Students of Boise College
Life Lines Seek Donors Today

All red-blooded Boise College students are urged to contribute today to the annual blood-drawing for the Red Cross which will be conducted Thursday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the SUB ballroom.

Life Line members solicited pledges for the event. Those contributing are under 21 must consent slips from their parents, and present them to the Life Line girl. The college club which donates the largest percentage of blood among its members will receive a certificate.

One drawing of this kind is held per semester. In the past each semester has topped the preceding semesters in the amount of blood received. Last spring a total of 178 pints were donated.

“We hope to exceed this record,” stated Esther Bressler, Life Line president.

A sizable portion of the blood received will be given to Robert Raymond, the Esquire Club’s bay mare.

College Is Host To English Teachers At State Conference

An Idaho English Conference beginning Thursday on the Boise College campus will attract approximately 500 teachers of English, from primary schools to the senior high schools throughout the state. The conference will be nationally known English professors and administrators.

The conference is being held to help improve the quality of teaching of English on all levels, under the sponsorship of the National Council of Teachers of English, the Idaho Education Association, and the State Department of Education.

Preston Eugene A. Chatfield will give the conference the opening session Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Administration Building. Miss Doris Hoy, of the college Education Department, is in charge of registration from 3 to 6 p.m. in the Little Theatre. English professors Miss Helen Moore and Jay Schwartz are in charge of hospitality for the three-day meet.

English classes scheduled on Friday will be held in the campus library on Saturday.

Life Lines Organize

Recently, the Life Lines have organized under the leadership of President Esther Bressler and Mrs. John McIntoch, advisor. The purposes of this organiza- tion are to obtain pledges of blood to local blood banks, and to acquaint college students with the importance of the blood program and its benefits.

This year’s members include: Jimmie Kay Covington, Robert Rydahl and Neville Wright, Sophmores: LeeAnn Blazek, Father Bressler, Janet Trickey and Jan Young, Sophomore women members; June White, Susan Clarke, Kimberly Ham- son, Ceci Keith, Kathryn Simpson and Kathy Zinser. New Life Lines are chosen on the basis of grades, character, personality and willingness to work. Former members vote if new members are in- curred.

Their collective uniforms consist of a black dress shirt, block pumps, white gloves and the univer- sity regalia with a striped flag of blood.

Boise College opens its basketball season Friday, Dec. 3, at the HiU Fresh, in the gymnasium, with games beginning at 9 p.m. The players are expected to support new Coach Murray Batterfield and his play- ers.

Choir to Sing Early

The traditional Christmas concert of the college a cappella choir will be held before breakfast, on Sunday, Dec. 12, from 8 to 9 a.m., in the Auditorium, by Mr. C. Griffin Bressler, director, announces.

BC Students Attend Jordan Functions

Boise College representatives had the opportunity to hear several concerts at Senate Music Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois and Senator George Mur- phy of California, who were the guests of the Life Line girl. The college club holiday dinner Tuesday evening was in the gym for Idaho Senator Les Jordan.

Representing the college were the following members of the Jordan functions club, Edmund Johnson, president; Wayne Painter, Marilyn Dettie and David Kistler, as well as their advisor Tom Haggard, member of the planning committee. Also attending as guests were International Relations Club members, Jim Harris, president, and Jim Weller, and Robertes, and Joel Petterson.

The second concert of the series will be held in the St. Michael’s Catholic Church Sunday afternoon, Dec. 19, at 3 p.m. The concerts will continue until May on the third Sunday of each month at 6 p.m.

The last time that the compo- sitions of workers were presented in this form was 1946. The music students had the orchestra organized as before. The music concert was aimed at the entire community.

There is no admission charge, and the public is invited to attend.

The music students here at Boise College should especially plan on taking advantage of these very fine concerts. H. L.

Next ROEDDUP will be found Thursday, Dec. 3, following the Thanksgiving vacation. Editor Joe Patterson announces.

BOISE COLLEGE COMMUNITY SYMPHONY OPENS SEASON WITH GUEST PIANIST IN MONDAY NIGHT CONCERT

The Boise College Community Symphony will begin the opening of its twenty-sixth season with the fall concert on Monday, Nov. 22 in the auditorium at 8:30 p.m., Mr. John H. Best, director, announces.

Walter Hautzig, Viennese pianist now at the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, will be featured as guest soloist in St. Bee- thoven’s “Emperor Concerto.” The guest artist came to this country to study at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia under Mis- cellanies. Last, he received the Town Hall Endowment Award, following his New York debut, for the outstanding performance of the year by an artist under 30.

In announcing that he will be in Boise to bring Hautzig to Boise College to open the symphony season, Mr. Best said, “The orchestra is composed of college musicians and students as well as outstanding musicians in the Boise Valley area. Robert Schi- bert, Mitchell, concertmasters, founded the orchestra to enable available students to play with established instrumentalists. Best has been the leader for the past nineteen years.

Boise College students will be admitted to the concert with their active study admission for outside students at $1.50, and for oth- ers, $2.20. Ticket prices for the fall concert are $2.00.

The Associated Student Body is sponsoring the concert.

The visiting artist is remaining in Boise through Tuesday to conduct a lecture recital for students at 1:30 p.m., and a recital for students and teachers at 7:30 p.m.

Freshman Uf Hop To Swell Coffers

The Freshman class is planning to open the fall up the campus Union Fund drive next Saturday night, Curtis Patterson, president, announced. An increase which launched the campaign last Friday and raised $100 has yielded $100 for the community coffers.

The organization which has con- tributed the largest sum by the end of the drive will be awarded the plaque now held by the Inter- collegiate Knights.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DEMONSTRATING THE NEW COPY MACHINE located near the general card catalogue in the Library is freshmen Terry House, This new addition to the already growing Library facilities will enable students to obtain copies of periodicals, books, newspapers, letters, and other printed material.

The College and the Community

With the approach of the Thanksgiving holidays, we can look back over the accomplishments of the last few months and realize that Boise College has made some great steps forward. One of these steps is the increase in the willingness of the student body in general to cooperate with the people of the area in supporting a good cause. Also many individual students have so cooperated.

The College-wide United Fund drive is a good example of the willingness of the student body in general to cooperate with the people of the area in supporting a good cause. Many individual students have cooperated.

One of the less publicized projects of several campus organizations came in response to a Letter to the Editor in the Roundup some time ago. The purpose is that of a widow, the mother of three children, who was facing a crisis. Almost immediately after the publication of this letter, several campus organizations went into action and visited the family to see what action had to be taken. This is a greater demonstration of the unity of the student body of Boise College than the tremendous amount of work which has been done in the past and the other activities in which the students have been so actively participating.

According to American Red Cross officials the most successful of the many blood drives in the state are those held here on the Boise College campus. In the past, students and faculty have stood in long lines waiting patiently in order to give a pint of their precious blood to help someone in need. Continued cooperation between the college and the community will only yield continued growth for both.

The College and the Community

We believe that the war in Vietnam is part of a general Communist effort to dominate all of Southeast Asia. We believe that the cause of the war rests clearly with Communist leaders in China, through planning and control. We believe that the so-called “peace demonstrators” who are opposing our role in Vietnam are encouraging the Communists to continue their aggressive actions in South Vietnam and, in turn, all of Southeast Asia.

We believe that the overwhelming majority of young Americans join us in supporting the efforts of our government to oppose Communist aggression in Vietnam.—Student Committee for the Defense of the Republic
BOISE COLLEGE ROUNDUP

THE LITTLE RED SCHOOL HOUSE ON CAMPUS

BY COLEEN LITTLE

Do those ailing faces, pigtails, and freckles on the courthouse steps across campus strike you as old friends? Perhaps you recall them as the faces of those wondrous days when life was carefree, with no stern professors, no surprise exams, no midnight cramming? The students of Campus School are part of an important movement in the Boise College education program which offers "a marriage between theory and practice."

Dean Arel Chastain saw similar potential in the old Alhambra College and in a campus on a campus in Colorado, but they did not give a true picture because the students were full-time students, usually a select group. When the Boise Public Schools cooperated with a junior college in the early 1950's on the building of Campus School, student teachers took a step towards perfection. Not only is the student teaching supervised by some of the finest teachers in the district, but the students take a methods class which corresponds with what they have seen and done at Campus. Methods classes in the fall include teaching, language arts, the teaching of reading, Spring involves practices in social studies methods, and science and arithmetic in the fall.

During the course of the year, student teachers are able to observe and participate in all activities the school child encounters in a year. Not only does the program extend through the year, but it also encompasses a whole grade of teachers. The student teacher spends any week in each grade level during the first weeks of school. Then the new teacher decides which three grade levels she would like to observe and practice teaching. The whole program is a close cooperation between college and public school.

Campus School began under a sixth-room building, the structure built by the Boise Public Schools and the ground donated by the college. The building now contains twelve classrooms, two libraries, a conference room, a television room, and a multipurpose auditorium, cafeteria, auditorium, library. One of the unique features of the classroom is a two-way mirror between the class and the coat room. The teacher, teaching without disrupting the regular routine of the class, can "observe" classroom activity and then "review" the session. This is called a "looping" teacher.

Not only are the supervising teachers outstanding, but those student teachers who go through the course of study go on to become successful teachers. Several of the supervising teachers at Campus School have gone on to become principals themselves and are able to assist the student teachers to a maximum degree. Mr. James Shaffer, last year's sixth-grade teacher who began his training at Campus, is now principal at Monrovia, Miss Wordsen and Mrs. Priftie, Mrs. Friedrich, Miss Wordsen and Miss Allen Ghar are all products of Campus who have gone on to become the Boise School system to teach and because of their attitudes have been asked to aid in the training of other teachers.

Although the demand in Boise for qualified teachers is great, the demand for qualified teachers in the elementary schools is even greater in the high school. In the Boise School system, the "degreed" teacher can make from $1500 to $2000 a year more, and the emphasis on obtaining a BA is considered by some to have been a factor in making BJC a four-year college. Mr. Keith Keene, principal at Campus, has been there three years. The principal was Mr. Loren Hicks, now principal at Born High School. Mr. Keene aids the student teachers and helps coordinate teachers and student teachers.

The education students enrolled at Boise College are greatly interested in not only the varied teaching in the program and the students at Campus feel privileged to have the varied experiences and extra help that the student teaching programs offer.

Opportunity is knocking for all those interested in teaching. for there are unlimited possibilities open to the well educated school teacher.

BC COLLEGE ROUNDUP

The Boise College Young Republicans have re-elected Jim Jones as club chairman. Other officers are: first vice chairman, Wayne Paintor; second vice chairman, Jim Harris; secretary, Judy Edens; treasurer, David Kistner, and Dan Last, committee chairman. Mr. Tim Hazen is the advisor.

Larry Schocnhut, Idaho Y.R.'s select chairman, who sponsored the club at a recent meeting, cited a major function of the club, which is to provide a balanced governmental education. School pointed out that every dollar of federal aid leads to more federal control.
The LES BOIS staff will meet in T-LA Monday at noon for the purpose of assigning jobs. ALL MEMBERS OF THE LES BOIS STAFF SHOULD ATTEND. The first BOIS will be the first yearbook of Boise College. Since 1950 there have been thirty Boise Junior College yearbooks; however, the book now being prepared by Editor Carol Jensen and her crew will be the first one without the "Junior" in the name. The theme of this yearbook will be Progress, in keeping with our advancement to a four-year status. This theme will be carried out by comparing the past with the present through pictures. The book will be bigger and better than ever before due to its larger size, 9x12, and a possibility of color areas. Another improving factor is the seventeen members staff which is considerably larger than last year.

There will be a new arrangement this year with more coverage for religion and music, and the book will contain special sections for these two areas as well as one for languages.

The staff is now in the process of choosing topics which may use one prepared by our own art department. It will be a dark shade of blue and will display the new college seal.

Twenty-five Boise College students were among the students chosen for the university's current tour to Europe. The group which is under the supervision of the Foreign Language Department, will depart on June 16 and return July 20.

Three members of the college are represented on the staff, with the exception of one technical assistant. Anyone from this department interested in working on the book is invited to contact Miss Helen Thompson or Carol Jensen.

European Tour Planned For French Students

Mrs. Helen Farrer, Boise High School's coordinator of the current European study tour to Europe, said that under the supervision of the Foreign Language Department, will depart on June 16 and return July 20.

Students will attend including grade 17 French classes in the tour's beginning.

Reconstruction must be made by June 1. For further information, call Mrs. Farrer at 382-7542 (evenings) or at Boise High by day.

BOISE COLLEGE ROUNDUP

The eyes of the Boise College community were opened recently when a new BOIS hit the presses. The 1950 BOIS was received at the Boise College Press offices and the faculty and students were able to view the culmination of their efforts. The yearbook was the result of a joint project in the School of Business and Music, and was produced with the help of the Idaho State College Press.

The BOIS was printed by the Boise College Press and was designed by the School of Business and Music. The yearbook was the product of a collaborative effort between the two schools. The BOIS was distributed to the students and faculty of Boise College and was available for purchase at the Boise College Bookstore.

Coe Views Football From Press Box

By NAZIH SIMPSON

While the stands were rapidly filling, I shyly crept my way up to the press box. I wasn't exactly sure of what was going to happen on this lovely night but I, a coed, was going to write a story on the Boise College Bronco's football game. Sitting there in the press box, I was filled with curiosity and excitement, and a little frightened.

The action began before the teams came on the field. The roar of "peppers" and "cold pop" filled the air, plus the shouts of the players warming up and paring to meet head-on in battle. "Ladies and gentlemen, the national anthem." The crowd rose to its feet and it was an expectant right to see everyone stand up and pay honor to a piece of red, white, and blue cloth slowly climbing up a tall pole.

I never before realized that 11 men could move so gracefully as they do on the football field. It almost seemed like a ballet. Then we had a touchdown.

Looking down on the game, one can see all sorts of things that everyone else misses. The long stride of the Kightons made them the 3-line. The line, was noticed by all, including the Boise College players that they lost the ball at that point. The Bronco, however, couldn't get the Knights all the way down the field. The Kightons walked the ball for a long pass to the 8-yard line where the Knights finally pushed it over. The conversion kick was good.

I turned to look at the clock as it was almost 10. The entire thing from the kickoff to the touchdown took a total of 1 minute 36 seconds.

The game was just about over and the crowd started to leave. I have never seen a football game like this one before, and I doubt if I will again. It isn't every day that a coed is allowed in the press box. Somehow I hope to understand every-thing I witnessed.

BRONCOS TRAVEL TO CALIFORNIA FOR LAST CONTEST AGAINST TAFT

The Boise College Broncos will travel to Taft, Calif. this weekend to wind up their scheduled season roster with a final game against Taft College. The Broncos, they managed to defeat Everett JC this last Saturday at Everett by a score of 23-7. Mike O'Neill was the workhorse for the Broncos as he claimed both of the context's TD's, Bill Ingram again led the attack for Boise and Jim Evenson rushed down field at his usual devastating pace.

It was primarily a game of lineman against lineman as both teams were forced to run around and deal rather than through the mid die due to fine lateral pursuit by both teams. Brad Cermak was the stand out for the Broncos, often pursuing through to break up the Trojan's reverse play. Everest tal-died in only TD in the fourth quarte-

to come off the ground and onto the scoreboard.

In one of the closest games experienced this year by the Boise Broncos, they managed to defeat Everett JC this last Saturday at Everett by a score of 23-7. Mike O'Neill was the workhorse for the Broncos as he claimed both of the context's TD's.

Bill Ingram again led the attack for Boise and Jim Evenson rushed down field at his usual devastating pace.

It was primarily a game of line-mans against linemen as both teams were forced to run around and deal rather than through the mid die due to fine lateral pursuit by both teams. Brad Cermak was the stand out for the Broncos, often pursuing through to break up the Trojan's reverse play. Everest tal-
died in only TD in the fourth quarte-
to come off the ground and onto the scoreboard.

CHRIS WEIDE, Boise defensive halfback specialist, losses an unidentified Shoreline halfback from completing a pass in the recent game with Shoreline in which Boise emerged victorious, the score being 27-0.

Homecoming Standouts
On the day of the Boise College Homecoming game against Ricks College, the Boise Broncos were victorious, 27-13, to assure the ICAC Conference title. Doing the outstanding jobs were Ken Thomas and Bill Ingram, so honored by the Bronco Quarterback Club as Lineman and Back of the Week.

BILL INGRAM
Ken Thomas, a freshman from Salem, Oregon, is the right of fensive tackle on the Bronco team and backs up his position with a 9' 4", 260-lb. frame. He has one Steve Trutenick as his "one" biggest incentive and a great asset to the team as well.

Bill Ingram, also jumping across the state line to Boise College, is from Vale, Ore., and the GTI Club's selection as Back-of-the-Week. Bill was an Oregon Shrine team pick his senior year and played on Vale teams which claimed third in the state three consecutive years.
