11-3-1967

Boise College Roundup, November 3

Students of Boise College

Although this file was scanned from the highest-quality microfilm held by Boise State University, it reveals the limitations of the source microfilm. It is possible to perform a text search of much of this material; however, there are sections where the source microfilm was too faint or unreadable to allow for text scanning. For assistance with this collection of student newspapers, please contact Special Collections and Archives at archives@boisestate.edu.
BOISE COLLEGE GUIDANCE PROGRAM STRIVES FOR MORE STUDENT WELFARE

By MIKE SCHINDLE

Roundup Feature Editor

A typical trait displayed by most incoming freshmen is the lack of knowledge concerning the measures the college has taken to ensure them a well balanced guidance program.

Most upper classmen, as well, seem to show little enthusiasm for their guidance.

Dean McCoulin is well qualified to carry out his duties. He has received the following degrees: B.A. at Bellin College, 1951; M.A. at Pennsylvania State College, 1953; M.S. at the University of Maryland (Guidance-counseling personnel administration), 1960.

Prior to coming to BC, McCoulin was the Dean of Student Life at Wilmingtion College, Wilmington, Ohio; Dean of Student Affairs at Bluestone State College, Bloomingburg, Pa.; and a part-time instructor at both institutions from 1950-1965.

He came to BC in 1965 and took over the reins of the Personnel Services Department.

When asked why he chose this particular profession he replied, "When I was pursuing my master's degree at Penn State I put a job offer, a graduate assistant to the dean of Men Up until then I had been trained to go into teaching, but this new type of work changed my entire outlook. My chief interest is now college students giving them the experiences they need to grow and develop."

Dean Wilson

The department immediately under the Personnel Services Group are those of the dean of men and dean of women. These positions are held by Edwin E. Wilson and Louise Downton, respectively.

BOISE COLLEGE GUIDANCE PROGRAM STRIVES FOR MORE STUDENT WELFARE

by MIKE SCHINDLE

Roundup Feature Editor

A typical trait displayed by most incoming freshmen is the lack of knowledge concerning the measures the college has taken to ensure them a well balanced guidance program. Most upper classmen, as well, seem to show little enthusiasm for their guidance.

Dean McCoulin is well qualified to carry out his duties. He has received the following degrees: B.A. at Bellin College, 1951; M.A. at Pennsylvania State College, 1953; M.S. at the University of Maryland (Guidance-counseling personnel administration), 1960.

Prior to coming to BC, McCoulin was the Dean of Student Life at Wilmingtion College, Wilmington, Ohio; Dean of Student Affairs at Bluestone State College, Bloomingburg, Pa.; and a part-time instructor at both institutions from 1950-1965.

He came to BC in 1965 and took over the reins of the Personnel Services Department.

When asked why he chose this particular profession he replied, "When I was pursuing my master's degree at Penn State I put a job offer, a graduate assistant to the dean of Men Up until then I had been trained to go into teaching, but this new type of work changed my entire outlook. My chief interest is now college students giving them the experiences they need to grow and develop."

Dean Wilson

The department immediately under the Personnel Services Group are those of the dean of men and dean of women. These positions are held by Edwin E. Wilson and Louise Downton, respectively.

BOISE COLLEGE GUIDANCE PROGRAM STRIVES FOR MORE STUDENT WELFARE

by MIKE SCHINDLE

Roundup Feature Editor

A typical trait displayed by most incoming freshmen is the lack of knowledge concerning the measures the college has taken to ensure them a well balanced guidance program. Most upper classmen, as well, seem to show little enthusiasm for their guidance.

Dean McCoulin is well qualified to carry out his duties. He has received the following degrees: B.A. at Bellin College, 1951; M.A. at Pennsylvania State College, 1953; M.S. at the University of Maryland (Guidance-counseling personnel administration), 1960.

Prior to coming to BC, McCoulin was the Dean of Student Life at Wilmingtion College, Wilmington, Ohio; Dean of Student Affairs at Bluestone State College, Bloomingburg, Pa.; and a part-time instructor at both institutions from 1950-1965.

He came to BC in 1965 and took over the reins of the Personnel Services Department.

When asked why he chose this particular profession he replied, "When I was pursuing my master's degree at Penn State I put a job offer, a graduate assistant to the dean of Men Up until then I had been trained to go into teaching, but this new type of work changed my entire outlook. My chief interest is now college students giving them the experiences they need to grow and develop."

Dean Wilson

The department immediately under the Personnel Services Group are those of the dean of men and dean of women. These positions are held by Edwin E. Wilson and Louise Downton, respectively.

BOISE COLLEGE GUIDANCE PROGRAM STRIVES FOR MORE STUDENT WELFARE

by MIKE SCHINDLE

Roundup Feature Editor

A typical trait displayed by most incoming freshmen is the lack of knowledge concerning the measures the college has taken to ensure them a well balanced guidance program. Most upper classmen, as well, seem to show little enthusiasm for their guidance.

Dean McCoulin is well qualified to carry out his duties. He has received the following degrees: B.A. at Bellin College, 1951; M.A. at Pennsylvania State College, 1953; M.S. at the University of Maryland (Guidance-counseling personnel administration), 1960.

Prior to coming to BC, McCoulin was the Dean of Student Life at Wilmingtion College, Wilmington, Ohio; Dean of Student Affairs at Bluestone State College, Bloomingburg, Pa.; and a part-time instructor at both institutions from 1950-1965.

He came to BC in 1965 and took over the reins of the Personnel Services Department.

When asked why he chose this particular profession he replied, "When I was pursuing my master's degree at Penn State I put a job offer, a graduate assistant to the dean of Men Up until then I had been trained to go into teaching, but this new type of work changed my entire outlook. My chief interest is now college students giving them the experiences they need to grow and develop."...
The Library

Now that this semester’s midterm is out of the way, the seniors and juniors have hopefully looked over their notes and tried to master the majority of the material. This has occurred with resilience, especially in general, particularly when exam-induced views are involved.

The virtue of extremity is, that despite their radical nature and quite often, their absurd presentation, they point to needed solutions and give evidence to ways of improving the situation. This situation is evident in the case of the hippies. Likeminded movements are, at the base, serious, one this is a definite product of our civilization—or rather of the inequities of our social structures. The question here is: what kind of protest are they engaged in? Whether members of the hippie movement are themselves the products of yesterday’s generation, or are they carriers created through a synthesis of leaders from outside itself? This is a question of subject headings that we shall not attempt to answer in this brief comment.

What is important is that the fire has been lit beneath the pot needed to hold back the head and ignore the movement, or rather, the movement has been lit beneath the pot needed to hold back the head and ignore the movement. Whether members of the hippie movement are themselves the products of yesterday’s generation, or are they carriers created through a synthesis of leaders from outside itself, is of little consequence.

It is important that the fire has been lit beneath the pot needed to hold back the head and ignore the movement. Whether members of the hippie movement are themselves the products of yesterday’s generation, or are they carriers created through a synthesis of leaders from outside itself, is of little consequence.

The virtue of extremity is, that despite their radical nature and quite often, their absurd presentation, they point to needed solutions and give evidence to ways of improving the situation. This situation is evident in the case of the hippies. Likeminded movements are, at the base, serious, one this is a definite product of our civilization—or rather of the inequities of our social structures. The question here is: what kind of protest are they engaged in? Whether members of the hippie movement are themselves the products of yesterday’s generation, or are they carriers created through a synthesis of leaders from outside itself? This is a question of subject headings that we shall not attempt to answer in this brief comment.

What is important is that the fire has been lit beneath the pot needed to hold back the head and ignore the movement. Whether members of the hippie movement are themselves the products of yesterday’s generation, or are they carriers created through a synthesis of leaders from outside itself, is of little consequence.
Deans McCauslin, Wilkinson and Moore Provide Professional Counseling at BC

(Continued from page 1)

klinois and Helen Moore, respectively. We interviewed the two separately and found that both officers carried on the same functions with few exceptions.

Dean Wilkinson, dean of men, comes to BC from Washington State College in Pullman, where he worked as assistant to the Dean of Men. While there he handled such matters as student homes, housing, and discipline. He came to BC in 1958 and has held the same position since.

Dean Wilkinson received his Ph.D. at Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., and his M.A. at Washington State College in Pullman. Prior to that, he attended the University of Akron, Ohio.

He became interested in counseling while in the service. "Through a combination of experiences I learned that my best forte was working with people. My chief interest at the moment is working with students. I've gone through what they're going through now, and I'd like to lend them a hand," he said.

The office of the dean of men has been slowly changing over the years and is now becoming a more organized unit. The dean, as in the past, is responsible for the male students of the college. This includes the supervision of the men's dormitory. "We also help on this end by six resident advisors, six assistants, and a resident dorm director. We are responsible for providing the best possible atmosphere for the physical and educational environment of the resident. We have just completed setting up a type of government in the dorm," he said.

"I guess I would like to avoid but I guess it has to be brought up—is discipline. This is a place where counseling comes into play, where the students have either run into some difficulty with the law or have consistently broken school regulations. When we talk in terms of discipline, we are talking of the end of the counseling process, which is the true definition of discipline," he stated.

A good 40 per cent of the dean's time is spent in academic and personal counseling. All withdrawals go through his office, including all the paper work connected. His office is also a source of information, especially about other institutions, including law and medical schools. The office takes on the form of a back-up man, when an advisor has failed to solve an individual's problem. This is where close cooperation comes into play.

Off campus housing often enters into the overall picture of the dean's responsibilities.

Dean Moore

The Dean of Women is Miss Helen Moore, a veteran of BC for twenty years. Prior to her enrollment at the college Dean Moore was an English teacher at Boise High. It was there that she gained her initial counseling experiences as she was advisor to the school's student government. She then came to Boise College and advised the Volksyren besides instructing in English. She has held the post of dean of women for the past six years.

Dean Moore attended Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, where she did some undergraduate work in English and received her B.A. in education. She also traveled and studied abroad for some summer work. This was done at the University of Utrecht in the Netherlands.

Her duties consist of representing and looking after all the girls at the institution. This role again brings in the duties of housing, withdrawals, and personal counseling. An added function the dean has to contend with is that of operating the school's social calendar. "All permits and scheduling must pass through this office. We also check to see if everyone is carrying out their various functions," she said.

As for the counseling part of the office, Dean Moore said the limits to this are very vague. "We try to separate and screen the various problems as best as possible. We then go to every extreme to find a solution, whether it involves a series of tests or specialized conferences."

"As for discipline, that is something that comes up whenever you have people living with other people. Someone has to be the judge in certain matters. When any trouble arises we try to talk to the individual. That seems to be the best method," she noted.

TALKING THINGS OUT is one of the important jobs of counselors. Kelvin E. Wilkinson, Dean of Men, top left, and Helen Moore, Dean of Women, are always discussing part of their day's work at Boise College. At left, Dr. J. A. McCauslin, Dean of Women, sits at his desk in the Administration Building, where he can be seen most anytime studying the students' problems.

BOISE COLLEGE ROUNDUP PAGE 3
Ricks Rolls Bronco Crew; First Time In 21 Attempts

BY HOWARD WRIGHT
Roundup Sports Writer

The Ricks College Vikings opened the Ricks College-Bronco Homecoming to the tune of 18-14 when they unloaded fullback Gary Mc Cubbin for 173 yards. The Broncos were first in the game's first half. Levita McFarland found Viking quarterback Larry Palmer's way past the Ricks 43 when Palmer scurried into the end zone for Boise's first score. Bedegi split the uprights for the point after.

Early in the second quarter, Bronco Dennis Bain's punt was blocked by Boise's Larry Palmer. Campbell put Boise ahead 15-0 on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.

The Vikings scored on their second drive of the game, the 77-yard kick return of Vikiem Stan Smith, to take the lead 22-0. The Broncos rallied on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.

The Vikings scored on their second drive of the game, the 77-yard kick return of Vikiem Stan Smith, to take the lead 22-0. The Broncos rallied on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.

The Vikings scored on their second drive of the game, the 77-yard kick return of Vikiem Stan Smith, to take the lead 22-0. The Broncos rallied on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.

The Vikings scored on their second drive of the game, the 77-yard kick return of Vikiem Stan Smith, to take the lead 22-0. The Broncos rallied on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.

The Vikings scored on their second drive of the game, the 77-yard kick return of Vikiem Stan Smith, to take the lead 22-0. The Broncos rallied on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.

The Vikings scored on their second drive of the game, the 77-yard kick return of Vikiem Stan Smith, to take the lead 22-0. The Broncos rallied on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.

The Vikings scored on their second drive of the game, the 77-yard kick return of Vikiem Stan Smith, to take the lead 22-0. The Broncos rallied on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.

The Vikings scored on their second drive of the game, the 77-yard kick return of Vikiem Stan Smith, to take the lead 22-0. The Broncos rallied on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.

The Vikings scored on their second drive of the game, the 77-yard kick return of Vikiem Stan Smith, to take the lead 22-0. The Broncos rallied on the Ricks 21 and once Mike McCloskey picked up a Viking fumble on the Ricks 30. Both teams ran their opening drives to the end zone. The Broncos recovered a fumble on their opening drive.