Arbiter, February 13

Students of Boise State College
Forum Meeting Set
Jim Gray, ASI president, announced this week that it was essential for all forum representatives to attend their next scheduled meeting on Tuesday, February 13, at 7 p.m. in the SUB Silver Room. Gray, who presides over the forum, said forum attendance has been poor in the past and that there is a current student movement on campus to ignore the clubs toward more participation in college affairs.

"HAVE YOU BEEN ASKED to the Sweephearts Ball, yet?" Carol Stewart seems to be asking King candidate Gary Johnson. Saturday night will be the unveiling of the SUB Ballroom, transformed into a pink and white wonderland, with a king and his court to be honored as royalty. Opportunities for this event are Jim Tibbs, Phil Neville, Larry Whelan, Steve Baker, Greg Sall, Jude Gary, and Bruce Collier.

Just Dial KBSC
Danny Lawrence, broadcast club secretary, announced this week that students wishing to request songs on KBSC may dial 383-1349 for off-campus calls and extension 349 on campus. All students requesting club announcements should take the information, written or typed, to the KBSC station in the Music-Drama Annex at least two days before the event. Lawrence said.

The concert-dances are sponsored by the Associated Student Body and admission at door is 50 cents per student.

Boise State College
Perhaps the group with the hardest job currently on campus is the Constitution Committee. With almost every ASB president having run under a new constitution for the past three years present or new, Constitution Committee Head Martin Lynsky and his group have, in the Arbitron, done a great service to the student body. When the committee saw there was not ample time to complete the new constitution before the petitions for the upcoming ASB elections were due, they worked through the night to complete the constitution, according to the constitution, to the committee's satisfaction, various members must have been sleeping.

The vote was two to one in favor of the constitution after the presentation of the constitution to the full advisory council and the student body. The presentation included a question and answer period for the advisers and the student body. The questions asked were rather trivial, rather than being those that would actually help the council.
I Am Opposed

In Michelle Ford's summary of the ambiguous statement of the frequent contributor to the 'frill for another beer' section, she asked the question: "For what reason does this group oppose the current situation?"

A. As a member of an
B. As a group of people from Latin America, Asia and Africa, and other countries in
C. As a person who is against any form of government around the world, including the governments of Bolivia, and countless others. I am opposed to U. S. participation in our own country, and any other country, in the world. I am opposed to the use of military/technically-based foreign policy. The U.S. can cause obvious mistakes when people of other lands send in U.S. in the same light as the USSR.

I am opposed to the national opposition to the 'frill for another beer'. I am opposed to the Mexican American, the African, and the Mexican opposition to the U.S. failure to solve the problem of the people. I am opposed to all resistance, ghetto, on the reservations, and put on a higher level of the Latin Mexican, the Texas, the Mississippi Delta. I am opposed to the war control huge corporations hold on the economy of this country.

I am opposed to involuntary servitude of an individual as outlawed by the 13th Amendment, but legalized by the 'frill for another beer'. I am opposed to the federal government, the government for the needy of the country, while spending vast faster dollars, but making it illegal, undereared war.

Most people, some groups do oppose this 'Americanism'. I can not offer any ideas of our country's importance, the 'frill for another beer'. I hope "The right" educates people, but only by change will this nation last.

Critic Criticized

Dear Editor,

I was most pleased to read of your column in the Student News. The articles, "A Critic's Opinion", written by Professor Connolly, were rather impulsive and perhaps too critical of the students, or at least our practice. Phil is a very popular professor and if you feel that his teaching is not to your liking, let him know. Can we not have some idea as to the professor's intentions to instructor who is working for the students and their rights to the "frill for another beer"?

A concerned student,

Dear Professor Connolly,

I was very pleased to read the article, "A Critic's Opinion," in the Student News. I was particularly interested in your analysis of the current political situation and your recommendations for its improvement. I believe that your insights are valuable and that your suggestions could be implemented to bring about positive change.

Sincerely,

Jane Doe

Subal Players Stage Colorful, Witty Triumph in Performance of "Tartuffe"

"Tartuffe"—a cast of peacock colors and a set done in maroon and cream. It surpasses recent Subal productions. A blue-lighted room in back of the set is festooned with flowers, graced with a real fountain and living statues. A small chandelier twinkles overhead as the cast parades on stage.

Cookie-size orange buttons on a green and orange brocade jacket. The boy (Steve Welker) in that outfit wears coordinated orange stockings. A red and green skirt split, matching boots, and hot pink blouse is Donna Linda Watkinson sparkles as the cute little maid with a tongue of acid.

Steve Drakulich plays Tartuffe with gusto. He has no pretty costume. He is in black robe and white face. As a vicious inquisitor, his character is better suited as a sniveling hypocrite. He grows a horridly towards the object of his lust, his host's wife (Judy Griffin). Sam Johnson was an excellent Orgon, the tormentend host.

by C. Evans

At the start of the play, it is said of Tartuffe: "He wept with guilt the other day, because he killed a flea when he knelt to pray. The play progresses from funny to hilarious. With sweat on his brow, he eyes quite blue, Valere (Alan Greene) acts out a one-man melodrama with Mme. Angamel, "I am the King's Messenger. (Norval Davis) This one is dressed in a red gown and a hoop of hair the use of a strange of small balls. The play is complete with a psychedelic light show. In addition, there are mud lyrics to children's folk songs, set to seventeenth century music. The real innovation, though, is a cast that doesn't drop a line or miss a cue. Tartuffe may be the smoothest amateur production ever.

It opened Feb. 7 and will continue through Feb. 22 with no shows on Mondays. It is free to BSC students. Go see it. It is good.

John Warwick is the director, Ken Krempels designed the sets and costumes and took the pictures displayed on the Subal bulletin board. John Chairsales and Shari Nogas did the fantastic lighting.

Vo-Tech Auto Program
Offers Secure Future

A person should not turn up his nose at learning a trade because he doesn’t want to get dust in his hair and wear a blue collar. According to the assistant manager of a local body shop, “A good bodyman can earn more than some college graduates. He can live wherever he chooses, as long as there is a good need for bodymen everywhere.” There are currently 13 students enrolled in the B.S.C. Auto Body Vo-Tech programs.

RAYS
Interest in service and fun? Then join the BSC division of Span, a sophomore honorary girls club, locally called Rays. They are a very active service club in which each girl performs useful services to her school and community.

Bill Curtis is the instructor of such courses as basic and business arithmetic, which includes shop bookkeeping and estimate writing; auto body laboratory, theory, and science; communications skills, and industrial psychology and job ethics. This deals with the solution of interpersonal problems in business and industry said “techniques necessary to obtain employment.”

The purpose of education is to prepare one to take his place in society. Vocational-technical programs are practical means to accomplish that end. Mr. Curtis said body work is a lucrative field: “there is no end to the need for bodymen, and it is a trade that is not seasonal.” The training that four students gained last year, and that six will have gained this year is in practical knowledge that can be readily converted to cash.

The Auto Body program will be expanded as facilities permit.

SUSPENSE FILM
Incidentally, these are the persons who produced “War of the Worlds,” which gained so much attention some years ago. The short, “The Hooded Helper,” is one of the episodes from “Perry of Pauline.” This was one of the first serials which for many years were the training shorts for Saturday matinées. Most shorts travel off at the suspense portions; but Perry of Pauline tells a complete chapter in each session. It is a forerunner of the present spy stories. Pearl White is the main star.

A student art exhibit will be held from May 1 to the end of the semester, according to David Grayer, professor of art and chairman of the department.

A qualified judge will award the "Best of Show Award" to the best work entered. According to Grayer, the show and the auction has been very successful in the past and radio, TV, and newspaper coverage is expected.

"Action Unlimited," may be the term used to describe the Boise State College Ski Team as they traveled to four races and have logged approximately 20,000 miles since January 1. The ski team members, coached by Mike Hogin and assistant Brian Selk, are currently being considered for the National Ski Association’s All American team. Many of the team’s members are from out-of-state schools, including several from Snowmass, Colorado. On February 13, all five members of the team placed in the top ten at the Scottsbluff, Nebraska, race, with a six-man bowling team from the College finishing in second place.

Boise State Converts Parsons In 78-65 Basketball Rout

by Steve L'Abbe

After a slow start against the Westminster Parsons Monday night, the Broncos, lead by Bill Otey, stormed the nets in the last few minutes of the first half to take a 37-12 lead.

For the first 13 minutes it appeared as though this game would go right down to the wire. With Westminster leading 24-21, Otey, Wendy Hart, and Keith Burke sprang to life and put the Broncos out in front to stay.

Although hitting a modest 34 percent in the first half, the 6'4" junior Bill Otey performed brilliantly tipping in several key baskets. Wendy Hart and Keith Burke also chipped in with some superb shooting in the first half scoring 9 points apiece.

Otey, with 6 buckets, and 2 for 2 from the free throw line with 14 points was high scorer for the Broncos in the first half. For the Parsons, NAIA scoring leader Ken Hall dumped in 17 points to lead all scorers in the first half. His dazzling outside shooting paved the visitors' way throughout the entire first 20 minutes.

In the second half the Broncos came out and continued where they left off. This time Ron Austin, along with Wendell Hart, performed magnificently from the field. Austin thrilled the huge crowd with his uncanny ability to drive in and take the good shot, while Hart hit from outside the key.

Otey hit good for 6 points in the second half, while big Joe Gillespie chipped in with 5 straight points that began to break the game wide open. Ken Hall, the Parsons leading scorer with 27 points hit good for 10 in the second half, although shooting poorly from the charity line.

Landon Lyons came off the bench and did some fancy fancy shooting for 3, while Bob Schaffer hit for double figures for the visitors with 12 points, 9 of which came in the second half.

For the Broncos, Otey hit for 22 points, Hart for 17, Austin 14, and Burke with 12. The Broncos 78-65 victory was their 11th consecutive, and hikes their season's record to 16-6.

Tough Luck!

The College of Wooster may be in a losing streak, but basketball coach Al Van Wie can always find a bright spot. "If you learn from defeat, we'll soon have the smartest college team in the country," he says. Wooster had lost five straight, the fifth on a shot that was in the air at the final whistle.

After falling behind by seven points at intermission, the Broncos of Boise State College rallied behind the shooting of Bill Otey, Wendy Hart and Renee Ruth to register their seventh straight win Friday night at Eastern Washington State College 87 to 78.

The win raised Boise's record to 12 wins against six losses on the year. The loss, by the Savages from Cheney, Washington, was the sixth in 14 games.

The Broncos got off to a shaky beginning after a long and snowy bus trip to the Washington city.

Boise found the range in the final twenty minutes and shot a sizzling 50 per cent from the floor. Otey led the Broncos scoring parade by dumping in 24 counters and the big forward also pulled down the same number of rebounds. Hart added 19 points and Ruth followed closely with 18.

Overall the Savages outrebounded Boise 55 to 48.

Eastern Washington was led in scoring by Al Lofgren and Al Sims with 25 and 17 points respectively.

Boise hit on 15 of 25 tries from the charity strips while EWSW was cashing in 12 of 16. One of the major factors in the win was turnovers by the host club. The Savages lost the ball 21 times while Boise gave up the ball nine times.
