College Shows Record Enrollment

Boise College enrollment, according to the unofficial registration figure as of Friday, Sept. 10, totals 2,424, Mrs. Alice Hatton, registrar, reported.

This represents an increase of more than 600 over last year at this same time, as 1,805 had enrolled at the college by the end of the third week last fall.

A breakdown of the current total indicates that 1,597 men students are on campus, as compared to 827 women. College officials state that this is a normal percentage of male and female students.

Selective Service Cites Requirements

Men students are advised that in order to maintain their student deferment status with the Selective Service Board they should carry at least a ten-hour academic load and maintain at all times no less than a two-point G.P.A., according to Edwin E. Wilkinson, Dean of Men.

The announcement states: "College students are being deferred when evidence is received that they are doing satisfactory work in school. Only those registrants who fail to make satisfactory progress while enrolled in a college or university will be considered as available for induction."

It is the responsibility of the individual student to notify his local draft board of any changes such as address, marital status, student status, occupation etc., in order to insure proper classification.

Drivers Are Fined

More than 50 traffic citations had been issued before noon on Monday to campus drivers for improper parking, according to an announcement from the Vice President's office.

SOPHOMORE PRESIDENT

Les Bois Staff To Hold Meeting

Students interested in working on the 1965-1966 LES BOIS are invited to join the present staff, consisting of Carol Jensen, editor-in-chief, Sharon Harp, associate editor; David Kistner, business manager; Kathy Eason, copy editor, and Mike Bowen, sports editor.

"If you want to help prepare our yearbook, come to the general staff meeting next Monday at 1 p.m. in the Publications office, T-1A," Carol said. Students wishing to assist who are unable to attend at this time may contact the editor or the advisor, Mrs. Helen Thomson, in the Publications office.

Among the positions yet to be filled are class editors, music editor, organizations editor, religious editor, activities editor, faculty editor and picture coordinator. Any person interested in these assignments or in any other phase of yearbook publication, is urged to come to this meeting.

Students Must Observe Rules on Withdrawals

Any student wishing to withdraw from a class and enter another must first secure a signed permit from his advisor, and then have it endorsed by each instructor involved. The permit must then be signed by the Registrar and cleared at the Business Office.

Courses may be dropped or added before or on Sept. 23, 1965, without a penalty. Withdrawals after this date are recorded as "W" if the student is passing at the time, or "F" if he is failing. A student may not withdraw from any class during the last three weeks of a semester, including examination week.

The Girls' Drill team, under the direction of Mr. Henry Houst, practices Monday through Friday during the noon hour. The course carries one P.E. credit. Additional coeds interested in participating should contact Miss Helen Westfall, women's P.E. instructor, or Mr. Houst.

Book Store Does Land Office Business

By PEGGY DE MARCO

Approximately 11,000 textbooks have been sold by the College Book Store since the beginning of school, Mrs. Elizabeth Forsyth, manager, reports. The texts range in price from 50 cents to $14.95. Other popular items being purchased by students include college stationery, sweat shirts and school banners.

The Book Store is college-owned and is under the jurisdiction of the business office. Profits from the store go into a student fund

LEARNING THE RULES OF THE GAME

Dress Regulations

Dress regulations for all students on campus are in effect, as outlined in the Student Handbook, the office of the Dean of Men announces.

For women, sport dresses, sweaters and skirts, and low heels are recommended. Shorts or pedal pushers are not acceptable, and are not to be worn on campus. Slacks, however, may be worn with discretion for evening study in the library.

For men, casual clothes, slacks, cords, shirts, and sweaters are in order. Bermudas, shorts, levis, sweatshirts, T-shirts and thongs will not be worn to class.

Women may wear classroom clothing for informal dances, while their dates should wear a sports jacket and slacks. For semi or formal dances, suits or tuxedos with tie are suitable for men, and a dressy dress, short or long, is in order for coeds.

High school jackets or sweaters are not acceptable attire for college students.

"BUT HOW DO you know it's a touchdown?" AWS President Janine Tally questions Bronco football player Louis Grant, freshman tackle from Caldwell, on the intricacies of a football game.

College Musicians Directed by Best Rehearsing in Band

Mr. J. H. Best, band director, reported that there are still openings in the college band and that any interested students wishing to sign up should get in contact with him or some member of the band. The band meets daily during the marching season and then only three times weekly. All members of the band are excused from P.E. during the marching session.

Regular college credits are given for band and there are a number of college instruments still available for use.

This fall the marching band and the drill team will take a three-day trip to Everett, Wash. on Nov. 12-14. They will play for the football game between Everett and Boise College on the evening of the 12th and spend two nights in Seattle. Also a Spring Concert tour is planned, with the band presenting assemblies at various high schools in the state.

Musicians Listed

Coeds Face Facts About Football; Activities Planned

The coed assembly this morning, sponsored by the Association of Women Students in the auditorium during an extended break, kicks off the pre-game activities of the student body.

The only men to be present at the assembly — members of the Bronco squad and the coaches — will answer questions about the game of football posed by the female fans, Janine Tally, AWS president, said. In addition, spectator fashions from Bon Marche will be shown.

Assisting with arrangements are the other AWS officers, including Kay Garvin, vice president; Kandy Weaver, secretary; Janet Priddy, treasurer, and Janet Steele, publicity chairman.

"We feel that we coeds can play an important role in helping stimulate school spirit," Janine said.

Sophomores Promote Rally

Friday night, the sophomore class is sponsoring an all-school rally in the gymnasium, to be followed by a rock 'n roll dance, Joe Barber, president of the class, announces.

On Saturday night, starting at 8:15, the Broncos will meet their rivals, the Columbia Basin Hawks, who handed out a defeat to BJC last year, and tied them the year before. Parents of all Bronco team members will be honored guests and will be seated in a special section underneath the press box.

Special intermission entertainment will include the Boise High School championship marching band, and the Thunderbird girls' drill team.

Warwick Announces Tryouts Next Week For BC Production

Tryouts for the first Boise College drama production are scheduled for next Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at 3 p.m. in L238. Mollere's classical comedy, Le Bourgeois Gentlehomme will be directed by Mr. John E. Warwick, who produced Roshamon on campus last spring.

"We have several parts for both men and women students," Warwick says, "and we hope there will be a big turnout of student thespians for the tryouts." The play is tentatively set to open Nov. 10.

Some people get lost in thought because it is unfamiliar territory.

Kick-off Time for School Spirit

Autumn and pigskin time are synonymous, and we pity the students who attend a college without a football team. This Saturday night marks the kick-off of the 1965 season for the Broncos, and the culmination of many hours of preparation by many people.

While the football squad goes through bruising hours of practice, others are devoting their time to help develop that intangible thing called school spirit. The Rodeo Club is helping sell season tickets to the townspeople. (Remember, students and faculty get in free with their activity cards.)

The Association of Women Students are doing their part by holding a coed clinic, so that Boise College women will be the best informed female football fans in the area.

The sophomore class, under the leadership of class president Joe Barber, is sponsoring an all-school rally Friday night.

Besides the fact that "supporting the team" should be a way of life for college students, it is just plain fun to be part of the crowd. We can't think of a better way to let off steam than to whoop it up in the stadium.

Coach Lyle Smith started coaching the Broncos before many of the current students were born, and he has earned an enviable reputation for developing champions. This year's potential champions will be up against a tough bunch of Hawks, who tied the Broncos once and defeated them soundly last year. Saturday night's game will be quite a contest. See you in Bronco stadium!

The Habit of Attending Class

Many students feel the big difference between college and high school is that in college you only have to go to classes when you want to. As college students, you are responsible for your own actions and for your own attendance to the classes in which you are enrolled. No absence is excused in the sense that you are relieved of the responsibility for work missed due to non-attendance.

Arrangements may be made with instructors to make up work due to legitimate absences. If a student accumulates excessive absences in a class, the Dean of Faculty's office warns that he will receive an "administrative drop" from the class.

The benefit you will get from your college experience is up to you. You can get into the habit of cutting classes and wasting time or you can put forth the extra effort and make the most of your investment. Besides, with the state of affairs in Viet Nam and the increase of the draft call, there should be plenty of incentive, for the men students especially, to attend all classes.

The Problem of Parking

Boise College is not the only school with parking problems, if this is any consolation to you frustrated motorists. We sympathize with the late arriving student cruising the campus area—up to a point.

There are a thousand parking places over by the gymnasium, which is only a 5-minute walk to any building on campus. Parking in someone's reserved space is no solution, and can prove expensive.

As construction begins on the new buildings, the parking situation will grow worse rather than better, and college officials are as anxious to solve the problem as anyone. Buildings and grounds superintendent Tom Hazzard says he is open to suggestions.

Here are a couple: Insist that motorists park diagonally on the river road, rather than parallel; initiate a poll to determine how many students would use the bus if a college stop were arranged. Riding the bus could be a time-saving, money-saving solution for many.

Gripping about the situation won't help—grappling with the problem and coming up with some constructive suggestions will. The ROUNDUP will be glad to publish them. Many colleges do not offer any parking around their buildings, some prohibit driving by underclassmen—here's hoping this doesn't happen here.

WORDS WORTH REPEATING . . .

The durability of free speech and free press rests on the simple concept that it search for the truth and tell the truth. It is only through free expression and free adventure in doubt that we explore the unknown physical world for truth. It is only by the anvil of debate that we hammer out the flaws of untruth from the social and economic ideas and mould them into shapes which are helpful to men. Progress is indeed the degree to which we discover truth—and here free press and free speech become the most powerful of human forces.

Boise College Counseling Center Developed for Students

By EDWIN WILKINSON
Dean of Men

Counseling and Guidance is primarily concerned with helping students after they are in college — helping them to maintain a healthy attitude toward their studies, their future and their relationship with their fellow men. These services broadly fall into three general areas: career planning, personal counseling, and study skills counseling.

The Counseling Center now has a staff of specialists in the behavioral sciences. The counseling team consists of Dr. William S. Bronson, room 120 Administration building, who is also in charge of the reading improvement program for the college, a professor of psychology, and college counselor for the Veterans Administration; Dr. Jack A. McCauslin, room 108, Administration building, associate professor; Mr. Charles F. Williamson, room 114 Technical Education building and 108 Administration building, assistant professor; Dean Edwin E. Wilkinson, room 108

Vice President W. L. Gottenberg is responsible for the overall student personnel program and the director of the Counseling and Guidance services.

Students are referred to the center by the students' advisor, faculty in general, Dean of Men, Dean of Women, and the other administrative officers of the college. More important, however, is the fact that students can and should refer themselves to the counseling center. Many times they are referred by other students who have been through the center. All that is necessary is for the student to ask the Personnel Dean's secretary, Miss Olivia Nash, in room 108 Administration building for an appointment with one of the counselors.

Many of the students who will come to us are vitally concerned about their future after they leave college. Since occupational indecision can and does reflect directly on academic performance, the student who is not sure about what he wants to do when he leaves college may have trouble selecting his courses and retaining his interest in them.

CLUB NEWS

Phi Beta Lambda

Phi Beta Lambda (future business leaders) will be seeking new members on Friday during the break, in room 110, Administration building. Anyone enrolled in a business subject is eligible for membership, according to Gary Bengochea, president.

The club plans to participate in Homecoming activities and assist with the sale of football tickets for home games. Other officers are Gary Cowles, vice president; Bill Hulse, treasurer; Bonnie Wetherwax, secretary, and Carol Druash, reporter.

A new advisor this year will be Mr. Wayne E. White, Economics professor, formerly from Eastern Arizona Junior College, who will be working with Advisor Mrs. Helen Johnson, office administration teacher.

Pop Art at College Refers to Class Size

The Art courses offered this year are bigger and better than ever. In fact, Mr. David Oravez, the Art History instructor, asked the students in one of his classes if anyone could change to his morning class, as there are only 60 in that particular class.

Mr. Howard Huff, the new Art instructor, stated, "We are very crowded but we are not planning any riots in protest."

To help solve the space problem, Mr. Louis Peck and fellow art instructors, are taking their students to the wide open spaces. When bad weather sets in, another solution will be sought.

Tune in for "Ideas"

Mind blank? Need a topic for a school theme? Turn on your radio Monday night at 7:45 p.m., and set the dial at 630, station KIDO. You'll hear a program called "Gateway to Ideas."

Officially, the subject matter deals with the value of reading as a source of information and topics for conversation. Unofficially, it will start the wheels rolling and give you some great ideas for that essay you've been putting off.

The program this Monday is entitled "The American Genius for Self-Examination," and is the first of a series of 26 sponsored by the Idaho State Library Association.

Reading Course Open

The course in Reading Improvement is offered at various times, and all interested students may make arrangements to enroll with Dr. William Bronson in A-120.

Please do not use the parking spaces marked "Handicapped." Unauthorized persons using these special spaces incur unnecessary hardships on some of our students.

SUCCESSFUL STEELHEADER

Prior to joining the faculty of Boise College as Assistant Political Science Professor, former U.S. Consul General Avery Peterson participated in a fabulous steelhead fishing expedition on the Dean River, north of Bella Coola, on the west coast of British Columbia. Peterson, from Vancouver, Canada, was guest on the yacht of lumberman H. R. MacMillan, the M. V. Mariejean.

Pictured above is Peterson with a 13-lb. steelhead taken after vaulting a riverbank and a jet-boat chase of some 500 yards as the fish churned down the roaring glacial river, between snow-capped mountains. Larger fish were taken by other members of the party.

THE BON MARCHE

BOISE, IDAHO

With the starting of fall classes, fashion becomes an important thought in every student's mind. What could be more suitable for school than the latest style in a warm, colorful coat, which goes everywhere, from a movie-dinner date to the first football game of the season.

White Stag introduces their new suede coats with knit collars and sleeves in the new lengths of three fourths and seven-eighths. They also come with the sheepskin lining for those chilly autumn walks.

Coed! Wear the "Teddy Bear Look" for that important feminine appearance at the football games. A White Stag double breasted coat of orlon pile creates the illusion of soft, cuddly fur.

Or get a Two-In-One Coat! Made of 100 per cent quilted nylon, it's great for keeping dry in the fall rains and keeping warm in the winter snows. Full or seven-eighths lengths in fire-engine red, maroon, and black, the Two-In-One is tops in fashion.

To accent your new coat, don a matching Basque Hat (beret) imported from France, or a Mod Cap of suede or velour; both come in a variety of fall colors.

For that final effect, wear a Jantzen hand-embroidered pant sweater with matching stretch pants under your coat.

Now smile, you couldn't be more fashionable!

Fred Auger, U. of I. graduate and publisher of the Vancouver Province, killed a 17-lb. specimen, using 5-oz. fly tackle. Richie Nelson, commercial cannery operator, almost went commercial in taking a 23-pounder with spinning equipment. The steelhead is a rainbow trout which goes to sea and returns after several years' growth to its native spawning grounds.

Languages Attract Record Enrollment

By PAM LYDA

Approximately 275 Boise College students currently are enrolled in language courses. Two hundred and five of these are novices in Spanish, French or German. The remaining students are taking intermediate studies or are in the advanced Spanish class.

In each linguistic section, vocabulary knowledge, reading, writing, speaking and listening methods are utilized. Special emphasis is placed on oral work and practice.

Aiding the latter aim is the language lab which has been operating for three years. Composing the lab are thirty soundproof booths which are equipped with a microphone, tape recorder, and earphones. Two-way communication is established between the instructor and each booth.

Individual language clubs will further interest and understanding of the language and customs of France, Spain and Germany.

Language instructors include: Dr. Robert de Neufville, German and Elementary French; Dr. Luis Valverde, new Spanish professor from Puerto Rico, and Mrs. Camille Power, French and Elementary Spanish.

Those who desire to study a foreign language are required to take the Language Aptitude or Placement Test prior to class attendance.

All Faiths Represented On Campus

Religion is an integral part of life here at Boise College, and participation in religious activities is encouraged by college officials.

Several religious centers are located quite near the College. The First Christian Church, located on College Boulevard, sponsors interdenominational breakfast forums.

SAGA

Feeding a Hungry Horde In SUB Takes Planning

With the increase of approximately 700 students over last year's enrollment, one of the big problems is finding the space, time and staff to service the needs of all the hungry and garrulous people streaming into the Student Union Building.

Phil Campbell, SAGA Food Catering Service manager at the SUB, states, "We are having the normal problems that accompany such an increase in student enrollment; however, we are working on speeding up our service and especially on handling the problems connected with our fountain."

Campbell came to Boise College last year after running a SAGA Food Service for the Rocky Mountain College in Billings, Mont. Prior to that he was at Idaho State University in a similar capacity. He has been with Saga for the past four and a half years.

Appropriate dress, as in the past, will be school clothes as required on campus. The total participation in the dormitories' food plan at present is 265, an increase of 50 over the previous year.

Dr. J. Alfred McCauslin, new counselor at Boise College, has been appointed to a three-year term on the American College Personnel Association Commission for "The Professional Education of Student Personnel Workers in Higher Education."

Boise College also is well represented in the current Boise Little Theater production, "Sunday in New York," which is being directed by Dr. William Shankweiler of the college drama department. English Instructor Alan Crooks and college students Barbara Bickel, Phil Andrews and Greg Mathews are among the cast members and production crew.

featuring many interesting speakers. The L.D.S. Institute of Religion offers an instructional program for their members, and the Newman Center for Catholic students will be opened in the near future.

The Inter Faith Council is an organization composed of representatives from each campus religious group. The Council presents a Christmas pageant and conducts an Easter service.

The Westminster group is composed of many denominations, and has as its objective the promotion of real cooperation on campus.

There are also many denominational groups whose object is to provide guidance for their own members. The Canterbury group is an organization for Episcopal students; Christian Disciples is for members of the Christian church; there is a group for Lutheran young people; the Newman group is for Catholic students; the Roger Williams group is for all students interested in education; and the Wesleyan group is the Methodist group.

These units are in the process of organizing and will begin their activities soon.

INSIDE THE LIBRARY

By GREG MATHEWS

By now, everyone has had occasion to frequent our latest building addition, the spacious and modern library. Now in its second year of use, the beauty of the building has been enhanced by a new lawn and shrubs.

The second floor of the library which now houses offices and classrooms of the English department, will eventually be converted to more book space, as the need arises.

Among the facilities now available to students on the main floor are a typing room, an informal reading lounge, and a section complete with tape-recorders and stereo phonographs on which students can play a large variety of recordings obtainable at the circulation desk. Whether you are a fan of Joan Baez or want to hear the latest Broadway play, you are sure to be pleased with the selection.

Also featured are, creations by art, ceramic, and crafts students.

Everyone is urged to make use of the library and not to confuse it with the SUB. Chatter is for the Student Union, study is facilitated in the library. The time spent in each should be in proportion to your anticipated G.P.A.

Season Opens With Hawks in Bronco Stadium

Lyle Smith Starts Twentieth Season; Ex-Athletes Comprise Coaching Staff

By STEVE LAWRENCE
ROUNDUP Sports Editor

As the 1965 Boise College football season springs into action this Saturday night at 8:15 against Columbia Basin, Head Coach Lyle Smith will begin his twentieth season with the Broncos. Assisting Coach Smith will be Ray Lewis, embarking on his ninth year as a member of the coaching staff, Jack Perrin, beginning his second year and Murray Satterfield, the new 1965 addition to the coaching staff.

Coach Smith has been a member of the coaching staff since 1946 and has been head coach since 1947. His first duties were as coach of both football and basketball. Now in charge of both football and the Athletic Department, Coach Smith and athletics are synonymous at Boise College. His record of 135 wins, 18 losses and six ties is self evident of the success he has initiated and perpetuated on the football field.

Coach Former Player

Personal success as a player was enjoyed by Coach Smith in 1936-1938 at the U of I at the center position. Fame and ability would appear to be hereditary in the Smith family, as his son, Bill, was last year's BJC All-American, also

Vocational Adds Courses, Students; Building to Begin

Construction will begin on the addition to the Technical Education building on Oct. 5, according to Mr. Claude Waln, head of the division. This will be the first of five new buildings to be built to accommodate the increased enrollment of a four-year college.

The Vocational Department reports an increase in enrollment from 166 in the fall of 1964 to 201 this year, with additional classes being planned later in such subjects as landscaping, data processing, etc. The newest course being offered is in Office Machine Repair, taught by Mr. Arden Harris.

Currently there are openings also in the Auto Body Shop and Welding Shop, and those interested should contact Mr. Charles F. Williamson, counselor for the Vocational division.

Mr. Milford Gragg is a new member of the faculty who will be teaching Drafting and Design classes which also have a few openings. Students completing the two-year Vocational program will graduate from BC with a diploma.

at the center position. Coach Smith also has a daughter who is a junior this year at Capitol High and a son, 9, who is just this year making his debut on the gridiron in the Optimist Little League program.

Assistant Coach Ray Lewis, a BJC graduate, also enjoyed fame on the gridiron when he played the end position for the Broncos in 1949-50, and was named an excellent defensive player during the second half of his career spent at the U of I. Prior to coming to BJC in 1956, Coach Lewis was in the head position at Caldwell High and directed a team to a championship.

Ray Lewis, a diversified coach, is also in charge of wrestling and track here at Boise College. His track teams have become highly respected as a power in the conference and with wrestling, the ever-growing collegiate sport of today, Coach Lewis has kept his Broncos advancing to winning caliber.

Listed as the backfield coach for the Broncos is Jack Perrin, stepping into his second year at Boise. Coach Perrin came to Boise last year following four years coaching at a high school in Illinois. He graduated from Northeastern Missouri State Teachers College with a bachelor of science degree in education, and holds a Master's in Physical Education.

Coach Perrin has two children and is an ardent hunter and fisherman. His enthusiasm was increased last year when he tagged his first deer the last day of the season. His colleagues suggested this year that maybe the state game commission would extend the season so Coach Perrin might be sure of obtaining his second deer.

College Adds Satterfield

Murray Satterfield joins the Boise College coaching staff this year and will be taking full charge of basketball this winter. Coach Satterfield previously has been the head basketball coach at Borah High for four years. Prior to coming to Borah, he chalked up a high-

A native of Aberdeen, Idaho, Coach Satterfield is married and has two sons, one a sophomore this year at Boise College and the other a sophomore in high school. He graduated from the University of Utah after a brilliant career on the basketball court. Fans are anticipating continued success to Coach Murray Satterfield this year as head coach of Bronco basketball.

BRONCS TAKE ON HAWKS SATURDAY IN FOOTBALL OPENER AT HOME

The Boise College Broncos will begin their football season for the third consecutive year with a clash against the Columbia Basin Hawks from Pasco, Wash. The first encounter in 1963 was at Bronco stadium.

The first of the series with Columbia Basin was a close contest every minute and ended in a 13-13 tie. The second meeting of the Broncos and the Hawks held last year in Pasco was much more disheartening to our Boise players, as they took a second half shellacking and were defeated 21-2.

As the scorebooks indicate, on both occasions Boise drew first blood. In the 1963 game they scored the first time they obtained possession of the ball. The score was changed, however, when the Broncos fumbled and the Hawks not only scored but also completed their extra point which our home team failed to do.

The Broncos then scored a second time and rested at half time owning the lead. It was early in the fourth quarter that their opponents picked up their second touchdown, but as the hosts had done in the first quarter, the Hawks failed to pick up the extra point. The score at the final gun was 13-13.

Last year's game was a duplication, up to a point. The Broncos scored in the first half when the linemen caught one of the Hawks' backs in the wrong end zone and nailed him to pick up a safety and secure two points. Again, as in the first game, the Hawks came back to do the final scoring and decided the outcome of the contest. They came back so well that the game ended 21-2 in their favor.

This Saturday night when the Broncos host the Hawks in their third annual encounter, the Boise men will be looking for their first victory over Columbia Basin. If spirit is increased by playing on the home field with the stands filled with home fans, then possibly this will be just what the coach ordered for the Broncos to show their guests a different end of the score.

In addition, this year Boise has been rated as the tenth top Junior College team in the nation, whereas in the two previous years its name was not to be found on the ratings list. Also different is the rating of Columbia Basin. In the two previous years the Hawks have been rated near the top as a Junior College football team and this year they are without a rating. As returning letterman Brad Cermak philosophized, "We simply were not up as high as the Hawks in that second half last year. This year things will be different."

Oct. 2 Next Home Game

The Broncos' next home game will be against Snow College on Saturday, Oct. 2, at 8:15 p.m. BJC whipped Snow last year 27-8.

Mr. Hank Houst hopes to have the coed drill team in shape to perform during the half-time activities for this game. This game will also be the thirteenth annual Kiwanis club night.

The BC Rodeo Club will sell footwarmers at all home games.
