VOL. 4, NO. 16

BOISE, IDAHO

New SUB, Men's Dorm Costing $2.5 Million To Be Ready Aug. 20

"Construction of the new Student Union Building and the new men's dormitory will be completed by August 20, if all goes well," stated Mr. Dwane R. Kern, Business Manager and Secretary-Treasurer of Boise College. The two buildings now under construction are part of a long range improvement program that was proposed in 1964, and made possible in 1965 with the bond issue.

The money for the project, including the library, addition to the Science building, and the Liberal Arts' building was given to the college on a forty-year loan grant to be paid in part by the students' dormitory and student union fees. The cost of the whole project is totaled at 4 million.

Floor plans of the SUB by the architects Hummel, Hummel, Jones and Shawver, include a floor area half again as large as that of the library. The SUB will be two stories tall and air conditioned. The building itself will be located on the southeast corner of the campus where College Blvd. intersects Lincoln.

The on-campus bowling alley, located in the SUB will be finished on Sept. 24, five weeks after the completion of the building. It will have six lanes, enough for the bowling classes and regular student usage. There will also be a game room with ping pong, billiards, etc.

Located on the opposite end of the first floor will be a large snack bar with enough room to seat 514 students. Food will be obtained through the "scramble" system which is now in use by many universities and colleges. The food is arranged around a large counter so that no-one needs to stand in line waiting for snacks.

Other convenient improvements and additions over the old SUB include a barber shop, a large amount of wall space designated for hanging art work and a complete section for the ASB offices.

The biggest room in the SUB will be the ballroom. Its ceiling will be spanned by 70-foot precast concrete beams. The room can be divided into three smaller rooms, the east one-third of which will be used as a dining area for students. In the center of the ballroom on one side will be a stage set up for live music or speakers. As many as 1,200 people can be seated at a banquet in the entire ballroom.

In case it is needed the plans will allow a completely open and unroofed area the size of the snack bar on second floor to later be constructed as any type of outdoor patio or sundeck that might be desired. Right now it is going to be left as is until further plans for it are made.

As you enter the building on the west side you may take the stairs or the elevator to second floor. Altogether the furniture and carpeting for both the men's dorm and the SUB will cost 1/4 million. The furniture throughout the SUB consists of rich tones of wood to rival that of the library. Hanging in the stairwell will be two chandeliers which will blend in with the furniture and carpeting to produce an elegant effect.

Much of the decorating will be done in wood paneling especially in the snack room where the 12-foot ceiling is brought down over the wall booths, and the tables and chairs will be of wood instead of the harsh tones of metal.

"To alleviate the pressing lack of parking space," expressed Mr. Kern, "there will be 788 new parking spaces located both beyond the new men's dormitory on a completely paved strip and around the SUB itself."

Although the distance between the new SUB and the rest of the campus looks great, in reality the distance from the heating plant on the east side of the Administration Building parking lot to the SUB is no more than half the distance of the length of the parking lot itself. Under the walk will be the heat tunnel leading to the heating system of the SUB. Consequently it will be clear of ice and snow in the winter.

The new men's dorm will be located behind the girls' dormitory and will consist of two 3-story wings. Connecting these two wings will be the house mother's apartment. Each wing will house 150 men with parking space for cars constructed in the rear.

The lobby and halls will be carpeted, decorated and furnished in much the same way as the sub.

Plans for the use of the buildings which will be empty at the completion of the new construction include the alteration of Driscoll Hall into a girls' dorm and the rejuvenation of the old SUB to form additional classroom space.

Placement Service Available to Grads

All graduates (2 year and 4 year) are invited to use the Placement Service now available in the Student Personnel Services Office (108 Administration Building). The hours are 7 to 10 at night on Tuesday and Thursday, and 8-12 in the morning on Saturdays.

Mrs. Pauline Hinman is our Placement Secretary, and she will:

1. Assist you with arranging interviews with prospective employers.
2. Develop an individual Placement folder for you which will include your transcripts, personal data, and references.
3. Assist you in filing applications for admission to graduate schools.

The Placement of Education majors in the teaching field will continue to be with the Department of Education at the college.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE NEW SUB is pictured as it looked some weeks previous. Its cinderblock walls are now partially completed.

Gary Bratt Recital Scheduled Feb. 3

A recital by baritone Gary Bratt will be given in Boise College Auditorium Feb. 3 at 8:15 p.m. Bratt, a junior, is a voice major studying with Miss Georgia Standing of the college.

"The first part of the program will contain four Psalms set to music by Anton Dvorak," said Miss Standing. "These have won a favored position in ecclesiastic and secular programs alike."

Students of German will find interest in Schubert's "Wohin" and "Du Bist Die Ruh." The second group finishes with Mozart's aria, "I Would Like A Word With All You Lovely Women," from the opera Cosi Tan Tutte which portrays a hero chastising the ladies for their inconsistencies, according to Miss Standing.

Mathew Arnold's poem "Dover Beach," set to music by Samuel Barber, will please poetry lovers and musicians. According to Miss Standing, it is considered one of the most important poems in the English language. Barber is considered one of the most eminent contemporary American composers.

The last group of songs to be sung are by composers C. Griffith Bratt and Benjamin Britten. Mr. Bratt's "Lullaby" was written for the occasion of the birth of his son, Wallis.

"There will be no admission in accordance with the college's community culture policy," said Miss Standing. "Students, teachers, as well as the general public, are cordially invited."

Glamour Contest Held for Collegiate 'Best-dressed Girls'

By PAM LYDA

Co-eds!! If you believe that you are one of the "Ten Best Dressed College Girls" in the U. S., you are invited to enter Boise College's "Best-dressed Girl" competition.

Registration will be conducted on Friday, Feb. 10, between 12 noon and 1:45 p.m. in the Publications Office of building T-1A (the barracks structure which is situated just southeast of the Ad building).

If any aspirants cannot register then, they are urged to contact ROUNDUP-staffer Pam Lyda at 342-4845. Entrants will be voted upon by the Student Senate at its February 20 meeting.

Three photos, depicting the winner in campus clothing, an off-campus daytime outfit, and a long or cocktail length formal, plus a two-page entry form will then be sent (by March 1) to Glamour magazine headquarters in New York City. A panel of Glamour editors will select the ten national winners, using the photos and entry form as their basis. ALL participating college entrants will be pictured in the August 1967 issue of Glamour.

If our Boise College representative is a victor she and the college will be notified this spring, followed by an announcement to all the participating colleges. The "Ten Best-Dressed Girls" will be snapped by leading fashion photographers on campus, in N.Y.C., or in some other specified location, for the August issue. Grand prize is an all-expense paid, round-trip to New York (from June 5-16) via American Airlines. While there the young women will visit theaters, museums, fine-restaurants, and cultural centers, and will be honored at luncheons and receptions. Prizes will also be bestowed by the Glamour editors on Special and/or Honorable Mention winners.

The criteria upon which the local and national contestants are judged are:

1. Impeccable grooming.
2. Good figure and posture.
3. Clean, neat hair.
4. Skillful and subtle use of make-up.
5. An appropriate campus and off-campus look.
6. Individuality in use of colors and accessories.

It should be stressed that the BC contest is not a beauty contest, nor is it geared to girls with expensive wardrobes. Any girl is welcome to enter.

Information regarding the progress of the campus competition will be published in the next ROUNDUP issue.

NOTE OF REGRET

Due to financial difficulties beyond its control, the Roundup regrets to inform you that its sprightly columns will only appear every two weeks for the remainder of the Spring semester, 1967.

Those who wish to submit an article to the paper please use the following schedule:

DEADLINE	ISSUE
February 10	February 16
February 24	March 2
March 10	March 16
March 24	March 30

Miss Boise College Pageant Scheduled For April Presentation

The 1967 Miss Boise College pageant will be held April 18. Intercollegiate Knights and Golden Z's, plus their respective advisors, Dr. Frederick Kellogg and Mrs. Dorothy Lee, will produce the event.

All BC coeds are urged to participate in the contest; the winner of which will represent the college in the Miss Idaho competition.

Diana Parker, pageant chairman, advises those who intend to enter to begin perfecting their talents NOW, since the few weeks immediately preceding the pageant will be activity-filled.

College Arts Holds $2000 Poetry Contest

College Arts magazine is sponsoring a $2000 poetry contest, open to all poets. The first four grand prize winners will have their own book of poetry edited and published by the JTC Publishing Co., while every entrant will receive an anthology of the top 100 prize winning poems.

Write for details: Poetry Contest, Box 314, West Sacramento, California 95691.

SENATE MEETING

The Boise College Student Senate will have a special meeting on Monday, Feb. 6 at 7:00 p.m., in the SUB Ballroom. All representatives are urged to attend this all-important meeting.

SAUERKRAUT AND WIENER WEEK TO BE CELEBRATED

By C. F. RASMUSSEN

Time to tone up tonsils and prepare to celebrate. However, on this occasion the festivities not only include the "hot dog" on the menu, but are in special honor of this All-American favorite.

The sauerkraut industry, in recent years, has sponsored during the last of January and first of February, "Sauerkraut and Wiener Week." Teamed with this companion one realizes that our snacktime specialty was, originally German.

This robust food appeals mostly to the hearty outdoorsman. This quality is general with most German cuisine. A nation of hikers, skiers, and hard workers traditionally require substance in their food and it is said that a good German dessert would serve as an entire meal for an average American.

Grandfathers have plagued youngsters of earlier days with stories of feet scrubbing preparatory to tromping the shredded cabbage into the kraut barrel. One such fellow never failed to relate the story of his friend's yearly purchase of a new pair of socks for the occasion.

Possibly by now someone will remember the pun about the man from Frankfurt who always claimed to be a Frankfurter. But, now he has moved to Hamburg he's just a Hamburger. That, however, should land us back where we started yelling "sour" kraut.

WINSTON CHURCHILL: "THE NAUGHTIEST BOY IN THE WORLD"

"I shall be a soldier so long as there is any fighting to be done. After that I shall have a shot at politics." These words framed the ambitions of a great gentleman remembered by the free world for the more familiar declaration, "I have nothing to offer but blood, sweat, and tears."

January 24 marked the second anniversary of the passing of one of the greatest statesmen the world has known. Mark Twain once introduced him as the son of an American mother and an English father, a perfect gentleman. Although uttered in jest, this characterization of Winston Churchill was heartily acclaimed by most of his countrymen. He was, to them, nearly a perfect gentleman.

teacher describes him as "the naughtiest boy in the world." His early school difficulties caused him to refer to himself as "the dunce of the family" when he vowed at his father's bedside during his last illness, "to take revenge on the whole pack of curs and traitors." His father had died as a result of the strain of the continued attacks of his political adversaries. Thereafter his life was to be a constant campaign against the enemies of England from without and against the enemies of his father from within.

During childhood his doctor, after pulling him through a case of double pneumonia, declared him to have a charmed life. Lord Randolph Churchill, Sir Winston's father, was requested to take him out of St. James school after the boy was given a severe caning for some "straight" answers and later another beating for an outburst of temper. Another elderly lady

During his early military career he was captured by the Boers but later escaped by riding packed amidst a shipment of coal bags in a freight car. Lord Haldane confessed that, "one could not speak

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Ed. Note: The following letter was received in the Dean of Men's office Jan. 23.

Dear Mr. Wilkinson:

You probably don't remember me, on second thought, maybe you do. The reason I'm writing is that I would like an application form for enrollment in Boise College for the fall term of 1969, plus information on the school.

At the present, I'm a hospital corpsman attached to the Marine Corps. I've been in the service for approximately 18 months now. We are scheduled to deploy to Viet Nam at any time at the present.

I've really realized how much of a mistake I made while going to BJC, and plan on making that mistake good. The service has made me really realize how much a person can benefit from completing school. I just wish that every man could experience it, then maybe they'd think twice about making a mess out of school.

I would really appreciate any information and any applications. The reason for early enrollment is to get an early start, since my enlistment ends after school starts.

Thank you.
Sincerely,
G. R. Schrecongast

too highly of Churchill's courage." This courage was demonstrated when he led his polo team to an unexpected victory over a champion team from India and played the entire game with a broken shoulder.

Mr. Churchill loved horses. He wrote exultingly, "No hour of life is lost that is spent on horseback." Later he added, "Young men have often been ruined through owning horses, or through backing horses, but never through riding them. Unless, of course, they break their necks, which, taken at a gallop, is a very good death to die."

It's interesting to note that this great Rough Rider went into parliament at the same time another Rough Rider across the ocean, was elected vice president of the United States.

Churchill's mental capacity was recognized by his Commander-in-Chief. One day he thought the young officer was taking too many chances and said, "Do you realize that this is a very dangerous place?" "Yes," replied Churchill, "but after all, this is a very dangerous war."

As long as there was life in his body, Winston Churchill never ceased to battle for the causes of his country and the world. He believed steadfastly to the end of his life in man's ability to stave off a nuclear destruction that would plunge human society into another age of darkness. He was a crusader for justice and in his fight felt "as if I could lift the whole world on my shoulders."

Linda Bricker Displays Trophy

Out of My Head

By JIM JONES

WHY NOT HEAR?, BABY?

After the disappearance from campus of the leading spokesman of the New Left, the question of "why?" remains. Without rehearsing the events surrounding the Al Schwartz SDS hassle, a general question of principle emerges. Does what a person believes give reason for compulsory non-attendance? At what point does the necessity for student order conflict with a student's legal and constitutional rights? How does an administration balance its responsibility to the community and state with responsibility for freedom of thought and speech?

This columnist's political philosophy is about as far removed from the New Left as it is possible to be. As campus chairman of Young Americans for Freedom, as well as First Vice-Chairman of the Young Republicans, by no stretch of the imagination could my philosophy be termed even slightly leftist. Yet the concern over the above questions is strong, right, left or middle.

On what grounds should a student be denied admission? Certainly a far-left neo-Communist philosophy would not be popular in Idaho. Most persons stand against almost every tenet of the Students for a Democratic Society's outlook. Yet I feel that no matter what belief, outlook, or non-belief, one's personal philosophy should not affect his college status. A college is not a knowledge factory, busy grinding out knowledgeable but unthinking students, but a place for the development and interchange of ideas and philosophies. One of the painful lessons of history is that political suppression, short of physical extermination, is only at best a short time remedy. I am confident that my idea are capable of withstanding examination. If not, I will change them. I looked at Al Schwartz's ideas and found them, for myself, not suitable. However, it would have been my loss not to have come in contact with them. Neither America nor Boise College has anything to fear from free expression and exchange of ideas. In fact, this exchange is our greatest strength. I hear, baby.

King Lear Reviewed

By JACK HAYMOND

It is not hard to gain access to great quantities of information concerning Shakespeare's works. To understand it in the manner that the playwright intended it to be is conversely rather difficult. The deep and varied bendings of men brought out so brilliantly in a style now 500 years old, requires studied diligence to fathom and entertain.

The Boise College production of "Lear" nearly died several times and only through persistent stubbornness did it become a reality. Because of the weak start, high mortality rate among the tryouts and a lack of precedent, the play might have been justifiably weak; a series of blundered lines, shrill overacting or dialogues in monotone, a tremendous list of possibilities for error; especially in the light of the great difficulty of language and mechanics. The actual result, however, was quite aesthetically pleasing. It is a most agreeable surprise to observe acting of a caliber performed by a local group of amateurs.

The central figure, Hawkins a restrained nobility, excellent in all terms in the portrayal of the old and foolish King Lear.

Goneril, played by Janet Vetter and Regan (Lavilla Shaddy), Lear's two evil daughters, are both studies in harpy villainy. The former's slyness and the latter's forthright bluntness are in marked contrast to Cordilla, Lear's loyal daughter (Valla Kellogg).

Though played finely and emotionally, Cordilla seems too white, too pure to be true and her extreme youth does not add to the part.

Gerrard Taylor as Oswald is a deliciously nauseous villain who seems to ooze from the woodwork; though a bit too oozy in places as he runs the dialogue together in places, giving us alphabet soup.

John Eichmann as the Earl of Kent seems to always be getting into fights. The swordplay (with the real metal stuff) is loud and

TEACHER OF THE WEEK

Lawyer, Air Combat Officer Retires to Teach Business

By BILL WINKLER

"I like my job, the school, the city and working with kids," said Dr. Frank Wilson when asked which he preferred, living and working here in Boise or in Aurora, Illinois, where he practiced law for 27 years.

Dr. Wilson is an instructor in the Business Department, teaching Introduction to Business and a seminar on business administration.

An undergraduate of the University of Illinois, Dr. Wilson obtained his law degree from Northwestern University.

At one time he was a part time "cowboy" during his summer vacation months at the University of Illinois, working on a ranch in Wyoming.

Entering the service prior to World War II, he taught Air Law at the Lewis School of Aeronautics in Illinois.

Action in the Pacific

When the war broke out, he served as Air Combat Intelligence officer aboard the USS Franklin, an aircraft carrier which saw much action in the Pacific in Guam, Iwo Jima, Formosa and Okinawa. "It was in Okinawa that the Kimakazees really were rough and gave us a fit," he said.

The Franklin also saw action in support of the Philippines landing, which turned the war in the Pacific toward our favor.

After the war, Dr. Wilson returned to the West Coast, teaching anti-submarine warfare.

Upon leaving the service, he was in private war practice in Aurora, Ill., for 27 years.

Citizen of the Year

In Aurora, he was very active in community affairs, including the YMCA, as chairman of the Community Chest and worked with the Boy Scouts.

DR. FRANK WILSON ... likes working with kids.

The Cosmopolitan Club of Aurora elected him "Outstanding Citizen of the Year" in 1963.

Retiring from law in Aurora, Dr. Wilson came to Boise College in 1966.

He states he has no intention of returning to law practice. He states that teaching is his first choice now.

THREE CENTS OPENS GOLD RUSH IN IDAHO

By C. F. RASMUSSEN

Basset swirled the rocks and water from his pan and then began to yell. Three cents worth of gold dust lined the bottom of his pan. A new era had come to Idaho. Gold had been discovered.

Idaho was a barren waste, lonely and deserted. Fort Hall and Fort Boise had been abandoned and weeds had taken over the fields of Fort Limhi. But, three cents worth of gold was to change all this and lure thousands to search the mountains and streams for these shining nuggets.

With the discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill in California early in 1848, men surged through the west. Capt. E. D. Pierce had tried his luck in this golden area and then turned north. Soon he began to hear stories of gold in the region now called Idaho. Father DeSmet had written about gold in the rocks and Captain Mullen's men reported similar findings as they built their road through what is now Coeur d'Alene. The lost "Blue Bucket Diggings" fevered his blood. But most of all he was fascinated by the Nez Perce Indian tale which described a shining spot in the mountain that looked like an eye.

The Indians were hostile and Captain Pierce and his men traveled at night in order to avoid them. It was while waiting with this group for the cover of darkness that prospector Basset made his fabulous three-cent discovery.

Soon the territory from Lake Coeur d'Alene on the north to the Snake River on the south began to seethe with activity. Florence, Pearce City, Orofino (meaning fine gold), and Lewiston quickly became thriving centers. Bannock nically barbarous. I'm still wondering how many bruised knuckles have resulted.

The Earl of Gloucester, interpreted by John Abajian, is a bit overdone in places, a "Let's pack a little extra agony in wherever possible" trait. He is, however, one of the most understandable actors on the set.

Edgar, son of Gloucester (George Borchner) has his lines well in mind—too well, in fact, as he rattles them off, not very intelligibly especially as Mad Tom.

Edmund, bastard son of Gloucester, played by John Poulsen, is a villain with spine and is played most successfully until being made a pin cushion by Kent.

Special attention must be given to Don Scott, who, cast as Lear's fool, is a delight to see as far as fools go. Excellent in all respects, he performs as one of the very finest in the cast.

(now Idaho City), Placerville, and Silver City grew as if by magic. Silver City miners also found veins of silver which yielded great chunks of that ore.

Gold mining, however, was for the rugged individual. Pack trains precariously traveled the trails. Their drivers charged as much as fifty cents a pound for freighting. Often at the end of these trails the men took the burdens on their own backs and drug them over snow-filled trails. They paid as much as a dollar a pound for flour. All prices skyrocketed over night, but this did not deter the gold hungry miners. Sometimes they dickered with an established businessman to provide them with needed supplies and in return they forfeited half interest in their findings. Thus evolved the system of "grub-staking."

A few gold pans yielded as much as $600 worth of the nuggets. Others revealed only traces of the magic dust, but they were usually willing to share with a hungry traveler. Edith Whipple's poem is descriptive:

Ever seeking, sometimes finding,
But it's men who play this game,
Busted flat, or on the pay streak—

To that bunch it's all the same.
First a feast and then a famine
Miner's luck, so why take heed?
In a miner's shack there's plenty

For a brother who's in need.
Fortunes were made and lost over night. Gold exacts its price from its seekers. Indians were often unfriendly and Geo. Grimes begged, "Don't let them scalp me, Mose," as he died at their hands.
Sutter may have been envied when gold was found at his mill, but his mill hands left and every kind of squatter camped on his land. He was ruined in three years.

Mining camps teemed with all sorts of characters. Near anarchy reigned. The early efforts in industry wasted men, ore, and supplies.
Mr. Beal writes that often it was a case of catch and fleece.
The following epitaph on the lips of those rough and rowdy men serves to remind us of the discovery of gold and the beginning of our State:

There the men live raw,
And the desert's maw,
Where Hell is nothing to shun,
And they bury them neat,
Without preacher nor sheet
And write on the tombstone,
Crude but sweet,
This Jasper was slow with his gun.

Living was different and difficult. Nevertheless, these hardy souls brought people and industry into Idaho. Most of them stayed to engage in business, lumbering, stock - raising, and agriculture. Three cents worth of gold dust began the history of a way of life which has made Idaho the "Gem State" of the Union.

Traveling With The Broncos

By BILL WINKLER
Roundup Sports Editor

The Broncos departed on Friday, Jan. 20 on a road trip that would carry them to Rexburg, into Utah and then to Burley for a contest on Monday the 23rd with the "66" Oilers, college all-stars.

The trip to Rexburg, which I was fortunate enough to attend, along with the drill team, cheerleaders and band, was by bus.

The team departed at 9 a.m. Friday morning. En route we stopped at Burley for a break and at Pocatello for lunch on the ISU campus. During the trip the team talked consistently about basketball, making comments about some of the greats of the game.

While making some individual interviews with team members I came up with some very interesting information.

Ten of the players want to continue with basketball at a four-year institution; one is going to enter the pharmacy school at the University of Colorado and one is going into Naval aviation.

Team spirit for the Ricks game was at a peak.

While having lunch at ISU we had time to tour the campus. The campus is huge and spread out. Their student union building is new and modern. There is room for art exhibitions, even, plus a bowling alley and game room.

During this visit the Montana wrestling team was visiting. Idaho State was ahead 20-0 at our departure.

It was noted that the Bronco wrestling team will be visiting there on February 3.

It seems ISU is going to be hurting a little for basketball players. A little underhanded talking was observed toward some of our players, to no avail, however.

When the Bronco team walked into the gymnasium, coaches jumped and ran. It was comical in a way that poor little old Boise College should get such notice. Just wait until 1968, then we'll give them something to really worry about.

Leaving ISU, we traveled on into the big city of Rexburg (ha ha). Below is a little information on the 1966-67 Broncos:

Keith Burke, center, 6'7", 215 lbs., graduate of Roseburg Senior High, Roseburg, Oregon, is planning on playing basketball at a four year college and then becoming a coach, is majoring in physical education.

Wendell Hart, guard, 6'1", 173 lbs., a graduate of Dunbar High, Washington, D. C., is planning on playing basketball at a four year college, is majoring in physical education.

Bill Otey, forward, 6'4", 200 lbs., Dunbar High School, Washington, D.C., planning on playing basketball at a four year college and then becoming a coach, majoring in physical education.

Steve Loveless, guard, 5'10", 160 lbs., graduate of Boise High School, Boise, Idaho, planning on playing basketball in a four year college and becoming a teacher-coach, is majoring in physical education and history.

Denee Ruth, guard, 6'1", 165 lbs., graduate of Paterson Central High School, Paterson, N. J., is planning on playing basketball in a four year college and would like to play professional ball. Renee is majoring in physical education and history.

Lane Broyles, forward, 6'4", 195 lbs., graduate of Boise High School, Boise, Idaho, is planning on playing basketball at a four year college, would like to become a pharmacist.

Wayne Auer, forward, 6'2", 170 lbs., graduate of Idaho Falls High School, Idaho Falls, Idaho, is planning on teaching elementary school in the Boise district. Wayne is majoring in elementary education.

Jim Hill, guard, 6'1", 195 lbs., graduate of Borah High School, Boise, is planning on entering pharmacy school at the University of Colorado at the end of this semester.

Larry Bronson, forward, 6'4", 205 lbs., graduate of Jerome High School, Jerome, Idaho, is planning on going into the field of electronics.

Jim Rogers, guard-forward, 6'4", 190 lbs., graduate of Northern Burlington High, Columbus, N. J., from Wilder, Idaho. Jim plans on becoming a naval aviator and is majoring in business administration.

Rodell Hill, guard, 6'2", 183 lbs., graduate of Lewiston High School, Lewiston, Idaho, is planning on playing more basketball here at Boise. Rodell is a vocational student in auto service and mechanics.

Dan Bofenkamp, forward, 6'2", 175 lbs., graduate of Wallace High School, Wallace, Idaho, is planning on becoming a teacher and is majoring in history.

Bob Radloff, manager, graduate of Borah High School, Boise, is planning on becoming an accountant and is majoring in business administration.

BALANCED SCORES MAKES WINS

By MAC HAZEL
Statesman Sports Writer

Workability of the "balanced scoring equals winning team" theory has made believers of Boise College's basketball Broncos.

Coach Murray Satterfield and his Broncos are finding this time-tested axiom amazingly accurate as they pile up wins in bunches by getting double-figure scorers in bunches for each individual effort.

The Broncos' ninth and tenth victories of the season this past weekend revealed prolific balance on the firing line as they rolled up winning margins of 103-91 over Ricks and 87-83 over the University of Utah Frosh.

Bill Otey, the Broncos' 6-4 "jumping jack," led the weekend point-making assault with 39 points in the two games, followed by Steve Loveless' 32, Renee Ruth's 30, Keith Burke's 29 and 6-1 Wendell Hart's 28.

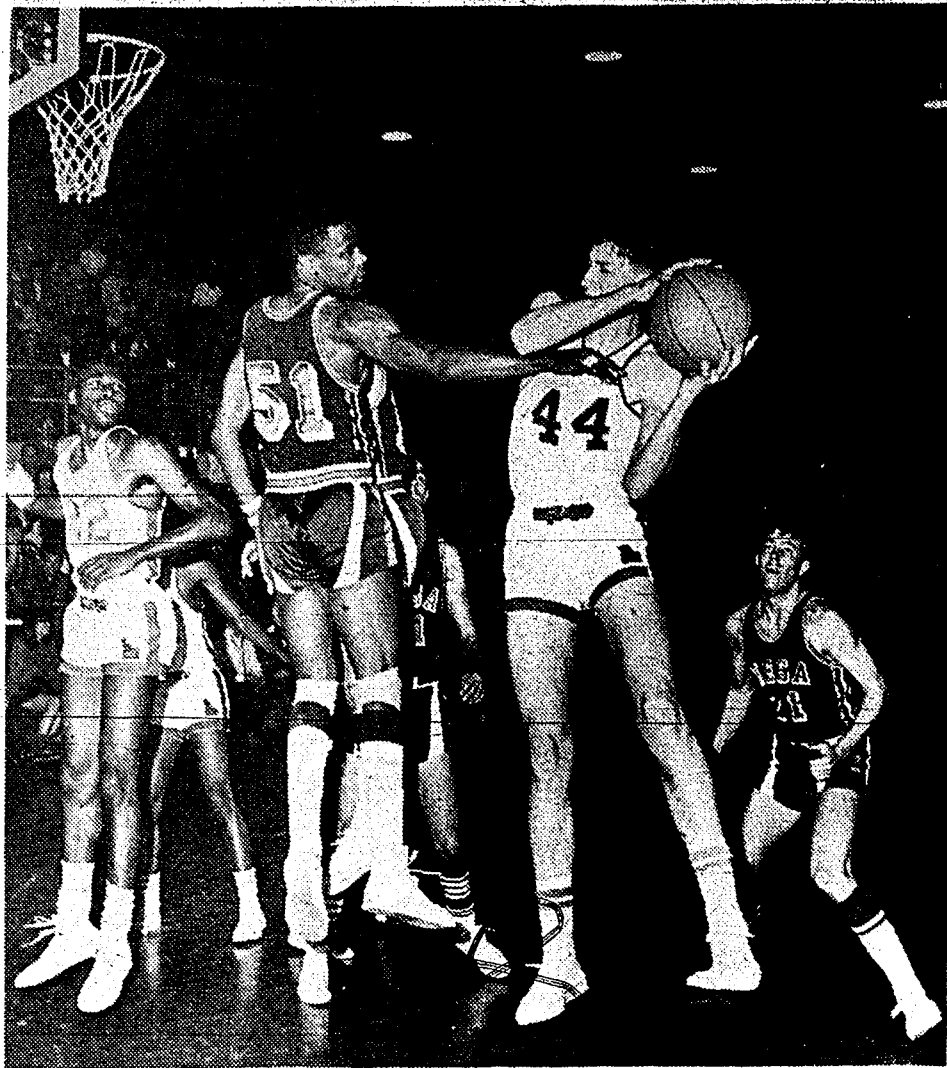

Going into Monday night's meeting with the Phillips Oilers at Burley, which wound up an 11-game Bronco road campaign dating back to Dec. 28, the 6-7 Burke led his colleagues with 225 points for a 15-game average of 15.0.

Following in order were Otey with 198 points and a 13.2 average; Ruth with 197 and 13.1; Hart with 171 and 11.4; Loveless with 161 and 10.7, and Lane Broyles with 139 and 9.3.

The Broncos' showing in 10 games on their extended road swing established a simulated dance pattern of lose two-win three-lose two-win-three.

Losses to Spokane Community College and Columbia Basin comprised the starting "lose two" step, after which the Broncos made with the "win three" move via successive triumphs over Columbia Basin and North Idaho Junior College.

It was "lose two" two weekends ago as the Boiseans dropped Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference verdicts to Dixie College and Snow College, but the "win three" step prevailed against last week with conquests of Treasure Valley Community College, Ricks and the Ute Frosh.

BURKE AND OTEY COMBINATION was working for the Broncos against the Mesa Mavericks. Otey stands by the basket to back up Keith Burke's shot. The Broncos went on to win the ball game by a margin of 94 to 53, to confine their winning streak.

BRONCO 5 BEATS UTAH FROSH 87-83

The BC Broncos chalked up an 87-83 nip-and-tuck victory over the freshmen of Utah University Saturday, Jan. 21.

The victory moved the Bronco season record to 10.5. The win also gave the Boise team a perfect road record after defeating Ricks Friday night 103-91 in a conference game.

The members of Murray Satterfield's quint showed their even style and scoring with Renee Ruth leading them in double figures, getting 19 points. Steve Loveless dropped in with 17 to 16 for Steve Burke, 14 for Wendell Hart and 11 for Bill Otey.

Burke and Otey led the Broncos' rebounding squad with eight each as the Broncos held their own with the taller junior Redskins. Utah shot ahead early only to have Boise close the gap and lead for a short period before the Redskins came back to take a 48-43 lead to the half.

Then in the final 20 minutes of play the Broncos out-scored the Utes 42-35 and that was the major difference of the second half.

Boise took full advantage of the foul line, netting 19 of 25 to a 15-18 mark for the Utah crew. Both clubs had 34 field goals in the contest as Utah fired 47 per cent from the field to Boise College's torrid 50 per cent.

BILL OTEY, 6'4" forward who generally out-jumps the other team consistently, puts the ball in the hoop for two points against a mighty powerful Ricks team to come out on top by a 12-point margin. Ricks, who displayed a strong offensive club, couldn't hold out to beat the Broncos.

Broncos Buck Eagles, 87-72

The Broncos were hot from the word go. Hart, who had a slow first half, became deadeye Dick the second half, by hitting 9 out of 10 from more than 20 feet out. Renee Ruth was the man who started the rally and Hart put the finishing touches on it.

The half time score read 38 to 29, but the Broncos came back by getting a 20-point lead. Ples Vann of CSI came back to make the margin respectable.

The Broncos hit well at the free throw line by hitting 25 of 31 for the game.

CSI jumped to a quick lead by a score of 6 to 3 but was short lived when Burke made it 8 to 7. The lead changed hands in the next few minutes of play, when Ruth and Burke made six straight baskets to come out on top 28 to 18.

Bill Hart was high pointer for the Broncos with 26 points. Keith Burke trailed close behind with 21 points.

An Appeal to The Student Body and Faculty

This Friday night the BC Broncos return home with a winning streak going all the way back to January 20, except for an exhibition loss to the Phillips 66 Oilers, a college all-star team, and even then they scored better than ISU did against them.

The Broncos lost only by 19 points to this much higher ranked team.

The Broncos started their route to glory by beating Ricks on their court in Rexburg, continuing into Utah to take the Utah Frosh and then losing their game to Phillips.

Returning home last weekend they won two impressive victories over Dixie and Mesa to a poor attendance by the student body. Last Tuesday night they went to Twin Falls and beat a much ranked College of Southern Idaho team.

This weekend we have a game against Treasure Valley on Friday and a conference game against Snow College on Saturday. Saturday's game is one we must win.

I am appealing to all members of the student body and to the faculty to SUPPORT OUR TEAM. They are doing one heck of a good job for us. We have a championship team and they would like to know that the students are behind them.

Out of three thousand students and faculty members in Boise College, there is no excuse whatsoever that our gymnasium cannot be filled. I know that this student

BRONCOS STOP MESA IN ICAC 94-53

The Broncos, hitting on 34% of their shots, dropped the Mesa five 94-53 in a game played last Saturday in the gym. The victory gave the Broncos a 3-2 ICAC mark and leaves them on the doorstep of another championship. We are now 12-5 overall.

It was a runaway from the start with the Broncos taking an early 9-2 lead in the first six minutes and 25-9 at the 10-minute mark, going into the halftime intermission with a 45-20 lead. With six minutes gone into the second half, Coach Satterfield started sending the reserves. The reserves, 10 of them all together, kept hitting the basket.

Wendell Hart topped the Broncos with a total of 15 points in the first half and ended up with 18 after being replaced, to a standing ovation in the second half.

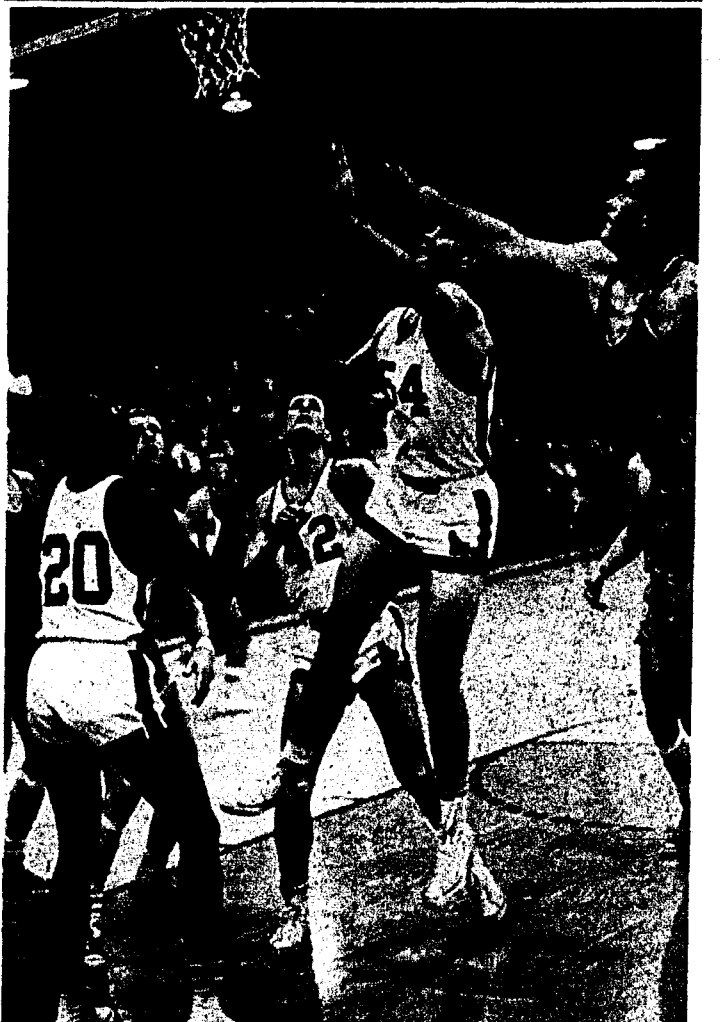

Bill Otey was champion at the rebounds, collecting 15 points and 12 rebounds while Keith Burke added 13 points and 10 rebounds. Steve Loveless collected 13 points.

The Broncos hit for a 39 percentage from the floor while Mesa hit for 35 percent. At the free-throw line the Mesa Mavericks hit only three of 18 and the Broncos hit 18 of 24.

The Broncos went to Twin Falls last Tuesday night, taking a two-game-at-home-lead with them. The story on this game is elsewhere on the page.

BOYLES JUMPS HIGH in the air to pot the ball for two more points against the Dixie Rebels to win by 98 to 65 to even our conference record at 2-2.

BOISE COLLEGE CAGERS DROP DIXIE 93-63 TO EVEN CONFERENCE RECORD

The Broncos shot themselves right into contention in the ICAC last Friday night by slaughtering the Dixie Rebels of St. George, Utah, 93-63 before a small but well-entertained crowd. The student body should be ashamed of itself at the poor turnout. I hope that this weekend's games will be better attended. We must all remember now that we are a four-year institution and must support our teams. Everyone, and I do mean everyone, should try and attend this weekend's games.

The Broncos hit 45 per cent of their shots while the Dixie Rebels hit for 35 per cent. From the field goal the advantage was 23-28 for the Broncos and 15-19 for the Rebels.

Bill Otey was hit point man for the night, getting 9 goals from the field and three for four from the line for a total of 21 points. Renee Ruth was hot on Otey's heels for the top spot with 20, getting 8 goals and four for four from the line.

The halftime score was 42-32 with the Broncos pulling was out in front in the second half, but scoring 21 straight points before body has not forgotten what team spirit is. When they went to high school it was high and there is no reason why it isn't now.

Let's all go to these games and show the team we are behind them.

KING LEAR—

A rather severe criticism, technically, is the excess sound effects, especially during the storm scene. Dialogue is lost, the plot suffers for the sake of atmosphere; Shakespeare is merit enough alone. The switching of sound effects from speaker to speaker during the battle scene is quite clever and the chorus (an unusual and easily slopped up part) is brought out well.

One rarity: the supporting cast on stage seemed to be interested in what was going on around them, something which adds considerably for all to often this slips by in many plays as scratchy, tired-footed attendants who want to go home.

The audience was attentive and I noticed none of the coat and umbrella set slinking out before the ending. The cast was friendly, sometimes mingling with the departing audience. Enjoying the play immensely, the members of the cast displayed no smugness

Lambda Delta Sigma

A week before Christmas, Lambda Delta Sigma, in conjunction with the Sons of Melanman, went to Nampa State School. They took them punch, popcorn, and various Christmas decorations for the residents. They spent the entire afternoon helping them decorate the recreation hall. All who went said it was a most rewarding experience.

Later in the holidays, both clubs participated in a sledding and caroling party. An enjoyable afternoon of sledding was had by all at Idaho City. Back at the Institute a chili feed was held and then everyone went caroling in the neighborhood surrounding the college. A dance back at the Institute topped off a full day.

Lambda Delta Sigma is now in the process of planning the annual Preference Ball to be held in February, which is a girl-ask-boy affair.

Golden Z Activities

For fifteen Golden Z members the highlight of their Christmas break was a weekend spent at the Sun Valley resort area. After traveling to that destination via chartered bus (which approximately 25 Valkyrie counterparts shared with them), and settling down at the Challenger Inn, the vacationers skied, ice-skated and sledded during their stay. Golden Z's making the trip included Becky Ackley, Karla Bollerlev, Willian Boston, Julie Booker, Connie Collins, Sherry Evans, Bobby Harrison, Susan Hartzell, Susan Hershey, Judy Kessler, Linda McKissick, Diana Parker, Rose Roberts, Rosemary Vassar and Anita Williams.

Among more recent activities of the women's service club was the election of Susan Hartzell as second semester pledge captain. All coeds who possess at least a 3.00 grade average, and are second semester freshmen or above, are invited to pledge the Golden Z's on February 7, which is the date of preferential bidding.

Young Democrats

Young Democrats met Jan. 26 to plan for a trip to the Statehouse and to discuss lobbying. Anyone interested may contact Dr. John Caylor or Ann Hegstrom, secretary-treasurer.

Tau Alpha Pi

Recently Tau Alpha Pi organized a loan fund. Any student can qualify for the $50 loan by presenting his need before the committee. Applicants should see Dean Tuley.

Dean Tuley also reported that the club tried to award 20 scholarships of $50 each but succeeded in rewarding only 14 to those who applied and were eligible.

Tau Alpha Pi sponsors the annual "hobo dance" and again this spring they plan on another enjoyable service for Boise College students.

Ski Club

Ski Club is planning a swimming party at the Idaho City Plunge Saturday night, Feb. 4. The party will start at 7:30 p.m. and continue until 10:00 p.m.

Money is now being raised by the club for a Snow Ball to take place after the annual White Stag Race, to be scheduled at the end of the season. Committees for this and a proposed Night Ski Party will be chosen at the next meeting. Also featured at the next meeting will be an 18 to 20-minute ski film.

For those who have not paid their dues, they are $2.50, and should be given to Secretary-Treasurer Gail Zachary.

CORRECTION

In the last issue of the paper it was said that the yearly library grant received recently from the First Security Foundation was $100. Newly received information reveals the actual amount of the grant to be $200.

File Compensation Forms Within 14 Days Here

Students, faculty and staff were told today that Workman Compensation forms must be filled out within 14 days of an injury.

Miss Juanita Ling of the Business office, said completed forms must be turned in to her personally in Room 117.

If the form is turned in after the 14-day limitation, the state will not pay compensation.

The ruling includes students working on campus.

Business Scholarships Available

Again this spring there will be several large scholarships awarded to those qualified. Two local establishments sponsoring the scholarships will be looking for students majoring in Business.

First Security Foundation has awarded $200 scholarships in the past to four students. However, there has been a change and now the scholarships are $500, but are awarded to only two students. Qualifications of these scholarships are for upper division students only whose major is banking or business. Another qualification is (sorry, girls) male students with a good grade point average. The scholarships will be awarded ac-ording to these qualifications and the students' past work.

The Boise Association of Insurance Agents also will be awarding two scholarships of $200 each, and qualified students must have a reasonable grade point average and be able to show their need.

According to Dr. R. E. Rose,

Chairman of the Division of Business Economics, these scholarships will be announced about the first week of May. They will be awarded to qualified students for the fall semester of 1967. Interested students contact Dr. Rose in room A205.

Students holding First Security Foundation's scholarships at present are Ronald Lightfoot, Donald Reynolds, Warren Menche and Gordon Howie. Students currently holding Boise Association Insurance Agents' scholarships are Pat Edwards and Larry Foster.
