Little Luxuries Lacking

Many people are justifiably proud of the expenditures which bond elections have given Boise College for new buildings and other expenses. These sums are in the thousands of dollars. But it seems prudent not to lose sight of the "trees for the forest." There are a number of small improvements needed around the college, which would add a great deal to the comfort and happiness of the students. These expenditures would not be in the thousands of dollars. In fact, only a few dollars and a little work would provide at least some of these things, and perhaps some of the service clubs could provide a part of the "wherewith."

First of all the college would be improved with more concrete benches at convenient locations, where students could sit outside. The weather in Boise is conducive to out-of-doors classes on an average of three to four months of each school year plus the summer months. Even a very few (to start with) out-of-door class areas to accommodate 30-40 students would be appreciated.

Whitman College has an out-of-door meeting area with a raised turf bank which is ampitheatre fashion, with lecture podiums at a lower level. This idea on a smaller scale should be inexpensive and practical. Even small portable bleachers would not be prohibitive, and the students would probably settle for just a few benches outside. The good old "lap boards" which are used for English Comp tests could stand a little more mileage, and therefore could be used to provide writing surfaces.

And speaking of small benches, the lavatories, especially in the new Library building, have no "place" to put books, gym clothes, tennis rackets, purses, etc., while students are washing their hands and combing their hair. Putting these items in the wash basins, then turning on the water is a poor arrangement. Just small beuches, shelves, racks or something of that kind would be a real improvement.

Student Spirit Sagging

Another school year is almost over and perhaps we should each take the time to look back to see what we have gained for our time spent. So you got pretty good grades, but did you contribute anything? What we are referring to doesn't cost a cent; SPIRIT!

School spirit seems to be something we are always urged to have but never seem to get. The cheerleaders jump up and down and scream at games, but the response is less than thundering. The various organizations on campus spend time and great effort in putting on extra-curricular activities for the benefit of the students, and only a few besides the organizers make an attempt to appear.

The recent student elections are a good example of the lack of interest in school functions. Less than one-fifth of the enrolled student body made the effort to vote, and this is the first time that officers were elected to lead Boise College as a four-year institution.

Likewise, the Rodeo Club of Boise College knocked themselves out to put on a rodeo, with no support from the administration or anyone else for financial aid, advisory aid or even student support (except for the assistance of the International Relations Club.) Many students from colleges and universities from all over the Northwest attended the rodeo meeting in the Student Union building and then went on to Nampa for the rodeo. Most clubs have budgets allotted from their school to underwrite participation. Their praise was high for the type of show that BC put on. We speak of the "BC Rodeo" but it was really only the Boise College Rodeo Association event, for only a few students and three faculty members made the effort to attend.

The elections and the rodeo are over now, but those events coming up this spring, such as baseball, should be given some long-overdue support, including additional bleachers for the fans. Next year the students should make more of an effort to support these extra curricular activities of college life.

WORDS WORTH REPEATING . . .

Boise College is primarily concerned with offering opportunities for students to obtain higher education. Yet its growth and expansion are of major economic importance to the entire area, according to a recent report made by a group of urban planners.

Everywhere there is a need for additional higher education institutions. The presence of colleges and universities is often a very important stimulant to economic progress and industrial expansion of an area. Although the Boise area has wholesale businesses, many governmental and service agencies, an industrial park area, and substantial natural resources, each of which is adding to the area's development the presence of an expanded Boise College could be the determining factor in th area's economic success and prosperity.

The planning committee therefore recommended that Bolse College be rapidly developed into a university with graduate schools in the fields of medicine, law, engineering, business, and forestry. These particular fields were suggested for expansion because they would be the most beneficial types of industry and business in the Capital City area.

The presence of such a university would in turn encourage the introduction of modern industries such as those of plastics and chemicals to the area.

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who assisted me with my campaign. I am especially grateful to Bob Richey, my campaign chairman, and the remainder of my committee, consisting of Marilyn McKean, Carol Hesser, Bob Ellis, John Abajian and John Ennis.

I am looking forward to next year. I hope every student will take a direct interest in student affairs and will strive to do his part for Boise College.

William K. Ilett A.S.B. President

Dear Editor:

FRANKLIN CARR

On behalf of World University, would like to thank all Boise College students who supported the current projects of WUS in helping students in need throughout the world.

WUS can only continue to tackle educational problems through student support such as yours.

> Kay Harding (Miss) Regional Executive

Dear Editor:

My congratulations to the Rodeo Club members for their fine work in the rodeo area. They planned everything like clockwork and yet they received so little support from students and faculty that they had to dig into their own pockets to make up the rest of the expenses due to lack of boxoffice receipts. They earned the money to put on the rodeo themselves without any support from the school.

We know that there are budget problems but I think the school could help some of the clubs such as the Rodeo Club and the Foreign Language Clubs. The Rodeo Club has made people aware of the college through the great publicity work it did. The Foreign Language clubs must charge admission to the plays for lack of financial support. Our clubs are the only ones in the area which put on a foreign rend appointed a committee to relanguage play to give the members a chance to use the languages they are studying.

The budget needs to be scrutinized and revised to aid other student projects in addition to the Drill Team.

My congratulations to the Rodeo Club and the Foreign Language Clubs for the jobs well done.

Carol Henderson

Dear Editor:

We would like to congratulate the Rodeo Club on their excellent rodeo. This was the best and fastest-run rodeo we have ever been to. We particularly liked the speed that the events went on-each event was like clockwork and the next event followed almost immediately. There was no wasted time! Congratulations on a GREAT ro-

Also along the same line, it's too bad that BC students don't support their clubs, I don't think w saw more than six BC students other than the Rodeo Club members. Maybe now that we are be coming a four-year college we will have a few upper classmen that will support the clubs, while the younger set continues to support their HIGH SCHOOL clubs.

RC COLA BOTTLING CO. BOISE, IDAHO

THE BOISE COLLEGE Broncos placed two members on the ICAC first team for the '66 campaign. Nep Lynch (top), a Salmon River high school player was nominated to a starting forward post and Lee Harvey of Bellaire, Ohio, was given the other forward's nod. Big Center Bart Chaffee gained the honor of second team selection, while freshman forward Renee Ruth was picked honorable mention.

BC's Grayson, Ball Lead in Track Win

Steve Grayson, Lee Harvey and Louis Grant all brought off top honors in Boise College's dual meet with the NNC Crusaders as the Bronco tracksters compiled 11 of 17 first place spots and a 88-56 victory.

The Bronc cindermen won every event in the field except the high hurdles, the half and two-mile run and the mile relay. Steve Ball brought another six points to BC, gaining close seconds in both the century and furlong runs.

The Broncos travel to Ontario Saturday for a meet with the Chuckars from TVCC. Time trials start at 9:30, with events slated for 11:00.

Broncos Beat Chuckars

Grabbing off eight firsts and seven seconds, the Boise College thinclads topped the Treasure Valley group on the Chuckars' home track last Saturday 75-69. Steve Grayson led the BC cindermen with firsts in the 220-yard dash and the javelin. He also led the mile relay squad to a 3:31.4 clocking and the top honors.

The Broncos started off with a big boost as Bart Chaffee came in with a 4:39.3 record for the top spot in the mile run, with little Roland Shaw in the number three spot. Tony Maher then blasted away the quarter-mile in 51.3 for another first. With two events down, the Chuckars came to life, placing one and two in the century. Boise's Don Bradley brought in the third place position.
