BOISE COLLEGE ROUNDUP

VOL. 1, NO. 9

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1965

BOISE, IDAHO

A CROWN FOR A QUEEN

PRETTY FROSH WINS QUEEN TITLE; AWS, VALKYRIES GET FLOAT HONORS

Vivacious Susan Clarke, a freshman, elementary education major, was crowned BOISE COLLEGE'S first Homecoming Queen at the Homecoming dance Oct. 30.

A brunette, Susan stands 5'7" tall and is a cheerleader. She is a freshman representative and is active in Life Lines.

Now that the festivities are all over, Susan sees her crowning as "A wonderful moment I'll never forget."

Part of the three day Homecoming celebration was the annual Homecoming parade. Each school organization entered a float, which were judged by local businessmen Wayne Dewey, Dwight Jensen and Robert Brown.

Winners of the two main divisions are: small division - AWS, Sweepstakes; Engineer's Club, second place, and Nurses' Club, third place. In large division: Valkyries, first place; Esquires, second place and Driscoll Hall, third place.

'HORSIE SET' PLANS RODEO EVENT SUNDAY

A Jackpot Rodeo will be held next Sunday, Nov. 7, at the Idaho Quarter Horse Ranch just west of Caldwell, sponsored by the Boise College Rodeo Association. Entries are open to all who wish to participate, with a special feature for those attending.

Not only are the regular men's events scheduled, but also bareback riding and roping for the girls, along with barrel racing. Bull riding, calf roping, team roping, bareback, saddle bronc, and bulldogging events are open to the men.

Entry fees are $15 for any men's event, $2.00 of which pays for the stock, the rest into the jackpot. Girls' events cost $7.00, with $2 for stock and the rest into the jackpot. Anyone wishing to enter should contact Carol Qualman at the college, or leave a note in the Publications office by noon Friday.

The Quarter Horse ranch is about two miles west of Caldwell toward Greenleaf, on the right-hand side of the road, just past Simplot's.

The next ROUNDUP will be a few days late due to the Thursday holiday for printers as well as journalists, Editor Joe Patterson reports.

Building Program Begins on Campus With Tech Addition

Ground was broken this week for the addition to the Technical Education building, launching the 3½ million dollar building expansion program authorized this spring. To be constructed is a center section for offices and a west wing duplicating the present structure on Bellevue avenue.

Cain and Hardy, local contractors, signed the contract for $148,915, and substantial work on the building is to be completed by March 1, 1966, and fully completed by March 31. Sub-contractors are Union Plumbing and Heating and Electric Service Company.

The next construction under consideration is the addition to the Science building, which will be added to the north end of the present structure, to form a U-shaped building. Bids for the general construction of this second phase of the building program will be opened next Tuesday at 4 p.m., in President Eugene B. Chaffee's office.

Medical Center Parking Off Limits to Students

Parking in the Medical Center across from the campus is off limits for students, Tom Hazzard, superintendent of buildings, announces. "This is a private parking area for medical patients," he said, "and continued parking by students may force the Center to take police action."

The number of parking citations has been reduced, however, and in general, cooperation on the part of the students is commendable, he said.

Beverage Laws Defined

The Idaho State Patrol will hold an evening meeting to explain the beverage laws of Idaho and the consequences when they are broken, Friday at 7:30 p.m., in room 106 of the science building.

Pamphlets that explain this meeting in further detail are available for the taking in the Ad building.

College Thespians Portray Moliere's Classic Characters

Students still have tonight and tomorrow night to see BC's production of Moliere's comedy, Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme, at 8:15 p.m., in the Little Theater on the second floor of the library.

They will be sure to enjoy the raucous humor and the ribald characters portrayed by their fellow classmates. Especially enjoyable are Monsieur and Madame Jourdain, played by Don Hawkins and Judy Lyons, Jourdain's stupidity and his wife's disgust with his "little follies" keep things jumping on the domestic scene, while Cleonte, played by Richard Gluch and Covielle, played by Greg Mathews,

DON HAWKINS is shown in the leading role of Monsieur Jourdain in the current production of the Boise College Speech Department, LE BOURGEOIS GENTILHOMME, by Moliere, which will continue through Saturday.

Blood Drawing Nov. 8

Life Lines of Boise College will assist in the fall Red Cross blood drawing on campus to be held Nov. 18, according to Esther Brolner, Life Line president. In the past a large portion of the blood donated has been given to Robin Raymond, the Esquire Club's boy mascot.

'Comedy in Music' Features Victor Borge Monday Night in Boise College Gym

The internationally famed Victor Borge, a master pianist as well as comedian, will add Boise, Idaho, to his list of stopovers when he appears in the Boise College gymnasium next Monday night at 8 o'clock in his "Comedy in Music" concert.

Borge has been presenting concerts around the globe for twenty-five years, and has earned the title of "Clown Prince of the Keyboards." Accompanying him in this concert will be Leonid Hambro, former official pianist for the N.Y. Philharmonic.

The one-night performance is being brought here under the auspices of the Associated Student Body, and proceeds from the ticket sales will be added to the college scholarship fund, W. L. Gottenberg, vice president, explained.

Tickets are being sold by reserved sections rather than individual seats, and $2 and $3 tickets can be purchased in the Student Union building.

All the $5 and $4 seats were sold the first week after the announcement of Borge's pending visit.

A REVIEW

Record Crowd Sees Film Series Opener

A capacity crowd filled Science Hall for the first foreign film, a Russian produced movie, Ballad of a Soldier. The audience, largest in the history of the foreign film program, was comprised mostly of students from throughout Boise Valley.

One of the most remarkable aspects of the film was that so simple a plot could have such an impact on its audience. The story was, in short, that of a young Russian soldier who had distinguished himself in battle, thus earning a 4-day pass during which he could return home to see his mother. Due to a number of incidents enroute, he was able to see her only long enough to let her know that he was alive, and then was forced to return to the war front.

The next foreign film presentation is scheduled for 8:00 p.m., Nov. 12, in the Science building lecture hall, and will feature a French-made film entitled The 400 Blows, with a short-subject featurette entitled An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge.

The film was devoid of gimmicks, spectacular color, and overwhelming music score often used by American producers to distract the attention of the audience from the shortcomings of the actors and the playwright.

The English subtitles were unimaginative, but adequate. This was due, in part to the simplicity of the plot and to the skill of the actors in portraying the characters with means other than their voices.—G. M.

The Boise College Debate team will leave Nov. 11 for Eugene, Ore., to participate in the University of Oregon Forensic tournament, according to Mr. Robert Miller, debate coach.

Artist to Be Honored

Mr. Louis Peck, head of the College Art Department, and state chairman of American Art Week, announces that a reception is planned Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4, honoring Mrs. Charles Davidson, artist and art patron for the college for many years. Her one-man art showing is on exhibit in the Library galleries for the next two weeks.

The Davidsons were the donors of the landscaping in the planters on the Library terrace.

BC Students Launch UF Drive With Dance

Kicking off the United Fund drive on campus will be a dance this Saturday at 9 p.m. in the SUB which will be sponsored by the Freshman class, according to Frank Frantz, Student Body president.

Music will be played by the Alligators, who are donating their services for the benefit affair.

The activities for the United Fund drive on campus will continue for two weeks with the different clubs competing against each other for the honor of donating the most money. A plaque, which was won by the IK's last year, will be given to the club donating the largest amount. All funds are to be turned into the Vice President's office.

Holiday Thursday

Due to the national observance of Veterans Day, Thursday, Nov. 11, students will forego the pleasures of attending classes for one entire day. Although there is no special observance planned by the college, the day will be considered an official holiday, according to Dr. Axel Chatburn, Dean of Faculty.

Campus Calendar

Fri., Nov. 5—School play, 8 p.m., Little Theater. "The Choice Is Yours," State Police, 4-6:15 p.m., Bldg. 116.

Sat., Nov. 6—All school play, 8 p.m., Library Little Theater. Football game, Shoreline vs. BC, 2:15 p.m., Bronco Stadium.

You shouldn't become angry at someone who knows more than you do . . . after all it's not his fault.

A Salute to the Spirit of BC

The cheering has ended, the crowds have dispersed, the yellow mums are wilted, but the memories of Boise College's first Homecoming linger on in the hearts of those who participated in the activities. This first Homecoming of the new era is representative of the things that the college has in store for the future, and is the best indicator that Boise College has truly come of age. Without a doubt this was the best, most spirited Homecoming in many years.

The pep rally was clearly indicative of the spirit which was to prevail and become contagious throughout the entire sequence of Homecoming activities right down to the final notes of the dance. This new "Spirit of BC" is born of the cooperation and participation of the students and the faculty, and the pride in our school. This "Spirit of BC" is the key to the future of Boise College and its growth depends on making this spirit felt by every student, faculty member, alumni and citizen in the area.

The fifty-unit parade demonstrated to the townspeople the willingness of the college students to work together in making it the best and biggest Homecoming parade ever. At the game, our team of spirited Broncos trampled the Ricks team to the delight of the Boise supporters. The dance which featured the band of Jerry Gray was a great step forward in the social life of the college. The fact that it was a name band added to the refinement of the occasion, and showed to many persons that they did not need to be rowdy to have fun.

Truly the Homecoming committee is to be congratulated on a job well done, along with all those who helped in the construction of the floats and who participated in the many activities. Their efforts reflect their pride in their school. Those who did not take advantage of the opportunity to participate in these activities will never embrace the full meaning of Homecoming and the need for school spirit. Let's make the "Spirit of Boise College" a living, dynamic thing, rather than just a glib phrase.

College Demonstrators in Minority

United States college students of today are something of a laughing stock. Professional comedians take delight in picturing college students as doing nothing but participating in demonstrations, protesting all facets of life. This myth might be true in a few isolated cases, but on the whole most people enter college in order to acquire a higher education. One doesn't pay hundreds of dollars in tuition and other expenses just so he can join some rioters. The prestige of the majority is being harmed by a raucous minority.

Some universities' faculties are actually subjugated by their respective student bodies. It can't be denied that many riots are Communist-inspired. The Reds desire to stir up civil unrest in the U. S., thus our government will be weakened.

What's the solution to this problem? Stop all demonstrating? No! Americans, including college students, have a right to express their opinions. Some elements in our society deserve orderly protest. Reasonable faculty control of the students is a step towards curbing unruly, wild demonstrations. Demonstrations should be characterized by quality, not quantity.

WORDS WORTH REPEATING . . .

Depending on your current academic standing, you'll either be heartened or sobered by a discovery revealed in the November Reader's Digest. In a study of 17,000 men working for a leading industrial company, success in college was the most reliable indicator of success in a career. A. T. & T. Board Chairman Frederick R. Kappel says that of the men in the top third of their classes at college, 45 per cent were also in the top-salaried third of the company. At the other end of the scale, 40 per cent of those in the lowest third of their schools were also in the lowest third in salary.

Kappel says that although the quality of the college makes some difference, it is less of a difference than the quality of the man. That is, top students from average colleges were more successful than average students from top colleges.

Another discovery made in the survey was that extracurricular activities in college bore little relationship to career success. "It is only real campus achievement that seems to have significance," says Kappel. "Mere participation in extracurricular goings-on does not."

The significance of these findings is apparent. "More and more," says the telephone company chief, "these statistical guidelines dispose us to look within the top half of the college class for the individuals to whom we will offer career opportunities."

While there are exceptions, "nevertheless we must be concerned with relative probability," Kappel writes. "When you hire a high-scholarship man, your bet is that a drive already demonstrated will be sustained."

Anybody have some studying he wants to do?

In This Corner . . .

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Open letter to the Student Body from a proud faculty member:

Boise College orbited into the "big time" with its perfectly planned and superbly executed Homecoming program.

Congratulations on aiming high and proving you can achieve a sophisticated "sportacular" second to none in the big college realm.

Thanks for the nostalgia.
 A Faculty Member.

Dear Editor:

We are faced this year with the challenge of setting new precedents suitable for a four-year school. Homecoming is one of these.

We all can be proud of the work that was done on the Homecoming. To be sure, mistakes were made and changes will have to be made. But the Homecoming was done in a big way and student participation was in proportion to the scope of change.

On behalf of the Associated Student Body I would like to express thanks to the general chairman, Kay Garvin, social chairman, Julie Mills and members of their committees for the tremendous job they did. Faced with difficult problems, they performed their duties in a meritorious manner.

We all owe a debt of gratitude to everyone who helped make this Homecoming the best yet.

Sincerely,
 FRANK FRANTZ
 ASB President

Batt Presents Bach

The second Bach organ concert to be presented by Mr. C. Griffith Bratt, head of the Boise College Music Department, will be held on Sunday, Nov. 21 in St. Michael's Cathedral at 5 p.m. The series of concerts will be held once each month over a period of two years, in order to play the entire works of Bach.

Concerts are open to the public, and a free will offering is taken. Bratt, who also is a composer-in-residence, currently is reading proof on some original organ compositions to be published soon.

Spanish novelist Carmen Laforet visited the campus this week as the guest of Mrs. Camille Power.

CAMPUS BEAT

As a voice over the microphone requested all pie-eating contestants to step forward, twenty "homo sapiens" jostled towards the lengthy table which displayed the foreboding victuals—twenty cream pies. Each participant, aided by a Valkyrie, clasped his hands behind his back. At the signal they were "off," but were momentarily interrupted by a barrage of garbage thrown from somewhere high in the stands. At the conclusion of the gorging spree, in a true spirit of "brotherly love," the gooc-faced challengers pelted each other with uncaten remnants.

Grand winner was the Sophomore class president, Joe Barber. As the "victims" left the field, one opponent, sporting a cherry-smear-ed visage, quipped, "Want a lick?" And an innocent bystander, college photographer Franklin Carr, was slightly clobbered by an orbiting chocolate pie.

Looking for a place where you don't have to turn the other cheek? Join the Ceramics class, where, if mud is slung at you, LaVar Steele says "throw it right back."

One of the wildest college jokes happened as the result of one university's campus-wide election for a Homecoming queen. Members of the nominating committee, apparently testing to see whether students would merely vote for a name, entered the name of a cow on the ballot. The cow won.

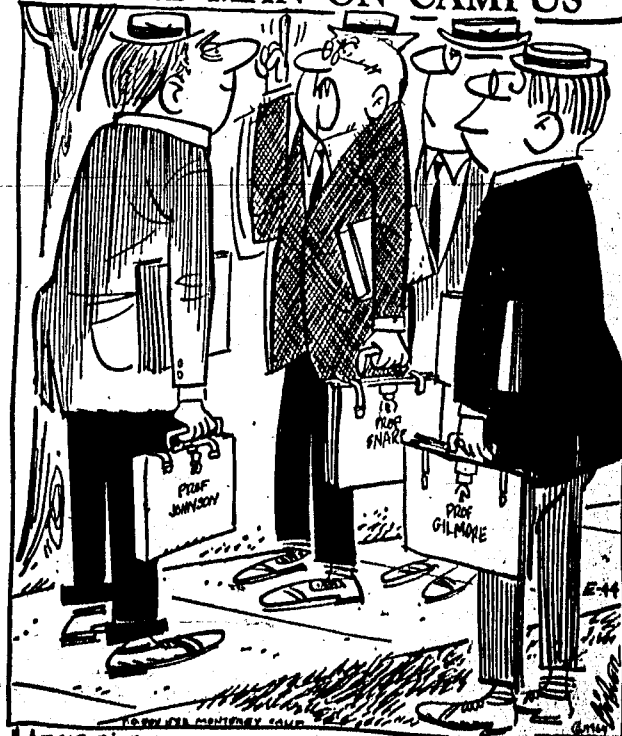

Overheard in men's locker room:
 "How many hours are you carrying?"
 "Nineteen."
 "Are you working?"
 "Yeah, after school until 9."
 "Wow! When do you study?"
 "From 9 to 1:30."
 "Well, when do you sleep?"
 "From 1:30 to 6:45."
 "Gee, how do you do it?"
 "Oh, it isn't easy. I'm dying tomorrow."

During a recent Spanish test, Joe Barber (from Spain) said, "I need a dictionary."

To fight or not to fight, that seems to be the most frequently asked question among the students in the Science building these days. The question concerns the snake cage in the corridor and its inhabitants: a bull snake, a rattlesnake and two garter snakes.

Most of the students are under the impression that the bull snake and rattlesnake are enemies. This is not true. Although they have a healthy respect for one another, they rarely fight; in fact, according to Mr. William Belknap, biology instructor, and man in charge of the snakes, they are often found living in the same pits. However, if a fight should occur, one would be wise to place all bets on the bull snake—he is the most likely to win.

Vocational Division Adds New Faculty

Four new teachers and a counselor have been added to the Vocational-Technical school this fall. The school now has a record enrollment of 219 students and 16 faculty members. Vocational courses for women include Dental Assisting and Practical Nursing. Courses for men include Auto Mechanics, Carpentry, Drafting and Designing, Electronics, Machine shop, Welding, Office Machine Repair Shop, and Auto Body.

Mr. Claude Wain, acting director of the Area Vocational Division, explained that the program on campus started approximately 25 years ago with offerings only in Carpentry and Machine Shop. He explained that the addition to the Vocational building, the first of the new buildings to be constructed in the expansion program authorized last spring, will enable the staff to handle an ever increasing enrollment.

The new teachers include: John Ogden, Welding instructor; Arden Harris, Office Machine Repairs; Harry Tripp, Drafting and Design, and Mr. Albert Fuehrer, Auto Mechanics.

The new Vocational counselor is Mr. Charles Williamson.

Delegates Attend C of I Conference

Four Boise College students, Joe Patterson and Marci McKeeth of the ROUNDUP staff, John Woodworth and Diana Keller of the Political Science department, will be accompanied by Dr. John Caylor to the Eighth Orientation in Politics Conference on "Administrative problems in a growing Pacific Northwest with emphasis on Idaho."

This conference scheduled for Friday and Saturday, is sponsored by the College of Idaho in cooperation with the Oregon-Southern Idaho Council for Education in Politics and the Idaho Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

Featured speakers will be native Idahoan John A. Carver, Jr., Under Secretary of the Interior, and John M. Young, regional director of the U. S. Civil Service Commission of the Seattle Region.

Panel discussions will feature such notables as Idaho Congressmen George V. Hansen and Compton I. White, Jr., and Mayors Johnson of Rupert; Klein, Grangeville; Pederson, Idaho Falls, Shell-

Broncos Claim 1965 ICAC Title

BEARING DOWN on a runaway ball carrier are Broncos Steve Grayson, No. 35 and Rodney Lima, No. 75, during the Ricks-Boise Homecoming clash Saturday night.

Broncos Beat Ricks to Collect Crown

By STEVE LAWRENCE

Crowning themselves as the undisputed leader of the ICAC Conference, the Boise Broncos defeated Ricks in the Homecoming contest last Saturday, 27-13. Although because of a conference ruling, classifying Ricks as an ineligible team and altering their record from 7-0 to 0-7, the Broncos were not required to take the contest to be declared the conference leaders.

Their national standing, however, was threatened and they needed this game in the worst way. At last notice, the Broncos were sitting in the eighth position on the national poll, and Ricks was listed ninth.

Throughout the first half, it appeared that Homecoming fans were in for a toe-to-toe, knock-down, drag out. Boise claimed the first score on their first possession of the ball, with a long march topped off by a one-yard plunge by Mike O'Shea. Gary Stivers, in supporting a record of 20 good PAT's for 25 attempts, added the conversion and the Broncos led, 7-0.

Only beginning to fight, as exemplified throughout the game by the Vikings enthusiasm, Ricks came back before the close of the first half to score on a pass and tie the game, 7-7. The second half did seem to move faster, wherein Ricks scored one more time and the Broncos added three more to their total. With Ron Imel out on an injury, quarterback Bill Ingram piloted the Broncos to their second TD with a short aerial from the 12 to John Granby. Ingram also threw the final score to fullback Jim Evenson while in between, Mike O'Shea had topped off a Bronco effort with a 3-yard dive.

Comparing Boise statistics with those of Ricks', the Broncos gathered together 232 yards rushing against the Vikings' 130 total. Also Boise managed to run to 17 first downs while Ricks obtained only eight. Jim Evenson, leading the Broncos, did his usual outstanding job by gaining 157 yards in 25 carries. Following him was Mike

Driscoll Chargers Holding First Place In Intramural Football Season Pogram

By MIKE BOWEN

The Chargers from Driscoll Hall are now holding a commanding lead in the Boise College intramural football contest. Their spotless 4-0 record has been widely due to the performances of "Big John" and Harry Lee Kwai. With the season now half over, the dorm squad now has a fairly wide margin between them and the number two team.

The Beaver Patrol are runners-up with a better-than-average team supporting a better-than-average record. The "Beavers," or "Beaver Shots", are sparked by linebackers Stan Hicks and quarterback Bobby Maus.

The Animals and G.D.I.'s now enter the race with both teams holding on to a 2-2 season mark. The G.D.I.'s, led by flanker backs Bobby Chatterton and Bobby Drury, seem to pose a constant threat when they can get enough out to play.

The Animals, the team with probably the most size, speed and experience, have come up with a lot of trouble this season. Each player on the roster has either high school or college experience. The line, averaging 241 pounds, is spearheaded by Dennis Eichorn, Dave Wolfe, and the backfield is led by Larry Howerton, Denny Neilson and Billie Calkins.

The IK's present Bobby White and Steve Carey as their main threats. The club got a late start because of the traditional Toilet Bowl game with the Pi Sigs.

Last are the I.F.T.'s. Considered the fastest team in the league with backs Steve Ball, Steve Elam and Kirk Moore, fullback Johnnie Skien and quarterback Mike Bowen, and Gary Turk seem destined for something (?).

Imel and Stubblefield Best of Dixie Contest

Elected at the weekly meeting of the Boise Quarterback club as back and lineman of the week for their performances in the Dixie game as the Broncos emerged victorious, 21-13, were Ron Imel and Del Stubblefield.

This will be Imel's second selection by the club. At present, Imel has led the Broncos in their passing game with a total of 542 yards. Ron has been affected the past week with a torn muscle and may see only limited action in the coming Shoreline contest.

Also honored is Del Stubblefield, affectionately referred to by his team members as "Stub." He has started at guard this year, standing 5'9" and weighing 195 pounds. In the 1964 season, he was similarly honored for his efforts in the Shoreline contest. "Stub" is a consistent producer for the Broncos and is most effective "pulling down the line," reports Coach Lyle Smith.

DEL STUBBLEFIELD

RON IMEL

PERRIN COMMENTS

Coach Jack Perrin, in commenting on the participation in this year's intramural football program, stated: "I was very pleased with the turnout we had this year and especially with the attitude of the players. They played hard and for the most part showed a great deal of spirit.

"A similar intramural program will be set up in the near future, to be announced through the ROUNDUP and I hope the turnout is comparable to that of the 'fleetball' program."

O'Shea with 73 yards for 18 carries. Imel completed two of six passes while his counterpart Bill Ingram had six for eight attempts. Ingram passed for 101 yards while Imel was only able to collect 27.

Winning this contest was the decisive clincher to the ICAC title for the Broncos, with a 4-0 record. What lies ahead are three non-conference contests, which will have a direct and decisive bearing on the national rating of the Boise Broncos and will also be a major factor in determining whether or not Boise College will receive a bowl game bid.

Boise College Stadium will be the site of the annual battle between Boise and Borah High school grid teams. The game will start at 2 p.m., Veterans Day.

Last Home Game Is Saturday Afternoon; Broncs vs. Shoreline

Heading into the final portion of the 1965 season, the Boise Broncos will clash with Shoreline Community college this Saturday. This is only the second year of football competition for the Seattle school. Last year Boise was scheduled to play Shoreline and defeated them 47-19. Although they are just beginning a football program, Shoreline does appear to be the Washington team to beat.

As the Broncos lost their opener to Columbia Basin, so also did Shoreline drop a contest to the Pasco team, 28-0. Coach Lewis, who did the scouting of Shoreline, rated them similar to the Wenatchee team previously encountered by the Broncos.

The man to watch Saturday and probably the man most disconcerting to the Broncos is number 72, a big tackle named Jerry Holmes, who will be pushing around 267 pounds against Boise. Holmes is fast as well as big and specializes in butchering centers. As an average, "their line is big and fast," reported Coach Lewis, "and looks to be a major factor in the game."

This will be the last game that the Broncos will play at home. The completion of the season will see them travel to Everett, Wash. on Nov. 13 and down to Taft College in California on Nov. 20.
