perish together as fools"?
2) Who played Little John in the film "Robin Hood" (both the 1922 and 1938 versions)?
3) Who sang: a) "A Summer Song" b) "Rag Doll" c) "The Last Time" d) "Good Lovin" and e) "Green Tambourine"?
4) George Montgomery played the rugged cattle baron Matt Rockford in what television western?
5) Who played Shirley Temple's Grandfather in "Heidi"?
6) What singing duo made a hit in 1968 of "I Wonder What She's Doin Tonight"?
7) What was the name of the jeep driven by Pat Brady on "The Roy Rogers Show"?
8) Which golfer won the Master's in 1940, 1947, and 1950?
9) What historical figure was played by James Cagney in the 1960 film "The Gallant Hours"?
10) What was the name of the inept boxer portrayed by Red Skelton?

Answers on page 14

Harley, you can borrow my calculator.

Give me all your money and make it snappy! I've got to deposit this money before the bank closes!

Good grief! I'm really starting to get a Gut. It must be all that ridiculous and extraneous loudness. There is one consolation, though. What's that? It's all right after all.
With casting completed, rehearsal is now underway for the next production of the BSU Theatre Arts Department, "The Playboy of the Western World." Written by John M. Synge, "The Playboy of the Western World" is "a very comic story about a coward and a simpleton who lied himself into being taken for a gallant hero; and won the hearts of all the girls." The play is directed by Dr. Ericum, with set design by Roger Bedard and costumes by student designer, Melanie Yellen.

Heading the cast is Bobby Jones, playing Christopher Mahon, the simple farm boy who sees himself as a combination of Cunningham will appear in the role of Romeo and Brian Boru. Patrick McAllister will be Pegeen Mike, the Oregon-born author. Ahsahta "Press of Boise State University is issued by the BSU press. The Gallery is available, according to the Oregon territory.

The Selected Poems is the seventh year at the University of Syracuse University, where he is a professor. During the second month at the State University of Washington in Seattle, he is married to a woman who is a professor at the University of Washington in Seattle.

The type of music, and its popularity, is very important. We are looking for known rock, soul, jazz, country, and folk music. We pay up to $1.25 for single used LP's, but have new list prices of $6.98, and up to $1.50 on single used LP's that new for $7.98. Multi-records sets and sealed records, depending on their list prices, potentially have higher value. Collectors' records also receive special consideration. Or if you prefer, we'll give you credit value 25% greater than cash, which can be used for records or paraphernalia.

Cross Country Ski Tour Slated

Boise City Recreation's Outdoor Programs office is offering a cross country ski tour for intermediate skiers in the Mores Creek Summit area, on Saturday, March 4. The tour is for students interested in the tour should meet at the Fort Boise Community Center at 9:00 AM and transportation will be provided. A fee of $25 should be paid in advance at the Center. For more information call 384-4498.
January 21 issue of Editor trumpets its supposed editorial independence in theory, but not in fact; although the Statesman trumpets its supposed editorial independence in what seems like every third issue, it’s a sham. All of the top editorial personnel (publisher, managing editor, and advertising director) are appointed by Gannett.

Happiness would be a new newspaper!

The above comments would probably be dismissed by the Statesman’s editorial staff as the ranting of “a nattering nabob of negativism” (as Spiro T. used to say), because, as every news (woman) knows, the public is only interested in local news, lousy national and international news, lousy sports. Fortunately the nationwide survey showed that the public is much more interested in national, international, energy and science news than most journalists think. The nationwide survey queried 1,533 adults, 86 news directors and editors and 76 reporters and writers. Here are some of the findings: 34% of the news people think that the public is “very interested” in national news, but 60% of the public say they are, only 35% of the news staffers believe that they do; only seven percent of the journalists believe that the public is very interested in energy news, but 31% of those queried indicated such an interest; and while 41% of the public is highly interested in international news, only five percent of the news people believe the public has such an interest. Further, a higher percentage of the journalists believe that the public is deeply interested in sports and local news than the percentage of respondents who indicated such an interest. Eighty-eight percent of the news people think the public is highly interested in local news, while 74% of the respondents are; and 75% of the journalists believe that the public is very interested in sports news, while only 35% of the public actually is.

The March 3rd Statesman reported that Dr. Leon Banov, Jr., a proctologist from Charleston, South Carolina, testified before the National Commission on Digestive Diseases that: “The United States spent $50 million to study the back side of the moon that never caused us any trouble, but not one cent to study the back-sides of our own suffering people.” The doctor testified in Washington, D.C, a most appropriate setting for such a statement.

While I’m on the subject of proctology, I should mention a couple of recent developments in the Idaho Legislature. Representative Myron Jones, R-Malad, introduced a bill to abolish the Idaho Public Utilities Commission. If that bill would be passed, utilities in the state of Idaho would be under virtually no regulation; and it’s not hard to imagine what the effects of that would be upon utility rates. The present system, where most customers pay by mail, would probably be replaced by a system where rate-payers would report to the office of utilities and be suspended by their feet from racks on the ceilings, a move which would insure that nothing of value would remain in their pockets.

Government...ain’t it wonder-ful...
BSU PROGRAM'S BOARD

Secret Reports

BSU PROGRAM'S BOARD presents

March 8, 1978
BSU BALLROOM • 8:00 P.M.
Tickets: $3.00 Gen. Adm. / $1.00 Student

WATERGATE'S
WATERGATE'S

JOHN DEAN

March 8, 1978
BSU BALLROOM • 8:00 P.M.
Tickets: $3.00 Gen. Adm. / $1.00 Student

NATIONAL LAMPOON

"THAT'S NOT FUNNY,
THAT'S SICK!"

March 7, 1978 at 8pm
BSU SUB BALLROOM
Tickets at SUB Info Booth & Budget Tapes & Records
$4.00 students $5.00 general

A revue of song and humor from the people who brought you Saturday Night Live, The National Lampoon Show, the National Lampoon Radio Show, Ralph's A Dull House, and World War II.

Featuring the noted National Lampoon Players, high school ranks have graduated Chevy Chase, John Belushi, Chris Farley, Robin Williams, and Ana Marie Cox.

Special added attraction: Mike Simmons and Steve Fazio, The Country rock band you've heard at New York's Rainbow Grill.

March 6, 1978 / ARBITER / Page 15
by Charlie Witmer

The Boise State University wrestling team won its fifth straight Big Sky Championship last Saturday at Weber State College in Ogden, Utah. Boise State outscored second place Idaho State University 80-70. Weber State was third with 60 points, Montana 49, Northern Arizona 34 and Montana State 17, rounded out the team scoring. The Broncos had four individual champions in Mark Jorden, Leon Madsen, Brad Allred, and Roy Roese. Bill Braith, Lou Grassi, and Harold Whittman all took second in their weight divisions. Randy Reynolds took third and Dan Kramer placed fourth.

The four champions, Jorden, Madsen, Allred, and Roese all qualified for the NCAA nationals to be held next week at College Park, Maryland. Boise State coach Mike Young said it was a true team effort.

There was a meeting before the second round started. The team decided that they had to reach the finals if they were to have any chance at the team title. The meeting produced seven finalists, four of them becoming champions. Jorden, a junior, started the evening off right with a 6-5 decision over Ron Wurms of Weber State. Jorden and Wurms had met four times previously with Wurms winning all four of the matches. For his efforts, Jorden was named the tournaments most valuable wrestler.

In the 126-pound division, Madsen defeated Idaho State's 'George King, 6-4. Brad Allred decisioned Ron Gallegos, also of Idaho State, 6-2 in the 142-pound division. The two wrestlers had met twice during the season, with Gallegos winning both times.

Freshman Roy Roese became the Broncos fourth champion when he defeated Phil Svedberg in overtime, 2-0.

by Bette Will

The University of Washington women's basketball team produced a thriller Saturday, as the Huskies outscored second place Nevada-Reno, 84-78, to set up that one last basket, when Hillman stole the ball and brought it back down for the lay-up to put Boise State ahead for the first time in the entire game, 69-67. With only four seconds left on the clock the Washington Huskies were unable to score, as Boise State fans exploded and fans exclaimed in jubilation.

The University of Washington came to Boise Thursday night leaders in the Coastal Division with a 9-0 record, and were the favorites to win the Regional tournament. However, the game Thursday night in Bronco Gym may bear some foresight as to the surprises in store for the crowds in Bellingham March 10 and 11, where the regional championships will be played.

The Broncos trailed Washington the entire game by two and three points and tied the score only once in the second half, 61-61. Washington led at halftime 39-33, the only substantial lead Washington ever had. Also, at this time JoAnn Burrell topped scoring with 10 points and both teams committed nine fouls with one player in foul trouble. The second half started with Karla Meier dropping in the floor holding her head—no one witnessed the elbow that caught her between the eyes. She stepped out of the game long enough to catch her breath and stop the bleeding, then immediately returned to the game. Then about halfway through the second half Kim Erickson collapsed on the floor holding her head, which was bashed from the floor, recovered and quickly returned to the game.

In the final minutes, Boise State playing like the second half team they are, crept up on the Huskies and stunned them in the final seconds for a BSU victory. Coach Bob Greenberg smiled and commented, "We can attribute the win to our defense. We were, if anything, defensively stronger than Washington and the fact we could outrebound the taller team." The defense was strong, Holding U-W's high scorer Margie Nelson to just 14 points and 14 rebounds. This counted heavily for BSU, for they were only able to shoot 44% from the field while Washington had a strong 54%. Vicki Hillman finished high with 26 points for her finest game this season, followed by JoAnn Burrell with 20 points off of 9 with a high 75% from the field while Kim Erickson added 12 points to the Bronco win.

by Bette Will

If you thought Thursday's game was a thriller, Saturday's game was a heart-stopper. The Boise State women's basketball team came against the defending Region Nine champions from Western Washington State College, who took things a step farther as they picked a win from Boise State's hands in the final seconds, as Jo Metzger sank two from the free throw line to win 62-61.

The last minute removed six players from the floor, as two BSU players, Harriet Smith and Jan Johnston, fouled out, while JoAnn Burrell, Kim Erickson, Chery Nelson and Karla Meier all stepped from the game with five personal fouls each. The clincher action came in the final 22 seconds as BSU trailed 59-60 with Erickson, Nelson and Burrell settling on the bench. In a scramble under the basket a jump ball was called with 0:8 in the game. BSU gained possession and Vicki Hillman quickly put up one for two points, and tapped the score to 61-60, Boise's favor. Western Washington quickly cleared out with three seconds left. It was here on the inbound that Meier received a pass, too far, and committed the foul that lost the game. Jo Metzger stepped to the line with one second showing on the clock and sunk two points in to win from Boise's hands and end the game at 62-61, WWSC.

Washington was able to start five players at 5-7, 5-10, 6-0, and 6-0, substituting with equal height, while Boise started 5-7, 5-9, 5-10 and 6-0, substituting with shorter players. This is a strong indication of Boise's defense, for they lack a lot of height.

High scorers for Western Washington were Jo Metzger with 26 points and Jan Johnston with 15 points and 10 rebounds. Boise State played only two players in double figures, Burrell with 22 points and 10 rebounds, and Vicki Hillman with 14 points.

Boise State now travels to the Region Nine championships on March 10 and 11, where they will again meet the Huskies, this time at the University of Washington, Oregon, Portland State University, Washington State University and host school Western Washington State College. Boise entered the tournament seeded second after their loss to WWSC and lost to WSU the weekend previous. Boise State brings an 11-2 record to the tournament, and 15-13 overall. They will play from the floor, recovered and quickly returned to the game.

In the final minutes, Boise State playing like the second half team they are, crept up on the Huskies and stunned them in the final seconds for a BSU victory. Coach Bob Greenberg smiled and commented, "We can attribute the win to our defense. We were, if anything, defensively stronger than Washington and the fact we could outrebound the taller team." The defense was strong, holding U-W's high scorer Margie Nelson to just 14 points and 14 rebounds. This counted heavily for BSU, for they were only able to shoot 44% from the field while Washington had a strong 54%. Vicki Hillman finished high with 26 points for her finest game this season, followed by JoAnn Burrell with 20 points off of 9 with a high 75% from the field while Kim Erickson added 12 points to the Bronco win.
It's Weber State
Big Sky Champions

by Freddie Vincent
Arbiter Sports Editor

Four teams were competing for the Big Sky Championship in Missoula, Montana last weekend, but only one would represent the Big Sky conference at Eugene, Oregon in the NCAA finals. That team was the Weber State Wildcats who literally shot off Montana's attack by defeating the Grizzlies 62-55 in overtime.

The youthful Weber team consisting of four sophomores and one junior from Montana 10-2 in the first six minutes of the second half to pull into a 30-30 tie.

At the end of the first half, Montana was leading the Wildcats 28-20, but Weber took the attack in the overtime and forced Montana to play catch-up basketball thereafter.

Two of Weber's sophomores - 6'5" forward Bruce Collins and 7" center Richard Smith - were named to the All-tournament team. Collins was voted the most valuable player. Weber overcame the pressure on critical free throws in the late going, sinking 9 of 10 in the overtime alone. They also overcame the pressure of 9,203 raving Montana fans and the talent of All-American Michael Ray Richardson.

Both clubs missed winning chances in regulation play. With the team behind 49-48 with 21 seconds left, Richardson tied the game on a free throw but missed the second shot after being fouled by Kurt Moore. Weber's chance at victory rolled off the rim after a shot by Richard Smith failed to fall, and Montana's Allan Nielsen pulled down the rebound with three seconds left.

But the Grizzlies title hopes went down the drain from the shooting of Bruce Collins. Collins added to the hurt with a beautiful slam-dunk as time ran out, bringing his point-total to 17 for the night and 45 for the tournament.

Richardson closed out perhaps the most exciting individual career in Montana Basketball history with 25 points.

Montana had beaten Weber State twice in the regular season, 62-52 in Missoula and 58-56 in overtime in Ogden.

It was the Wildcats' fifth overtime game this season, and the 19-9 club won three of those against Long Beach state, Utah State, and the title last Saturday against Montana. They last to 18 seconds left from the road and to the Grizzlies in Ogden.

Joining Collins and Smith on the All-tournament team were Richardson, Boise State's Steve Connor and Lawrence Butler of Idaho State.

In other Big Sky action at the playoffs, Weber State defeated Idaho State 84-79 of Friday night to advance to the final round of the Big Sky Championship and Montana defeated Boise State 70-61 later that evening, to also advance to the final round on Saturday.

Steve Connor, finishing his career at Boise State's all time scorer his 27 points, just seven points shy of Idaho State's Steve Hayes to break the 1,933-point mark.

Connor has never been selected to the all-conference first team in his three previous years - didn't set the record he went after.

The Broncos were in the game for most of the first period, but fouls called on Trent Johnson changed the momentum in favor of Montana.

After infraction no. 4 was called on Johnson, he was pulled from the game.

Boise effectively controlled Montana center John Schroeder and Michael Ray Richardson.

But the man of the hour was Allan Nielsen, the Grizzlies junior forward.

Nielsen poured in 24 points to complete his career as Boise State's all time leading scorer.

Connor closed out per- Page 19

Bronco sluggers put down NNC

by Bill Gannon

There just had to be a mix-up! Boise State was supposed to have opened their 1978 baseball season against Northwest Nazarene College, but the players from that school who suited up for the contest played like natives from some South Sea island. In other words, they approached the game as if it were their first experience in an uniform. As for the hosts, they tried to stop newcomers like canibals breaking fast!

The Broncos wasted no time in the contest, taking a 4-0 lead in the bottom half of the first. The boys from Nampa still had a chance but actually told BSU pitcher Keith Gradwohl. Using the live ball to compliment a dazzling curve, Gradwohl got better as the game progressed.

But the fifth, it was obvious that Ross Vaghin's gesture of friendship to the visitors. He lifted Gradwohl and went with Junior lefty Al Cogan for the final two frames. Cogan continued in Gradwohl's footsteps and by the time the seventh inning was over, the duo had this season's first no-hitter. Since Bronco pitching could have been better in the pinch last year, an eating like this one does wonders for a hawks confidence. If the rest of the pitchers on the squad emulate these two, the team is solid on the mound.

Projected for BSU were determined to get their name in the history books. In the first inning, the Arizona first baseman with the high bat, the home team lineup-up looked like they might cause the scoreboard to tilt.

Centerfielder Kent Hollingsworth hit his first of two for the day in the initial game, teammates Steve McManus and Jim Dawson also hit for the circuit. Hollingsworth, the 5'10", 155 lb. centerfielder is touted for his defensive finesse, howev-...
The time has come, as it inevitably must, when your not-so-humble narrator offers his predictions for the coming baseball season. First up this year—the American League West. Teams are listed in the order in which they will probably finish.

1. CHICAGO WHITE SOX

   Power overcomes all—Last year’s 93-69 home run runs; they’ll hit over 200 this year, and lead both leagues in RBIs. Even though the Sox lost both Richo Zisk and Oscar Gamble this winter, their outfield is one of the best in the majors—they’ve added Bobby Bonds, good for 40 home runs, 40 stolen bases, and 100+ RBIs, and Ron Blomberg who should be good for 25 or 30 home runs and 90 RBIs. Their infield is improved, as well as the additions of Junior Johnson from Atlanta, hot-rocker Kevin Bell at SS, and slick-fielding utility man Don Kessinger; with Lamar Johnson playing everyday at first base, the Sox have run out 90 RBIs totals have improved, and will increase. The Sox ball park is more of the best in the majors, featuring Lerrin LaGrow, Carl Erskine, Cy Young, and Clay Carroll, both with ERAs in the 2.50 range: The bull pen will be better a lot of work, with the Sox depending on rookies like lefty Ken Kravec, the only lefty on the Sox staff, and Jack Reuss to carry a lot of the pitching load.

   The White Sox are as-deep-as in good outfielders owning not only the best previously mentioned, but also the veteran Ralph Garr, as well as such players as Henry Crew and Bob Cobuco. The White Sox will not beat the other teams in their division with ease; the Sox tactics will be simpler—they’ll bide their time to death.

2. KANSAS CITY ROYALS

   The Royals are basically the same team they were last year—one of the best in the majors. Their infield is probably the best in the majors, featuring such talent as Fred Petke, Rodney Mayberry and George Brett. Their outfield is also outstanding, with pitchers in Al Cowans (23 HR, 112 RBI, 312 batting average), and Hal McRae. Amos Otis is a big question mark—Otis only hit .251 last year. The Royals’ pitching is very good, led by Dennis Leonard 20-12, 3.04 ERA, the Royals bull pen is uncertain—In a questionable trade this winter, they traded Mark Littel for Al Hrabosky who had a mediocre season at Saint Louis last year. Prediction—the Royals will play good baseball, and the White Sox will blow them out of the water.

3. CALIFORNIA ANGELS

   The Angels have “improved” themselves with the acquisition of free agents, mostly outfielder Lyman Bostock, lately of the Twins. They’ve also improved their pitching, most notably with the acquisition of promising lefty Don Aase, acquired from the Red Sox. Their infield, however, lacks close for infield power—they’ll have to depend on Tony Solaita and 35-year-old Ron Fairly. Still, they have Nolan Ryan and Frank Tanana. Prediction—they’ll hit over 200 this year, and lead both leagues in RBIs, Their infield is improved, and lead both leagues in RBIs.

4. TEXAS RANGERS

   The Rangers added high-priced free agent, Richie Zisk to their outfield, for $2.9 million and added veteran pitchers Doc Medich, Ferguson Jenkins, and John Matlock to their pitching staff. All of the pitchers added, plus moderation and added veteran John Matlock to their pitching staff. All of the pitchers added, plus moderation and added veteran John Matlock to their pitching staff. Prediction—they’ll hit over 200 this year, and lead both leagues in RBIs, Their infield is improved, and lead both leagues in RBIs.

5. MINNESOTA TWINS

   The Twins are going nowhere fast. With the exceptions of a few standout players such as Red Carew (.358 batting average and 100 RBIs), and Glenn Adams (.385 average and 98 RBIs), they’ve made no great strides. Prediction—they’ll hit over 200 this year, and lead both leagues in RBIs.

6. SEATTLE MARINERS

   The Mariners have improved themselves a bit—the acquisition of free agents Franco and Bruce Bochte. They’ve retained the services of all outstanding players as reliever Enrique Romo (2.82 ERA) and comebacker pitcher Lee Stanton. They’ve also acquired promising rookie outfielder John Hale from the Dodgers. Still, their pitching is questionable, and were not the Giants last year. They probably will do 400,000 fans this year.

AMERICAN LEAGUE EAST

FRIDAY

1. Red Sox
2. Yankees
3. Orioles
4. Red Sox
5. Indians
6. Blue Jays

SATURDAY

1. Red Sox
2. Yankees
3. Orioles
4. Red Sox
5. Indians
6. Blue Jays

SUNDAY

1. Red Sox
2. Yankees
3. Orioles
4. Red Sox
5. Indians
6. Blue Jays

CY YOUNG AWARD WINNER

Announcing the Cy Young Award winner.

PREDICTIONS

1. Padres
2. Yankees
3. Orioles
4. Red Sox
5. Indians
6. Blue Jays

2013 BASEBALL SEASON

NATIONAL LEAGUE WEST

FRIDAY

1. Phillies
2. Pirates
3. Cardinals
4. Cubs
5. Mets

SATURDAY

1. Phillies
2. Pirates
3. Cardinals
4. Cubs
5. Mets

SUNDAY

1. Phillies
2. Pirates
3. Cardinals
4. Cubs
5. Mets

CY YOUNG AWARD WINNER

Frank Tanana-Dennis Leonard

HOME RUN LEADER

American League

Bobby Bonds—Reggie Jackson

National League

Home Run Leader—Mike Schmidt

RBI LEADER

American League

Bobby Bonds—Reggie Jackson

National League

Babe Ruth—George Herman

NATIONAL LEAGUE EAST

FRIDAY

1. Phillies
2. Pirates
3. Cardinals
4. Cubs
5. Mets
6. Expos

SATURDAY

1. Phillies
2. Pirates
3. Cardinals
4. Cubs
5. Mets
6. Expos

SUNDAY

1. Phillies
2. Pirates
3. Cardinals
4. Cubs
5. Mets
6. Expos

TENNIS ANYONE?

"Yes," says March of Dimes National Postor Child Donnie Nankivel. First lesson: concentration is the key to success on the tennis court.

Co-ed softball rouses due

The Intramural Spring Co-ed Softball Program will begin the second week after Spring Break. Play will begin on Monday March 27th. Teams are due on Thursday, March 21st. Begin to get your rousers in new do when the 2nd day comes around you will be ready. Don’t wait ‘til after Spring Break is over or you might lose. Bring rousers to Boom 203A of the Gym if you or have any questions, call 355-1131.
Basketball

cont. from page 17

put the tips one game away from the NCAA playoffs. Most of his shots were from beyond the 25-foot range. Only once did he score from inside the key.

Richardson was contained very well in the first half, only scoring 9 points. In the second half, Micheal Ray hit one of his two shots, and Montana led 40-33 with 14:35 left. The two teams alternated baskets and stalls before a statewide television audience in the first, and the Broncos scored the first six points in the final 20 minutes before being outmaneuvered.

Trailing 31-28 after the opening minute, Montana came back with a 20-4 spurt that put them up by 13 at the halfway point. With 3:27 left, Boise trailed 62-49, but made a late rally to close the gap to 62-57 with 1:49 left. That was as close as the Broncos could come.

Montana's Micheal Ray Richardson finished the game with 21 points along with Nielsen's 24 while Boise State's Steve Connor hit 27 points and Danny Jones finished his career with 12 points including 10-10 from the free throw line.

Baseball

cont. from page 17

er, his power at the plate is deceiving as the NWC pitchers found out. As the clouds in the sky turned more ominous, the first game ended with a final score 10-0.

Intent on prolonging the massacre the umpires wasted no time in getting the second game underway. Lefthander Larry Froemming started for the Broncos and with help from Steve Riggers the visitors were shut down with only one hit in a game called after five innings.

The offensive punch for the hometowners was provided by a grand slam blast rocketed out by Hollingsworth. With the score 7-1, the Nazarenes were praying for forty days and nights of rain, any amount that would end the agony. Their supplications were answered when the field turned slick from the drizzle and the boys from Nampa were spared further abuse.

The Broncos take on the College of Idaho here in Boise on Wednesday at 1:30. The two teams will play a double header, weather permitting. Over spring break the team will tour California where they play seven games in that number of days. Highlights of that trip will be games against San Jose State and Stanford. The tune-ups against this week's opponents will hopefully prepare BSU for the rigors of the road.