April Love Theme Chosen for Annual Miss BC Pageant

By JANIE WALTERS

"April Love," the third annual Miss Boise College Pageant, will be held on Saturday, April 2, at 8 p.m. in the Boise College gymnasium, sponsored by the Golden Z's and the Intercollegiate Knights.

The candidates, under the direction of Mr. John Woodworth, have been rehearsing for several weeks to polish their talents and to learn the art of modeling in bathing suits and evening gowns. Now they are awaiting the big evening when they will compete before five judges and the audience to learn who will represent Boise College in the next Miss Idaho Pageant.

Pageant Committee

The two clubs were led through the rough weeks of organizing the pageant by their co-chairmen, Lynda Miller and Gary Shue, and by their advisors, Mrs. Dorothy Lee and Mr. John Woodworth. They were assisted by Jan Long, who was in charge of applications; Julie Booker and Dave Anderson, judges; Bernie Jestrabek and Susan Hershey, trophies and awards, and in charge of the publicity were Janie Walters and Skip Davidson. In charge of posters and production were Nancy Sizemore and Ron Pridmore; Charlene Moore, Rose Roberts and Doug Dinglestein, programs; Loraine Crockett, rehearsals; Susan Larson, music and intermission entertainment; Peggy Chapel, invitations; Susan Taylor and Jack Enterkine, ticket sales, and Mary Joslyn was in charge of the budget for the pageant.

This year for the first time, trophies will be presented to the winner, the runners-up, and to Miss Congeniality; also for the first time a scholarship will be awarded to the first runner-up and a spe-

UNOFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT: '66 SCHOOL YEAR EXTENDED

CELEBRATING the news concerning the possible extension of the school year is Freddy Birch, intrepid supporter of "Higher Education for Fun and Profit."

WHY I HATE SPRING

Bob Ellis: I don't have any spring clothes.

Barbara Harrison, a Golden Z pledge: I get lazy and freckles.

Jim Poore: I sweat and my glasses fog up.

John Radcliffe: It's the end of skiing

Fred Ash: It reminds me of Charleston, S. Car. and I get homesick.

Pam Link: It's hot and Esther gripes because she can't go bare-foot.

John Bramblet: You lose all your privacy in the drive-in movies.

Pat DeJa: Football practice begins.

"Big John" Kawinana: I hate the birds outside the dorm that wake me up in the morning.

Anonymous: Beer gets warm in just two hours.

Ground Is Gained In Parking Battle

Due to numerous complaints received from the Boise College students about the overcrowded parking lot, a new policy has been adopted banning faculty and visitors' cars from the parking lots behind the Administration Building and the Library.

Beginning April 1, students appointed by the BC student senate will be situated at all exits and entrances to the lots equipped with the necessary paraphernalia to prevent any ignoring of the new regulation. The equipment ranges from rocks to a 12-gauge shotgun.

"Students do their level best struggling in the classrooms for good grades and shouldn't be put through the added frustration of having to maneuver their cars in and out of each other's way before going to classes," explained Vice President Nordic Nopark.

Rumor hath it that the end of the school year will have to be extended two more weeks. Due to the wide outbreak of the flu, which has kept many students and members of the faculty out of school, most classes are considerably behind schedule. To allow the students adequate classroom instruction, many captive academic types think it will be advisable to continue school until May 27, at least. Further notice will be given if this horrible rumor becomes an actuality.

Prospectus, 1966

A football coach began to speak. A smile of joy beneath his beak. "My boys," he said, "the season's nigh,

We want ten wins, no loss, no tie. The old alums will see us through If we do what we ought to do." So, saying this, he looked some more

At his brave lads upon the floor. He saw a team which ought to start

Fierce thumping in a coach's heart. The close-set eyes, the furry chests;

This year he had the very best! They growled and drooled, and none could say

If ever there had been a day When such a bunch of brutish ghoul's

Had been enrolled in one fine school.

The fullback weighed three hundred pounds, And you could tell he'd been around:

A blue tattoo upon his arm Read, "Washington State Prison Farm."

The guards were matched like Siamese twins;

With low foreheads and jutting chins.

Their arms hung down below their knees;

They seemed content to hunt for fleas.

Their looks could easily start a riot,

But two bananas kept them quiet.

The quarterback, cool, calm, and sly

Was pulling wings from off a fly. The center gnawed upon a bone. A tasty morsel sent from home.

The ends and tackles formed a pack

Which read "Hell's Angels" from the back.

The halfbacks seemed to be content

To crumble blocks of dry cement Within their fists. And then the coach,

While stepping swiftly on a roach, Expounded on his final point.

"As long as you attend this joint You'll act like students mild and meek

And let your hair down once a week.

Just keep your homicidal play All bottled up 'til Saturday.

If you will do as I just said Great honors fall upon your head.

An All-American you shall be And then pro offers one, two,

NEW NEWS BRIEFS

The power of the press is a miraculous thing! Within the last couple of months or so, there have been three articles which have appeared in a local newspaper at different times, which are deserving of further attention.

It seems that there is a man by the name of Brown, or Jones, or was it Johnson, who gave a State of the Union message, in which he stated that his great country was going to carry out primarily a two-part objective in the ensuing months, namely, a continuing fight in Viet Nam (not a war, however, just as a rose by any other name would smell as sweet, so, a young man who is killed in this whatever-it-is, is just as dead). The second objective was to step up the program at home which pays more people for not producing anything. Now, this is a pretty stiff assignment. If we can swing it this man should make the Caesars and Napoleons, et al look like a bunch of sissies.

The second enlightenment concerned a psychiatrist, somewhere in the east, who was lobbying for placing classes in "the proper drinking of intoxicating beverages" in our colleges. "Drinking is here to stay," says our sage, "so we should teach them (students) how." Now in poker parlance there are those who would stay and raise him five, i.e., why not have classes in murdering, raping, thieving, and other similar pastimes, for these activities are here to stay also, especially if we place sufficient emphasis upon making more and better drunkards.

The third article concerned a traffic accident. It seems there was a female driver going down the highway and a truck was coming toward her and signaling for a right hand turn. But instead he made a left hand turn. She crashed into him. The judge in the case found the truck driver innocent, "mechanical trouble," said the judge. Now let this be a warning to all ye drivers, if some jug-head signals one intention and does something different, you're apt to get into trouble. Mechanical trouble in the head, maybe.

It's heartening to know that our Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments are all on the job and are right in there pitching.

At this stage, one is reminded of a favorite quotation of Buster Keaton, the frozen-faced comedian, at the end of a particularly zany old-time movie: "I think that I'll go down to the insane asylum and hob-nob with sensible people." The power of the press is a miraculous thing!

ISU to elect the ugliest professor. Five professors have been nominated for the contest, sponsored by the Campus Chest campaign. The contest in which students will vote for their choice of ugliest ISU faculty member is to raise money for the World University Service.

Modesto Junior College, which started a program to inform students on world conditions has met with opposition. Many of the students disagreed with the first speaker on Viet Nam and threatened to call in the FBI and report subversive activities on campus. Although there was only one side represented, it was announced that both sides of the question will be represented.

From Everett Junior College comes this announcement. Wanted: A writer of satire, humor, and lampoons. Must be insured and thick-skinned. Will be working for a well-known college newspaper in Everett, Wash. To take over duties of present editorial column. Must have a complete and accurate spy system.

THE BON MARCHE
BOISE, IDAHO

Whether or not you are a golf buff you'll enjoy the new look in girls' sportswear which includes clothing especially designed for golfers. In fact, co-ordinates manufactured by POOMTOGS are endorsed by none other than golf champ Arnold Palmer! Included among these co-ordinates are solid or checkered pink and yellow culottes which resemble wrap-around skirts. You'll also be dressed to a "tee" in sleeveless, yellow or pink culotte dresses accented by a front nylon zipper and a striped belt.

Additional Palmer items are matching sleeveless rayon-triacetate blouses with a pointed collar, and a row of three buttons in front. On brisk days protect yourself in a zippered golfing jacket with a Peter Pan collar, semi-elasticized waist, and side pockets, or a classie V-necked wool sweater with two slit pockets. Palmer apparel can be worn rain or shine, as evidenced by a tiny umbrella embroidered on each article.

WHITE STAG has designed pink or blue "Action" skirts with two generous front pockets, a triple-striped elasticized belt, and a tuck of extra material in the rear which allows for plenty of movement. Matching walking shorts are also most appropriate on any course. You may even improve your golf game in these confidence bolstering outfits!

A REVIEW

SPRING PLAY, 'THE LITTLE FOXES' DRAWS PRAISE FOR PERFORMANCES

Take a nondescript couch, a few chairs and a table, add talented actors and a very capable director, and you can create an intense drama set in the deep South. Such is the case with BC's production of The Little Foxes, which began Wednesday night and will wind up its three-night successful run tonight at 8:15 in the Little Theater in the Library.

The play, written by Lillian Hellman, mirrors the hatred, greed and violence prevalent after the turn of the century as a new generation of carpetbaggers attempted to build empires based on industrialization of the south's resources. The Little Foxes, the title of which is innocently deceiving, depicts a family of this category.

Magnificent as Regina Hubbard, Judy Lyons, a freshman, does an excellent job of creating the character of a beautiful, charming woman who is also the most evil and conniving individual in the cast. Those who saw Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme last semester will remember Miss Lyons as the ranting, domineering wife. Nothing can show to a greater extent this actress's versatility than the competence with which she executed each of the two different roles.

No less praise may, with justification, be given to Don Hawkins, who takes the part of the stronger of the two Hubbard brothers. The same genial countenance which portrayed the glib "would-be gentleman" hides the evil scheming of Ben Hubbard.

URGING his daughter, Cheryl Marley, to leave their home to escape being maneuvered into marriage with her cousin is John Eichmann, who plays Horace Giddens in BC's production of The Little Foxes.

Lavilla Shaddy, who plays the truly aristocratic wife of the cruel Oscar Hubbard (John Poulson), does a memorable interpretation of Birdie Hubbard. John Eichmann and Cheryl Marley are very convincing as the dying father and disillusioned daughter. Curt Emerson and Fayonne Fenton give competent interpretations of the supporting roles.

When done "in the round," as was The Little Foxes, a play must have even more polishing than usual because a movement as subtle as the raising of an eyebrow can have meaning and be conveyed to most sections of the audience. Director Dr. William Shankweiler has taken nine amateur student actors and given Boise College a professional show. G. M.

SHOWING HER CHARMING SIDE while entertaining a business guest of her brothers is Judy Lyons, who plays the evil, scheming sister of the wicked Hubbard brothers. The unsuspecting industrialist is played by John Weber.

Perhaps the most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not; it is the first lesson that ought to be learned.—Thomas Huxley.

Service Clubs Championed

Since BJC became a four-year school, the future of the service clubs has been a topic of frequent discussion; there exists on this campus a wide variety of opinions as to what should be done with these clubs. Some feel that the clubs should be abolished as they serve only as unnecessary distractions from the more academic pursuits; others feel that the service clubs should be supplemented or replaced by national fraternities and sororities. There is also a large percentage of the student population that is unaware of and completely indifferent to the presence and functions of the service clubs.

Although at times the demands of a service club do put a strain on the academic life of the student, it more often proves to be a good discipline for the student who must learn to allow for outside activities and still maintain the required grade point average. Many students have returned to Boise College after attending larger universities because of the "cold and unfriendly" atmosphere which is often present on very large campuses and because they missed the friends and activities they had found as members of service clubs on this campus.

On most campuses with national fraternities and sororities, these organizations serve as living and social groups for the students. The house is their home and most social functions attended are sponsored by one's own house. The organization does not exist to serve the whole student body, but only its members. Since BC is located in Idaho's largest city, with most of the students from Boise or nearby towns, fraternities and sororities thus far are not needed to serve as the center for all the students' non-academic activities. The Greek system cannot replace the service clubs, because they serve very different purposes. At present the activities provided by membership in a sorority or fraternity are not needed by most Boise College students, but the service clubs do provide invaluable service to the student body as a whole.

Boise College is a tax-supported school, without the funds to pay its student body officers salaries to organize the social and recreational activities for the students as in some endowed schools. Boise College does have a social committee to organize some of the dances, but the majority of the Saturday night dances and ones like "The Flintstone Formal," "The Golden Plume Ball" and "The President's Ball" are sponsored by the service clubs. They also sponsor such activities as fashion shows, raft races, and carnivals.

The traditional college homecoming festivities require weeks of planning and work, all of which is done by the service clubs, from the publicity to the float parade to the half-time entertainment. The service clubs have such projects as the "Hobo March" to collect money for scholarships, saving postage stamps to buy food for deprived foreign children, and sponsoring blood drawings on campus each year. Each year the clubs try to leave their lasting mark on the campus in the form of the show case, which is in the main hall of the Administration Building, or new lamps for the science labs, or new benches for the lawns.

Sometimes the clubs are ridiculed for their seemingly ridiculous pledging activities, but it should be remembered that although some of their activities seem rather nonsensical and frivolous, the members of these service clubs, who comprise only a handful of the whole student population, are also putting hours of time and effort into projects which will benefit the whole student body.

Spring vs. GPA

Now that the nicer weather has arrived in Boise (to stay or not to stay is still a question, however), it is quite tempting for all of us to cut classes. Who could possibly enjoy going to a stuffy English or History lecture (nothing personal intended) at 2 in the afternoon, when the grass is getting greener and the sun is shining? And it always seems that YOU are the only student with afternoon classes, and everyone else is outside enjoying the weather. Well, rest assured, you are not the only one and school will be out in approximately seven short weeks, and none of us will have to worry about classes, grades, or GPA's for another three months.

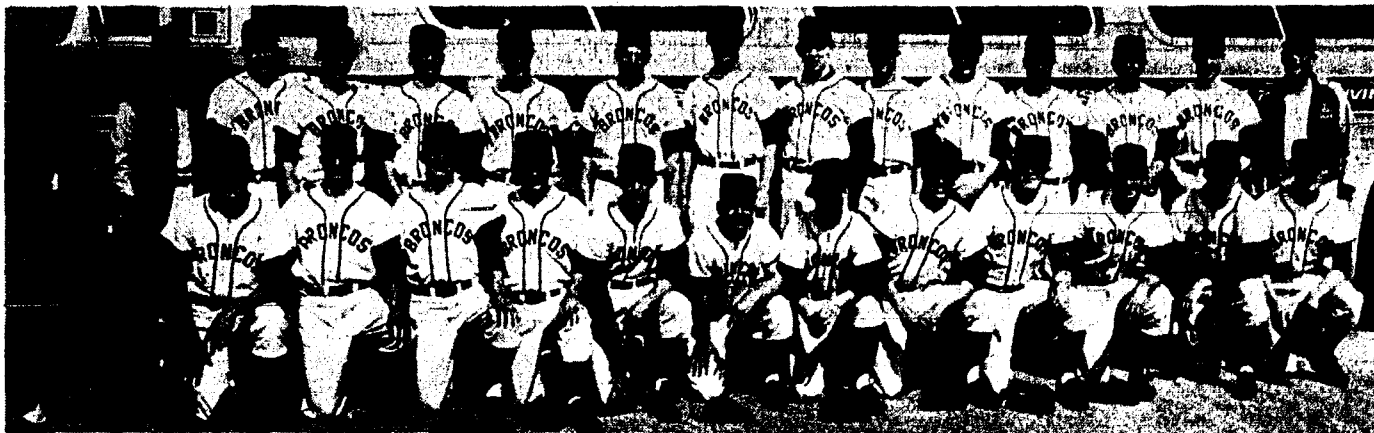

Last year, in room A209, there was a question on the bulletin board asking, "Is your GPA losing out in the last round?" This might be a good question for all of us to ask ourselves occasionally, just to make sure that the outdoors (or the SUB) does not get the best of our grades.

WORDS WORTH REPEATING

SPRING ZINGS

If Spring sleeps deep and late and her alarm clock does not ring, If she slumbers right through and summer abruptly supplants winter, The year's pattern is shattered, and we humans can't be quite happy Without that amazing, glorious, fickle spring. Spring is flighty but can be tied down by the five senses: Spring is adventurous if guided by taste, smell, sight, sound, and touch. Spring is a jewel, a glistening diamond, a flashing emerald, a glowing pearl. Spring is love, as soft as a kitten, as alive as a stalking tiger. Spring is exciting, never to be skipped or ignored or outshone. Spring—the choicest of her three sister seasons—spring!

MEET THE 1966 BRONCOS BALL CLUB

Broncos Split Pair

Rod Chester pounded a ninth inning triple and freshman Steve Loveless followed through with a deep fly to left to bring him in for the winning run as the Broncos brought home a 4-3 first game victory over the C of I last Saturday.

The Coyotes won the second game 5-0 as the Boise nine were limited to two hits.

BOISE WINS OPENER

Big righthander Bob Neff fired the Broncos to a 4-3 extra inning game, as he came off the bench in the fifth inning to relieve starter Gary Hartnett and pick up the win. Neff, who also singled to right, collected one of the Bronco six hits of the day. Along with Chester's game-winning triple, Bill Miller also tripled while Tom Dearing collected top honors at the plate, going two-for-four.

COYOTES EVEN SCORE

After a prolonged opening game, the Caldwell nine came on strong to post a 5-0 shutout in the second game over Lyle Smith's chargers. The Coyotes threw together a homerun and five other hits while holding the BC bunch to two hits in posting the win.

Ex-Boise High fireballer Jim Paige came on in relief for starter Pat Myers to put out the Caldwell fire. Paige fanned four of six Caldwell hitters in shutting down the Coyote rally.

Track Season Opens Against Crusaders

The BC thinclads hosted a dual practice meet with the NNC Crusaders last Friday with the Bronco group carrying away firsts in every event except one.

Despite the fact it was the first meet of the new year, there were surprisingly good times turned in by both teams. Steve Grayson, Steve Ball, Rich Dickson, and Tony Maher all turned in fast performances in the sprints with Steve Rudd, Ron Morris, and Bart Chaffee all performing good in the distance events.
