KING OF HEARTS . . .

BIG MAN ON CAMPUS during the recent Sweetheart's Ball was King of Hearts Bart Chaffee escorted during the intermission by Janine Talley, AWS president. Reigning as Jacks of Hearts were Joe Barber and Norris Wheeler.

Language Clubs to Present Two Shows; Comedy in French, Tragedy in Spanish

The thirty-third annual foreign language program will be held March 11 and 12 in the Boise College Music Auditorium at 8 p.m. The program will consist of two plays presented by the French and Spanish Clubs.

Mrs. Camille M. Power will be directing her thirty-third language play since she began teaching at Boise College as one of the original faculty. She will direct the French Club in the production of "L'Anglais tel Qu'on Le Parle" (English as it is Spoken).

The Spanish Club will present an original play written by Dr. Luis Valverde, new Spanish professor, entitled "La Isla Tragica" (The Tragic Island), a story of Castro's Cuba. Dr. Valverde is a native of Ecuador and has been a member of the faculty of several other institutions before coming to Boise College this year.

Intermission between the plays will feature a talent show. Admission to the program will be 50 cents for students and $1 for adults. The program will include a synopsis of the two plays in English for those who do not understand either French or Spanish.

DR. LUIS VALVERDE

April Love Theme Chosen for Pageant

"April Love" will be the theme of the third annual pageant which will be held on Saturday, April 2, at which Miss Boise College of 1966 will be chosen.

The joint chairmen are Golden Z. Lynda Miller, and Intercollegiate Knight Gary Shue. Jan Long is in charge of applications, Jamie Walters and Skip Davis are in charge of publicity for the pageant, Julie Booker and Dave Anderson, judges; Bernie Jestrabek and Susan Hershey, trophies and gift awards.

In charge of posters and production are Nancy Sizemore and Ron Prudmore; Susan Larson, music and intermission entertainment; Charlene Moore and Doug Dingledein, programs; Lorraine Crockett, rehearsals; Peggy Chapel, invitations and correspondence, Susan Taylor and Jack Linterkine, ticket sales, and Mary Joslyn is in charge of the budget for the pageant.

Americans Expect Too Much From UN, Sen. Church Says

By MORRIS WINGATE

"The United Nations After Twenty Years," was the topic of Senator Frank Church's address before the public and Boise College student body last Monday. Approximately 500 were in attendance.

Senator Church enumerated the achievements of the U.N. in the peace-keeping and economic aid programs. He said that the American people expect too much of the U.N. because it has been over-sold.

He went on to say that the U.N., in itself, lacked the power to preserve world peace, having neither the means to finance its own operations to impose its will. So, the U.N. has not performed its role as policeman for the victors, but has served as a mediator instead, helping to keep the cold war from turning hot.

U.N. a Nation Builder

Senator Church said that the U.N. is an international organization which does not separate the "have" countries from the "have-nots"; that the U.N. has become a builder of nations; that 17 out of every 20 U.N. employees are employed in social and economic aid programs. These are the areas in which the U.N. is most successful in realizing its intended aims. Only through the U.N. can we realize the needs of underdeveloped countries of the world, he contended.

"This is the age, we are the men, and the hour is late," he said in closing.

Following the assembly, the Boise College Young Democrats sponsored a coffee hour where questions were put to Church by the audience. When asked about his view on the Viet Nam situation he stated that he had never advocated a withdrawal from Viet Nam and that he was in agreement with President Johnson's policies concerning the situation.

Church explained that the reason the Communists are so strong in Viet Nam is that they have identified themselves with Nationalism and if the U.N. is to achieve any of its goals, it must follow a policy of identifying itself with Nationalism and its movement.

Dugger Calls Meeting Of Education Majors

A special meeting for all students majoring in Elementary Education has been called for Friday morning, during the break, in Library 224, according to Mr. Jerold O. Dugger.

TO PERFORM

TOM HARRIS

Organ Concert Set For This Tuesday Featuring BC Grad

Mr. Tom Harris, 1961 BC graduate and former music student of BC instructor C. Griffith Bratt, will present an organ concert during an extended break Tuesday, March 8 in the Music Auditorium. He makes a previous appearance at the College of Idaho on Sunday.

During his study under Mr. Bratt, Harris was declared a national winner in the National Federation of Music Clubs competition in the organ division. He continued his music studies at Syracuse University, where he received his Bachelor of Music degree in 1963 and his Master of Music degree in 1965.

In April of 1965 Harris gave a recital at Saint Thomas Church in New York City. In May he was honored with a Fulbright-Hayes award to study at the Frankfurt Academy of Music in Germany with Helmut Walcha. He chose instead to accept his current position teaching organ and theory at Willamette University in Salem, Oregon.

Among numbers which Mr. Harris will perform are: "Allegro from Sixth Symphony" by Charles Maria Widor, three chorale preludes by Helmut Walcha, "Fantaisie in A" by Cesar Franck, and "Prelude and Fugue in G Minor" by Marcel Dupre.

Faculty, students, and the public are invited to attend.

WUS Fund Drive To End With Dance

The World University Service fund drive competition will continue through Friday, March 11, when the traveling plaques will be awarded to the clubs raising the largest contributions in the large and small organization categories.

The grand finals will be a Friday night dance in the SUB ballroom from 9 to 12. The Monarchs will provide the music.

Bill Hlett, chairman of the drive, reports that the goal is to surpass last year's collection of almost $250.

The WUS organization describes itself as "international in scope and provides a channel of mutual assistance among the universities of the world." It was formed 45 years ago and has operated in 63 different countries.

Their official Programme of Action is based on (a) magnitude of the needs involved; (b) degree to which these or similar needs are being met from other sources; (c) seriousness and thoroughness with which plans have been formulated; (d) pioneering character of the project and its relevance as an example to others; (e) likelihood that the project, once initiated, could be maintained wholly or largely on local funds; and (f) potential for promoting student-staff cooperation and understanding.

World University Service contributions work to improve colleges around the world in the areas of health, lodging, food, educational facilities, and scholarships.

Valkyries and Iks To Sponsor Dance, Carnival Saturday

"How the West Was Won," is the theme for the annual Boise College Valkyrie - Intercollegiate Knights Carnival to be held this Saturday night from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the SUB. A dance will follow with the carnival from 9-12 midnight.

Booths depicting the old West will be set up in the SUB ballroom for an informal type of entertainment. Booths will consist of a saloon with dance hall girls, a general store filled with "goodies," a kissing booth, a shotgun wedding booth, and Valkyrie pledges and IK pages will add to the activities with a tricycle race.

An admission price of 75 cents will be charged for both the carnival and the dance. Informal or Western wear is appropriate for both events.

Music for the dance will be provided by The Hangmen, a rock and roll band.

Flu Shots Available

In view of a widespread flu epidemic, Boise College students and their families are urged to get flu shots at the Health Center, Dr. Bruce Budge, college physician, stated.

The flu shots come in a series of two, for those who have never been inoculated, and one shot for a yearly immunization. A fee of 35c will be charged for each shot.

A nurse will be on duty to administer the shots from 8:30 a.m. to noon on week days.

Students Must File Claims to Qualify

A number of students have not filed a claim of injuries or illnesses where student insurance would apply, according to Gordon Phillips, assistant to the Business Manager. Hospital statements and doctor's bills, dating back to fall semester of 1965, are being held pending receipt of a completed claim form.

Students must file their claim as soon as possible in order to qualify for student insurance. The forms are available from the Business Office, Room 115, Administration building.

Campus Calendar

Trade Off Those Trikes

Let's grow up, folks! When we were ages 6 or 7 we used to park our tricycles most any old place. There were no marked-off, yellow lined parking stalls; there was no congestion; no one was inconvenienced (unless of course someone tripped and fell over said tri-cycle).

But we're supposed to be big kids now. The parking lot at Boise College is congested; there are yellow lined parking stalls, and what's more important, innumerable people are inconvenienced whenever someone parks crooked within a stall, or what is even worse, hogs two stalls.

So how about trying to hit the space we're aiming at when we park? It would save tempers at times.

Debating the Question

College debate teams around the country are being engulfed by financial shortages. This is a worthy academic activity which has often been ignored and misapplied. Here at BC the debate team has a considerable amount of money allotted per participant.

The dedicated portion of the 18-man group has worked long and hard to prepare and perfect its arguments. They have yet to participate in a debate. The team has an able advisor, who, through no fault of his own, is pressed for time to listen to a trial disputation.

This year the team expended most of its budget on an attempted trip to California for a meet there. Blocked by flooded highways, the group returned to Boise via Reno with no further debating experience.

The still untried group has now asked for funds to travel to the national tournament in Texas. Although realizing the value of such a trip, we question the advisability of this great an expenditure without some guaranteed results.

We oppose disbanding the group or simply allowing it to slip into oblivion. A possible alternative is intramural debate. This would give interested parties the desired experience without exorbitant expense or time-consuming travel.

Foreign Film Blasted

The Foreign Film shown last Friday evening has stirred up quite a bit of controversy. Was this film previewed before being shown to students and townspeople who form an opinion of what is acceptable on campus? The college student and the public, which was invited, were rooked of their time if they expected this free movie to be "cultural." The type of "enlightenment" can be found scribbled on the walls in lavatories and in alleys.

Careful screening of these films should eliminate those of objectionable nature for public view. There are a number of films both foreign and American that would be appreciated by the viewer and to which a boy might not be embarrassed to take his girl and a student would not be ashamed to invite his parents.

Boise College will be judged by the appearance it makes to the public, and the condoning of such foreign films is bound to give an appearance of laxity and immorality to those who saw it last Friday. We prefer to believe the selection committee unwittingly chose this last film, unaware of its "adults only" context.

The Inner Self

Self-analysis is a valuable aid in retaining one's sanity, especially during these years of college. The ability to realistically understand one's self need not necessarily lead to conceit over one's assets or the development of an inferiority complex because of one's liabilities. A "happy medium" must be struck between the two psychological extremes. All of us should take time to do a little soul searching, although not to the point of becoming morbidly preoccupied with doing so.

After honestly examining our personalities, looks, intelligence, wealth, talents, athletic prowess, etc., we could resolve to "eliminate the negative and accentuate the positive." Whatever we are, we should take some pride in ourselves. If we do possess some talents others will recognize them; we don't have to remind them! In knowing ourselves we can come to know and respect others.

Just remember NOBODY is perfect, we're all mortals! Maybe if we do analyze ourselves occasionally the world will be a little bit better to live in.

If college students can eliminate psychological problems the years of college can pass more smoothly. One can then concentrate more on scholastic endeavors.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I would like to say thanks to all the young men of Pi Sigma Sigma for being chosen first recipient of their Travelling Rose. I think this is a lovely way to express appreciation, and I know faculty or staff members who will receive the Pi Sigma Rose in the future will feel as honored as I did.

May I also throw a rose of my own to our faithful cheerleaders for their performances during the basketball season. These girls have really shown a lot of enthusiasm and spirit from the very beginning of the season through the final games.

Religion on Campus

College Life will sponsor a Moody Science film, "The Stones Cry Out," at 8 p.m., Friday, Feb. 25, at the home of Mr. Ray Kimbro, 6805 Randolph Drive.

Members of the group are planning to attend the Idaho Lay Institute of Evangelism held Sunday, Feb. 27 to Saturday, March 5 at the Nampa First Church of the Nazarene. Featured speaker is Dr. William R. Bright, president of Campus Crusade for Christ, of which College Life is a branch.

The LDS Institute of Religion has started a program to increase 350 students. Nearly 250 students were enrolled in classes last semester.

The royalty for the Preference Ball held Feb. 12: Jack Jeppeson, Most Preferred Man; Dave Bulson, First Prince; John Tanner, Second Prince; Taft Benson, First Attendant; and Ed Schlofman, Second Attendant.

Dr. Ralph Frogley will speak at the LDS lecture forum Friday noon, March 4.

Art Director Has Showing in Library

Mr. Joseph Stuart, director of the Boise Art Gallery, and his wife, who paints under the name of Signe Nelson, are having an art exhibit at the Boise College Library March 1 through March 21. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stuart have had exhibits in at least 15 different states, and in all parts of the country. Both are former students of the University of New Mexico, have had teaching experience, and have won prizes and honors at numerous exhibitions.

Mr. Stuart says: "I would like to think that my work is, at this time and place, the perfect embodiment of tradition and invention . . . not too closely tied to tradition to be moribund, nor so unique as to lose the thread of communication as art. I suppose that I want my work to have no orthodox service attributed to it. It should be enigmatic."

Mrs. Stuart says: "My work is composed, in general, of canvas and wire constructions painted with acrylic glazes. I feel that this technique best serves the purpose and spirit of my painting . . . the Idea. I find that this Idea has grown to involve an increasing complexity of ideas relating to Man and the Universe. Starting, then, with a pure abstractoin, I paint until I arrive at an emotional response which is close to revelation."

The public is invited to view the Stuarts' art show.

In This Corner . . .

DR. H. WELTON ROTZ displays his nearly-completed hooked rug bearing the Chinese inscription "Home of Rotz," one of the sociology professor's many hobbies.

By COLEEN LITTLE

A man of many talents is Dr. H. Welton Rotz, new Sociology professor at Boise College. To release tensions gained from academic procedures, he does assorted handwork and enjoys sailboating (which he will exchange for fishing this year). He does fancy leather tooling and wall hangings, originally designed, in colored yarns. Occupying Dr. Rotz's time at the moment is a hooked rug creation incorporating his knowledge of the Chinese language. In soft greens highlighted with fuschia and ochre, are lanterns bearing symbols of prosperity and happiness. The rug will have the legend, "Rotz's Home," also written in Chinese.

Dr. Rotz studied Chinese at Yale University in preparation for a teaching position in Nanking, China. He altered his plans, however, when the Communists took over the country. Instead, Dr. Rotz and his wife spent almost four years in the Phillipine Islands where he was Secretary for the Department of Public Welfare for the United Church in Christ in the Phillipines. On their way home the Rotzs made stops at many of the more important cities in Asia and Europe. Upon his return to the United States, Dr. Rotz earned his doctorate at Cornell University

Born in Decatur, Ill., of German parents, he graduated from McCormack College of Theology with a Bachelor of Divinity. During his studies there, Dr. Rotz served a rural congregation as minister and was on the college debate team which went to the finals of the National Oratory meet. He served on Presbyterian pastorates in Oklahoma, Arizona, New York State, Illinois and Washington State for 13 years before returning to Cornell University.

While he was director for parish training of ministerial students in Seattle, Dr. Rotz decided to go back into teaching, accepting a position at a small junior college that had just been given the go-ahead to expand into a four-year institution.

Dr. Rotz's claim to ancestral fame comes from a one John von Rotz who served as navigator on a French fishing ship, and mapped the New York harbor and adjacent areas some 80 years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth.

His wife, Clara Ellen, is a graduate of Kansas State University with post graduate credits from Cornell. Both of their children are married; the daughter is with Boeing setting up computers, and the son is a student at a theological seminary and is also apprenticed to the nation's number one sculptor. Mrs. Rotz recently became coordinator of volunteers at the Nampa State School.

President Eugene B. Chaffee is in St. Louis, Mo., for the annual meeting of the American Association of Junior Colleges. He also is interviewing prospective faculty members.

A New Society

Boise College students are in the process of founding a new organization designated as "The Society for the Nullification of Saint Patrick's Day." Under the sponsorship of honorary chairman, Mr. Avery Peterson, Political Science professor, the group hopes to further its purpose: to discourage the honoring of Saint Patrick by nationalities other than Irish.

The policy is to encourage other nationalities to display and wear their country's colors instead of the Irish green on Saint Patrick's day.

Executive board members are Jim Harris, chairman and founder; Stan Street, Mike Hulet, Dave Eichman, Richard McEwen and Kent Profit.

Phi Beta Lambda

Mr. Warren Peterson, advertising manager for KIDO radio, was the guest speaker at a recent session of the Phi Beta Lambda Business Club.

He spoke on advertising through the medium of radio and the use of a tape recorder for good audio aid and its value in interesting the audience. A question and answer period was held after the speech.

Special guests at the meeting were advisors and officers of the Future Business Leaders from city high schools.

Homettes Club

Mrs. Marge Elliott, cosmetologist, was the guest speaker at a meeting held recently of the Boise College Homettes Club.

Application of eye make-up, hair styling, the new trends of hair fashions and complexion care were the topics of discussion. Mrs. Elliott also stressed the importance of looking your best every day for everyone—especially your family.

Homettes, a home economics organization, is open to all home economics students who have taken courses in high school or college.

Esquires

Voted into the Esquires, a club for ex-servicemen, as full-fledged members are the following: Robert Austin, Tom Olson, Charles Riddle, Gary Hackney, Ed Falkenstein, Russell LeBourdais, Ross Job, Dave Hanson, James Moulton and David Light. Larry Dresser was voted in as an honorary Esquire.

Rodeo Club

Four members of the Boise College Rodeo Association went to Pocatello last Saturday to attend a regional meeting of colleges belonging to the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association. Purpose of the meet was to set dates and iron out differences for the spring rodeos. Flying the BCRA delegation there was Gayle Allen, president of the group, accompanied by Bob Ramsey, vice president; Carol Qualman, rodeo director, and Yo Willhite, secretary.

Coeds Slave for WUS

The AWS slave auction, the kickoff for the World University Service fund drive, raised $32.55 for the cause. Six coeds were auctioned off, to work from 9 to 5 on Saturday.

Slaves and their buyers included Jeannene Cantrell, Bob Ellis and John Abajtan; Julie Mills, Jerry Witt; Susan Welke, Bob Corralis; Jan Long, Intercollegiate Knights; Julie Booker, Bob Harkin; Lorette Biaggne, Merle Lords; and AWS President Janine Talley, Bill Ilett, Tim Hedges and Eric Olson.

CAMPUS BEAT

The scheduled field trip of Dr. Rotz's class in Juvenile Delinquency to the Idaho State Penitentiary had to be postponed. It seems the prisoners staged a riot and went on strike, and it seemed an inopportune time to send a visiting delegation!

Construction on the wing of the Science building is a step in the right direction but it has its disadvantages. Just before the holidays, several Federal Government students were barred from Dr.

John Caylor's lecture when one of the doors stuck and finally locked. Tom Hazzard, director of buildings, and Walter Heilman and Bobby Wimberly, custodians, were summoned to the rescue. The door wouldn't budge. Finally, Mr. Heilman crawled through a window, took the lock from the door, and admitted the students. Dr. Caylor's lecture was resumed when the "tardy" students had taken their places.

Mr. Charles Davis asked for a definition of "maniac" during a class discussion. His question was met by silence, so he quipped, "Well, what is a maniac, someone from Maine?"

Local Officials Speak

Several distinguished speakers have addressed Dr. John Caylor's State and Local Government class with others on the agenda. Next Wednesday, Boise Mayor Jay Amyx will speak on "The Job of Mayor" at noon in S106. Other speakers to be featured this semester are Governor Robert E. Smylie, Attorney General Allan Shepard, Dr. Terrell O. Carver, and Ralph Wickberg.

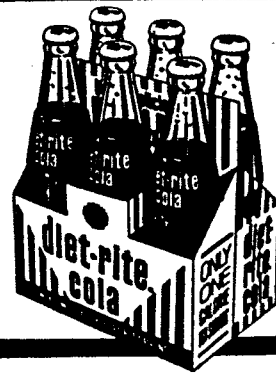

Mr. Tom Hazzard, Mr. Carl Burke, Mrs. Steele Barnett, Senator William Roden, and Mr. Tim Brennan have already addressed the class on topics of state, local and national government.

One of the hearts, borrowed from the Mode and used as decoration for the Sweetheart's Ball, is missing. The AWS would appreciate the return of this heart.

"Poor boys" never had it so good until this year—the sleek "poor boy" sweater look definitely is the latest in casual wear. JUNIORETTE has two varieties of simple, collarless cotton knit tops, including a vertically ribbed sleeveless style which comes in navy and hot pink, and a navy and white or royal blue and white horizontally striped, short-sleeved type. These are ideal worn with a pair of sanforized, washable tan or navy denim cut-offs or long, slim bluejeans by JUNIORETTE.

Petite lasses will be able to wear jaunty, hip-hugging "boss skirts" which rise one inch above the knee! These cotton skirts by JANTZEN contain a slash pocket in front and two rear pockets that enable you to resemble the boss with his hands in his pocket. They are available in lime green with a chunky turquoise belt, or bright yellow with an orange belt. With these you may wear a figure-flattering orange, royal blue or olive and turquoise striped "poor boys" composed of a double knit, Swiss finish Abaco fabric.

Smart, long-waisted Junior Petite JANTZEN dresses, characterized by knit tops and koratron skirts, likewise follow the hip-hugger trend, along with hot pink or light blue koratron bell-bottoms. The dresses are blue or pink with a white, V-necked top, or pink or royal blue skirts with multi-stripped top and Peter Pan collar.

College Skiers Perfect Skills With Top Instructor on Bogus Basin Slopes

By GAYLE ALLEN

Skiers from Boise College assemble at Bogus Basin every Friday afternoon to attend the Boise College ski school, part of the P.E. program, to improve their style and speed on the local slopes.

Bogus is a 45-minute drive on a well maintained road. Most students take advantage of their passes, starting at 1 p.m., class time at 2. After class adjourns around 3:30, one can ski until the tows close at 4:30, then for a lunch break. At 6 p.m., it is time to practice the day's new techniques during the night skiing session.

Along with Boise College, Northwest Nazarene College, College of Idaho and Gem State Academy all are under the direction of Rene Farwig, Bogus Basin Ski School director and former Olympic racer. Rene has had extensive teaching and coaching experience in Bolivia and Chile in South America, and Arapahoe Basin, Loveland Basin and Lake Eldora in Colorado.

The Bogus Basin Ski School, one of the Northwest's largest, is recognized by the Professional Ski Instructors' Association of America and the Pacific Northwest Ski Instructors' Association.

Certified instructors teach the MODERN AMERICAN TECHNIQUE which is designed for rapid learning. Classes are organized according to ability: First Timers, Beginners, Novice, Intermediates, Advanced, and Racers. Special classes are conducted in deep powder skiing and touring technique when such conditions prevail.

Boise College has potential for one of the Northwest's best intercollegiate ski teams. The skiers who in the past went on to other colleges because we could not offer Junior and Senior ski team activity, now will have a chance to get in on the ground floor.

Both of the stars were more than capable in the interpretation and presentation of the characters they represented.

The fact that "Breathless" won the Berlin Film Festival prize for best director in 1959 says more for the excellence of its production than one can without delving into abstract, technical theories. As for the theme, one can only ask, "Who can argue a question of taste?"—G. M.

Scholarship Applicants Should File by March 15

Applications for Fall semester scholarships are available in room 108-C of the Science building, according to Dr. H. K. Fritchman, chairman of the Scholarship Awards committee. Deadline for applications is March 15.

COACH ISSUES CALL

TRACK COACH Ray Lewis asks all college men who are interested in participating in track to attend a meeting next Tuesday at 3:15 p.m., in the gymnasium, room 202.

BOISE COLLEGE WILL BE HOST TO INTERCOLLEGIATE RODEO AT NAMPA

The Boise College Rodeo Association has set the dates for its intercollegiate rodeo to be held this spring for Friday, April 8 and Saturday, April 9, scheduled in the Nampa Snake River Stampede arena. This date was set at a regional meeting of all colleges belonging to the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association in the northwest, held Feb. 28 in Pocatello. Attending the meet for BC were Gayle Allen, president; Bob Ramsey, vice president, and Carol Qualman, rodeo director.

Not only will Boise College host over 15 colleges with about 80 contestants for the first rodeo of the year, but the district officers will be elected at the first district meeting on April 8 at Nampa, preceding the rodeo. The BCRA holds regular meetings Tuesday noons in room 209 of the Library.

Practices will begin soon to determine team members to represent Boise College at this and other intercollegiate rodeos. All students interested in participating or helping with these rodeos should attend the meetings or get in touch with one of the officers. Only top contestants will be chosen to compete, according to Carol Qualman, rodeo director.

You're an old smoothie.

That's how you'll look in the new Hush Puppies® casual shoes in mellow-soft, glove leather. Same steel shank support and airy cushion cipe soles so popular in Breathin' Brushed Pigskin® Hush Puppies® shoes. Same casual comfort, too. How's that for a reason to enjoy both kinds?
