Freshman Honors Program

Schedules for Fall 1969

Boise State College is instituting an Honors Program for scholastically superior freshmen. Fall semester 1969 Dr. Richard E. Bullington, Executive Vice-President announced recently.

"An Honors Program is intended for outstanding scholar and allows for a more flexible approach to a college education," he stated.

Top freshman scholars admitted to the program can enroll in special courses for independent study to pursue in depth their academic interests. However, in certain circumstances, lower division courses may be waived whereby the student can proceed more quickly to advanced study. Bullington added.

"Honors students will have the opportunity to take proficiency exams in certain basic courses and receive college credit without attending a class," Dr. Bullington said.

"During each semester, several Honors Seminars, where these students will meet with selected faculty members to participate in wide ranging discussions on a high intellectual level," he continued.

In order to participate, a graduating high school senior must have at least a 3.5 grade point average for the past three years, and score in the 95th percentile on the ACT college entrance examinations.

Comedy Tonight

A Laurel and Hardy comedy “Swiss Miss” is the film for Friday night’s movie in L.A. auditorium at 8:00 p.m., April 18. A Charlie Chaplin short feature, “The Rink” will also be shown. Don’t miss these two hilarious films.

"Man I’m Broke!"

BROTHER, CAN YOU SPARE A QUARTER, or a dollar or more, ask Ray Knight and Dennis Murin or Tom Wetherick. All are students of the Vocational Technical Division of Boise State College and they are preparing for the annual Hobo March in Boise all day Friday. Students of the vocational fraternity Tau Alpha Pi and other vocational students will be collecting funds to be used for scholarships next year in the Vocational Technical Division. Last year the club raised over $2,000 for scholarship awards. Knight is president of TAP. Murin is the Vice-President and Wetherick is the promotion chairman of the club.

Sen. Church To Speak Here Today

Senator Frank Church will be featured speaker at dedication ceremonies for the Freedom Shrine which has been presented to the college. Dedication will be in LA 106, Friday at 9:35 a.m.

The Boise Exchange Club selected Boise State College as recipient of the Shrine this year, already placed in the library, it consists of an enlarged series of significant historical documents which have guided this nation. Others participating in the dedication program are student body officers: Dr. Mack McCray, president of Boise Exchange Club; Richard LeDuc, manager of Broadway Blanch; Idaho First National Bank; and BSC President John Barnes.

The Idaho First National Bank has accepted the financial expense associated with the documents which comprise the Shrine.

Cheerleaders Chosen by Senate

The Saturday Seminar’s nominations for cheerleaders were approved Monday night by the 18th Senate, according to Wally Allington, ASB publicity director.

Julie Lachiondo was chosen head cheerleader, and Alice Kostella, Penny Walters, Carol Davis, Sandy Boyd, and Kris Williams were selected to assist Lachiondo.

Should BSC Have A Greek Week?

For a long time, Boise citizens thought they would never see the day when little BSC would become a state institution and take its place among the "best of everything." Even after the news was proclaimed that the college officially had state status, there were those who couldn't be made believers.

But through the "good" work of the college's new Inter-Sorority Council, one would think that the "Greek Week" is being started by students, who aren't clever enough to go Greek. According to Merle Underkoffer, Inter-Sorority Council secretary, in a letter to Ross Gabrielle, TK member, the Council would feel better if the name "Greek Week" were dropped. "We feel another name such as 'Spring Panic' would be more appropriate because the activities aren't limited to just Greek organizations.

Next week's activities will go on without a name and without the aid of certain organizations. But now, everyone knows that BSC is, without a doubt, equal in status to other state institutions.

Circle K Slates District Meet; Thirteen Schools to Attend

The Utah-Idaho Circle K District Convention will be held on the Boise campus April 25 through Sunday, April 27 according to Doug Crisman, junior and senior classes.

Election of officers will be Friday, April 25 for Associated Women students. Ballot boxes will be placed in the SUB information booth and in the lobby of the library.

"Every BSC woman is urged to vote in this election," said ASW President Jinx Cred, "for the officers elected will be their leaders next year.

Any woman attending BSC on a full time basis is eligible to run for the position of secretary, treasurer, or publicity chairman. A representative will also be elected for this year's Freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes.

Petitions for each of these offices can be obtained from the Dean of Women's office until Friday, April 18.

What's a Turkey Trot?

As you read this article, ask someone near you if he or any of his family have a turkey trot team. Nine chances out of ten, his reply will have the context of "What a jolly old buzzard." But it's not an ordinary streetrace. Each racer will cover one-fourth of the toughest two-mile course he has ever seen, including many miles at the main stroke. (The woman's course is a little easier.)

A turkey trot is a four-man (or woman) team race. Each member will have to keep on going. It's not a race to walk, but a race to run. None can put up the $2.00 entrance fee for themselves. It's only $2.00 per person.

Interested in entering? Just complete the attached form, and hand it to your team of four. Trophies will be awarded in both men's and women's division. The race will start at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday, April 26, in front of Chaffe Hall, and will be a piece of cake by Sage Foods afterward.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Physics Authority To Lecture Monday

Henry Margenau, a Yale University physicist who is a leading authority on the philosophical foundations of physics, will be the next speaker at "Physics Authority to Lecture Monday" on Monday, April 12. The lecture will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the SUB auditorium. The Physics Authority is a group of upper classmen who have made important contributions to physics. The group meets weekly to discuss various topics in theoretical physics and electronics, and will be on Boise State College campus as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer.

The title of previous Iron Butterfly album, "Heavy," is a perfect adjective to describe any of their musical compositions. Including those on this last L.P. "The Green Leaves," they have successfully erradicated a distinctive sound of their own, and although some people feel that this album is interesting and innovative, (unlike in "Age of Veda"), a lot of us are neither satisfied and overwound. With each song repeated, they are reduced to old cliches. At times, on "Soul Experience," (their best work), they are on top of their game. It seems that the Iron Butterfly now are out of their rut of being a one-sound band, but circa 1966 feedback and too many sound effects may prevent any lasting rebirth or rearrangement of their musical style.

There are some very good solo passages on "Real Foge," "It Must Be Love," and "White Beast," and many interesting drum licks throughout the album, especially with the "It Must Be Love." However, it seems that the rest of the band takes a back seat whenever one member plays a lead or even a dominant line. The lyrics have no deep meaning or have no deep message to convey but also they are not the cornily typical "I love you, Baby" lyrics that are so predominant on the Top 40 today. (unlike "In the Year of Our Lord" by the "Jesus People")

In fact, we highly recommend that album to those of you enjoy heavy music, and it should be required AOP Meets

Dr. Margenau will give a public lecture Monday, April 21, at 8:15 p.m. in the L.I. Arts Building Auditorium. His lecture, "The Role of the Physicist in Human Experience," is open to the public without charge.

The Visiting Professorship under which Dr. Margenau comes here was inaugurated in 1957 by the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges, and is supported by a grant from the Danforth Foundation.

Dr. Margenau is Higgins Professor of Physics and Natural Philosophy at Yale and was known as an author and lecturer. He was serving as a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission, the Air Force, the National Bureau of Standards, the Atomic Science Committee, the National Institute of Health, in addition to his appointment as a member of the Defense Department. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago and received his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan in 1932.

The circle of friends of Dr. Margenau will be present at the lecture and there will be a reception at their home following the lecture.

To The Editor: Chris Orwell

When College/Not when it is simply the thing-to-do. Better to have it all experienced enough of the wide nasty ruffly old world to put away the dual standards of our Victorian ancient relatives, revolting music and decide that instant awareness of your capabilities comes about only after a comparable amount of time in preparation for wherein the hell your specialties may be.

"When College?" is a situation depending only on the nature of the individual and self-awareness of capabilities experienced with people then with the problem of getting a smart absurdly attractive young woman.

Troops, it the only attempt at the accomplished commission of parenthood, he? If your oral communication is on the current level, bag it. Love makes the world go round, but what repairs the rotational machinery is responsible for a little lack of steel treated with years and mebbe even a white dinner jacket. Not to mention an old pair of shoes, then they bag you. And if you are not fledged, then What's this happens slowly from your shoulders, does it not? Does your reliability vary from hour to hour, day to year? No particular big bag above year to year at this stage.

You are evaluated by intern view a little more (not by how do your actions appear to others) but by what situation is older than other the nature of your reactions. Responsibility is directly proportional to your age. Therefore, if you say one thing about yourself and immediately have your eyes in all irresponsible in the eyes of all concerned. So What? So stay out of the college till you are old enough to yourself, and to others. And if you challenge us to our face, tough it out on the spot, if you are of either the better ideas or the foolishness of others.

Five of the most popular moments in the current trend appeared Friday night at the Idaho Union Gym, namely Gary Puckett and the Union Gap. By the size of the crowd on hand for this event, one could guess that all of Boise was waiting for some good tunes to finally arrive in the city.

There really fantastic things happened that night (1) the back-up members looked like a quiet moment amid the Diny World. When it rains, with a song Too much beer till late, with a song the other organist Puckett commented that this was "quite a thing for me, to come back to the city where he grew up, having graduating in 1961 fromcastle High. Groups of kids from that city were in the front rows, giving more than ample applause for the band and charts and the Coke commercials.

The Gap started out with one of their biggest hits, "Don't Wanna Be a Millionaire," loaded applause followed their hit. The five members were introduced, each one singing his own different hit. The bass player was "he shy one," the street singer was "the man," the Hard Times was "himself" only this time he sang a "sex-symbol," the other organist was the "Mother" of the group. Skip Ohs is Skip Ohs, a San Franciscan who made it.

They told of the history of the group, and how they started. Phillip King of the Everyday Housewife, they sang "March of the Millionaires." Glen Campbell did supposedly, the Baptist "The Good King," the Smothers Brothers Show and he put on the best show the audience really received with enthusiasm. You've got to hand it to the lighting department, they did a great job. They did a fantastic job with the rest of the show too.

A country and western thing followed, a song called "Reverend Pooie," after that. Puckett commented that when he was a small boy about four years old, he lived on a tiny Minnesota town that had one cop, and his granddad was the bus driver and he thought it was the greatest thing, a good and soft thing...

"The Lounge Glass" mirrored next, the story about a man and a woman, themselves, another year after, with a love that grows each year, from the inside.

Gary Puckett and the Union Gap 20th Anniversary Tour.

Last August 16 was the one year anniversary for their hit, "Woman, Woman." They called it their own "mobile oldie," playing it to the applause of the crowd. A twenty minute break followed, then the group came in white union suits. Spiffy is the word.

A far out occurance, then, they did a barbershop quartet number. There was only one hour, the dude behind me making his opinion quite obvious. But the interesting part about that was they were Good! The harmony was as close as you could get, and the majority of the folks approved, evidenced by the applause thunderous in its return.

Ah, then they did "Don't Make Promises You Can't Keep" A West Coast-delic Underground original called "Waiting" was presented, good lighting giving the stage Group members are hard to find but this group made it seem like St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Can't beat that

The rest of the hits on the market, "Don't Give Into Him," "Fight," fantastic chere from the spectators. The "Mother" kept througout the night for Puckett for all alleged truths, and the audience took it with great spirit.

The clarinets were pulled out, and they ripped into a Benny Goodman song. Not bad "I Guess There's Just No Getting Over You Ik! Coonies!" Then Puckett reflected about a song that he wrote, that was his. It was a child, and contained a personal memory of how you could feel the sorrow. A war

Brecht's 'Threepenny Opera' Draws Raves From Crowd

Starr Siglekov as goodie Polly Peachum, who is handcuffed by Macbeth, hits the high notes like she had been practicing for months... and she had.

Ken Plummer appears as two different characters, throughout the play, the street singer and the blind man and if you're not quick, of eye or your best doesn't tell you, you'll never make the connection between the two made-up faces and characters.

When Linda Watson first appeared on stage, later on in the opera, the audience was ready. Seems like they were waiting for a top performer and that's exactly what they got. The applause was more abundant after her entrance as Jenny, she's prostitute. The voice wasn't polished... like Stare's... but if it was the part wouldn't have fit. Linda's a favorite for any type of play, anytime.

Her cohorts, the whores at Mackey's favorite brothel, crackled the audience with their every action, from painting toenails to seducing a customer. Giving the smaller parts that extra something (a little more here and there always perks up the audience) were Jan Perkins, as Dolly, Dixie Hunt, as Molly, Wanda Gardner, as Holly, and Toni Vinni, as Coaxer, the Madame.

There will never be another Luci2n crowd wears the one that appeared Saturday night as commissioner Brown's pregnant daughter. When Michelle Morrison put on a show like she had been performing for years and the audience responding with applause, chuckles, bar hares and admiration for her guts attitude.

The audience will remember Michelle for a long time.

Mackey's gang consisted also of audience favorites such as Randy Kitzing, as Money Mar; Steve Drakalich, Crooked Finger Jack; Sam Johnson, Wally the Weeper; and Mike Bideganeta, Bob the Saw. They played the straight men to Mackey (Don Hawkman) and every once in awhile, get in their own fancies.

The entire crew sings and acts together with the skill of a professional travelling theatre group and yet keeps the personal warmth and characteristic of amateurs emanating to the audience.

The first annual Broncos Athletic Association hosted BSC football basketball clinic held recently at Boise State College was judged "a wonderful success" by BAA President John P. Molitor. Nearly 150 football and basketball coaches, college, junior college, and highschools from Idaho, Northern Idaho and Eastern Oregon were on hand to enjoy the morning's sessions.

The visiting football coaches heard Boise State Football Coach Tony Knap and his staff discuss some of the reasons for Boise State's success. The visiting basketball coaches were led by BSC Basketball Coach P. Molitor. Nearly 150 football and basketball coaches, college, junior college, and highschools from Idaho, Northern Idaho and Eastern Oregon were on hand to enjoy the morning's sessions.

The visiting basketball coaches heard Boise State Basketball Coach Murray Satterfield. Comments from the visiting coaches were uniformly complimentary, with some wishing that the clinic could have been a bit longer in duration. BAA Chairman for the BAA Association Holds Annual Sports Clinic.

BAA Head

At the same time the clinics were being held the Bronco Athletic Association Boosters group was holding its annual meeting for the purpose of electing seven new directors to replace those whose terms have expired. Elected in alphabetical order, to two year terms were: Bill Brownfield, Stan Catlett, R. E. "Coo" Gustavson, Rich Le Diet, Joe Robinson Sr., and Wamie Stein Jr. These new directors join carryover directors John Rording, Dick Hartman, J. Archabald, Norm Bishop, Bob Cole, Alex Findlay, Dr. Rich Gardner, and Larry Mills as the Booster group's leaders for the coming year.

Some time in the next two weeks, the new BAA Board will meet to elect its President and Vice President and formulate plans for the coming year.

The BAA consists of about 700 members. These are people who are either "Buckaroos," $110 annual contribution, or regular $10 BAA members.

Boise State's Davis and Johnson took first and third respectively in the tournament. First in team competition was Mike Wayne Johnson. John Caylor, with the run down for the Boise golf team to a 700 tie. The Boise golf team is coached by Darce Frederick.

Golfers Score Against CoI

Two fine scores turned in by Rich Hutchins and Mark Beebe head the BSC golf team in a 10-74 win over the College of Idaho. The win gave the Broncos its first 2-1 record.

Hutchins turned in his performance when he downed Kent Brown, 3-0. Beebe also turned in a score of 1-0 when he defeated White Mike Bologna in the closest with a 2-1 win over Dave Edwardson, while Dave Chrisman and Tony Knap pulled a 2-1 win over Idaho's C of I opponents. Dave Young battled hard on Dave Badago in a 11-19 tie. The Boise golf team is coached by Darce Frederick.

Finish Second

In NNC Meet

The Weber State Wildcats, the only new addition to this year's NNC Invitational, wrestled the title from Boise State Saturday at Nampa by scoring 114 points. The Cats raced to 10 first places and seven second place finishes to amass their 114. Boise State, finishing second in the meet had three firsts and seven seconds for 71 points. NCC finished third with 35 points.

A steady wind hampered the events throughout the day but five new records were established.

Weber's Randy Montgomery grabbed the spotlight and walked off with the day's top honors as he was nominated the meets outstanding performer of the speedy Senor captured the 300 dash in 9.6, the 200 dash in 21.8, and then switched to the field events to win the long jump with a 42 feet 9 inches jump to set a new record. He scored 24 points alone on his four first place finishes. Shown ranking in the long jump broke the record, was not dedicated wind aided so he didn't go down in the record books.

The Bronco's fans came in two relay and Jim Taff's 120 high hurdles win. Cafferty edged second to wind out of the field, showing Boise's fortune of Rich Dickson, Dave Bishop. Larry Linn and Doug Ward raced to a first place finish in the 440 relay with a 44.2 time. Ward also teamed up with Bill Rialto, Herb Glazme and John Earls to finish ahead of the field in the mile relay in 3:26.2.

The single running event record to come out of the meet was NNC's Terry Carroll in the 440 yard intermediate hurdles with a time of 57.3 which bested the old mark by two tenths of a second.

Todd Parker of Weber broke the pole vault standard of 16' 1" as he crossed the bar at 16' 3 1/2". The shot put record was bettered by Weber State's Frank Rezkin with a toss of 53 feet, 5/8 inches.

Dick Harding of TVCC erased his last year mark on the javelin throw by some 33 feet as he heaved the spear 229 feet 4 inches.

Big Willie Squarer, who is probably most feared on the basketball court, legged six feet, 7 inches to take first in his specialty and broke the two year record of six feet, 61/4 inches in the high jump.

Boo picked up the majority of their points with second and third place finishes which was good for the runner up spot in the overall count.

Dickson finished third in the sprin event.

In the field events the Bronco's team took first place finishes and a single third place.

Ward was third in the triple jump while Mark Burgmeier was second in the discus event. Mike Schell was a step behind Burgmeier in the high jump and Bob Nelson grabbed the third place position in the pole vault.

Tom Kelly of the Broncos actually tied for a first place finish with Montgomery in the long jump but Montgomery was awarded first place upon a second best leap bettered Kelly's by less than an inch.

Joe Conlales worked the first innings for CBC and picked to the plate. But once again took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a pair of Columbia Basin errors and a ground out. The Hawks came back however, and when the dust had settled 14 men had come to the plate. Hawks rallied for single runs in the second and third innings and even had the bases loaded with one out in the third but couldn't manage to push any runs across. Joe Conlales worked the first 2 1/2 innings for CBC and picked up the win while Tom Smith was the loser for Boise. As in the first game, Boise once again took a 1-0 lead in the second contest but the Hawks flew back to tie it at the second and go ahead with three more tallies in the fourth. Boise's first inning run came on a pair of walks to Sabin Peterson forced Lance and Jim Blumels, respectively. Sabin's fielder's choice and an error which brought Blumels across, after Bob Peterson forced Lance at the plate. Boise's final run came in the third frame when Phil Clodell doubled to right and scored on Tere Riggs' fielder's choice. Lance was the winning hurler for CBC while Chuck Hiltzway who was plagued by control trouble was the loser. The

Morrison Wins Saddle Bronc; Preps National Competition

Boise State College rodeo team member Dave Morrison recently won first place in the saddle bronc collegiate rodeo competition at St. George Utah over the weekend. Morrison is the only-horse history major at BSC. He was riding a horse called "Punchbowl." The meet was the Dixie College Regional Rodeo of the Southern Rocky Mt. College Association. Utah State University was the overall winner according to BSC rodeo club advisor Alan Cooks. Morrison, in two collegiate meets this year, has already scored 85%. points, enough to put him into the national finals without any further personal competition, says Cooks. Boise State has several more meets scheduled this year. Boise College April 26. Hingham Young University May 5. plus the regional finals. Morrison will be competing in the saddle bronc riding in the second and third innings and the fourth and sixth innings. Both wins were pushed across their second inning run on a pair of wild pitches and then broke it open with their three run burst on two walks and three straight singles.
