Students Reminded To Obtain Forms For Scholarships

Students planning to apply for scholarships for the spring semester, including renewal of current scholarships, are advised that they should obtain application forms now from Dr. H. K. Fritchman, chairman of the Scholastic Awards committee.

All applications must be completed by Nov. 1.

Dr. Fritchman's office is in the Science building, room 108-C.

First Foreign Film to Be Shown Oct. 15

The Foreign Film series at the college will start on Friday, Oct. 15, when "Ballad of a Soldier" will be shown at 8 p.m. in Science 106, according to Mr. Charles Davis, committee chairman.

The Russian-produced film, with English subtitles, portrays a love affair that is cancelled by war. It has received awards at San Francisco and the Cannes Film Festival, Davis said.

There will be no admission charge to viewers.

Notice to '66 Graduates

Anyone anticipating graduation this coming spring with an associate degree or a diploma, must make application with the registrar, Mrs. Alice Hatton, registrar, announces.

Plan Open House

An open house is planned at Chapman house, Boise College's newest coed dormitory on Warm Springs avenue, on Sunday, Oct. 17 from 2 to 5:30 p.m., according to Norma Scavo, chairman. Assisting with arrangements are Sandy Durfee, Kathryn Simpson and Gayle Steineck.

Club pictures for Les Bols are being scheduled for next week. Representatives are urged to come to the Publications office to set up a definite date for their club. Three major positions on the Les Bols staff are yet to be filled, Carol Jensen, editor, announced.

The first position is language club editor. The best coverage possible will be given to this department if a member of one of the language clubs is interested in joining the staff.

The second job still open is that of junior class editor.

The other position is that of vocational-technical editor. It is important that someone from this department be on the staff so that proper attention can be given to this area of education.

Any persons interested in these jobs, or in helping with general work, should contact the editor or the advisor, Mrs. Helen Thomson, in T-1A, Publications office.

Motifs to Play for Hop

An after-game dance will be held in the SUB Saturday, with music furnished by the Motifs. The Boise College Young Republican Club is sponsoring the school dance, and Jim Jones is in charge of arrangements.

Executive Board To Buy New Blazers

By LIZZ CHANDLER

Chief topic of discussion at the Senate meeting held Monday was the purchase of new blazers for the Executive Board. Price lists and color possibilities were presented by John Ennis, chairman of the clothing committee. After prolonged debate on the subject, a motion was made and carried that Executive Board members pay a percentage of the cost and the Student Body funds meet the rest of the payment. Further discussion was postponed until after a meeting of Executive Board members, the clothing committee and Mr. Gottenberg to determine price, style and color.

A gavel and stand will be purchased for the use of the Student Body president. LaVonne Lange is investigating the possibility of having them made by the Boise College campus workshop in order to reduce cost.

A committee in charge of Senate advertising will be appointed in the near future by ASB President Frank Frantz. The purpose of the committee will be to inform the student body of all meetings, discussions and agreements, since it is the right of the students to know what decisions are made by their student government.

New business presented included a report on the possibility of senior class rings, discussion on the Roundup and future events. A report was made by Mr. Gottenberg to all clubs concerning sales tax; there will be a tax on all dance admissions and sales of any type in the future.

Freshmen to Meet Candidates Today At Assembly; Election on Friday

Twenty-one candidates for freshman class offices will be introduced at the campaign assembly this morning, during an extended break starting at 9:35 in the auditorium. This represents one of the largest slates of candidates for a single election in the history of the college, Karen Ferguson, Student Body vice president, explains.

Five male candidates for the office of freshman class president include Curtis Patterson, from Kuna High school; Danny Tippetts, Dick Daniels, Dennis Gratton and Steve Cary, all from Borah High school.

Running for vice president are Linda Bricker, Boise High school; Glenn Miller, from Homedale, and Dennis Despain and Daniel Last, Borah.

Coed candidates for class secretary-treasurer are Judi Wallich from Boise High, and Juliana Jausoro, Borah.

Three freshman representatives will be selected from a slate of 10 candidates: Sherry Bohannon from Burley; Norma Scavo, Whittier, Calif.; Carolyn Glenn, Bob White, Maureen Benson, Boise High, and Jim N. Davidson, Susan Clarke, Jack Garvin, Marian Kyles and Deane Blakeslee, from Borah.

Karen will introduce the candidates, each of whom will make a brief statement, at the freshman assembly.

On Friday, freshmen will cast their votes from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the library foyer. Voters present their ID cards at the voting booth.

The Student Body officers stated, "We are extremely pleased with the increased interest in this class election. We believe the large number of candidates for office demonstrates a revitalized school spirit on campus."

Building to Start On Technical Wing

The addition to the Boise College Technical Education building will be the first of the proposed buildings included in the 3½ million dollar expansion program authorized this spring, Mr. Dwane Kern, business manager has announced.

The board of trustees, college officials and representatives of construction firms crowded into President Chaffee's office Tuesday morning for bid opening, and the low bid of $134,896 from E. A. Fulton Construction Company was accepted.

Vocational-Technical director Mr. Claude Waln says he anticipates that ground will be broken for the new wing within a few days.

The added space will provide offices and additional classroom and laboratory space, including women's occupational classes on the second floor, such as Dental Assistants, which will have a complete dental laboratory, and Practical Nurses and health occupations.

Flu Immunizations Offered at Center For College Students

Although an average of 12 to 14 Boise College students have been reporting daily at the Health Center with upper respiratory ailments, very few are taking advantage of the flu immunizations available at a nominal cost, Mrs. Jerine Brown, school nurse, reports.

Of the approximately 25 persons who have taken the flu shots, most of them are faculty and staff members. The cost to Boise College students is only 35 cents, which covers the actual cost of the vaccine.

In order to be effective this winter (which health officials predict will be high in influenza cases) the initial shot should be given this month, followed by a second in a couple of months.

Persons who were innoculated last year need only take a booster shot, Mrs. Brown said.

The Health Center is open mornings, and those wishing to see the college physician, Dr. Bruce Budge, should report before 9 a.m.

Old Mirrors Wanted

Wanted! Old mirrors, broken bits, old compact mirrors, or what-have-you. The Social committee needs them for a glittering Homecoming dance decoration. Julie Mills, chairman, announces. All contributions should be dropped in receptacles to be in the library foyer.

Campus Calendar

THREE CHOSEN AS MAJORETTES FOR '65-'66 SEASON

THE 1965-66 Boise College Majorettes (from left): Nancy Cheney, Carolyn Shroll and Carol Curtis, will be performing this Saturday night with the marching band during half time at Bronco Stadium.

Leading the marching band for the '65-'66 marching season will be Carolyn Shroll of Nampa, Carol Curtis and Nancey Cheney, both from Boise High.

These three majorettes in their bright orange and blue uniforms have been practicing with the band as they prepare for their first marching exhibition next Saturday night when the Broncos meet Wenatchee Junior College in Bronco stadium.

Carolyn Shroll, who has been twirling since the eighth grade, took third place for marching at the Sun Valley Twirling Camp.

Carol Curtis was a majorette at Boise High for three years and is now starting on her eighth year of twirling.

Nancy Cheney is also working on her eighth year of twirling. She spent seven years twirling with junior high bands and was a twirler with Boise High.

A tongue weighs practically nothing yet it is surprising how few people are able to hold it.

The Challenge of Change

The ability to accept and adapt to change is extremely important to college students, especially those entering for the first time. As we enter college we must make changes in our attitudes, in our habits and in our goals. The settling down process should be in high gear now that we have been in classes for a month. Settling down is a process of changes, and making adjustments to those changes.

In forming new study habits and revamping our attitudes into mature thinking we help to make the educational adventure worthwhile rather than the slightly traumatic experience it would be otherwise. Education is not a matter of memorizing "X" amount of material, but rather in changing our outlook on life and in giving us the necessary push to use this "X" knowledge which we gain quite incidentally. After all, what good is a walking encyclopedia without a user.

Through change we make progress. But let's not just accept change for the sake of progress. We should be making changes now before Mid-terms come along and catch us napping.

If you feel that you are not quite ready to accept the change to mature college life, perhaps you should go home for another change—of diapers.

Foreign Fringe Benefits in Library

If you are looking for something just a little bit different to do, visit the college library or Room 202B, and peruse a magazine which is written in a foreign language. Paris Match, Stern, Blanco y Negro, and Austria Profil are among such foreign periodicals. They differ from U. S. publications in language only.

Blanco y Negro is published weekly in Madrid, Spain. Its illustrations and articles cover such wide-ranging subjects as the war in Vietnam, President Johnson's Great Society, and the latest astronauts, to John-John Kennedy. Advertisements also are included.

Austria Profil contains more culturally stimulating material. Painting, sculpture, handicrafts and travel are dealt with. A multitude of the stories are translated from German to English, Spanish and French.

Paris Match is similar in most respects to Blanco y Negro. The French magazine recently printed an in-depth report of the World War II Japanese Kamakaze pilots. Crossword puzzles and cartoons heighten reader interest.

A noteworthy characteristic of the German Stern is a column consisting of news tidbits about world political leaders and other celebrities. Fashion layouts and new fiction works also regularly appear. On the whole, Stern is written in a lighter vein than other European periodicals.

Any, and all of these magazines can tickle the intellect of the average college student, even those who are not familiar with the languages. Why not take advantage of this rare opportunity to peruse publications from other countries?

BJC Students Got Off Easy!

With registration lines now only a vague memory, BC students can sit back and watch their counterparts throughout the country endure the trials and suffering connected with college enrollment. Though we all had our complaints, we must admit that it could have been worse and that we were lucky to get off as easily as we did. Students attending Highline College in Seattle for example, formed a line and waited for 14 hours in order to be assured an opening in classes.

Armed with sleeping bags, thermoses, radios, and playing cards, the students spent the night prior to registration in the college Student Center singing, laughing, and getting acquainted. Despite the appearance of general chaos, reports stated that everyone knew where he stood in the line when time came to resume their places the next morning. May our administrators save us from such a fate!

WORDS WORTH REPEATING . . .

Good citizenship, like charity, begins at home. The University is temporarily a second home for students and these examples suggest some of the opportunities for practicing good citizenship on and off the campus.

The vast majority of students attending the University have acquired their citizenship by birth and residence. However, throughout history, men and women have worked and died to make this citizenship a precious heritage. Citizenship is real. It is dynamic. It means active, intelligent participation in university, local, state and national affairs. Principally it means rights, duties and opportunities.

There is a fitting relationship between rights and duties. Equal rights under the law means equal responsibilities to the law. The duty of obedience to law, for example, does not imply that one has to accept every law as being desirable. There is a traditional and historical right of dissent that may escalate to duty-level when a citizen is convinced that an existing law or policy is not in the public interest. To obey the law while speaking out for repeal or change is a mark of a truly public-spirited citizen.—Dr. Sam M. Basta, Dean of Students in University of Nevada SAGEBRUSH.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Roundup Editor:

In the last two years, several studies have been made of our campus and the Boise community to facilitate their development. These studies made by college and professional organizations from Oregon and California have praised the natural beauty of our town site and college campus. The climate, the mountain backdrop, the river and trees, together with ample room for expansion, are all factors in our favor. However, all of this can be ruined if we are not proud enough to properly care for our beautiful campus.

No matter how attractive a natural setting is, it can become ugly when littered with cans, paper, bottles and all manner of refuse. It seems to be unfortunately true that the high school students of our community think nothing of dumping the remains of their drive-in meals anywhere and everywhere. That sloth of this sort should be extended to the college scene is not a pleasant idea to contemplate.

Yours sincerely,
 (Signed) TOM HAZZARD
 Director of Buildings and Services

Pi Rho Phi

The Pi Rho Phi's, composed of varsity debaters, met last Tuesday and elected current officers, including Mike Koppes, president; Jim Jones, vice president; Melanie Bettis, recording and corresponding secretary, and Mike Heyrend, treasurer.

The first varsity debate will be held November 10 and 11 at Eugene, Ore.

JAN LONG has been chosen IK duchess for the year 1965-66. She is a Boise High School graduate and a Home Economics major at Boise College. She will be crowned at the annual Golden Plume Ball sponsored by the men's service club.

International Relations Club

The organizational meeting of the Boise College International Relations Club is scheduled for 4 p.m. next Tuesday, in room A110, according to Jim Harris, temporary representative of the club.

I.R. is designed for all students who enjoy discussing political affairs on the international level. All interested persons are urged to attend. The meeting will be conducted by Mr. Avery F. Peterson, club advisor.

French Club

Boise College's French Club held its initial meeting on Monday, September 27. Newly-elected officers include Pat Spesinger, president; Greg Mathews, vice president; Teddi Hardy, secretary, and Cathy Coleman, treasurer.

Eighteen intermediate French language students currently compose the organization; and elementary pupils will join at the beginning of the second semester when they've mastered the language more proficiently.

French will be spoken at both business and social meetings each Friday at 1 p.m. in room C of the SUB.

By Greg Mathews

At the desk of the head librarian is a woman of remarkable experience. Soft-spoken and reserved, Miss Ruth McBirney has acquired a wealth of knowledge from her study, work and travel throughout the United States and Europe.

A native Boisean, she graduated from BJC and then continued her studies at Whitman College where she majored in French. After earning her degree in librarianship at the University of Washington, she returned to Boise and worked for two years as one of BJC's first librarians.

Miss McBirney then left Boise to accept a position on the staff of the Columbia University Music Library. Four years later, she left New York and moved to France where she worked with the American Library in Paris for seven years. While there, she became very fluent in the French language and traveled extensively during her vacations.

In 1953 she returned as head librarian at our college. Every other summer she has revisited Europe, including Greece, France, England, Denmark, Spain and Sweden. When not traveling, she has spent her summers studying at the University of London, the University of California at Berkeley, and Rutgers University. Miss McBirney's hobbies include classical music and gardening. She hopes sometime in the future to take a year's sabbatical leave in order to spend more time in Europe.

RELIGION ON CAMPUS

College students have the opportunity to attend meetings of religious groups representing all faiths on campus. Upcoming meetings include:

The Methodist Student Movement will meet Friday at noon in room C of the SUB. The group will make plans for a retreat to be held after mid term, and they will also continue discussion of Dietrich Bonhoeffer's book, Life Together, according to Nancy Garrett.

UCCI

The second breakfast forum sponsored by the UCCI is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 13, from 6:45 a.m. to 7:45 a.m. in room C of the SUB, according to Rev. Robert A. Grewell, president. Joe Flaherty, field representative for the Office of Economic Opportunity, will speak on "Poverty and Progress."

The cost for the breakfast is 50 cents, and all students and faculty are invited to attend.

Baptist Student Union

The new Baptist Student Union is planning meetings for the first and third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom, according to John Kunz, president. Everyone is welcome to attend these meetings. Special speakers and films are on the Union's agenda. This group's purpose is to provide Christian student fellowship and service to others.

Newman Club

All Catholic students are invited to the next meeting in the Catholic Center on Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

Carolyn Braden, president of the Newman group, reported an attendance of approximately 100 at the first meeting. The group selected Michele Paoletti as their candidate for Homecoming Queen.

Other officers of the Newman group include Ken Asvitt, vice president; John Ennis, treasurer, and LaVonne Lange, Senate representative.

LDS Institute

Mr. Clair Johnson, president of Boise Stake, will be the forum speaker at the LDS Institute of Religion on Friday, Oct. 8, at 12:10 p.m., according to Mary Burgoyne. New officers of the Institute have been announced by Mr. Paul E. Dahl, director. They are: Jack Jeppson, president; Sheila Flife, historian; Carl Waite, Senate representative; Mary Burgoyne, public relations chairman, and Janet Sparks, building activities chairman.

Falk House

Miss Sally Bauman of Lewiston was recently chosen president of Falk House. Other new officers include Lynn Burkhardt, vice president; Nancy Echeverria, secretary-treasurer, and Diane Relyea, social chairman.

The Falk House recently entertained Chapman House with a dinner social in the gardens. The girls spent the evening eating, swimming and getting acquainted.

Leather has hit the fashion world and thrown it for a loop!

Never has one type of material taken over a fashion trend in most every article of outer clothing.

From boots to hats and everything in between, leather invades the new styles such as Mod, Western and Continental.

A complete leather outfit should be centered around the leather jacket and the Bon Marche has the leather jacket for you.

Made of 100% real suede leather, it has the look of quality, the "lush" touch, and the heavenly fragrance only real suede leather has.

In proportioned lengths, the jacket buttons down the front pockets. The two larger pockets are lined with an acrylic fiber, just right to keep your "pinkies" warm. The third is a small "fake" pocket for an added conversation piece.

By Highlander of New York, the jacket is finished by the typical "T" shaped welt-seam in the back depicting the "Western" style.

Velour pullovers are still "sizzling hot" in fashion. V-neck pullovers with long, tapered sleeves in hot pink, olive and navy are selling so fast that the slower customers just don't "luck out."

Rally Set for YAF

"Systematic Softening of the Armed Services" will be discussed by Master Sgt. Jack V. Stevenson, Air Force retired, at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 12, in the Idaho Power building on Idaho street between 8th and 9th. He bases his views on 22 years of service to the United States.

His speech will be part of a membership rally of Boise Valley Young Americans for Freedom and will be followed by a question-answer period and a business meeting.

DECA Turns Slaves

A slave auction will be held Wednesday, Oct. 13, by the City Club Auxiliary during their monthly luncheon meeting. The slaves being sold are members of the Delta Epsilon Chi, mid-management students, to raise funds for future projects.

The Humanities division faculty and spouses plan a potluck Friday night at The Dorchester cabana. Mr. C. Griffith Bratt will give an illustrated talk on his European tour where he and Mrs. Bratt inspected pipe organs in historic churches.

Boise College students can attend the final presentation of the annual Boise High School variety show tonight for 50 cents, in the auditorium, starting at 8 p.m. Songs, skits, dances and novelty numbers are included in the traditional show.

If you can't sing a note, remember that laughter is the sweetest music in the world.

VICKI HARVEY, freshman nursing student, accepts the top Back-to-School award of $250 from Don Liebendorfer, manager of KEST radio station. More than 6500 college students entered this, the third annual contest sponsored by the station. Vicki is the daughter of the William W. Harveys and is a graduate of Borah High School.

Radio Operator Exams Scheduled Sat., Oct. 16

Radio operator examinations will be given Saturday, Oct. 16, at the Administration building, room 209. Examinations will start promptly: 8:30 a.m., radiotelegraph — all class, code and written tests; 9:30, radiotelephone—all classes; 11:00 a.m., amateur, extra and general classes, code and written tests. Applicants are asked to furnish pens, ink and pencils. Those desiring code tests must bring telephone receiver headsets, complete with standard plug.

Application forms, FCC-756 and 756B, for commercial operator authorizations, and FCC-610 for amateur applicants, will be supplied upon request to the Federal Communications Commission, 441 U. S. Court House, Portland, Ore. 97205.

GATEWAY TO IDEAS

This week's program in the "Gateway" series, on Monday evening at 7:35 on KIDO radio will feature Ralph Blacklund, managing editor of Horizon Magazine. He will be the moderator on the program entitled "Books that Formed My Opinions." The series is sponsored by the Idaho State Library Association.

BEST EXCHANGES BATON FOR QUIRT AT RODEO CLUB'S ANNUAL FIELD MEET

By Coleen Little

With much shouting and slapping of reins on reluctant donkeys, the race was on! Jerry Young used his hat to prod his black donkey, but Alan Crooks was making good time on his run-away shetland pony (only he was going the wrong way). Mr. Neal Metcalf's shetland tried to buck him off, but being advisor for the Rodeo Club, he figured he had better stick on.

Charles Davis dressed for the occasion with sombrero and serape and smoked a green cigar, while Tom Hazzard sported a wide-brimmed black cowboy hat. Despite all the color and dash of the other faculty members, a quiet, steady little grey donkey, with jockey Mr. John Best, trotted his way to victory. With a triumphant smile, the "Music Man" accepted his trophy, a western string tie, and said "It's just what I've always wanted!"

The Boise College second annual field meet held at the Highlands stable last Sunday not only was a huge success, but the participants had a good time, including the six faculty members who courageously volunteered for the specialty event. Bernie Jestrabeck, BC junior, was the top scorer for the senior division. Gayle Allen, president of the Rodeo Club, was bucked from his horse when his rope got between the mare's hind legs. Yo Wilhite, sitting on the scoop shovel being pulled, was taken on a wild ride by the pitching steed.

The suicide, or cross-country race, ended the day's activities, with the riders coming down off the hill behind the Highlands bomb shelter at a speed which brought gasps of fear and admiration from the spectators. Mimi Patten, BC freshman, took the lead early in the race and finished far ahead of the rest. Cherie Wolverton and Bernie Jestrabeck were second and third.

Proceeds from the event will aid the Rodeo Club in putting on an intercollegiate rodeo in the spring.

Broncos Melt Snow for Second Victory

SNOW DOMINATES FIRST PERIOD; BRONCOS SPRING BACK TO VICTORY

By STEVE LAWRENCE

It was a runaway game in the first half, but the Boise Broncos came back in the second half to settle down their opponents last Saturday in their first ICAC game and defeated Snow College, 38-20. Snow, led by speedster Bob Beattie, claimed three touchdowns and

Downtown Quarterbacks Pick Evenson, Wilcox

Standouts for the Treasure Valley game were fullback Jim Evenson and Jerry Wilcox. The Boise College Quarterback Club so honoring Evenson the second time in two weeks and repeated the honor for Wilcox, who was chosen last year for his action in the Everett, Wash. game.

JERRY WILCOX

Jim Evenson, the big fullback, who racks yards by the tens for Boise College, seems out to set the football world on fire. Although obviously proficient in football, Jim excels in another sport — swimming. To his credit are several records in both Oregon and Washington. After completing his two years at Boise College, Jim has hopes of playing for the University of Oregon.

Jerry Wilcox, a returning sophomore, came to Boise College from Vale, Oregon. Jerry is the third Wilcox to play for Boise. His brothers, Dave and John, both are now playing professional football. Jerry is the right end on defense and is a noticeable hindrance to punters and extra point kickers. Blocking kicks seems to be his favorite game.

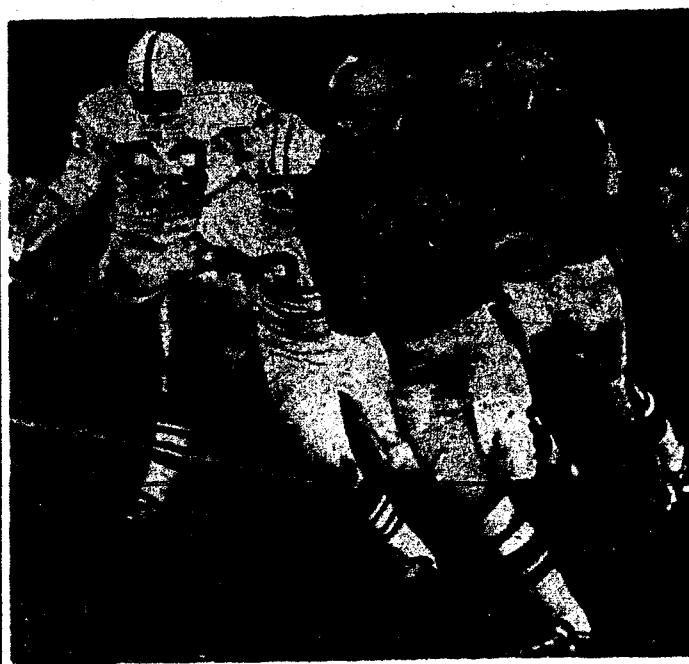

two extra points in the hectic first half, while Boise claimed only two scores and one extra point to leave the half following Snow, 20-13.

The second half was Boise's turn. The Broncos held Snow utterly unable to score, meanwhile marching down the field four more times to win the contest 28-20.

The first half success of Snow was due directly to Beattie's speed and a down-and-out pass that left their end so far out in the open only a 9.6 hundred yard dash man could catch him. This pass, comprised of a double fake, one as a handoff and the other as a lateral, gave their end time to run out and across to the opposite side of the field into the open.

Boise's success in the second half was due to the Broncos' ability to run the ball well and move down the field, as well as contain Beattie. Moreover, they properly diagnosed this pass of Snow's which was hurting the Broncos. When properly contained, Snow could only come up with a series of incompletes and intercepted passes, fumbles and punts.

Boise's scores in the first half were achieved by an end run by Quarterback Ron Imel and a plunge from one yard out by starting fullback Steve Grayson. The Bronco scoring in the second half was by Vern Morse, catching one of Imel's well-placed passes from the 22 yard line; Jim Evenson, tumbling in from the three, and Mike O'Shea, going into the end zone twice—once for 2 yards and again from 17 yards out. Gary Stivers had a record of 3 completions for 6 attempts in P.A.T.'s. The Boise Broncos' record now stands at two wins and one loss.

In spite of a torn leg muscle which kept Jim Evenson out of the game until the end of the first half, he managed to rack up his quota of yards rushing—for a total of 97. Most of this was in the second half.

Home Team Slated To Play Wenatchee

Wenatchee Junior College will be invading the home ground of the Boise Broncos this Saturday at 8:15 p.m., for Boise's fourth game of the season and the 15th Annual Elks Club night.

Wenatchee will be looking for a win. The last time the Washington players encountered Boise was in 1956, and the Broncos walked away with the contest, 59-6. Their 1964 record in the Washington Community College League was 2 and 4. Previously, however, Wenatchee has successfully taken their league title in 1955, 1956, tied with Olympic JC in 1957 and won the championship again in 1959.

Two other opponents of Boise College — Columbia Basin and Everett Junior College, are in the same conference with Wenatchee. This will be the last home game of the Broncos until October 30.

To Form Swim Teams

If Boise College men students not participating in the swimming classes are wondering how they might get into a program, here is the answer. Contact Bill Jones, who will be at the YMCA swimming pool between 10 and 12 on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Swimming teams will be organized for intramural and sanctional competition (AAU athletics). At present, training for the diving and swimming competition is under way.

Lost articles can be claimed at either the switchboard in the Administration building or at the director's desk in the SUB. At the present time, books and a pair of car keys are being held, according to the SUB manager, Lavere Arnold.

Central Washington State College charges up to $12 quarterly for parking, the Everett Junior College "Clipper" reports. EJC admits that on its campus 1,500 cars vie for 1,000 spaces. To help eliminate the number of passenger-less cars, a car pool listing is posted in the student center.
