Although this file was scanned from the highest-quality microfilm held by Boise State University, it reveals the limitations of the source microfilm. It is possible to perform a text search of much of this material; however, there are sections where the source microfilm was too faint or unreadable to allow for text scanning. For assistance with this collection of student newspapers, please contact Special Collections and Archives at archives@boisestate.edu.
Ruch refuses to resign

President's leadership challenged

By Andy Benson and Rosemary Holloway

Boise State President Charles Ruch said he feels pain and passion about his leadership role. Tuesday, ASBSU President Nino Peterson announced he would resign at the end of the spring semester.

Ruch cited Ruch's commitment to challenges such as the budget crisis, the new $12.8 billion and the People's Partnership as what he characterized as the BSU President's major initiatives.

The announcement was made during Peterson's State of the Student Address in the ASBSU Student Center.

"I agree with the recommendations proposed. I do not wish to resign," he said.

Ruch and the board are coming out stronger and clearer.

Ruch said a major concern was the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

Ruch said that the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

"I agree with the recommendations proposed. I do not wish to resign," he said.

Ruch said a major concern was the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

Ruch said that the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

"I agree with the recommendations proposed. I do not wish to resign," he said.

Ruch said a major concern was the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

Ruch said that the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

"I agree with the recommendations proposed. I do not wish to resign," he said.

Ruch said a major concern was the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

Ruch said that the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

"I agree with the recommendations proposed. I do not wish to resign," he said.

Ruch said a major concern was the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

Ruch said that the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

"I agree with the recommendations proposed. I do not wish to resign," he said.

Ruch said a major concern was the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

Ruch said that the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

"I agree with the recommendations proposed. I do not wish to resign," he said.

Ruch said a major concern was the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

Ruch said that the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

"I agree with the recommendations proposed. I do not wish to resign," he said.

Ruch said a major concern was the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.

Ruch said that the student body's need for changes, coming out stronger and clearer.
Boise State needs repairs...or does it?

By Skye Bishop

You may know where the Boise State Women's Center is located, but do you know what goes on there?
The Women's Center is located across from the Student Union Building on Campus Drive.
The Women's Center is designed to provide support services for women at Boise State University. It is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Women's Center provides counseling, support groups, and educational programs for women. The center offers services to students, faculty, and staff.

Mental Health Services
The Women's Center offers mental health services to students, faculty, and staff. Services include individual counseling, group therapy, and crisis intervention.

Relationship Violence Support Group
The Women's Center sponsors a Relationship Violence Support Group. The group provides a safe and supportive environment where women can discuss their experiences and receive support.

Non-Traditional Women's Mentoring Group
The Women's Center sponsors a Non-Traditional Women's Mentoring Group. The group provides mentorship and support for women who are returning to college after a break.

Academic Success
The Women's Center supports academic success by providing resources and assistance to students.

Financial Aid
The Women's Center provides financial aid information and assistance to students.

Ticket Prices
The Women's Center offers ticket prices for events. For more information, visit http://www.idahotickets.com.

Boise State Women's Center Events
The Women's Center sponsors events throughout the year. Events include workshops, seminars, and conferences.

For more information about the Women's Center, visit http://www.boisestate.edu/womenscenter.
By Andy Benson

The 450-square-foot property, which is a white timber frame, is located at 929 Warm Springs Avenue. The property was also for renovation last year, but the lowest bid submitted was too high for the university. According to Dean Gunderson, the university was forced to put the property on the market, but the lowest bid was still too high.

"The majority of the bill will be paid by the State of Idaho," said Gunderson.

The bidding process should be finished in February and it is hoped construction will begin in the spring. In total, the project will cost $133,000, so far $60,000 has been raised for the restoration of the building and the site of Idaho will spend $33,000 on exterior repairs.

The Langroise House, which was designed by William H. and Gladys Langroise, was built in 1927. Glodys Langroise died at the age of 72 in 1977. The house has been vacant since then, but the university wants to preserve it for posterity.

The university doesn't have a plan as of yet for restoring the garden, but does plan eventually to bring it back to its former prominence. To preserve historical provenance, the university will primarily work on the interior of the building. The restoration of the landscaping will take some time.

According to Dean Gunderson, the university wants to even better maintain the property. He said, "It's a piece of history and we're going to preserve it for posterity." After years of slashing education spending for schools, highways and health care, many state lawmakers are looking for cuts, Carey said. And things arc expected to get worse.

In Indiana, Democratic Gov. Frank O'Bannon went on television to call for increased taxes to overcome the state's $1.6 billion deficit, many state lawmakers are looking for cuts, Carey said. And things arc expected to get worse.

The search for safer cigarettes continues. We've already experienced a decline in the sale of cigarettes, but we're not giving up yet.

The study also found that Havard Gardens, which sat in the low-tar category, was popular because it was marketed." The search for safer cigarettes continues.
Slavery reparations are a bad idea

By Taylor Hummel

The longer I stay in college, the more I have come to realize that marriage is a serious and intimate commitment. It is a promise to another person to stand by them through thick and thin. It is a pact to love and cherish them for the rest of your life. But is it really necessary to have a legal contract that can be violated at any time just because someone can’t be trusted? You would think that marriage would be a step up from the marriage of convenience backs in the day, but why would someone want to get married if they don’t have a legal contract to fall back on? That’s what I’ve been thinking about lately.

The traditional marriage is supposed to last a lifetime, but what happens when one of the partners breaks that promise? Do they just live together and have children? Is that really marriage? Is that what we call marriage these days? It seems like people are taking marriage more lightly these days, which is why I believe that a legal contract is necessary. It’s just a way to make sure that both partners are committed to the relationship.

What is right when protecting our rights

By Cass Bacon

Slavery reparations are a bad idea

By Alex Bahan

The best way for this country to start...
By Leonce Skazoff

New York Daily News

Attention Kroart shoppers!

If you, like me, can think of no better place to buy Elmo L'squeezed to death by Wal-Mart, being chic and cheap, Kroart, Mart and Target: Wal-Mart "being sloppy, spotty, underdressed, .

very idea of - hallelujah! - had only a mere half century days of the five-and-ten, Still, there must be some-ds, giant discount stores. New York...

Karen Vernon, 25, a secretary whose digs are decorated in deals, even on food. I once this huge can of coffee .

Dime store. By the 1950s, it department store. Of the Blue Light Special. This

Ind., Kroart in 1965. Anxious and gave shoppeared, only to resurface a people only 15 minutes to grab

Sweat breaks out when we find ourselves in need of a well go with it.

Sweat breaks out when we

the death of Woolworth's. Still, many of us have thing that !

A bookstore doesn't provide good cusmention, the Bookstore doesn't provide good cus-in upcoming exams and prepare, I must also like the internet or the book swap. It's our

The customer needs us to be there to information call

4951 S

If you ask me, the stu-

and competitors for reserved books.

Rick Schlacki

Friday and Saturday night special!

Have your Pre-funk party with us!

Ladies all your drinks are free from 8-9pm

Men you can have $.50 cent, 16 ounce pounder beers from 9-10 pm

Tuesday night:

By one well drink or draft beer and your second one is free all night long

Wednesday:

Alive after five might be over, but our Wednesday night BFDF parties are not

$1.00 domestic 16 oz. drafts

$2.00 16 oz. Micro (yep that includes Fat Tire)

Thursday Night:

Ladies Night!

Ladies all your drinks are only $1.00 all night long.

Guys you will have to accept the fact that you will pay full price on this night.

Do you have a private party to plan? The Bistro has up to four different rooms, so we can make your party a great success. We can handle anything from 5 people to 500. For more information call 345-9535 seek for Ted.
Vombaur wins match at All-Star Wrestling Classic

By Michael Rosenberg

The Arbiter

Pittsburgh - They weren't supposed to win their fourth straight and fifth in six races.

The student athletes in the field, however, had a different view of the outcome. The student athletic trainers had a different view as well.

The worst injury Scifres has ever seen was most devastating because: "I've seen wrestlers come in with broken legs, but that was the most devastating," Scifres said. "We learn the skill of watching the players and try to catch the injury before it gets worse."

According to McClyenst, student athletic trainers are required to observe and be able to evaluate film and also assist the graduate student trainers in the current practice and orientation practices.

Kolesar said the worst injury she's ever seen was a broken bone.

"There's really not a whole lot that the student athletic trainers can do," Kolesar said. "We help the student athletes get better, but they still have to be the main focus of treatment."
Keep in mind the last left knee had previously had five operations.

In her autobiography, "Pictabo: Nothing to Hide," Picabo Street writes about her struggle with lupus and how it affected her. She describes how the disease and a head injury have left her with ongoing pain and limitations.

Street has been a role model for others who have faced similar challenges. Her determination and resilience have inspired many to overcome their own obstacles.

Picabo Street's career on the World Cup tour, which has included two World Cup championships, has been marked by both ups and downs. She faced a head injury in 1996 that forced her to take a break from competitive skiing, but she returned to the sport with a renewed determination.

Street's story is one of perseverance and a love for the sport. Despite the challenges she has faced, she has remained committed to her passion for skiing and the values it represents.
"Art" was the keyword at "Project Lithium," the third event of its sort presented by the Northwest Liberal Arts Association on Jan. 25 at the State Arts Board. The event was organized to give performing artists a chance to present their work in a specific place at a specific time, and in an organized manner. The event was started by the group in order to give performing artists a chance to present their work in a specific place at a specific time, and in an organized manner. The event was started by the group in order to give performing artists a chance to present their work in a specific place at a specific time, and in an organized manner.

I had to drop in today to tell the staff for their determination in providing a forum for local art (from hereon a blanket term). "Art" has never been heard of, and word could not be made before heart again. It was like witnessing the giant, shifting amalgamation of art manifested by a collaborative community of artists. This week, I was quite satisfied. What a shift that was.

Upstairs, a poster appeared from this mish-mash of stuff was the back-and-north-east between local DP's and bands, a sound, for the most part, was heard - DP's were pushing an upbeat and lively beat that everyone was joining in and not just drumming their fingers until all hours of the morning, this was organizing the audience and bringing bands, DP's and posters of alley walls, sculptures, and even a few millimeters to converge in a specific place at a specific time and in an organized manner. The event was started by the group in order to give performing artists a chance to present their work in a specific place at a specific time, and in an organized manner.

I had to drop in today to tell the staff for their determination in providing a forum for local art (from hereon a blanket term). "Art" has never been heard of, and word could not be made before heart again. It was like witnessing the giant, shifting amalgamation of art manifested by a collaborative community of artists. This week, I was quite satisfied. What a shift that was.

Upstairs, a poster appeared from this mish-mash of stuff was the back-and-north-east between local DP's and bands, a sound, for the most part, was heard - DP's were pushing an upbeat and lively beat that everyone was joining in and not just drumming their fingers until all hours of the morning, this was organizing the audience and bringing bands, DP's and posters of alley walls, sculptures, and even a few millimeters to converge in a specific place at a specific time and in an organized manner. The event was started by the group in order to give performing artists a chance to present their work in a specific place at a specific time, and in an organized manner.

I had to drop in today to tell the staff for their determination in providing a forum for local art (from hereon a blanket term). "Art" has never been heard of, and word could not be made before heart again. It was like witnessing the giant, shifting amalgamation of art manifested by a collaborative community of artists. This week, I was quite satisfied. What a shift that was.

Upstairs, a poster appeared from this mish-mash of stuff was the back-and-north-east between local DP's and bands, a sound, for the most part, was heard - DP's were pushing an upbeat and lively beat that everyone was joining in and not just drumming their fingers until all hours of the morning, this was organizing the audience and bringing bands, DP's and posters of alley walls, sculptures, and even a few millimeters to converge in a specific place at a specific time and in an organized manner. The event was started by the group in order to give performing artists a chance to present their work in a specific place at a specific time, and in an organized manner.

I had to drop in today to tell the staff for their determination in providing a forum for local art (from hereon a blanket term). "Art" has never been heard of, and word could not be made before heart again. It was like witnessing the giant, shifting amalgamation of art manifested by a collaborative community of artists. This week, I was quite satisfied. What a shift that was.

Upstairs, a poster appeared from this mish-mash of stuff was the back-and-north-east between local DP's and bands, a sound, for the most part, was heard - DP's were pushing an upbeat and lively beat that everyone was joining in and not just drumming their fingers until all hours of the morning, this was organizing the audience and bringing bands, DP's and posters of alley walls, sculptures, and even a few millimeters to converge in a specific place at a specific time and in an organized manner. The event was started by the group in order to give performing artists a chance to present their work in a specific place at a specific time, and in an organized manner.

I had to drop in today to tell the staff for their determination in providing a forum for local art (from hereon a blanket term). "Art" has never been heard of, and word could not be made before heart again. It was like witnessing the giant, shifting amalgamation of art manifested by a collaborative community of artists. This week, I was quite satisfied. What a shift that was.

Upstairs, a poster appeared from this mish-mash of stuff was the back-and-north-east between local DP's and bands, a sound, for the most part, was heard - DP's were pushing an upbeat and lively beat that everyone was joining in and not just drumming their fingers until all hours of the morning, this was organizing the audience and bringing bands, DP's and posters of alley walls, sculptures, and even a few millimeters to converge in a specific place at a specific time and in an organized manner. The event was started by the group in order to give performing artists a chance to present their work in a specific place at a specific time, and in an organized manner.

I had to drop in today to tell the staff for their determination in providing a forum for local art (from hereon a blanket term). "Art" has never been heard of, and word could not be made before heart again. It was like witnessing the giant, shifting amalgamation of art manifested by a collaborative community of artists. This week, I was quite satisfied. What a shift that was.

Upstairs, a poster appeared from this mish-mash of stuff was the back-and-north-east between local DP's and bands, a sound, for the most part, was heard - DP's were pushing an upbeat and lively beat that everyone was joining in and not just drumming their fingers until all hours of the morning, this was organizing the audience and bringing bands, DP's and posters of alley walls, sculptures, and even a few millimeters to converge in a specific place at a specific time and in an organized manner. The event was started by the group in order to give performing artists a chance to present their work in a specific place at a specific time, and in an organized manner.

I had to drop in today to tell the staff for their determination in providing a forum for local art (from hereon a blanket term). "Art" has never been heard of, and word could not be made before heart again. It was like witnessing the giant, shifting amalgamation of art manifested by a collaborative community of artists. This week, I was quite satisfied. What a shift that was.
Drip. Drip. Drop.
Red clouds billow around their pale forms.
"To suffer. To suffer for all, again." She lifts a tiny head, crossing her eyes to close them.
"This, I cannot do:" She brings his tiny lifeless hands covered in blood to her trembling lips.
"I cannot allow the world to see this:" She folds her arms tight across her breast, hiding the profanity that the world has shown her.
"She is the Arbiter seeking short fiction, and every word is precious." From the first line, Panetta's eponymous debut, the group's creative prime is already behind them.

"I Am Sam" is an emotional ride
By Michael M. Reddick
"I Am Sam" is an emotional roller coaster with a new step, but not a new story.

The dramatic effect is further complicated by the overshadowing themes throughout the film. Sam, Forrester's new born, was never born. His parents,וץ and his wife, both know he is not theirs. It's all a lie, a lie to satisfy the audience's curiosity.

On the fourth floor, the three children, who were once a family, are now just strangers. The only hand that ever held Sam is his own. The only eyes that ever saw his father are his own.

The majority of the film plays out behind closed doors. The audience is never shown what a child's heart and soul can tell you. The only way they can understand his character's development. The only way they can understand his character's confusion is by his character's actions. The coherence, excitement and pace of Pink Floyd's music are unmatched. Pink Floyd's music is a masterpiece of craft. It is the only way they can understand his character's confusion.

"Because of our first love, no one can ever share with me."

Floyd's legacy.

"Fortunately, Waters' for-"..."lative to Barrett after he was"..."provided by "Pink Floyd's latest cash cow"..."Pink Floyd's legacy."

"The group has a good start. After-..."..."But it is only her immense heart that can hold the fact that Panetta completely overshadows her in this film."..."Over all, "Sunny Day" is..."..."The group's creative prime is far beyond the pot-smoking teenager of yesteryear he..."..."The group's creative prime is already behind them.

"I'm Sam" is a musical with a new step, but not a new story. The group has a good start. After..."..."But it is only her immense heart that can hold the fact that Panetta completely overshadows her in this film."..."Over all, "Sunny Day" is..."..."The group's creative prime is far beyond the pot-smoking teenager of yesteryear he..."..."The group's creative prime is already behind them.