Thomas Elected ASBSU President

BSU-Boise State University will be pre-registering currently enrolled students for the Fall 1860 semester July 7-18. Students should pick up pre-registration materials from the Registrar's Office (Room 105, Administration Building) between 8:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and until 5:00 p.m. on Friday.

Students enrolling for less than 8 credit hours or more than 8 credit hours must see an advisor prior to completing pre-registration. Advisors are recommended for students enrolling for fewer than 8 credit hours.

Those receiving incomplete schedules will be allowed to add courses at that time.

Pre-registration for new students will be held in the Student Union Building on June 19, 20, and 21. To be eligible, students must submit an application and be accepted no later than June 12, 1980.

Students enrolling for 8 credit hours or more will be mailed to all pre-registered students July 16 with fee payment required no later than August 8.

Evening students who did not pre-register may register by telephone in July for classes with space left after pre-registration. More information about this will be available in July.
April Fools Special

Nesting Fund Cut

April Fool's scandal hits the Maltese banks as currently under construction in front of the business building at Boise State University. A large portion of construction is currently underway, and it is predicted that the banks will be completed and ready for use by the end of the year. President John Pasek has had to announce the turn-around with The Bank's credit line. The cut has come as a surprise to many, especially after the recent news of the Maltese banks facing financial difficulties.

Who will be your comissary? What will you do when the Bulgarian hordes sweep into your living room and ravage your household pets?

If you don't believe that these things can happen, your full of it. The Bulgarian take over of the West has been prophesied time and again in crazy tracts that are hundreds of days old:

"The hordes of Bulgaria will out-law hamburger," - 1858 in the Book of Common Loomes

"Look out for those Bulgarian cats, they is bad news." - 1778 in A Field Guide to North American Crazy Persons.

"The Bulgarians are going to do something extremely nasty to the western world in the year 1985." - 1645 in The Betty Cooker Crock Book.

If you don't believe us it will be T.S. for you when the Bulgarians come knocking on your split level door.

Connor's Bid for Presidency

Coach Bus Connors threw his hat in the ring last month when he announced his candidacy for the Presidency of the United States. In a surprise move, Connors called a press conference Wednesday and told engineers that he plans to win the nomination of the Democratic Party. Some may say it is a little late to get in the running," said Connors, "but exactly my delaying strategy is a great game plan. Connors wants to win the nomination of my kind of experience can do for them," said a confident Connors.

If Connors becomes President he hopes to form a Department of Athletics which would eventually become an integral part of the State Department or the Defense Department.

Instead of wars, Connors hopes to convene the nations of the world to settle their differences through athletic competition. "Just think," said Connors, "if all of our problems with the Soviet Union had been solved in the hockey game at the Winter Olympics." Connors admitted that there could be some problems if the Iranians challenged us to a camel racing contest or a foot shaving match, sports which the Iranians tend to do all the time, while the United States probably couldn't even field a full team for either sport. Connors, however, hopes that by the end of his presidency, America can beat the Soviets at one sport. In a closed room in the White House, Connors spoke of his decision to hit the campaign trail with the aid of one bored Arbiter staff member. According to Connors' campaign manager. Although the Connors' campaign has raised a number of stateprimary doubts, they hope that they will be able to pull down the nomination if they can win the crucial California primary.

"I believe that I will do well in California because it is such a sports minded state. Caliornia will realize when President Connors is in the White House how important sports are to the nation. We work well together," said Connors of his decision to hit the campaign trail with the aid of one bored Arbiter staff member. According to Connors' campaign manager. His counselor could have helped.

If he'd only asked, You see, that's what counselors are for. They can help you plan your career before you graduate. Which is precisely the topic of our next issue of "Insider"—the free supplement to your college newspaper from Ford.

We'll tell you how counselors can help take the mystery out of planning a successful career. By figuring out what you're best suited for ... and then helping you go after it. Success doesn't have to be a big secret—if you plan it right.

And while you're checking out the next issue of "Insider," be sure to checkout Ford's exciting lineup for 1980. They've got some great ideas for getting you wherever you're going; in style.

Banning the Bong: A Dopey Move

During the latter days of the recent session of the Idaho Legislature one of the oddest pieces of legislation to ever be considered in this state was not only considered, but passed by both houses and sent to the Governor to become law. This remarkable piece of legislative effluvium gave the name of Senate Bill 1461 and proposed to prohibit “possession, use, or advertising of drug paraphernalia” and even more audaciously proposes to “define drug paraphernalia as it relates to controlled substances.”

The second part of this bill would be quite an undertaking even without the first part: it is a lexicographical feat that, if one considers all the many ways in which drugs can be ingested, could result in one of the longest definitions in the history of the language. Realistically, any definition of drug paraphernalia would either be so narrow that it would be ridiculously easy to circumvent (probably what will happen), or so broad that it would include thousands of everyday items that are adopted for use by the always ingenious takes of: imagine a scenario in which narcotics police break down the doors of an operating room and take away all of the surgical clamps because they were defined as paraphernalia; or in which a policeman (foolishly) would try to relieve a cowboy more fairly than the taxing methods Iran, asking for an impartial denial or self-seeking interpretation.

Not being shackled the Idaho Legislature is not going to stop at the merely monstrous task of defining paraphernalia but also plans to prevent its sale, use, or possession—a method of preventing the drug use which is the equivalent of trying to prevent eating by making forks illegal. This bill is not going to prevent anyone from smoking any dope, all it will do is put some small businessmen out of business and waste Idaho tax dollars in foolish court cases.

As I am not an aficionado of controlled substances the hard-headed attitude that the Idaho Legislature has towards drugs really doesn’t disturb me; what disturbs me about the passage of this bill is that it clearly demonstrates that the Idaho Legislature can not be trusted. How could anyone who heard the members of the Legislature say time and again that they were determined to keep government from interfering with the rights of private citizens only to see the Idaho regime, and costly to enforce (if it can be enforced at all), and generally pointless bill ever be able to trust the legislature again? Apparently with the help of a small secretive group and a small corpo-

Tax Deductible?

Editor, the Arbiter:

According to a local television station poll, soliciting donations for the ISU Pavilion, all donors giving of $50 or more will have their names permanently inscribed within the Pavilion. What I would like to know is whether they are going to put the room to inscribe the names of all of us students who will give a mandatory donation of $25 per semester. Over 4 year period. I mean, do you support our demands that the tax be deductible as well?

A detailed schedule of conference events can be obtained by calling BSU Information Services, 355-1562.

The 200 effort by student to create our own student funded, student run public affairs research corporation is by far the largest in the history of Boise State University. An overwhelming amount of student time and energy has already gone into making the PIRG a reality.

It would be an understatement to simply say that BSU students want the Public Interest Research Group to be established; obviously there is little inherent reward in the work we have put into it so far. What the work has served to do is to keep alive the hope of many BSU students--the hope that students can actually have this organization: an organization funded by us and run by us and used by us to constructively deal with real world problems.

It's exactly this "real world," constructive experience which we seek. And yet, no matter how much we are willing to struggle to create the organization which would allow us this experience, we are limited to the real world of the student, where the decision is not up to us. As of this writing, it is not yet within our structurally determined rights as students to make the decision on using our fee statement to fund an organization believed worthwhile by more than half of us.

The university exists for students, and likewise our student fees are collected by the university for students. We believe it is, indeed, our fee statement. And, we think it is about that time our right to structure that fee statement to meet our own needs be recognized.

Likable Catastrophic Ron

This is TRS season in the press--Take Reagan Seriously. People are finding unsuspected virtues in the man--as they did with Jerry Ford when Nixon wrapped his own soiled mantle around his new vice president. Now we must learn to live with the bomb and love it.

V.T.I won't. If we are going to faill success, we'll all end up like Theodore Wiles, who cried the knee to Richard Nixon after he saw that he had won. Dopes in office are still dopes; and Ronald Reagan is just a nice dope. Ex-Novice? Richard Strout gives a nice piece of it in his TRS column in The New Republic. During his 1976 campaign, Reagan told New Hampshire voters that their state sent $15 million a year to Washington but got back only $100 million in services. They should keep the money at home and save $15 million.

A few days after hearing that line, Strout suggested to Reagan, at dinner, that he, Reagan, would become a serious force in the nation's defense. If he got his way, would stop construction of our missiles, ground our planes and subs. Why? asked Reagan. What is the Russian's plan? Strout had never thought of it that way. Obviously, the Russian's was to start, he said, and "untangle the knots." Strout was mistaken, he stand corrected. He said he could not remember where the figure came from.

This is the man who defended the shah's regime in Elizabeth Drew by saying, "There are different parts of the world with different customs than ours." This is the man who said of North Vietnam, "We would invade the place, plop it over, and be home for lunch." This is the man who advocates blockading Cuba--not aware that the Russians have only one really enthusiastic ally in the world today, one they cannot afford to abandon, no matter what. If Reagan wants nuclear war he should just declare it, rather than take the inevitable step toward it as a measure that would prevent confrontation.

This is the man who complains that we are weaker than the Russians, though 70 percent of the world's resources are on our side in the political struggle that we are winning--forces that range from China through at the Pacific and the Americas, the Atlantic and NATO and the most powerful type of the Middle East. Reagan thinks we are weak because we cannot go it alone, like a Hardman gunman. But why should we want to?

He is the man who cannot own say "Third World" without adding "war to the phrase. He is watching disaster for the country; and the fact that the country seems to want him will not raise his esteem one single inch. Admittedly, the dope seems to be winning. Sometime does. Winning. Su.

Enrollment Increasing

BSU—Spring enrollment at Boise State University has increased this year, according to figures submitted to the State Board of Education.

The spring semester reports show an on-campus count of 8,686 students, which is a 9.8 percent increase over last spring's enrollment figure of 7,910.

BSU Dean of Admissions Guy Hunt says economic conditions usually play a big role in university enrollment figures.

"As the economic situation becomes more difficult, more people look toward a better station in life, and university enrollment figures go up," he says.

This might also explain the sharp 15 percent increase in part-time students at BSU, since most people working toward a career change return to school on a part-time basis, he says.

Using the State Board's full-time equivalent formula, BSU's academic enrollment is up 6.9 percent.

The FTE formula is used to measure full-time enrollment. One undergraduate FTE equals 15 credits, and one graduate FTE equals 12 credits.

This spring Boise State's FTE of 61G3 is 426 more than a year ago.

The on-campus academic count for the spring is 449 under last year.

won a half term by a vote of 155-129.

Kay Kemp beat Anita Verdwell for the Business school's full Senate term 144-135.

In the School of Education the full-term seat was awarded to Debbie Brooks, while the half term seat went to write-in candidate Bob Bredell, 43-23.

It was Bev Nicol over Helen Holt (62-14) for the full term Senate seat in the Health and Science school. Holt will serve a half term.

Finally, Mike Mead received the Senate's full term seat in the Vocational Technical school while Fred Hall received the half term seat (43-35).

750 voters turned out for this year's election which is about the average, said Election Board Chairperson Steve Pailison.

According to Bullington, the committee is anxious that all artists of names come before them." He further stated that they would like to receive as many as 500 suggestions and that each would be given consideration.

In a related matter, Bullington said that Keiser had recently given the Architect's Liaison Committee the charge of bringing about student interest and activity in the multi-purpose building.

In addition, Keiser has asked this group to recommend an appropriate form of student recognition for their financial support of the pavilion. This recognition could take the form of a plaque listing each student whose fees contributed to the building, or a dedicated piece of sculpture or art.

Teacher Shortage Predicted

BSU—Teachers—who for years seemed to be scarce again. The tight job market that faced teachers in the last decade has changed so much that many school districts are already having a difficult time filling some slots, according to Richard Rapp, director of Boise State's placement office.

The shortages are now in certain fields like math, science, special education, music, and bilingual education. But Rapp predicts it won't be too many years before elementary school teachers will be in short supply.

School of Education dean Richard Hart said last fall he received seven calls from desperate superintendents who had openings in math. "We had nobody to recommend, and my contacts in the Mf-Wst couldn't find anyone available either," Hart said.

"It took us three years to convince students there was a teacher surplus...now it will take us another three years to convince them there is a shortage and another four years to fill them," he says.

Enrollment figures at BSU also point to a future shortage.

Students in elementary education have steadily declined from a high of 549 in 1970 to 384 last fall. By the time recruitment letters from Illinois, Ohio, Texas, and Kansas hit the mail, the first time that has happened since the early '70s. Jensen says he already has received recruiting letters from Idaho.

"The problem is more serious in rural areas because most teachers want to remain in cities," Jensen said.

Rapp explained, 'is that the number of education graduates has dropped at the same time as the number of school children has increased in the Northwest. In addition, he says more teachers are leaving jobs in education because of the uncertain budget picture and low salaries.

And the number of women interested, in teaching has dropped as opportunities in other professions have opened up, Rapp added. One national study reported that 36 percent of the freshmen women in 1969 wanted to teach. In 1979 only 10 percent listed teaching as a career goal.

Rapp's conclusions are seconded by John Jensen, chairman of BSU's Department of Teacher Education.

"Superintendents tell me this has been one of the most difficult recruiting years they've had. The problem is more serious in rural areas because most teachers want to remain in cities," Jensen said.

Jensen is worried because it takes several years before teachers can reach the market after a shortage has been recognized.

"It took us three years to convince students there was a teacher surplus...now it will take us another three years to convince them there is a shortage and another four years to fill them," he says.

Enrollment figures at BSU also point to a future shortage.

Students in elementary education have steadily declined from a high of 549 in 1970 to 384 last fall. The decline in secondary education fields is even more serious, as the table showing "area of interest" enrollment indicates.
The Executive Task Force received an allocation of $500 for bringing handicapped alumni speakers to Boise State University.

The Student Programs Board received $850 which will be used for a university Beach Party dance.

The student senate receives a portion of each full-time student fee for allocations to clubs, organizations and projects. Any campus sponsored activity can be presented to the Student Senate system for an allocation. To receive the money the Senate must vote for their approval.

The Horsers Council received $222 for travel expenses for a conference in San Diego, California.

The International Student Association received a $400 loan to put on their Song and Dance Festival. Proceeds from the Festival will repay the loan.

The Callope Committee received a $1400 loan and an allocation of $1500. The Callope Committee will repay their loan through donations they hope to receive from the community.

The Boise State University Athletic Trainers were allocated $150 to attend a training conference in Moscow, Idaho. This money will cover travel expenses only.

The Student Nurses Association received $150 for travel expenses.

PCP, LSD Use Up

(National On-Campus Report)

While the "mystery drug" PCP appears to be growing in campus popularity, officials in some areas are warning that LSD, a popular drug in the 60's, is now making a comeback.

Use of PCP is a growing problem for college officials, not only because statistics show its use is rising but also because it is potentially lethal and difficult to trace, according to the College Press Service.

It is often mixed with other drugs, like LSD, cocaine and marijuana, say narcotics officials, although spot shortages of these drugs have caused an increase in usage of straight PCP.

The drug is also popular because laws regulating its use are vague and because it is easy to manufacture, says the Drug Enforcement Agency.

In at least two areas, however, officials report heavier usage of LSD, a drug thought to have died in popularity after the 60's. In San Francisco and at the U. of Michigan, narcotics officers have seen a heavy increase in LSD cases.

Northern California law enforcement officials say LSD use there is up 1400% since 1977.

Board of Education Divides Funding

BOISE—The State Board of Education will distribute Fiscal Year 1981 appropriations of $79,850,700 among Idaho's higher education institutions during an April 3 meeting at Pocatello.

The session, open to the public, is scheduled from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Thursday and 8:30 a.m. to noon Friday in room 406 of the Idaho State University Student Union Building.

During the meeting, the Board will divide an appropriation of $17,497,700 between North Idaho College and the College of Southern Idaho for expenditure during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

For the senior institutions, the Idaho Legislature appropriated a total of $75,736,000, with $65,838,500 of the total coming from the state's general account. The Board will distribute these funds to Idaho State University, the University of Idaho, Lewis-Clark State College, and Boise State University.

Also during the meeting Board members will consider general salary policies for implementation by the institutions, agencies and departments under Board governance. Specific salary proposals will be brought to the Board at its May meeting, followed by presentation of proposed FY81 operating budgets at the June session.

The April meeting will begin at 8:30 a.m. “Joint session” for matters of interest to more than one agency or institution. That session will include discussion of fund distribution, and proposals from accounting firms bidding to become the Board's contract auditor through 1984, and suggestions to make Information used by the Board in its annual cost study comparable among institutions.

Following presentation of agenda proposals from the higher education institutions and the Division of Vocational Education on Thursday, the Board will begin its evaluation of sessions with the presidents and directors of private-governed institutions and agencies.

Biologist Discusses Magical Mushrooms

BSU-Boise State University biologist Dr. Marcia Wellow-Howard will give a slide-lecture on "Vald Mushrooms: Editable, Poisonous, and Magical" Tuesday, April 8.

The program, which is open to the public, will begin at 8 p.m. in the Boiseian Lounge of the BSU Student Union Building. It is the seventh in this year's University Lecture Series.

"Wild mushrooms," Wellow-Howard says, "have long been a food delicacy, but at the same time have been feared because of the toxins which some contain. Sometimes, they are regarded as objects of mystery, and even associated with the supernatural." She will discuss and show slides on the fungi's sudden appearances and disappearances without visible means of reproduction, their vivid colors, fantastic shapes and hallucinogenic properties.

Included in the lecture will be slides of tropical fungi from her stay in Melbourne, Australia from 1971-75 where she taught botany at Monash University before coming to Boise State.

An associate professor of biology at BSU, Wellow-Howard has studied fungi and participated in botanical field work throughout the Northwest and in Australia. She received her bachelor's and master's degrees from San Francisco State University, and her doctorate from Oregon State.

The University Lecture Series is sponsored by the Associated Student body of Boise State and the Boise State University Student Organization, which requests scholarship donations for attendance at the lecture.

KBSU Holds Fund Drive

KBSU, Boise State University's Non-Commercial radio station, is about to begin a series of fund raising events during the month of April. These events will offer many opportunities for the public to support alternative programming in the Treasure Valley.

The fund raising campaign will be highlighted by a week long rock concert beginning Saturday, April 20, and running through Saturday, April 26.

KBSU's $7,000 operation is located on the campus of Boise State University. Current funding power is 10 watts. However, output power will increase to 1000 watts in the near future, which would allow us to better serve the public.

The goal of this campaign is to raise $7,000.00 for KBSU's operating budget.

For more information, contact KBSU at 385-3603.

Rock Group to Entertain

Jerusalem Sweetwater, one of Boise's finest rock groups, will be appearing at Grampa May's on Tuesday, April 16, from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.

This music event is in the series of benefit functions intended to raise much needed money for KBSU's operating budget.

This event provides the opportunity for the public to support non-commercial radio in the Treasure Valley.

For more information, contact KBSU at 385-3603.

Fall's figure of 9,137

According to Hunt, a decrease in enrollment between fall and spring semesters is traditional.

This figure, however, is significantly lower than last year's, when enrollment suffered a drop of 1,169 between fall of 1978 and spring, 1979.

Hunt attributes this difference to BSU's increased emphasis on academic advising.

While resident enrollment is on the upswing, the number of non-resident students at Boise State has slipped. Last fall BSU was down 42, and this spring, reports show another drop of 55 non-resident students.

Hunt says in addition to the $150 non-resident tuition increase last fall, a new residency law implemented July 1, 1979 probably accounts for the sharp decline.

The new law states that any student, regardless of age, whose parents live in the state of Idaho and provide more than 50 percent of his support shall be considered a resident.

Hunt says this law has changed the residency status of a significant number of students who had previously been registered as non-residents.

Vocational full-time enrollment increased from 694 last spring to 699 this spring, while continuing education dropped from 670 to 740.
BSU Takes Regional

The BSU gymnastics team rolled to its second consecutive NCAA Regional Championships. A fourth place finish at nationals, the best finish ever in Boise gymnastics's history, topped off the team's outstanding year.

BSU became regional champions by earning a team score of 131.05. Centenary College with 132.55, which was beaten only by Centenary College with 144.65, Denver University 136.55, and West Chester State topping 138.55.

The outstanding team performance was further enhanced by two Broncos qualifying for the finals of the individual events for the first time ever. Shaalah Astor again lead the BSU gymnasts by placing seventh on the balance beam. Astor qualified with an 8.65 and finished with a combined average of 8.425. Lori Talbot followed with an eleventh place on the uneven bars. Talbot's score of 8.75 qualified her for finals.

"We really had a super performance," coach Head commented the team. "I was pleased and proud of the way our team competed. It was a meet of the highest quality and a fourth place finish is excellent."

Broncos Open Conference

The baseball team opens Nor-Pac Conference play this weekend with four games scheduled against Gonzaga University in Spokane. The Bulldogs, always a conference title contender, host BSU in a doubleheader. The two teams met again for a twin-bill on Saturday.

BSU, 5-15 on the season, snapped an eight game losing streak against Washington State University 10-9 in the first of a doubleheader this past Tuesday. WVU came back to take the nightcap, 11-9.

The loss to BSU was only WVU's second of the season. They now have a 30-2 record. They were ranked fourth in the nation last week. The Broncos have probably the most aggressive schedule, meeting Westem powers such as Utah, BYU, UNLV, and VAIL.

Mike Enright leads the Broncos in hitting with a .360 batting average. Tim Hayes has three home runs to lead the team. Hayes also assists the team in RH with 11. Scott Williams has 10 RBIs.

"I thought we played pretty well overall this past weekend," BSU baseball coach Ross Vaughn said. "We were really impressed with Utah. We played well against them but they are a fine team."

Track Team Meets Montana

The Broncos dropped a pair to the Utes, 4-2 and 9-4.

"It was a relief to finally break that losing streak, especially against a fine team like Washington State. Our guys are playing better and hitting the ball much better now," Vaughn added. Vaughn said he was pleased with his team's defensive play. The Broncos did not commit any errors against Utah.

Regarding the upcoming series with Gonzaga, Vaughn said the Broncos have an excellent club and have been playing very well lately. Gonzaga comes into the series with BSU sporting a 19-7 overall record.

"I think Gonzaga is the team to beat in the Nor-Pac conference this season," he said. "They have a couple of pitchers that have been with them for four years and they throw very well. However, I think they're the best hitting club in the league. They have tough hitters all the way through the order."

Boise State gymnast gives a super performance at the national tournament in Shreveport, LA, placing fourth.
Memorial Race Set

(Big Sky)—The 20th annual Vince Aguine Memorial Public Ski Race (formerly the Royal Cup) has been set for 1:00 p.m. Wednesday, April 5, on Bogus Basin's Sunset run.

The race, an easy giant slalom, will be open to any adult and will carry a $3.00 entry fee. All proceeds will go to the Vince Aguine Memorial Scholarship Fund at Boise State University.

Golf Team Holds Meet

(Boise)—Following the spring's first competition in Reno, the Boise State University golf team looks ahead to two meets at home.

The Broncos will host the 18 hole Tri-State Meet at Boise's Warm Springs Golf Course, Saturday, April 5. BSU, Northwest Nazarene and Walla Walla will compete in the one-day tournament.

Then on April 10-11, the Broncos host the BSU Invitational, also at Warm Springs Golf Course. On Thursday, the 10th, 36 holes will be played. On Friday, the concluding 18 holes will be played.

BSU golf coach Lyman Gallup said he has heard that Weber State, who won the last year with their second team, intends to bring their first team to compete. Gallup said Montana, Utah and Idaho State have also been invited but he does not know yet if they will compete.

The Broncos finished last in the 10 team field at the three-day Reno Tournament this past week. The 54-hole competition was held over three courses, Lakeridge, Wild Creek and Hidden Valley.

Low scorer for Boise State was Jess Holdeman, who finished with a 244. Rusty Mertens carded a 245. Chris Higgin was next with a 254, followed by Ron Rawls at 257, Brad Bowen at 262 and Rob Ellis at 276.

"We didn't play very well and had trouble playing courses we hadn't seen before," Gallup said. "The courses were especially tough on us and we used a lot of putts in the tournament. We hope things start to get better," he added.

BSU Hosts' Tennis Tourney

by Bud Humphrey
Arbiter Staff

JMU—After a long series of hard matches away from home against more-experienced squads, the Boise State tennis team will host its own tournament with some familiar schools April 3-5. Featuring three teams BSU could face in the Big Sky tournament later this month—Idaho, Idaho State and Weber State—the meet will be held at Boise Racquet and Swim Club, 1116 N. Cole Rd.

Weber and Idaho usually vie for the conference championship every year. Weber has already beaten BSU this year, and coach Don Owen said, "We are looking forward to a rematch."

The Broncos' top player, Steve Appleton, looks in fine shape after last weekend's University of Oregon Invitational. Appleton won three straight three-set matches against players from Oregon, Portland and Whitman and was voted the tournament's outstanding player.

After six matches, the Broncos are 1-5, having lost to Weber, Utah, BYU, Oregon and Portland, but defeated Whitman College 9-0. Nearly all the opponents had played more matches than the Broncos when they met.

After this meet, the Broncos will have two weeks to prepare for the first round of the Big Sky playoffs, against Montana, Montana State and Idaho. In Missouri, MO, the top two teams in the meet will advance to the Big Sky finals Mv 1-3.

The scholarship, established nearly ten years ago, is awarded to a BSU student who has been active in skiing with a future in some aspect of the industry.

Following the race, a special awards ceremony will be held at 5:00 p.m. at the Gazebo. Door prizes, including a 1960-61 Bogus Basin season pass, will be given away. The public is invited to attend.
John Fox, an assistant football coach at United States International University last season, has been selected to replace Vic Campo as defensive secondary coach for the Boise State University football team.

The selection by head coach Lyle Criner is pending approval of the Idaho State Board of Education.

Lyle Settenich was originally elected to take over for Campo, who is now at Oregon State, but has moved to linebacker coach and defensive coordinator after the departure of Chuck Banker. Banker joined the staff of the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL.

"This is a great opportunity for me to join a successful program like Boise State," said the 25-year-old Fox. "It will be a very challenging position and one that I look forward to."

Fox doesn't plan any major changes in the defense that helped lead the Broncos to a 10-1 season in 1979.

"With two new defensive coaches on the football staff this year, we will not have much time to get accustomed to the defensive package," he said. "Basically we'll be going with what was used last year."

An Apollo 14 astronaut, two of America's top futurists, a University of Washington author, and the founder of the first state office of energy in the country will all be at Boise State University April 8-12 to speak at a conference on "Toward the Year 2000: Public Policy and the Future."

The four-day conference, which will be held in the BSU Student Union Building, is designed to engage citizens and policymakers in a discussion of issues that will impact the Northwest in the future according to political science professor and organizer Richard Mitchell.

The conference will open Tuesday, April 8 with a keynote address by Dr. Edgar Mitchell, an Apollo 14 astronaut and the sixth man to explore the moon. He will talk on "The Challenges of the Future" at 8 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom.

Wednesday will feature two talks by futurist author Willis Harmon. The first, on "The Transformation Ahead: Changing Institutions and Society," will begin at 9:30 a.m. The second on "Perspectives for the Future: Changing Belief Systems," will start at 1:15 p.m. Both will be in the SUB Ballroom.

Wednesday events will conclude with an 8 p.m. talk in the SUB Ballroom on "Can American Capitalism Survive?" by Dr. Kenneth Walters, an associate professor in the Department of Business, Government and Society at the University of Washington. Walters will speak on "Toward the Year 2000: Public Policy and the Future."

The conference will continue with a Saturday speech on "The Policy Challenges Ahead: The Role of Government" by Boise attorney Bob Bushnell, Jr., at 1 a.m. in the SUB Ballroom. Bushnell, a local futurist specializing in complex social and political systems and their management, was a former legal counsel with the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare.

Following that, the conference will break into separate workshops on the role of local and state government in the future. Panels will include representatives from business, education and government.

The conference will conclude on Monday, April 14, with a speech by Senator James McClure on "A Congressional Look at Policy Challenges of the Future."

This week the reviewers saw "Aff That Jazz," starring Roy Scheider and Ben Vereen.

Karl Knapp (★★★)

The common sentiment concerning Bob Fosse's "Aff That Jazz" seems to be one of disappointment; this is not, unfortunately, a film that lives up to its advanced billing. Our expectations had far outweighed our first impressions of the film itself. However, when seeing "Aff That Jazz," completely disregard any derogatory remarks you might have heard about this movie. While perhaps it is not everything it is cracked up to be, "Aff That Jazz" is nevertheless an exciting, moving, and entertaining film. First and foremost, the dancing is superb (it seems highly unlikely that Fosse would botch this up), and while the movie's apparent obsession with death may turn some people off, Roy Scheider's portrayal of the burnt-out Joe Gideon is brilliant. Also effective are the confrontations between Gideon and the angel of death (Jessica Lange), leading us into the darkest corners of Gideon's guilt-ridden conscience. But if you have no particular affinity for death and you hated Jews so much that you swore you'd never go to another film with Roy Scheider, see "Aff That Jazz" for the dancing.

Marlene Flagg (★★★)

"Bob Fosse's "Aff That Jazz" has all the elements of a flashy, well-produced Broadway musical. The dancing, music, costume and staging are all first-class. Roy Scheider's portrayal of Joe Gideon, Fosse's screen alter-ego, is witty and restrained. Anne Reel King and Leland Palmer, two of New York's top dancers, prove to be surprisingly competent actresses. Fosse's film deals largely with his personal battle with escaping time and imminent death. Much of the writing is snappy and direct for the first half of the film, but Fosse's plot and direction wander during the last half of the movie. The dream-like fantasy sequences are so laughable they almost work. Almost. Despite his breast-beating self-indulgences, Fosse is the best choreographer around. This movie demonstrates why.

Anthony Hunt (★★★)

Is one of those horrible mass media productions with something for everyone and nothing of substance for anyone. For children, there's a winsome-yet-spunky girl-child; for adults, there's a pli-popping chain-smoking womanizing choreographer; for Broadway buffs, a few, muddled musical hits from the Great White Way of Yesterday; for those interested in the buff, a sill, sexually sizzling exotic dance sequence; for film freaks, a Fellini-esque White Angel of Death who appears with deadly dull regularity; and for those seeking deeper meaning, an open-heart surgery operation. The heart of this Hollywood hype is a picaresque, off-key and flat-footed - to mix a deserved metaphor.

Dear Beth,

I'm a 19-year-old freshman from -- I'm flunking all my classes, my high-school girlfriend won't return my calls, I've already washed the summer savings on beer, and I live in Charlie Hall. If I quit school I have to go back home to Mattie and work in my father's auto body shop for the rest of my life. What should I do?

Sincerely,
