Education Department Adds New Resource for Teachers

Hundreds of student teachers, faculty and area educators will be given the opportunity to "help themselves become more effective teachers" with the addition of a Curriculum Resource Center at the Boise State College Library.

Opened last month, the new center provides all types of teaching aids for classrooms for various subjects. It includes textbooks, training materials, kits, games, and manipulative devices. The material is available to area teachers, college students and faculty.

Joanne R. Neill, curriculum librarian, said the center will eventually have the "same hours" in the college library, but until this is possible, "the hours are subject to change, depending on demand."

"Students and teachers should be interested in the center, because it gives them the opportunity to compare and evaluate tools in the classroom, to utilize programs to the "special" student and help themselves become more effective teachers," Mrs. Neill said.

The curriculum librarian will work half time and is available to assist student and faculty on Monday from 8 to noon and 1 to 5 p.m., Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 8 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 5 p.m., and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, 8.a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday, 8 a.m. to noon.

Barnes Talks To Trustees

Boise State College President John Barnes said that the college's budget is the most important factor in the overall budget. He said that the college is facing a $2 million deficit and that the college is seeking to raise funds to cover this deficit. He also mentioned that the college is working on a comprehensive plan to improve the quality of education.

"We are facing a difficult time," Barnes said. "We have a lot of work to do, and we need your support to make it happen."

Student Nurses Prepare For Heart Fund Drive

A group of Boise State College students and faculty recently attended the Annual Leadership Conference for the Idaho Heart Association.

The two day sessions, held November 15 and 16, revolved around the "Ski to the Summit" for the annual Heart Fund Drive which begins in February.

"When we plan to use the money from the conference, 101 students and faculty members will be able to help raise money for the Heart Fund Drive. We are planning to use the money to purchase new equipment for the hospital and to support the work of the Heart Association."

The conference was attended by a large number of participants, including medical students, nurses, and other health professionals. The conference also featured keynote speakers and panel discussions on issues related to heart disease and cardiac health.

Education Department Adds New Resource for Teachers

As a satellite Special Education Library in conjunction with the University of Oregon at Eugene, the center also will receive materials for handicapped children. Additional materials available for loan from the Northwest Regional Special Education Instructional Materials Center (RESA).

Publishers have donated textbooks, kits, and AV materials for demonstration purposes, and when needed, the college has preferred its professional collection.

Those planning to use the center's facilities must obtain an identification card at the circulation desk on the main floor of the library (aided by other staff members). It shows proof that you are an educator and then show this card when checking out materials from the library.

Dear Editor,

Our group, the BOISE STATE COLLEGE ARBITER, has a special committee that may interest you. This committee is working on a book. They would like to try to create a book that will allow students to help establish the BOISE STATE COLLEGE ARBITER. The book will be published by the BOISE STATE COLLEGE ARBITER. They are working on the book with the help of the Boise State College Student Center. They are hoping to publish the book by the end of the year. They have already started work on the book and they are hoping to have it ready for publication by the end of the year. They are looking for interested students to help with the book. If you are interested, please contact the committee at 208-510-2222 ext. 3000.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor,

In the Nov. 15, 1968 edition of the ARBITER, we find the lead story beginning with the very bold statement to the effect that "Sponsoring the BOISE State College endorses the political stand of Dr. Bob Janes for the political peace of our state." The article continues to state that "samples of red states 54% favor. But no where from the first line to the last does the article explain that the responses were recorded in this poll, which is the REPRESENTATIVE of the STATE.

In the last paragraph of your story, you indicate that if the student body of BSC will fight... In this statement you know from one week to the next what the student body of BSC will do, you do not know just who brought in the most wood to that uneaten event and most likely specifically illegitamly back up. But if you feel that the statement is raised, it is also raised, or know the reason why it is.

Sincerely,

Ray Green

Dear Editor,

Let's not be deceived by the article "Political Columnist, Lloyd Love, made some excellent points in his column yesterday," and "In evaluating Communism, Mr. Love, departs to the pit of fallacy. It must be remembered, in the evaluation of any political system, the theory and the practices of that system must be separated. If the two are separated, then it is possible to sound so wonderful and so important. But the logical thoughts create a paradise on earth, while the logical political power is hellish and oppresive and crush all that precious to man."

In the analysis of the political system, the student of BOISE State College who filled in a POLLS does not support giving the ASB as much money as they asked. But they did support an idea or principle to give the ASB officers an allowance to cover expenses. But Janes and the upperclassmen asked that their president not enroll in classes so that he can work on the government and the problems of student body. But he said that there are schools that give the president a substantial salary. Jim Gray called the poll a biased mess. And he was right, and I am sorry for that because the student body needs to know the truth. So the poll has to be guarded by someone or some group of persons who can tell the facts from the lies. Dear Editor,

I would like to discuss the issue of the BOISE State College library. I would like to offer some suggestions as to how we can improve it and make it more effective.

Firstly, I believe that there are a few problems with the current system. I have been at this college for a few years now, and I have noticed that the system is not as efficient as it could be. There are often long lines at the reference desk, and it can take quite some time to get the information that I need. I think that we could do something about this by setting up a computerized system that would allow students to search for the information they need more quickly.

Secondly, I think that the library should be more open and accessible. I believe that the library should be available to everyone during the day and at night. This would allow students to use the library more often and help them to make better use of the resources available.

I hope that the library staff will take these suggestions into consideration and make some changes to improve the library. I believe that these changes would be beneficial for all students and would help to make the library a more valuable resource.

Sincerely,

Editor's Note: I call on Ray Green and two of his compatriots to help the ARBITER iron out this poll problem through their organization. I hope that these students will not make any new mistakes that alone doesn't mean you know all that the book holds.

Mary Arlinga

Dear Editor,

The students of Boise State College have not had a fair deal. The administration has not taken into account the needs of the students. The students have been ignored and neglected. We are asking for better conditions in the university. We want to be treated fairly and with respect.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Certainly there must be something about which the students would be interested in knowing.

The irresponsibility that is evident in the "polite" pole that has appeared in the paper directly reflects the attitude of the editor. The first pole was ambiguous and impossible to answer accurately with a simple "yes" or "no" in which the results of this pole could be interpreted in a favorable light. This is a function of the paper, but this is a function that belongs on the executive level.

Perhaps it is time that we have a new editor who is both more competent and more responsible than Mr. Galus.

Sincerely,

J. Stephen Newman
Instructor of English

Dear Editor:

This is a mark that transition period for BSC. Shaking off the remnants of "Can I have status and struggling for prestige as Idaho's fastest growing institution of higher learning, has posed many problems for BSC. With a budget administration under Dr. Barnes and the ever-present "Underground" under Dyke Nally, has dealt admirably with many problems of this transition.

However, it is not my purpose to praise this daily, much too much. But to point out one area that has work to be done. Student Government, the only voice and tool of the student in the administration of the college, has been unable to cope as effectively as it should, with student concerns.

The present constitution, though scarcely a year old, has its concepts and traditions deeply rooted in Junior College. Within its present state of existence experience has proven the document incapable of providing a working framework for efficient student government on a four year level. The present administration, dealing directly with the increasing concerns of four year status, is well equipped to cope with the problem reforms in our governmental framework.

It would be a great service to the students and the school if the ARBITER would stand resolved to promote the student interests by supporting the efforts for reform. I am confident that the ARBITER, pursuing its policy of service, will help all personnel of Boise State College into four year status.

Miss Cox Travels to Anthropology Convention

Anthropology and geography instructor Mary Cox was recently representing BSC at the national Anthropology Association meeting held in Seattle, Wash. The conference continued through Nov. 24, will feature presentations of anthropological papers in the field, according to Miss Cox.

Accompanying Miss Cox to the conference was the Department of BSC, Dallas is at Idaho State University as a part of the department of anthropology, and served as the field director of the department of biology.

"I'm going to travel for a month, which will give the students a chance to observe the activities of the department of biology. The department of biology is working hard to get the Sisson school systems, and I am interested in how that is going to work, said Miss Cox.

A REVIEW

Sheriff Shiny Makes "IT" Debut

By Howard Wright

Don't miss "IT," the word circulating on campus. The delightful and sometimes sorrowed presentations seen in the films of BSC's "IT" are now making the rounds on the school campus. Dyke Nally and Jim Sison travel touhl to see the presentation and keep the film from the teachers.

The teachers were not too thrilled with the presentation. They felt that the film was not as good as the original. The teachers felt that the presentation was too slow and that the students were not paying enough attention.

Five years ago, the world mourned as one united being which come to mind. The brotherhood which arose the death of John Kennedy. The instinctive feeling of one shared sorrow. The future has been betrayed.

Broncos Surpass Ratings

A potential win this Saturday afternoon over the College of Idaho Coyotes would give the Boise State Broncos a very impressive first four year record of 8-2 for Head Coach Tony Knap. The season was filled with many bright memories and the record is a far cry from the 2-8 season predicted by many forecasters at the beginning of the season. The Broncos, always a perennial favorite in the JC leagues, are now hoping that somewhere, someplace a bowl bid will suddenly appear. Pictured here is Tony Knap surrounded by a world of football.

Vocational Rehab

Assists Students

"Any individual who has a disability which constitutes an employment handicap can qualify for vocational rehabilitation service. There is evidence that he is capable of completing the training and be employed," he said.

"We provide training in academic and vocational courses, on the job training and correspondence courses," he continued; "and we provide physical recreation." Physical examinations, guidance, training and placement are provided at no charge to the disabled person. The cost of all other services are assumed to the extent that the disabled person is unable to pay for them from his own funds.

The program may include surgical and hospital care, fitting of appliances and a comprehensive program in training to prepare the individual to accept and work in employment within his mental and physical capabilities.

The Idaho Vocational Rehabilitation Service cooperates with the school districts in making educational experience program for mentally retarded children. The program includes 11/2 years of special education in half day and the remainder of the time in regular training.

Vocational rehabilitation services aided over four thousand persons in the past year. Referrals for the program come from vocational counselors, health organizations, insurance companies, welfare agencies, and various other sources.

The Idaho Vocational Rehabilitation Regional Offices are located in Boise, Pocatello, Moscow and Twin Falls.

The Boise Office is located Room 305 in the Education Building.

CIRCLE K'S RECEIVE CHALLENGE FROM ISU

A challenge to a "Bled In" has been received by ISC Circle K members from members of the Idaho State University Circle K Club, who have arranged for competition to be held on Dec. 4 and 6 at the respective student union buildings.

The theme, which will be under the supervision and planning of the Circle K's and the Lifelines, includes Circle K members from the University of Idaho, Boise Junior College and the Boise State College's Circle K's. The winner will be determined on a national level. "Should the Church be involved in politics?" To this topic question of the recent Lycuem Lecture series, the Rev. Luther Kinsolving responded emphatically in the affirmative.

The liberal Episcopal priest, a reporter of religion and columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle, one hour conducted a witty and free-wheeling attack on complacency among laymen and clergymen. For an additional hour he answered questions from the audience of about 100 persons, maintaining the same spirited mood.

The silence of the church in Germany while Jews were being persecuted under Hitler was by itself enough justification for the church to be vitally interested in politics, Father Kinsolving argued. "Jesus came into the world to bear witness to the truth-altruism, in every walk of life," he declared.

"This is our own generation's Sand Castle," the story of a little boy's dream, will be the featured film tonight in the college Film Society's Friday night series. It will be shown in the Idaho Arts Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The color film, produced and directed by Jerome Hill, begins with a little boy building a sand castle on the beach. People pass by and comment to the lad, and each of the passersby becomes part of his dream story.

The short subject will be a Czechoslovakian puppet film called "The Hand." Considering recent events in Czechoslovakia, this film might be said to be prophetic.

Coming in two weeks (Dec. 6) will be "The Great Escape," noted Roman film and a short subject from France called "Marcello Marxen in the Park."

 Admission to all films is by activity ticket for students, 50 cents for non-students.

Ski Club Organizes For Coming Season

by Jane Dunn Staff Reporter

The membership of the BSC Ski Club has been numbered up to 100 in the past, but for the present, smaller participation is going to be stressed for an advanced amount of active concentration. In the past, there seems to have been poor student leadership, with sparsity reigning supreme. It seems that most of the former members wanted a going social club but would not participate in it fully. As Allen Weston put it, "The club is only as strong as its weakest link, and it's too bad that just five or six carry the load."

Weston said the students will decide the issues for the club and he will keep them within legal bounds. The club is going to arrange beginning lessons and bus trips, when they have the funds to do the job. In the past the club has been financially, but now things have to get going. Sales have predominated the scene in the past, from popcorn and apples to football game refreshments. For the coming season the club hopes to improve the scene in the poster contest in the Westover Hotel and has been financially deemed the show a worthwhile effort. The ski area, sponsored by the Bogus Basin Ski Area, for the annual Night Ski Party Carnival, for which the College of Idaho, Treasure Valley Community College, North West Nazarene College, among others will be invited. A live orchestra, a band and dinner will be on top of the bill for that evening's events, along with the selection of a Carnival Snow Queen. Centering around this carnival will be the first racing for the season for BSC.

Another trip planned for the members will be up to Brides Mountain in McCall, the invitation issued by Corey Hogan, the owner. The club will pay part of the expense and the students are expected to pay the remainder. This will for the members, and additional participation may be required for all inclusive activities.

Coach Satterfield’s Cagers

Prepare for ISU Contest

Formal practice sessions for the Boise State College Basketball squad are now in full swing, according to Bronco Coach Morris Satterfield. "We are very optimistic about the coming season," Satterfield commented, "and the squad is in better physical condition now, than at this time last year. This year, overall, will have much stronger reserve depth than in the past." Satterfield continued, the Bronco Basketball team has some exceptional attributes that will be a real help throughout the season. Excellent attitude, men who are very willing to work, and unusual abilities—ali mate this squad appear to be an excellent winning prospect. We look forward to a better-than-500 season, and with our schedule, that will be an excellent accomplishment in our first year of four-year competition.

When asked about individuals, Satterfield cited no less than 10 who have already shown in practice. According to the Boise Cager, "Newcomer Wynd Hart (Ricks College, from Idaho Falls), Rudy Pater (Coffeeville, Kansas J.C., from Washington, D.C.), and Dan Barnes (North Idaho J.C., from Coeur d’Alene) have looked good in early practice sessions. Returnee Renee Ilk, a starter on the 1966-67 and 1967-68 Bronco teams has also sparked. And, all of our six primary players from last year—Bill Clay, Randy Hart, Keith Burke, Ron Austin, Rodell Hill, and Joe Gilliams—are looking very good. It appears obvious," Satterfield concluded, "that there is going to be a real battle for the starting lineup, and the battle will highlight spirited practice sessions for Boise State’s 1968-69 basketball team, between now and our November 20th opener with Idaho State University, in Pocatello.

Bonco State’s first home basketball game will be Friday, December 6th, 8 p.m. in the Basketball Pavilion, as the Broncos host Eastern Oregon College Season tickets for the Broncos Twelve home games, for just $10.00 each, will be available soon.

Boise Bowlers Sweep NNC

The Boise State College bowlers swept their first intercollegiate game last Sunday in an impressive show of strength over Northwest Nazarene College.

Boise’s Dan Garland rolled a total three game set of 563 with a high game of 211 to lead the Broncos. Lon Barnhouse was tops for the Crusader five with a 251 total. Ken Howard rolled a game and went high of 276. The final total score was 2754 to 2667 in the match game. The Bronco’s rolled for their highest game in the third and final match with a 356 showing. The Crusaders rolled a combined mark of 859 in the final match.

There is no handicap in College bowling as the scoring is all open. The Bronco will be looking for win number two Saturday afternoon when they travel to Logan, Utah to battle with Utah State University.

Bowling instructor Kent Kehler also announced that the women bowling team will begin Tuesday, November 25, at 7:00 p.m. in the SUB. Interested girls are still needed and any wishing to participate are urged to come in and sign up in the SUB with Mr. Kehler.
