BSC Co-ed Sings For Her Supper At Brigham

A familiar face to many the last two years was Miss Luey Anne Wallace. A music major Miss Wallace participated in many musical events; the "Captain Lovelock" opera, and Meistersingers are a few. Luey Anne however, will not be attending BSC this year. After an extensive interview with BYU's Professor of Music, Dr. Veinsinger, she was readily accepted into their music program for this forthcoming year. At BYU Luey Anne will complete one year of intense voice training. Following this there is a possibility that Miss Wallace will be studying in HAIRLESS after his experience at the Valkyrie Shave-In last week is Bruce White, who was first in line for a "de-hairing" from Kathy Brown. The event marked the official beginning of the annual King Beard contest, which will end at the Homecoming pep rally on Nov. 1 when judges award the title and crown to the BSC male with the best looking beard.

Upper Division Gains 40% For '68-'69

Record fall registration figures were reported by the Admissions and Registrar's offices Tuesday. Director of Admissions Samuel B. Righter said there are a total of 5,432 students attending classes this fall. He indicated this was a 8.3 per cent increase in numbers of students compared to last fall.

3,169 lower division students, 762 upper division students and 1,501 extended day students were enrolled at the close of regular registration Sept. 13. BSC is registering more students in certain program areas this week and the figures were not included in Monday's report.

Righter pointed out that there is also a 9 per cent increase in daytime enrollments, with 3,931 students attending the regular day classes.

Freshmen enrollments also showed an increase this year, Righter noted. 2,103 freshmen are attending BSC, compared to 1,757 last year. And he pointed out that last year's freshman class was the largest of any Idaho College or University.

Another increase was evident in the upper division enrollment according to the Admissions Director. 545 upper division students attended Boise State College last fall compared to 762 registered at this time for the 1968 fall semester. This is a 40 per cent upper division enrollment increase, he said.

Wooden Indian Revives Rivalry

Boise State College and Weber State College will officially renew the Wooden Indian Statuette, formerly presented to the winner of the Boise-Weber Football games, when each school was a 2-year school. The Wooden Indian has been resting peacefully on the Boise State College Campus since the rivalry began, as the Broncos did not lose to the Wildcats in Jaycee competition.

After some correspondence and telephone conversations, the two schools' student body presidents, as well as the Athletic Departments, wholeheartedly approved the renewal of the annual presentation.

And, naturally enough, Miss Lynn Craig--Miss Boise State College--and Dyke Nally, BSC Student Body President, retrieved the Wooden Indian from its dusty corner, and prepared to transport it to Ogden, Utah, for the October 5th clash between Boise State College and Weber State College. The statuette was to be shipped to the Weber Campus at once, as the Wildcats Student Body wants to use it for publicity purposes, too.

Salsburg, Germany for the completion of her training. Futher post graduate study is expected and then a career in opera, which will eventually be second only to a home and family.

However, Bronco Director of Athletics Lyle Smith, whose Bronco Football teams saw to it that the Wooden Indian never left the possession of his charges, feigned upset at the thought of sending the Indian to Ogden, saying: "Well, if we have to give them the statuette, I hope it'll always be for publicity purposes, and never through a Wildcat victory." It was decided to send pictures of the Wooden Indian to Ogden instead of sending the Statue.

KARLENE DANCE, secretary to Student Union Director Phil Ranke, was caught by surprise when Tau Kappa Epsilon President Ron Gabriel presented her with a red carnation and the title of "Secretary of the Month". Twenty-year-old wife of Gary Dance, Karlene was chosen for the honor by TKE members "because of the tremendous help she has given to BSC students."

BUY IMPULSE!

Past issues of Impulse, the College literary magazine, have featured outstanding prose, poetry and art work by students and faculty. The fourth issue (Fall 1967) is available at the Bookstore in the Student Union Building for $0.75. . . . But that's only money.

The purpose of Impulse has always been, and is, to bring to light the creative side of the student. The magazine has an interesting, if short history. Eastern publishers, on reading past issues of Impulse, have been quoted as saying that it is one of the finest College magazines of its kind. There are numerous stories concerning the printing and sales of Impulse, such as the one about the burning of two hundred copies of the now rare Alligator cover issue by a misguided janitor. But I have only enough column space left to urge everyone to buy the latest issue. Soon, the Fall, 1968 issue will go to press - that is, if the Art department would like to help.

Opening night. Of course the glitter and gaudiness are almost gone, and the phony publicity build-ups, etc. But there is still the aura of mystery--the backstage and audience tension...the intangible satisfaction of watching a story unfolding in front of you, of real people saying real things.

I am an actor, and a member of Boise Little Theater. This year, the theater on Fort Street begins its twenty-first season with Giraudoux's The Madwoman of Chailloz. Written during the German occupation of France, this play is perhaps deeper philosophically than anything BLT has done--even Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman.

So last Thursday we opened to the public for an eight night run. And tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday will be our last performances. There are still some tickets left. Seats are $2.06. They are available from Mrs. Helen Gill, or by calling the box office.

Waves Team Visits Campus

A Naval Aviation Information team will be in the Boise Area on Monday through Wednesday, the 23rd, 24th, and 25th of September to counsel young men interested in the field of aviation.

The team will be available throughout the day during this period at the Student Union on campus at Boise College.

The three man team will be headed by Commander Darold Reckling from the Naval Air Station at Sand Point in Seattle, Washington.

College men and recent graduates interested in the many fields open to them in aviation should check with this team for complete details on the 23rd, 24th, and 25th of September at the Student Union, Boise College.

STANDING 6'5" AND WEIGHING 265 pounds, Victor the Wrestling Bear offers a fifty dollar purse to the one who can knock him off his feet three times. Victor will be one of the stars at the rodeo being sponsored by the BSC Rodeo Club in October.

Offices of AWS are now open for petitioning by candidates. All women students of BSC are eligible to run. Offices to be filled are freshman representative, junior representative, publicity chairman, and historian. Interested girls may pick up petitions in Dr. Wallace's office, A123, Monday. Girls desiring more information may call 375-0825 or 342-3123.

Vulnerable Journalists

For better or for worse, the ARBITER seems not to have been ignored, at least, in its first three issues. Editors' ears have received comments both pro and con as to the merits of the newspaper. Some have complimented its "new look"; others have deplored its content. A first-year instructor reportedly has lectured his classes that this is one of the worst college papers he has ever seen.

To our critics we can only plead for tolerance and understanding. To them we may direct our plea for help in difficult enterprise. Working with the new photo-offset printing process in which most of the mechanical as well as the editorial work must be performed by an undermanned staff requires some tolerance, we believe, on the part of the readership which receives the product free of charge. It is easy to criticize when the critic has no knowledge of the problems confronting the performer. This is as true of dramatics or any other kind of creative enterprise as it is of publications.

On the other hand, we do not seek to avoid responsibility for our performance. The few members of this staff labor more hours at this task, probably, than do students in any other activity on campus. We consider it a rewarding activity. We do wish to improve our techniques, both editorially and technically, so that we may produce the finest possible newspaper for the students at Boise State College. We welcome all who are interested, journalism students or not, to assist us in realizing this goal.

VIEWS FROM THE PRIMITIVE NORTH

By Bill Hall
Editorial Page Editor
Lewiston Morning Tribune
Sept. 4, 1968

Boise State College has been placing advertisements in Boise Valley newspapers of late announcing its list of evening courses available to citizens of the community.

The list is impressive. I counted 101 offerings, ranging from tailoring to U.S. History to Japanese. Although Boise College has obviously reached the voracious expansion stage and is intent upon becoming Idaho's dominant university, the generous evening course schedule reveals the fixed habit of an institution that has by tradition been primarily a community college.

It's a good habit. Perhaps Boise College is now destined to go one day soon into graduate programs and doctoral offerings and leave its community service functions behind. But hopefully it will be inclined to do both--to aid both the future college professor in need of an advanced-degree and the Boise insurance salesman who needs a few more credits to complete that bachelors degree that escaped him 10 years ago.

Perhaps a good example would be Weber State College at Ogden, which--before it got the Boise College type big head and moved toward major college status--served the community well and primarily with night course offerings.

Naturally, it goes without saying that Lewiston is the logical location for a north Idaho vocational-technical school on a par with the superb one that the state has financed for south Idahoans at Idaho State University at Pocatello. North Idaho has a right to expect equal treatment in that regard.

But the academic program here would probably be more useful to all, including busy housewives and working male students, if the bulk of the curriculum were offered at night. That change would not only make it easier for those who must work their way through school, but it would provide an opportunity for a small busload of University of Idaho instructors to come down the mountain each evening to supplement their own incomes and the teaching staff at LCNS.

If the glandular condition of Boise College's new president dictates that BSC ascend to the summit of the ivory tower, that is his business and Idaho's misfortune. But LCNS should find new ways to keep its feet on the ground. And how better than to run that institution for the convenience of the working students rather than for the 8-to-5 administration?

Football fans once again will be out in force, hunting under bleachers for lost binoculars, standing in line first at the ticket booth, then at the concessions stand, and at last in line in front of the rest room.

They will park bumper to bumper, side by side, in every conceivable manner. They will march, these gridiron fans, over half of God's creation: fording rivers, floating lakes, tearing through mire, and climbing mountain ridges within the confines of one graveled parking lot.

They will crowd together, putting the grandstand capacity all on the fifty yard line. They will bring blankets, pillows, umbrellas, the kids, hot coffee, transistor radios, and enough stuff to outfit a summer camp.

They will stand up for the anthem, stand up for the team, stand up for the vendor, stand up for the kick-off, stand up to fight, stand up to sit down, and sit down to stand up.

It may rain, snow, sleet, or hail, yet the fan is a hardy lot--able to withstand the ferocity of nature. They may look like their sons playing on the field who have one eye in the center of their foreheads or like their daughters who play pianos in the marching band:

When people wrinkle up their noses at a piece of art, artists ask, "Don't you see the symbolism" (continued to page 3, col 5)

Boise Students Offer Wide Vistas of Life

by Lyn Heine

"Habla Espanol?"
"Si," would be the certain reply of Isabel Rizo, international student from Seville, Spain.

Miss Rizo, who first came to the United States in August 1967, to attend Boise College, said that what she likes most about America is that "if you really want to do something, you can. You have more opportunities than in my country."

She stated that she had thought many times about coming to the United States as she was interested in learning English and finding out about American customs.

Students dress much more informally in the U.S. according to Miss Rizo. Women in Spain usually "dress up" much more and usually wear high heels she said.

Upon completion of her secondary education, Miss Rizo entered "Sta. Isabel de Hungria", a school of Fine Arts in Spain. She studied art for five years and is now qualified to teach drawing at a high school level.

Miss Rizo explained that in Spain there are more specialized schools of higher learning. "There aren't so many majors at a Spanish university as there are here in the U.S.," she said.

She said that such American t.v. programs as "Bonanza," the "Big Valley," and "Mission Impossible," are popular in her country as they are in America. She said that the scripts are spoken in Spanish rather than English, however.

Pancakes are a most interesting American food to Miss Rizo.

Although she had originally hoped to be an airline stewardess, Miss Rizo said that she is now considering graduating from BSC with a major in foreign languages.

The "Inspirations," a quartet patterned after the famous soul group, the "Temptations," sing some "heavy" music according to Chet Sims, freshman at Boise State College from Pittsburg, California.

The group was organized three years ago. The "Inspirations" recently recorded some selections soon to be released by Capitol Recording Company.

Sims and Robert Brown, have been performing for about four years by singing and doing comedy acts in night clubs during their high school years. Friends encouraged them to form the singing group.

Along with Billy Forrest and Percy Woods, Brown and Sims, all from the Bay area California, have performed at such noted places as the "Purple Onion," and the "Concord Coliseum."

On tour, the "Inspirations" have held performances in Jacksonville, Chicago, Colorado Springs and many high schools in northern California.

Although the "Inspirations" is primarily a vocal group, Sims, whose voice ranges from bass to first tenor can also play the drums, bongos, trumpet, baritone trombone, and bass.

He formerly sang with a folk group who called themselves "Mom's Apple Pie."

He stated that he is interested in eventually playing professional football. He is presently majoring in physical education.

In his spare time, Sims says he can usually be found practicing on his bongos, sketching, singing, writing songs, he has written several songs for the "Inspirations."

Sims said that there is a possibility that the "Inspirations" may perform at BSC next spring.

One of ten children aged 4 to 22, Sims says he has found Boise to be a "nice quiet community, but very slow moving."

embodied in this work?" Artists live in an all too symbolic world. But recently, Frank Carr, faculty staff photographer, for the ARBITER, produced a composite metal sculpture one Sunday afternoon while learning how to operate a welding outfit he had just purchased. Rummaging through parts of peices of junk, he manufactured a metallic humanoid form...

Car then took the assembled piece to David Oravez in the art Department for his opinion. Oravez took one look at the masterpiece and said, "What the * is that!"

BSC FACULTY

Linda Watkinson emotes "Out, damned spot!" in the portrayal of Lady Macbeth which has won acclaim in the current staging of MACBETH at the Subal Theater. The tragedy, directed by John Warwick, has been enthusiastically received and all performances are sold out to the end of the run, September 29. Those desiring tickets may call the boxoffice and enter names on waiting list for possible cancellations.

Dr. Gwynn Barrett, newly assigned Assistant Professor of History presented a paper on Aug. 30 at the University of Santa Clara to the Pacific Coast branch, American Historical Association titled "The Shepherd Saint of Lanai, Revisited." Sharen Frank, the regional director of Spurs, installed the officers.

Nixon Due In Boise

Richard Nixon, Republican candidate for president, will speak on the State Capitol steps September 24. The Idaho Republican Central Committee in cooperation with the Young Republicans of Boise State College will sponsor Nixon's talk. Richard Nixon will deliver his speech in the State House at 3 p.m., September 24.

Nixon has made plans for a Student Coalition to utilize the talents and energies of the academic community to analyze and resolve the problems and to involve students directly in their solution. The Student Coalition would take as its first task the discussion and proposal of means to involve educational institutions more heavily and directly in development of solutions to local problems of jobs, housing and education. Nixon believes that the new generation is more involved in the problems of their cities than ever before and have the ideas to improve the situations.

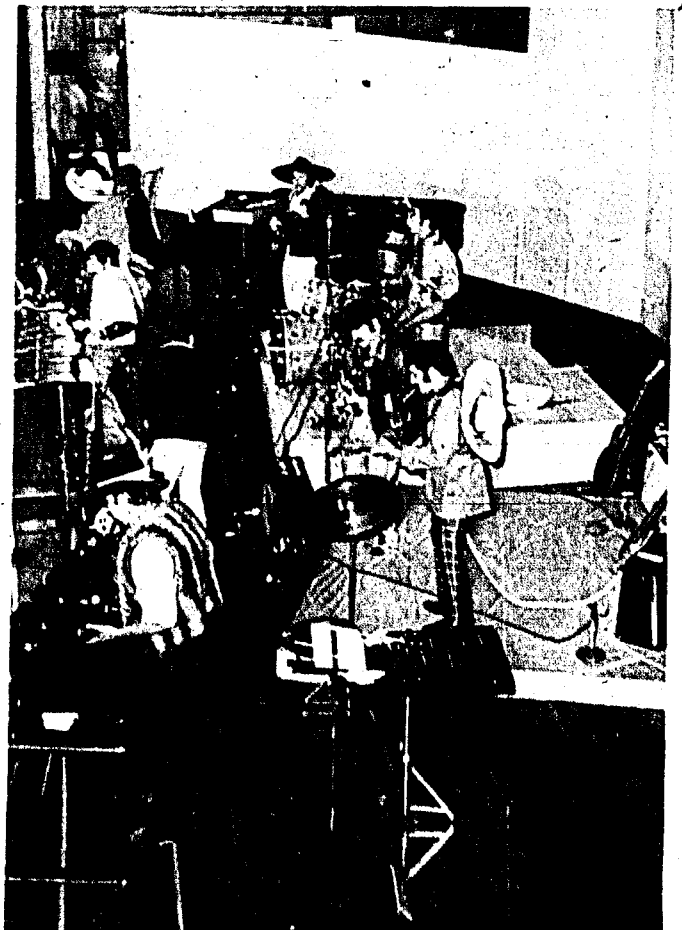

Believe it or not!... Si, this really is the Baja Marimba band in performance on the BSC gymnasium stage. Dressed in their elaborate costumes, the group entertained a large but conservative audience.

Girls Are Ready For Field Show

BSC Broncettes are preparing for their first performance on Saturday night, September 23. Captain for this year is sophomore Susy Busch, her co-captain is Star Siggekov.

Mr. Hank House is expecting a big year for our drill team. There are 32 marching members and as the year proceeds the number is expected to expand. They are planning to march together with the band later this year.

This years routien will be high stepping and will include several unique dance steps. Surely they will be a credit to the college.

Travelogue at Ada Theatre

Russia's incomparable Moiseyev dancers, Leningrad's Kirov Ballet and Moscow's State Opera rendition of Tchaikovsky's "Eugene O'Nein" provide the musical highlights of part one of Andre de la-Varre's feature-length theatrical travelogue beyond the Iron Curtain, a 2-hour color motion picture coming to the Ada theatre on Tuesday at 2 and 8 p.m. for a limited engagement.

In the other segments of this unusual film theatre goes will have an opportunity to appreciate Poland's Mazowze Dancers, Czech Cafe musicians and the Hungarian folk dancers of Budapest.

Far from being a music event exclusively, beyond the Iron Curtain, is another in the "Grand Tour" series that have come to Boise annually over the past several years.

Produced and acted by the Viennese-born concert pianist, who is as much at home with the wide-screen motion picture camera as he is at the keyboard, this ambitious production ranges through the cities and rural provinces of the four principal "Iron Curtain" nations.

Evaluating Team To Rate College

An accrediting team will arrive in Boise Sunday to spend three days on the BSC campus for the purpose of evaluating the entire college program, facilities and personnel.

After visiting classes, interviewing students and instructors, and examining records and curricula, team members will submit reports to the chairman of the evaluation committee. The chairman will present the teams general impressions to President John Barnes, who will have the opportunity to comment on any parts of the report he feels to be inaccurate. The official report will then be prepared, and the team will make a recommendation to the Higher Commission of the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools.

Musicians!

The 1968 TWA and Budweiser sponsored Intercollegiate Music Festival will be held in the Kiel Opera House in St. Louis, Missouri, on May 22-24.

Regional winners in all categories from the March and April finals in Mobile, Villanova University, Cerritos College, Midwest, Little Rock University and Intermountain Festivals will go after the national titles.

Applications from collegiate musicians and vocalists are now being accepted by the Intercollegiate Music Festival, P.O. Box 1275, Leesburg, Florida, 32748.

WINE-SERVERS, native to many parts of Eastern Europe, will be shown in the feature-length theatrical travelogue "Eastern Europe beyond the Iron Curtain", which is coming to the Ada Theatre on Tuesday. The two-hour color motion picture will be shown at 2 and 8 p.m. for one day only.

Film Features 'Mickey One'

"Mickey One," a psychological study in suspense starring Warren Beatty, will be the Film Society's offering Friday at 8 p.m. in the Liberal Arts auditorium.

Directed by Arthur Penn (Bonnie and Clyde), the film is about gangsters but is not a gangster film in the usual sense. It has been described as a Kafkaesque story about a night club comedian (played by Beatty) who, because of failure to pay a gambling debt and perhaps for other reasons which he does not understand, is threatened by gangsters.

He tries to run away, but at last finds the only way he can be happy is by performing in front of an audience. His situation is frightening because he realizes that being in the spotlight makes him a good target.

The film is unusual in that no violence is shown. It is a psychological study in which the "fugitive" may imagine some of the characters are trying to kill him - but perhaps he isn't imagining it. He and the audience are never really sure which ones do work for the mob, and this produces the suspense.

Jazz fans may be interested to know that the background music is improvised by Stan Getz.

Admission to all the Friday evening films is free to students and 50 cents for the general public.

REVIEW

by Kathi Sheehan

One gigantic burst of personality and musical talent flooded the BSC gym Sunday night in the form of the Baja Marimba Band. Dressed in tattered sombreros and range trodden pants, the motley gang lumbered on to the stage. The Baja Marimba Band featured Curry Tjader as the percussionist, Charles Chiarenza and Frank DeCaro on guitars, Bernie Fleischer on flute, Lee Katman on trumpet, Dave Wells on trombone, Mel Pollen on bass and Frank Devito on drums.

Each member seemed to live his music. The pulsating beat throbbed at every spectator's nerves, as they became part of the music. It seemed as though you were up there on the stage with them - digesting every vibrating beat of their music.

Their facial expressions and gestures let spectators become involved in their performance.

The comedy act performed by Frank Devito, the drummer, brought down the house. No one could keep a straight face in the midst of his missed beats and his broken arm antics.

The entire show was as informal as possible and no could get to know the band as a whole. Their performance was superb even their portrayal of the TJB was unique.

As a member of the audience I feel that BSC Students were very fortunate to have witnessed such a fine show of musical talent and personality. The Baja Marimba Band concert will be long remembered in the mid of the spectator.

Lewis Readies Harriers For Sept. 21 ISU Meet

The Boise State College Cross-Country Team, under the first-year guidance of Coach Ray Lewis, kicks off its four-year competition this Saturday, Sep. 21, with a dual meet against Idaho State University at Pocatello. "We will have a very young team this season," Coach Lewis pointed out, "with only one returnee from last year's squad. It'll be hard to predict their performance, particularly during the early part of our season."

Lone returnee in the sport where the distance is anywhere from 3 to 6 miles is 19-year-old Sophomore Jim Hatcher, a 5'10", 145 pounder from Crouch. Jim ran a 9:51 2-mile for the Bronco Track Team this past spring.

Top candidates include: Herb Glassen, 21-year-old Freshman from Calgary, Alberta, Canada's Western Canada High School. Glassen, 5'6" and 130 pounds, is basically a half-miler, and has run 1:56. Merrill Beyler is a 24-year-old Junior, who has joined the BSC Broncos from Ricks College. At Ricks, Beyler ran the 2-mile, and he could develop into a good Cross-Country Competitor, with more experience in this sport.

Stadium Ready For First Game

All situations appear to be "Go" for the Linfield College football game Saturday evening, according to Don Liebendorfer Jr., Bronco Athletic Publicity Director and Business Manager. "Advance reserve season ticket sales ran well ahead of last year and interest seems to be very high," said Liebendorfer. Tickets for BSC students are available from 9:30 to 1:30 Monday through Friday of each week immediately preceding a home game, in the lobby of the Student Union Building.

Bronco Stadium has undergone a slight facelift and more work is planned for the future in brightening up things for each home game. Perhaps best of all is the fact that head coach, Tony Knap's first four-year Bronco team has looked very sharp in pre-season practice sessions. The defensive unit has all the potential of true greatness, through fine talent and exceptional aggressiveness. Liebendorfer stated that in his opinion the offense will provide many scoring thrills for Boise State College football fans in 1968.

Knap Praises Defense

Tony Knap, again praised the defensive unit in last Saturday's scrimmage session at Bronco Stadium but voiced dissatisfaction on the offensive attack. "The defensive unit is ready for Linfield but the offense has some polishing up to do before Saturday's opener," said Knap.

Highlights of Saturday's workout were a pair of touchdowns on one year sneaks by quarterbacks Hall Zimmerman and Gary Powell. A real bright spot was the running of Ed Chung. Chung has really started to come into his own this past week.

Right linebacker Chuck Wilson crashed through the offensive line to grab a loose fumble and raced 65 yards to score during one series of attempts by the offensive unit.

The Broncos haven't been able to escape the injury list and one more name was added Saturday. Big fullback Pat Williams sprained an ankle and he remains a question mark for Saturday's tilt. Earlier linebacker Ron Grabowski was sidelined for the season with a knee injury. Ron underwent surgery last Saturday.

The Broncos have worked extra hard this week on polishing both the offensive and defensive units, against Linfield patterns. The goal line defense was also being worked on this week. In Monday night's practice session the torch seemed to be lit as the offensive squad showed much of the enthusiasm that was lacking in Saturday's scrimmage.

BOWLING TEAM

The Boise State College will be made up of the top ten bowlers from the Men's leagues, according to Bowling Instructor Kent Kehler. Those persons interested in trying out for the team should sign up in the game room at the SUB. Persons wishing more information on the team may contact Kehler at the SUB bowling alley.

Wildcats Set To Test Bronco Crunchability

The Boise State Broncos' first foe, the Linfield Wildcats, are the perennial power of the Northwest Conference and with 29 returning lettermen they will not abdicate their position of power among the nation's small colleges.

Like Boise, the Linfield school has a new first year head mentor in Ad Rutschman. Rutschman says he must come up with a quarterback to direct his flanker-T attack if they are to be a real contender again. All Conference Tom Brown returns to anchor down the center spot while a trio of All-Conference defensive aces are back for another season. They are 6-4, 220-pound end Randy Marshall, linebacker Mike Kincaid and safetyman Joe Robillard.

Rutschman states that with the likes of 255-pound Bob Haack at tackle and 230-pound Wally Green at guard the offensive line should be able to mow down opposing defenders. Halfback Jim Mayes and fullback Mike Consbruck a power-runner will carry the offensive load for the squad.

Last year's Linfield squad compiled an enviable 8-1 season record.

SOCK IT TO 'EM, BRONCOS!

Remember only 43 days until BSC's

HOMECOMING!

IN YEARS PREVIOUS, THE BRONCOS HAVE always presented an opposing front line. The front seven of the 1968 offense and the initial attack squad of the defense look gruesome compared to this team from out of BJC history. Whether Boise will out do all of her opponents or drop behind in the gridiron war will be decided Saturday night as BSC takes on her first contender, Linfield of Oregon.

Offense, Defense Honored By BAA

Two Boise State College Football players will be honored as Offensive and Defensive Players of the Week, at the regular Monday meetings of the Bronco Athletic Association, it was announced Tuesday by BSC Director of Athletics Lyle Smith and BAA President John Molitor.

The noon luncheon meetings, which begin Monday, September 23, at the BSC Student Union Building, will be held for the 10 weeks of football season, with the final meeting November 25.

At each meeting, members of the Bronco Coaching Staff will attend, with comments and films of the preceding Saturday's game. A question and answer session will also be held at each meeting.

Each Bronco Squad Member winning one of the weekly Player of the Week awards will be presented with a merchandise certificate, donated by various BAA members in the business community. All Buckaroo and Regular BAA members, plus potential new BAA members, are welcome to attend these meetings.

After-Game Dance

An After-game dance will be held for all college students from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m. Saturday in the SUB Ballroom.

LOOKING AHEAD
Glenn Draper
Arbiter Sports Editor

Thus far I've been constantly bugged about making my predictions on the upcoming season of football here at Boise State College, but actually I think someone wants to read my name in the obituary column. An evaluation of this year's schedule from this scribe's desk would have to go something like this; Linfield.

I've heard many to comment these past couple of weeks that Linfield is just going to be too tough to handle tomorrow night. We must take into consideration however, that this is the first encounter of the season for both ball clubs and it's going to take awhile to get the butterflies out before they settle down for some hard-nosed football. I would have to rate this one a toss up with the second half of play telling the story.

Westminster

Westminster comes to Bronco Stadium the following week and I will have to chalk one up for the home team here. The Westminster squad came off a winless season last fall and would have to be considered in a major rebuilding stage. This game will hold a particular interest as new assistant football coach of the Broncos, Dave Nickel, was head football coach at Westminster in 1967 and they will be pointing specifically for this Bronco Stadium encounter. I'll have to go with the Broncos on a considerable margin here.

The third game of the campaign at Weber State College in Ogden, Utah will have to be considered a stumbling block for the Boise club. The Wildcats, a member of the Big Sky Conference, will be a tough foe to deal with anyway you look at it. Although Weber lost a sizeable amount of talent they welcome back 21 lettermen. This includes Big Sky passing leader Paul Waite and Steve Smith, the team's punter, who was third in the nation last fall with a 44.2 year average. The cats are also relying on some junior college transfers, one being a former TVCC, All-American, Carter Campbell. This may prove to be a long evening of football for the home club.

Eastern Washington

The schedule doesn't get any softer for the ensuing couple of weeks. The squad returns home to battle the very tough Eastern Washington Savages. In 1967 the Savages finished the regular season with a 10-0 record and ranked number 2 in the nation in NAIA standings. They defeated New Mexico Highlands 28-14 in the NAIA semi-final National Championship game, only to lose 28-21 to Fairmont State of West Virginia for the NAIA championship.

Like Boise, the Savages will be sporting a brand-new head football coach in Brent A.

Wooten, who will double as acting Athletic Director. Wooten welcomes back 20 lettermen from the championship squad with highly-touted quarterback Bill Diedrick being a main cog. Diedrick, a two-time All-Conference choice, tossed 25 TD's and averaged 207 total yards a game last fall. Wooten also has the leading conference rusher in halback Ray Stookey with 4.6 yards per carry average.

The Savages will be strong defensively with five starters back. One would have to look for quite sometime to find a weakness on the Washington crew. They are again picked to repeat as Evergreen Conference Champions and would like nothing better than another crack at that National Title. This will most likely be the toughest opponent the Broncos will face in 1968. Would have to give a considerable edge of the score-board to the Savages.

Whitworth

The Broncos pack their suitcases for another two weeks and head to Spokane and La Grande respectively. The Whitworth Pirates, Spokane, last heavily through graduation and they too are in a reguiling year, specifically on offense. I see the BSC Broncos on top here by two touchdowns but not without a battle.

Eastern Oregon

I've overheard many sports fans say that Boise State can take a breather after the Whitworth contest but look again. Eastern Oregon could very well surprise more than one fan this season. They have nearly the two first units returning and included in these are five All-Conference selections and four honorable mentions. The Mountaineers are again picked for the cellar in the Oregon Collegiate Conference but these are usually the teams that surprise you. I look for another Bronco victory here but not as easily as anticipated by some.

ISU

After the Oregon trip the Broncos returned home for a two week home stand. The Boise squad will be welcomed home by the Idaho State University Bengals in an afternoon homecoming tussle. Another Big Sky member that has shown in the past that they improve as the season grows. They will undoubtedly be tough and would like nothing more than to spoil our first four-year homecoming. It's a rebuilding year for coach Ed Cavanaugh but he welcomes a host of sophomores who led the Bengal kittens to an undefeeted season last year. Look for the Bengals to go to the air a good share of the time. Idaho State brings a host of former Boise and Treasure Valley prep stars who dot their roster.

because of an Idaho State team that is young and the Broncos' homecoming I'm going out on a limb here and call this one a 50-50 toss up. (I can hear the chuckles from both sides). The Benglas are picked to end at the bottom of the heap in the Big Sky race. It could be an interesting game; let's wait and see.

Colorado Western

To fans in this area Colorado Western is probably the least known of the Bronco opponents. The Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference member Mountaineers will return 21 lettermen including 10 offensive and 9 defensive starters. They will be looking toward improving on their 4-5 record of 1967. The Mountaineer campus is located in Gunnison, Colorado. The Boise and Colorado school are about on even par as far as size is concerned but being a home game for the Broncos and me being highly optimistic I'm giving the home club a touchdown edge.

Central Washington

The pressure is again applied to the Boise crew as they again depart to Wahington to be hosted by the Central Washington Wildcats at Ellensburg. The Wildcats are a perennial power in Northwest and their own Evergreen Conference and are picked for a second place finish behind Eastern Washington.

The Washington team will be directed by a new quarterback but will have a pair of veterans in
