Elections heats up

By Andy Benson

The election season heated up last week in a flurry of complaints, computerized vote tabulations and heated debate. Boise State University's student government announced that petitioning will be allowed to continue until Friday, March 28. The deadline for petitioning was April 1.

Petitioning will be allowed for the office of ASBSU president and vice president. Petitioning for the office of senator-at-large is not being allowed.

ASBSU hopes to break records with online voting

By Amy Williams

Elections for Boise State University's student government begin Wednesday in more than 200 hopes for the 10 executive and senatorial seats.

The election will be held by online voting for the second year in a row. The student government hopes to increase voter turnout and increase the number of participants.

"It makes the voting process accessible to more people because they can vote from anywhere 24 hours a day, from the privacy of their home," said Autumn Haynes, ASBSU president.

The election season will be held at 11:30 a.m. on Thursday, March 28, according to Haynes.

ASBSU President Nate Perry, who is running for re-election, said the online voting system was developed to increase voter participation.

"I think the online system is the best way to reach out to students," said Perry. "It's an easy way to vote, and I think it's more accessible to students who may not have Internet access.

"This semester we hope to break records," said Haynes. "We've already seen a significant increase in voter turnout."
Presidential candidates in their own words

Faitha Mussawi/Evangeline "Van" Beecher

We want to be in student government because we want to work for the students of Boise State University.

We've both been very involved with different entities and student organizations on campus, and we just want to continue our involvement in student government.

The first thing that we would like to do is to break the walls between the student government and the faculty. The way the university currently is set up, we are very under the radar and we feel that we can do a lot of good by making sure that the students are more vocal about things that they don't like on campus and in the community.

We will collect input from students internally through casual conversations and also through social media. The point is to make sure that we have access to their full potential, because they are quick, easy, and effective.

Our involvement in an array of diverse activities speaks to the fact that we are very devoted to establishing a versatile base for our characters. There's more for improvement, but valuable gains have been acquired by student government leadership.

We want to make student government the premier student organization by making it fun, clean, and inclusive, but also insist on being productive.

As it has only become law to one state (Wisconsin), we would like to see the ASBSU become pass a resolution in support of a Shared Governance law.

Graphic display does not promote free speech

By Charles Ruck

The fundamentalist mentality enabled the right to self-determination to thrive. The fundamentalist uses the issue of a woman's exploited, and if inflammable, the fundamentalist mentality declares war and promotes genocide. The graphic display makes it obvious that the government's fascism and absolute power and control. While their display attempts to make it seem that they are exercising freedom, they are actually using the rhetoric of fascism. The fundamentalist mentality led to the Holocaust, and abortion, birth control, and feminism are now considered acts of genocide by the fundamentalists. The graphic display makes it obvious that the American people are not free to make their own choices.
Levi Chick: rocking in the free world

By Lauren Consuelo Tyssing

If you are among the many Boiseans who have tried to find local radio, you may just have discovered the right station. Whether you’re a new local or face the same old familiar faces, you may want to try listening to Chick’s radio program, “Too Much Distortion.”

Chick offers listeners the chance to hear more than just music on the radio. His program, “Too Much Distortion,” airs every Thursday night at 9 p.m. on Boise State radio station KBSU. Chick himself has been a Boise State student since 1990, and he has thousands of fans who listen to his program every week.

Chick stresses that his program is not just about playing music, but rather about creating an environment where listeners can connect with each other and with the music. He believes that music can be a powerful tool for creating change and for connecting people.

Chick’s program is known for its eclectic mix of music, ranging from heavy metal to rock and punk. The program also includes interviews with local artists and musicians, providing a platform for them to share their music and their stories. Chick’s program is a community-oriented show that celebrates the diversity of local music.

Chick’s program also includes listener requests, allowing fans to request their favorite songs and to connect with other listeners. Chick’s program is a platform for great local talent, and it is a place where listeners can find something new to listen to. Chick’s program is a unique and creative outlet for local musicians and for listeners who want to discover new music.

Chick’s program is a testament to the power of radio and the role it plays in our lives. Chick’s program is a reminder that radio can be a powerful way to connect people, to inspire change, and to celebrate the diversity of our communities.

Brent Jensen Quartet recalls Desmond

Brent Jensen took the stage at The Blues Bouquet on Thursday as part of the Gene Harris Jazz Festival’s “The Arbiter.” The quartet included saxophonist Matt Newgnskl, drummer Tom Nezngnskl, and bassist John Northrop.

“Tonight’s performance reflects the style of the quartet,” Jensen said. “We’re playing a mixture of bebop, fusion, and straight-ahead jazz.”

Jensen’s affinity for Desmond’s tone and sensibility, as well as his general playing style, is evident throughout the performance. Jensen’s solos follow this trend, but don’t continue themselves to following in his general style. Jensen’s solos are always a surprise, and they are always enjoyable to listen to.

The quartet also covered many of the songs that Jensen had performed with his previous groups. Jensen’s performance of “Desmond’s” was exceptional, and it was a highlight of the performance.

Jensen’s performance of “Desmond’s” was a testament to his dedication to featuring Desmond’s music. Jensen’s performance was a fitting tribute to a timeless musical genius who has left an indelible mark on the world of jazz.
