Royalty Reigns At BC Homecoming

HER MAJESTY Queen Jeane Link reigned over the 1967-68 Homecoming events at BC held last week. Sponsored by Chaffee Hall (the men's dorm), Jeane was announced as Homecoming Queen at the annual pep rally on Thursday night. Cheryl Inafuku, sponsored by Hui O Hawaii, was elected first runner-up and Vicki Ustick, sponsored by Tau Alpha Pi, was second runner-up. Jeane is a commercial art major, a sophomore, and the daughter of the Norman Links of Boise.

BOISE COLLEGE GUIDANCE PROGRAM STRIVES FOR MORE STUDENT WELFARE

By MIKE SCHINDELE
Roundup Feature Editor

A typical trait displayed by most incoming freshmen is the lack of knowledge concerning the measures the college has taken to ensure them a well balanced guidance program. Most upper classmen, as well, seem to show little enthusiasm over the office which guarantees them security and welfare at all times.

The school's 1967-68 catalog seems to sum up Boise College's guidance program very adequately. "Regardless of the nature of his problem, the student at BC is afforded the opportunity to discuss it with a faculty advisor, personnel dean, or with a professional counselor.

"The student in need of vocational guidance finds at his disposal the services of a specialist at no extra cost. In addition to the knowledge gained from the various entrance tests, additional inventories can be taken as the need arises."

Student Personnel Services

The guidance program at Boise College is headed by the Dean of Student Personnel Services, J. A. McCauslin. Dean McCauslin stated that his office covered the non-academic and non-instructional area of the college, including: dean of men, dean of women, counselors, food service, health service, housing, student union, loans, scholarships, student government, and student activities.

"This year we added counseling and placement to our department. The counselor center has not yet been established, but our guidance personnel are located throughout the campus. As for our placement service, we have already provided over 150 jobs for Boise College students," he said.

Dean McCauslin is well qualified to carry out his duties. He has received the following degrees: B.A. at Rollins College, 1951; M.A. at Pennsylvania State College, '52; M.S. at Pennsylvania State University, '54; Ed. D at the University of Maryland (Guidance-student personnel administration), in 1961.

Prior to coming to BC, McCauslin was the Dean of Student Life at Wilmington College, Wilmington, Ohio; Dean of Student Affairs at Bloomsburg State College, Bloomsburg, Pa., and a part-time instructor at both institutions from 1958-1965.

He came to BC in 1965 and took over the reins of the Personnel Services Department.

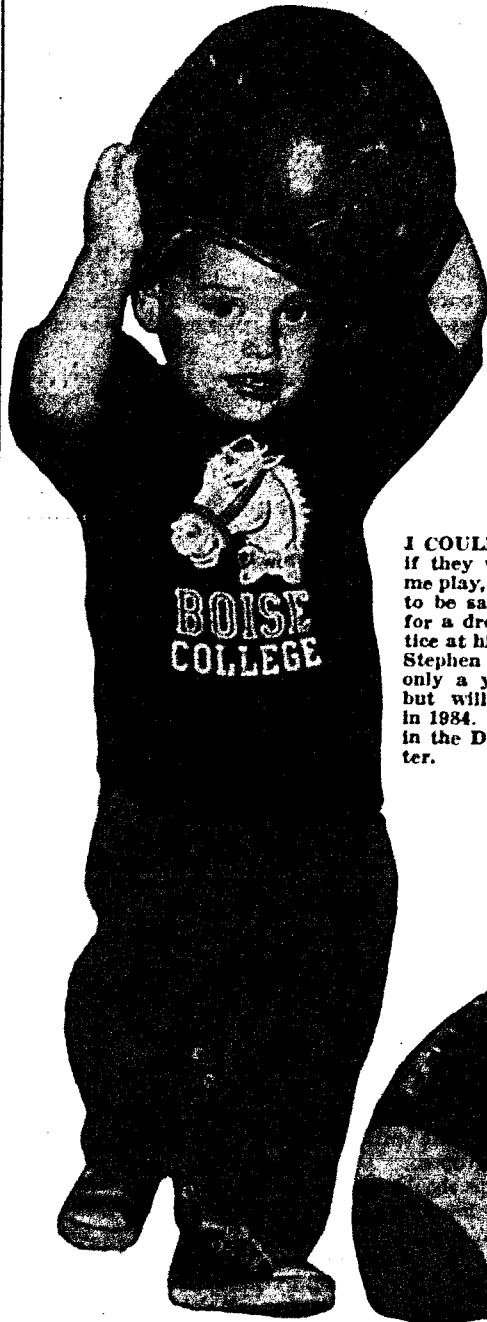

When asked why he chose this particular profession he replied: "When I was pursuing my master's degree at Penn State I got a job as a graduate assistant to the dean of men. Up until then I had planned to go into teaching, but this new type of work changed my entire outlook. My chief interest is now college students giving them the experiences they need to grow and develop."

Dean Wilkinson

The departments immediately under the Student Personnel Services are those of the dean of men and dean of women. These positions are held by Edwin E. Wil-

A 1984 Bronco Hopeful

I COULD HAVE beat Ricks if they would have only let me play, Sean Maloney seems to be saying as he goes out for a drop-kick during practice at his parents' home, the Stephen Maloneys. Sean is only a year and a half old but will be ready for BC in 1984. Sean's father works in the Data Processing Center.

A KISS from Valkyrie's President Janet Priddy and a crown of red velvet were awarded to King Beard winner, Dave Gardner. He was crowned at the traditional pep rally during Homecoming week. The contestants entered the "race" in September at a "shave-in" conducted by the Valkyries. The men were shaved and given so many weeks to grow the best beard on campus.

Senior Placements Available Soon

For the remainder of this month and continuing throughout the school year all senior students are invited to talk to various placement services both in the armed forces and from different companies.

Continuing into the month of November the U. S. Forest Service welcomes any forestry major who is interested in talking over career opportunities. J. White will also have interviews by appointment set for Nov. 3.

On Nov. 9, James Berry, who represents the AllState Insurance Co., reports openings in non-sales positions. Students interested, who are majoring in the general business, accounting, or liberal arts fields, are welcome by appointment.

Nov. 16, the U. S. Internal Revenue service will interview accounting and business majors. James Humbird, district personnel manager, will talk to any senior by appointment.

All interviews for the above announcements will be made through Mrs. Lucille Hinman's office in T-1 105. These opportunities for career placement will be available all year with many more due to arrive next spring.

MOVE ANNOUNCED

The college dispensary has been moved to the front of the old Student Union Building on the first floor. The hours are 8-12 noon and 1-4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

ORIENTAL EXHIBIT OPENS AT BC

A series of Japanese and Hawaiian scenes by Robert Sterling, Jr., are now on exhibit in the Liberal Arts Building. Sterling, who is an Art professor at Washington State University, has had work shown in over 100 exhibitions in United States. His paintings, which are done in tempera, represent impressions of Oriental and Hawaiian life which he saw while traveling through these two countries. The show will run through November.

Toelken, Sorrels to Sing Tonight

BALLAD AND FOLK SINGERS Dr. Barry Toelken of the University of Oregon and Boise's own Rosalie Sorrels will perform tonight in the Student Union Snack Bar. Beginning at 8:00 p.m., the concert will consist of ballads and folk songs sung by Toelken and Sorrels as duets and as solos. There will be a small cover charge for students and the Snack Bar will have refreshments available for those attending.

Editorial

It has been written in history books that ideas of minor political parties have often been incorporated into the beliefs of the major parties. This occurs with philosophy in general, particularly when extremists' views are involved.

The virtue of extremities is that, despite their radical nature and quite often, their absurd presentation, they point to needed reforms and give evidence to ways of improving conditions. It is unfortunate that at times the views are stated in such a way as to create apathy, if not some degree of hostility, toward them.

But when the conditions that created the extremities are, in all actuality, accepted to be in need of change, then the views will serve well to accentuate the problems. This situation seems true in the case of the Hippies.

Like all movements that are, at the base, serious, this one is a definite product of our civilization—or rather of the inequities of our society. It is a reaction against hypocrisy built around inefficient attempts by society to correct itself, and the movement professes to solve the problems created by this hypocrisy.

But instead of itself solving the problems, the movement only pulls the blanket over the head and ignores, or rather runs away from it all.

What should and will be done is that this extreme presentation and dramatization of society's inequities will serve its full purpose. It will because its goals are those same goals sought by all youth everywhere. Whether members of the Hippie movement are themselves the ultimate leaders in the initial attainment of the goals, or if the movement creates through a synthesis leaders from outside itself, is of little consequence.

What is important is that the fire has been built beneath the pot of correction. The young people are aware of the inequities and are clamoring for corrective measures. The question is whether they will carry the movements involved to their logical conclusion at the cost of yesterday's generation, or will they allow tomorrow's generation to do so at their own expense.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

We, the undersigned, wish to protest the manner in which the voting for Homecoming Queen was conducted.

The polling time and places were announced, then the ballot box was moved from the SUB to a different location with no notice and no good reason.

The polls were opened late and closed early at the Vocational-Technical building.

The polling time was announced as 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Ad Building and the SUB. At 10 a.m. we went to vote at the SUB, the ballot box was gone and no one there knew where it had been moved.

At 11:55 a.m., the ballot box arrived at the Vo-Tech building and remained there until 1 p.m., at a time when many students were at lunch and not available to vote. When classes let out at 1:50 p.m., the ballot box was gone. The people at Vo-Tech had one hour to vote as against six hours at the Ad Building and the Library. Are we Vo-Tech students 2nd class students? We don't think so.

When a complaint was made to the person with the ballot boxes we were informed we were being done a favor by being able to vote in the V-T building at all. How come these people are in a position to do us a favor? We thought we had a right to vote the same as anyone else. We were told that if anyone hadn't voted to send them over to the SUB and they would be permitted to vote. This was at 3:10 p.m., after everyone had gone home.

This is a raw deal and some changes should be made in the balloting setup. As a suggestion, set up a balloting place for everyone at the SUB.

As full time students, we are entitled to all the rights and privileges of Boise College; our voting rights were infringed upon.

The Student Senate should immediately make an investigation of this matter. Corrective action is mandatory.

Dear Editor:

Now that Homecoming Week activities are over and all the signs and posters are being taken down, one begins to wonder about the condition some posters are in. What I'm talking about is, pri-

The Library and you

Now that this semester's mid-term exams "belong to the ages," many students, some for the first time, are faced with the challenge of preparing before Dec. 18 some rather lengthy and scholarly papers. This can be an interesting endeavor depending on one's ability to research a subject.

In order to help students enjoy the thrill of successful research, it seems advisable to introduce several books. Perhaps the least scholarly of the books on the searching procedure is "Books, Libraries and You." It is a handbook on the use of reference books and the reference resources of the library. It introduces the student to the correct method of collecting materials and gathering data for his reports.

Other books that are helpful for students to consult are "The Concise Guide to Library Research," by Grant W. Morse, and "How to Do Library Research," by Robert B. Downs. Each of these guides presents an efficient step-by-step approach to the research method, and direct the student in the organization of research projects.

Perhaps the work that would be most beneficial to students at this time is "How to Locate Educational Information and Data," by Carter Alexander. This book teaches more than anything else the techniques for locating materials. The most useful chapters for the beginning researcher are Chapters II and III. Here are included information about subject headings to use, and kinds of material needed by the student.

Actually the knowledge of how to locate information and data is the master key to successful research. Perhaps one could also say that it is the master key to success in college.

marily, those posters featuring a queen candidate's picture. It has been my experience to note that a goodly number of these posters were either mutilated or the pictures were torn out. What I do not understand is WHY? Maybe the girls have a lot of secret admirers who were either too bashful to ask for a picture from their darling or were refused one and the only alternative was to tear it from a poster, hence, leaving a gaping hole in a once-attractive poster. But maybe (perish the thought) certain members of various club(s) thought their candidate would have a better chance if one major form of competition was eliminated. If this is so I hope they are satisfied with the realization that their candidate won by way of an "honest and fair" campaign.

Sincerely,
JACK MATLOCK

POPULAR PERSONALITY on the Boise College campus, Charlie Guay, custodian, stops to chat with BC Coed Diane Wilkie, in the new Liberal Arts Building. Having been with the college for four years, Charlie could be seen in the Library during the last three years but has moved to the Liberal Arts for this year. He works with 12 other men to keep the building in good order.

EVERYBODY'S FRIEND

BOISE CUSTODIAN CHARLIE GUAY RANKS HIGH ON POPULARITY POLL

By MIKE SCHINDELE
Roundup Feature Editor

With each building complex on campus, the students of Boise College have become accustomed to identifying each with a person or place. For instance, when someone mentions the Student Union, most individuals think of either the snack bar or Phil Ranke. This is likewise true with the new Liberal Arts structure. On hearing the mention of this modern building, thoughts immediately turn towards its centralized art displays, or one of its most likeable inhabitants, Charles Guay, custodian.

Guay, better known as Charlie by the majority of the art students and teachers, has been with Boise College for the past four years. He came to BC from the Boise Independent School District, and spent his first three years with the college at the library building.

When asked what he liked best about the college, he replied, "Everything. The faculty and the students are the best ever. With all these modern buildings around, anyone can see that the college is growing, and will continue to grow for the next few decades. It's a good combination, fine faculty and students, and a growing school."

The able custodian then stated that he enjoyed the offerings of the "great outdoors," and added that he did much fishing and hunting in his spare time. He is also an avid sports fan, and had hoped that Chicago would have taken the AL pennant this year.

After talking to Charlie, anyone would realize that it is always the less-known men who seem to know the most about the happenings of a big institution.

Concerning the possibility of a cultural revolution on campus, he stated he felt the beard and saddle cult of Berkeley would not invade BC, with the main reason being the administration's unwillingness to go along with it.

As for long hair on the male students of the college, Charlie retorted, "I don't like it. But it's up to the kids. If they like it, that's their business." Concerning short hair styles and short fashions on the females of the campus, Charlie said he didn't pay too much attention to them.

Speaking on sports, he said BC should go undefeated this year on the gridiron. As for basketball, he said the prospects look very good.

He also thought the much publicized "traffic problem" is non-existent. "There is plenty of parking room, especially over by the gym. It's a shame that all those cars get towed away every day for parking in loading zones, etc., but maybe it's the only way people are going to learn."

Concerning the up-keep of the Liberal Arts building, he replied, "With my crew of 12, we keep this place looking its best. No problems have arisen yet. In fact, everything is going so well this year, that I don't think I'd want to trade jobs with anyone."

ATTENTION SENIORS

Appointments for senior class pictures must be made by Nov. 10 at Bach's Photographs, for all seniors graduating in December or spring semester. Failure to make an appointment and have a picture taken will exclude the senior involved from the yearbook.

Men are requested to wear a dark suit, white shirt and tie. Women are requested to wear a solid dark color suit or dress without ornament.

YD'S TO MEET

A meeting of the Young Democrats will be held Nov. 9 at 4:00 p.m. in the President's Dining Room on the second floor of the SUB. Anyone interested in the principles of Democratic Party are offered to join the club by applying in Room 220 of the Library.

Deans McCauslin, Wilkinson and Moore Provide Professional Counseling at BC

kinson and Helen Moore, respectively. We interviewed the two separately and found that both offices carried on the same functions with few exceptions.

Dean Wilkinson, dean of men, comes to BC from Washington State College in Pullman, where he worked as assistant to the Dean of Men. While there he handled such matters as student loans, housing, and discipline. He came to BC in 1958 and has held the same position since.

Dean Wilkinson received his B.A. at Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., and his M.A. at Washington State College in Pullman. Prior to that, he attended the University of Akron, Ohio.

He became interested in counseling while in the service. "Through a combination of experiences I learned that my best forte was working with people. My chief interest at the moment is working with students. I've gone through what they're going through now, and I'd like to lend them a hand," he said.

The office of the dean of men has been slowly changing over the years and is now becoming a more organized unit. The dean of men, as in the past, is responsible for the male students of the college. This includes the supervising of the men's dormitory. He is helped on this end by six resident advisors, six assistants, and a resident dorm director. "We are responsible for providing the best possible atmosphere for the physical and educational environment of the resident. We have just completed setting up a type of government in the dorm," he said.

"One area I would like to avoid, but I guess it has to be brought up—is discipline. This is a case where counseling comes into play, where the students have either run into some difficulty with the law or have consistently broken school regulations. When we talk in terms of discipline, we are talking in terms of the educational process, which is the true definition of discipline," he stated.

A good 40 per cent of the dean's time is spent in academic and personal counseling. All withdrawals go through his office, including all the paper work connected. His office is also a source of information, especially about other institutions, including law and medical schools. The office takes on the form of a back-up man, when an advisor has failed to solve an individual's problem. This is where close cooperation comes into play. Off campus housing often enters into the over-all picture of the dean's responsibilities.

DEAN MOORE

The Dean of Women is Miss Helen Moore, a veteran of BC for the past twenty years. Prior to her enlistment at the college Dean Moore was an English teacher at Boise High. It was there that she gained her initial counseling experience as she was advisor to the school's student government. She then came to Boise College and advised the Valkyries besides instructing in English. She has held the post of dean of women for the past six years.

Dean Moore attended Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, where she did some undergraduate work in English and received her M. A. in education. She also traveled and studied abroad for some summer work. This was done at the University of Utrecht in The Netherlands.

Her duties consist of representing and looking after all the girls at the institution. This once again brings in the duties of housing, withdrawals, and personal counseling. An added function the dean has to contend with is that of operating the school's social calendar. "All permits and scheduling must pass through this office. We also check to see if everyone is carrying out their various functions," she said.

As for the counseling part of the office, Dean Moore said the limits to this are very vague. "We try to separate and screen the various problems as best as possible. We then go to every extreme to find a solution, whether it involves a series of tests or specialized conferences."

"As for discipline, that is something that comes up whenever you have people living with other people. Someone has to be the judge in certain matters. When any trouble arises we try to talk to the individual. That seems to be the best method," she noted.

GERALD "PUDDIN" GRAYSON scrambles from beneath the attack of two Viking pursuit men during the Homecoming game that brought Boise College to its knees. The freshman back exhibits the ability he possesses that enables him to go on when larger ball carriers are down.

Ricks Rolls Bronco Crew; First Time In 21 Attempts

By HOWARD WRIGHT
Roundup Sports Writer

The Ricks College Vikings spoiled the Boise College Bronco Homecoming to the tune of 18-14 when they unleashed fullback Gene McCubbin for 173 yards. The Broncos were first to score when Lewis McFarland found Viking quarterback Larry Palmer's wayward pass on the Ricks 42. McFarland then scampered into the end zone for Boise's first score. Andy Bedegi split the uprights for the point after.

Early in the second quarter, Bronc Dennis Baird's punt was caught by the 25 mile-per-hour wind that hampered both teams all day. The ball only sailed 10 yards to the Boise 23 and eight plays later Viking Stan Smith went in for the touchdown. The conversion failed and it was 7-6 Boise. Later in the second stanza, Terry Squibb passed to Puddin Grayson in the end zone. A Viking defender tried to intercept but deflected the ball into Grayson's arms. Bedegi again added the extra point.

In the third quarter, Baird, with the aid of the wind, managed a spectacular 61-yard punt to the Ricks one. McCubbin then ran through several tackles and romped 94 yards for the second Ricks touchdown. The conversion failed and the Vikings trailed 12-

14. On the ensuing kickoff, Dennis Pooley fumbled on the Bronco 29. Pfaff of Ricks jumped on the loose ball and later McCubbin was again in the end zone from the three.

Boise failed to capitalize on three different opportunities in the fourth quarter. McFarland stole his second pass of the day on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both times the Rexburg crew's stiff defense caused the Broncos to cough up the pigskin on downs. Also the Broncos drove to the Ricks 18 under the leadership of Gary Powell until a mixup in the backfield ended with Viking Brent Hogan recovering the fumble.

It was the first win in 21 tries for the Vikings against the Broncos, with only a 26-all tie in 1954, previously the best effort for the Rexburg club.

With the win the Vikings closed the ICAC season with a 2-2 record identical to that of the Broncos. The next BC game, Nov. 4, sees the Broncos go against San Diego College at Bronco stadium, with game time at 2:15 p.m.

Al McPherson Sets Meet Record

Boise College's cross country team wrapped up its first win for the 1967 Fall season by beating both the College of Idaho and Treasure Valley Community College in a triangle meet held Oct. 20 on the C of I turf. The Broncos amassed 27 first place points to 42 for C of I and 50 for TVCC. Al McPherson ran the four mile course in the best time ever of 22 minutes, 15 seconds. His performance established a new course record that bettered the old mark by 17 seconds.

BC runners Jim Hatcher and Larry Law were able to win third and fourth place berths to edge the Broncos ahead in over-all standings.

October 27, Boise College placed third in the newly-revived Idaho Collegiate Cross Country championships hosted by NNC. The host school out-performed the four school field to upset not only BC but Ricks and C of I as well.

BRONCO BURGERS BLAST C OF I, EOC; PUSH AHEAD IN NON-OFFICIAL PLAY

October 9 the Boise College Burger football unit hammered a rugged College of Idaho frosh to a 39-6 halt, and a week later beat Eastern Oregon College to a 27-0 standstill at La Grande.

The C of I Coyote "Pups" were unable to contain as Boise broke loose to ramble 237 yards in TD plays alone.

The "Little Broncos" forced the Pups to yield one safety initially, and then in the second quarter, Mike Maderieta, freshman quarterback, ambled around his end to score.

Three long charges by Bronco backs helped roll BC ahead. With time against him, Maderieta ran 80 yards on a keeper for 19-0 at halftime. Terry Hazen, receiving the opening kickoff, marched 94 yards for six points, and Tom Thorpe returned a punt 55 yards for a TD.

Dave Toney, who racked up the final Colt touchdown, was the biggest ground gainer, and Andy Bedegi, who converted four times and made one 15-yard field goal, contributed seven points.

The Boise College team was held on every try in the first half of the EOC "Mountaineer Bowl" until Maderieta passed to Gary Franklin for the marker. Bedegi failed to convert, but the freshman split the uprights the rest of the evening. It was again a Maderieta-Franklin combination in the third period that put the Colts ahead 13-0.

Hazen ended the scoring for the Burgers with passes from Perry Gossett in the final period. Gossett managed to hammer first and-thirty and fourth-and-thirteen situations.

INTRAMURALS

Only three intramural teams remain undefeated this season. To date the team standings are:

|          | Win | Loss |
|----------|-----|------|
| Hui 2    | 5   | 0    |
| Hui 1    | 4   | 0    |
| B-2      | 4   | 0    |
| B-1      | 2   | 3    |
| Esquires | 2   | 3    |
| B-3      | 0   | 1    |
| A-3      | 0   | 3    |
| Pi Sigma | 0   | 5    |

Hawaiians, Esquires Vie in Hui-Club Bowl

In a Sunday afternoon sandlot football clash, the Hui-O-Hawaiians beat the Boise College Esquires, 33-0.

The ex-servicemen were held to no yardage in the first half while the Hawaiian nine rolled up five TD's and three conversions in the initial two periods.

Jeff Miyashiro crossed the Esquire goal on the fifth play from the line of scrimmage, but an attempt to run the PAT was nullified.

Roy Inoyae scored on the recovery of a fumbled punt, and Big John Kayinana added the conversion.

A 10-yard pass from Harry Lee Kwai to Dave Moore, an interception by Leland Pestana, and a keeper by Lee Kwai finally rolled Hui clear of the ex-servicemen.

Athletes' Feats

By ART GALUS
Roundup Sports Editor

If you were presented with the problems of turning a two-year athletic program into one that would fit a four-year institution, where would be the logical place to begin? Lyle Smith, Boise College athletic director, was faced with the same decision when in 1965 the State of Idaho moved to grant four-year status to Boise Junior College.

Boise College will become a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in 1968, and plans are already in the mill for possible membership in the Big Sky Conference in September of 1969. Expanded athletics will include a freshman squad of 35 men as well as a varsity unit composed of sophomores, juniors and seniors and competition in swimming, skiing and other individualistic sports.

The most difficult area to cover in the change in athletic programs is the scheduling. Lyle Smith has contacted every possible school in Washington, Oregon, Northern California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, Montana and Idaho. Through letters and meetings, he has been able to set up games into 1972. "Some schools," Smith indicated, "are scheduled up into '75."

With the four-year hike, athletics will take on a bigger and better position at Boise College. Competition with Big Sky members, Idaho State University and University of Idaho, will place BC in a more decisive role as a leader in intermountain athletics.
