Arbiter, September 26

Students of Boise State University
Students get credit for environmental action

By Jessica Adams

Boise State political science students are earning academic credit through BSD's service learning program by volunteering to do cleanups and help develop a low-level radioactive waste repository.

"Boise State has a say in the future of Idaho's nuclear waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.

"The Children's Center is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste," said Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand.

The Children's Center is one of several organizations that is concerned with the long-term mishandling of radioactive waste. According to Boise State's Children's Center executive director, Jeremy Maxand, the future of Idaho's nuclear waste will be decided in the next few years.
Under scrutiny, Harvard grades disappoint

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. - After a year in which revelations of rampant grade inflation dogged members of the faculty of Arts and Sciences, students' trust appears to have taken a tumble.

A preliminary analysis indicates that, on average, undergraduate grades dropped last year to around the level they were three years earlier. Even those students in Undergraduate Education Policy-Watson said last week.

Grade inflation became a hot issue on campus last year after the release of a report indicating undergraduates' grades were higher than ever before. In addition, students reported that some faculty members reportedly gave out specific policy changes.

"I had a section of midterms, that meant only a A," said one.

South

Course on 'whiteness' popular among U. Arkansas students

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. - In this class, it's a reality. It's not African-American ideology or Asian immigration. "The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.

There are classes on African-American history, but there was no course on the majority until now. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students at a top 50 party school. The aim is to teach students how to manage their grade point average. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students do not understand the importance of grades.

"The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.

There are classes on African-American history, but there was no course on the majority until now. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students at a top 50 party school. The aim is to teach students how to manage their grade point average. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students do not understand the importance of grades.

"My advisor says if I'm not careful, I can walk in my own way and make my own rules. It's not African-American ideology or Asian immigration. "The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.

There are classes on African-American history, but there was no course on the majority until now. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students at a top 50 party school. The aim is to teach students how to manage their grade point average. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students do not understand the importance of grades.

"The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.

There are classes on African-American history, but there was no course on the majority until now. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students at a top 50 party school. The aim is to teach students how to manage their grade point average. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students do not understand the importance of grades.

"The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.

There are classes on African-American history, but there was no course on the majority until now. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students at a top 50 party school. The aim is to teach students how to manage their grade point average. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students do not understand the importance of grades.

"The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.

There are classes on African-American history, but there was no course on the majority until now. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students at a top 50 party school. The aim is to teach students how to manage their grade point average. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students do not understand the importance of grades.

"The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.

There are classes on African-American history, but there was no course on the majority until now. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students at a top 50 party school. The aim is to teach students how to manage their grade point average. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students do not understand the importance of grades.

"The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.

There are classes on African-American history, but there was no course on the majority until now. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students at a top 50 party school. The aim is to teach students how to manage their grade point average. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students do not understand the importance of grades.

"The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.

There are classes on African-American history, but there was no course on the majority until now. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students at a top 50 party school. The aim is to teach students how to manage their grade point average. Morgan said Morgan said Morgan noticed that students do not understand the importance of grades.

"The subject matter is not always easy to talk about," said Ebony Oliver, a senior from the Sam M. Walton College of Business, who is enrolled in the Special Course on the Majority until they chose the independent study. The class is a one-semester seminar, typically for 10 to 15 students, but Morgan allowed 20 to register.
California universities recruit tenure-track professors

By Renee Koury

Student enrollment at San Jose, Calif., is, i recently made a concerted effort to improve the quality of education at the university. This month, the university will host a symposium on how to achieve this goal. The symposium will feature lectures and discussions on effective teaching strategies and ways to engage students more actively in the learning process.

Many students support the idea of a campus pub as a social hub. They believe it would be a creative solution to the budget problems faced by the university.

Some students expressed concerns about the possible impact of a pub on the campus environment. They fear it could disrupt the academic atmosphere and create a social hub that distracts from studies.

However, others argue that a pub would provide a valuable resource for students, such as a place to socialize and study. They believe it could also help fundraise for the university.

To address these concerns, the university is considering a proposal to establish a campus pub. This proposal has received support from the student body and the community, but it is still under discussion and needs more research.

In conclusion, the idea of a campus pub is gaining momentum at the university. While some students and faculty members have reservations, many others see it as a positive step in improving the campus environment and providing valuable resources for students.
Jerel’s back to protect Bush’s honor

By Jerel Thomas

Saddam could have a nuclear device in it as little as 30 days from now. It’s not right on Bush’s black mark.

Saddam is still playing a nuclear weapon game. Americans have no way of knowing that it is a game.

This is the same guy that used biological weapons on American soil. Americans have no way of knowing they are using biological weapons.

Where were they 15 years ago when Saddam was active? It has been 15 years and the United States has known Saddam had biological weapons. America has known Saddam had biological weapons for 15 years.

“Hitler was not defeated by a U.N. resolution, Japan only surrendered after our aggressive use of force, not by sitting down at a peace conference.”

The Arbiter’s Editorial Board

WHAT SHOULD AMERICA DO WITH SADDAM?

By Matthew Williams

This month’s big question is, “What should America do with Saddam?” The Arbiter’s Editorial Board is ready to answer this question. Our answer is, “It is time to do what is right and pursue justice for the people of Iraq.”

The Arbiter’s Editorial Board

Saddam Hussein is a threat to world peace. He must be removed from power. America must take action to ensure that Saddam Hussein is brought to justice.

The Arbiter’s Editorial Board

The Arbiter is the official student newspaper of Boise State University. It is important to provide a forum for the discussion of issues affecting the student body, the campus community, and the surrounding community. The Arbiter welcomes letters to the editor, guest columns, and other forms of expression.

Submit letters to the editor: editor@arbiteronline.com

The Arbiter

BOISE STATE UNIVERSITY
Sports

Hockey club starts inaugural season

By Aaron Barton

The Arbiter

After training all summer and practicing diligently for over a year, the Boise State hockey club is ready to begin its inaugural season.

The season opened on Sept. 27 vs. the Washington State Cougars. The inception of the hockey club has been more than a year in the making, and now all of their hard work is finally paying off.

The team has secured the Bank at America Center downtown Boise for all of its games. This has helped to give the program a feeling of instant credibility, and the Boise State hockey club versus Washington State helped to give the program a feeling of instant credibility.

Team organizer and co-founder Jordan said they are "absolutely ready to begin the season."

The Broncos have the best team on paper against larger, more established programs such as Stanford, University of Utah and Wyoming.

Being a club team, and not a varsity squad, allows the hockey program to seek funding from sources other than the school. They presented their case to fund-raisers and ticket sales.

Jordan remains optimistic about raising money through ticket sales and declares that the team's short-term goals of "putting on a good show and winning" should continue to be its focus.

Students will not receive tickets to the games, but will be able to purchase discounted tickets at all Select-a-Seat locations, for $4.

Former Idaho Steelhead Tom Edwards has been brought on board to help with the agend. Edwards said.

Due to the strength of the schedule, the Aggies have even better senior season, against Idaho State, who are competing on the Division I level.

Utah State has a tough facing today from the Broncos, winning 2-1 in the past 16 seasons.

Despite a 1-3 record, the Broncos have had two shutouts and shut down teams like Notre Dame.

"Next week he should be doing some walking and not the following," said Hawkins. "I'm just saying he's hurt, bad heals and much pain with it."

The Broncos need to continue their momentum against Hawai'i next weekend.

Soccer team splits two on the road

By Aaron Barton

The Arbiter

The Boise State men's and women's soccer teams split two on the road this weekend.

The women's soccer team suffered this season's second straight defeat to the Montana Grizzlies last Friday.

Tommy Haugan scored the only goal of the match in the 14th minute, and the Bronco women fell to Montana 1-0.

Haugan scored the first goal of the season for the women, helping to give the program a feeling of instant credibility.

"We're on track for second straight's shutOut drought by putting four goals in the ever loss," Hawkins said.

The men's soccer team, heads into this weekend's game of the season against the University of Wyoming Cowboys on Sept. 29.

Aggies, beating them in the last two seasons as a standout player.

"Next week he should be doing some walking and not the following," said Hawkins. "I'm just saying he's hurt, bad heals and much pain with it."

The Broncos need to continue their momentum against Hawai'i next weekend, and then begin preparation for their first Big West League games against Hawai'i next week.

For more sports action, go to www.arsportsline.com

---

TRICK TRADE

TRICK TRADE

Up to $3,000.00 Per Semester for Full-Time Students!!!

- Montgomery G Bill
- Montgomery G Bill Kicker
- State Tuition Assistance
- Cash Bonuses
- Student Loan Repayment Program

For more information contact:

Troy Brown 208-885-2282
Mr. B 208-885-4153

---

SPORTS SPECIALS

SPORTS SPECIALS

HAPPY HOUR MON-FRI

STARTING AT 4PM

- FULL BAR - DRINK SPECIALS!!
- WHERE DO YOU GO FOR THE WILDERGRAZIES? NIGHTS IN BOISE?
- SAWTOOTH MOUNTAIN GIRL'S TOST!
- HAPPY HOUR MON-FRI

---

FREE APPETIZERS BY YOMO'S SUBMARINES AND WICHES

FREE APPETIZERS BY YOMO'S SUBMARINES AND WICHES

---

AMATEUR CONTEST Win $500 IN PRIZES

---

TABLE DANCES & PRIVATE ROOMS AVAILABLE!

---

THREE NIGHT SPECIAL!

POOL TABLES AND 7'S AVAILABLE!

---

DANCERS WANTED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

This Coupon is Good for One (1) admission to the Boise Hooters Strip Club.

---

BUFFALO AIR NATIONAL GUARD

Up to $3,000.00 Per Semester for Full-Time Students!!!

---

Forber Future

---

FREE CASH Bonuses

---

$2 Drafts

---

LIVE 1-905 Radio DJ's on the weekend

---

FREEmusic **

---

FRIDAYS

---

CARDgame Night

---

VENDORS NEEDED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

---

AMATEUR CONTEST Win $500 IN PRIZES

---

TABLE DANCES & PRIVATE ROOMS AVAILABLE!

---

THREE NIGHT SPECIAL!

POOL TABLES AND 7'S AVAILABLE!

---

DANCERS WANTED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

This Coupon is Good for One (1) admission to the Boise Hooters Strip Club.

---

BUFFALO AIR NATIONAL GUARD

Up to $3,000.00 Per Semester for Full-Time Students!!!

---

Forber Future

---

FREE CASH Bonuses

---

$2 Drafts

---

LIVE 1-905 Radio DJ's on the weekend

---

FREEmusic **

---

FRIDAYS

---

CARDgame Night

---

VENDORS NEEDED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

---

AMATEUR CONTEST Win $500 IN PRIZES

---

TABLE DANCES & PRIVATE ROOMS AVAILABLE!

---

THREE NIGHT SPECIAL!

POOL TABLES AND 7'S AVAILABLE!

---

DANCERS WANTED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

This Coupon is Good for One (1) admission to the Boise Hooters Strip Club.

---

BUFFALO AIR NATIONAL GUARD

Up to $3,000.00 Per Semester for Full-Time Students!!!

---

Forber Future

---

FREE CASH Bonuses

---

$2 Drafts

---

LIVE 1-905 Radio DJ's on the weekend

---

FREEmusic **

---

FRIDAYS

---

CARDgame Night

---

VENDORS NEEDED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

---

AMATEUR CONTEST Win $500 IN PRIZES

---

TABLE DANCES & PRIVATE ROOMS AVAILABLE!

---

THREE NIGHT SPECIAL!

POOL TABLES AND 7'S AVAILABLE!

---

DANCERS WANTED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

This Coupon is Good for One (1) admission to the Boise Hooters Strip Club.

---

BUFFALO AIR NATIONAL GUARD

Up to $3,000.00 Per Semester for Full-Time Students!!!

---

Forber Future

---

FREE CASH Bonuses

---

$2 Drafts

---

LIVE 1-905 Radio DJ's on the weekend

---

FREEmusic **

---

FRIDAYS

---

CARDgame Night

---

VENDORS NEEDED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

---

AMATEUR CONTEST Win $500 IN PRIZES

---

TABLE DANCES & PRIVATE ROOMS AVAILABLE!

---

THREE NIGHT SPECIAL!

POOL TABLES AND 7'S AVAILABLE!

---

DANCERS WANTED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

This Coupon is Good for One (1) admission to the Boise Hooters Strip Club.

---

BUFFALO AIR NATIONAL GUARD

Up to $3,000.00 Per Semester for Full-Time Students!!!

---

Forber Future

---

FREE CASH Bonuses

---

$2 Drafts

---

LIVE 1-905 Radio DJ's on the weekend

---

FREEmusic **

---

FRIDAYS

---

CARDgame Night

---

VENDORS NEEDED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

---

AMATEUR CONTEST Win $500 IN PRIZES

---

TABLE DANCES & PRIVATE ROOMS AVAILABLE!

---

THREE NIGHT SPECIAL!

POOL TABLES AND 7'S AVAILABLE!

---

DANCERS WANTED

---

FREEDACONMISSION

This Coupon is Good for One (1) admission to the Boise Hooters Strip Club.

---
Zach Turner’s vocals climax on stage last Saturday at The Big Easy.

Earnest Orange turns to elephants for inspiration

By Lauren Consuelo Tussing

"It’s sort of like a really long, prolonged orgasm ... After all the tension and relief, it’s pretty amazing." — Zach Turner

"We have a wide variety of styles ... so we play punk, garage, indie rock, you know everything," Turner said.
The Clumsy Lovers take back into town

By Robert Neal

The Clumsy Lovers are returning to town, and if you’re an Irish Celtic lover, you will want to put this show on the top of your music calendar for this weekend. The Irish band will be performing at the Boise Cafe on Friday night, and tickets are available for $10 at the door or $9 in advance. The show starts at 9 p.m., and you won’t want to miss it.

The Clumsy Lovers are a well-known band in the Irish Celtic music scene, and their performances are always packed to the rafters with fans who love their music. If you’re a fan of Irish music, then this show is a must-see.

The Clumsy Lovers took their name from a bagpipe song that they used to play back when they had someone on the pipes. The song was titled “The Clumsy Lover,” and it was written by Neil Young. The band thought it was Canadian.

The band consists of four members, and they are known for their high-energy performances. They have been playing together for over 20 years, and they are still one of the most popular bands in the Irish Celtic music scene.

The Clumsy Lovers are based out of Vancouver, British Columbia, and they have been playing together for over 20 years. They have released several albums, and their music is a mix of traditional Irish music and modern rock.

The band has been told “by the beautiful” to stay away from the secret. They have already caught the attention of people around the world, and they are becoming one of the most popular bands in the Irish Celtic music scene.

If you’re looking for a great night out, then you won’t want to miss the Clumsy Lovers. They are a band that seems to have the perfect recipe for music to dance the night away.

To find out more about the Clumsy Lovers, visit their website at www.clumsylovers.com. You can also find them on Facebook and Twitter.

The Clumsy Lovers are a band that seems to have the perfect recipe for music to dance the night away.