Students of Boise State College
Spring Jazz Festival Scheduled Friday

McCann T. Gibbs To Play

Renowned pianist, Les McCann, exciting singer, Terry Gibbs, and noted jazz critic and author, Leonard Feather, will be on campus Friday to give Boise State College students and faculty their first spring jazz festival and jazz symposium.

The symposium will begin at 3 p.m. in the auditorium with a music audience participation in a panel discussion on jazz with Feather moderating.

Friday night, the famed musicians will perform in concert at 8 p.m. in the JSC. The concert will be held in the student union building. Both the symposium and the concert are open to the public and no admission will be charged at either event.

Often appearing in a black Nehru and large mumps, McCann sings in a soft vocal styling, plays the piano with an inner excitement for real jazz, much of it based on familiar ballads; and subsides to a mood of gentle, relaxed humor, which end up in sagas.

McCann has over 20 records on the Pacific Jazz label, which include The Truth, The Short, The Shampoo, McCann, Live in New York, McCann (Bigband) and Wilson, Les Sings and Spanish Ocelot. He is scheduled to Mercury/Merlins records and can be heard on Capitol, Eternity, J. Poo, Les Plays The Hits and Live at the Hofbenim Carolyn.

Paint To Fly Saturday

The second annual Buick Open Painters will be held Saturday afternoon with seven six-team members from Boise State College competing for first place by painting a chosen theme on a new Opel Kadett. The painting will be judged by the first place winner poster containing the club's name and theme. The poster must be turned in early so it can be placed by the club downtown. The first place winner will receive $1,000 for their club and $2,500 for scholarships at Boise State. Each of the six runners-up will receive $1,000 for their college's scholarship fund. The contests, being held all over the country, began April 1 and end July 31. McCann, renowned pianist, will be on campus Friday for the first annual spring jazz festival and jazz symposium. McCann and his group will participate in the symposium at 3:30 p.m. in the music auditorium and again, in concert at 8 p.m. in the west ballroom of the SUB.

Drama Department Bills Plays:

For Summer Stage, From CSI

The Salmon Players will present their first summer theatre this season, according to Ron Krempke, director. The play, "The Servant of Two Masters", by Goldoni, will open July 15 at the Salmon. The production will also travel for three weekends during the summer and will be presented at the U of I and the College of Southern Idaho. The production, a commedia del arte farce, has a plot that centers around the actions of a servant who is employed by two different masters at the same time."Krempke said. There are 12 parts available: seven men and five women.

Casting will be held 7 and 9, nightly, at 7 p.m., in the Salmon Theatre. Krempke noted that "special rehearsals for the play will not get underway until June 10. This will allow everybody to take a break after final exams." Anyone interested in trying out for a part is urged to attend the castings during the above times.

FOLD, SPINDLE AND MUTILATE
by Lloyd Love
Politics: The Lamentation
The rule to "law and order" has recently been joined by a number of "liberal" thinkers who should know better. Their failure of nerve makes it necessary to insert even more strongly the justifications for civil disobedience. There are a number of fallacies in the situation concerning civil disobedience and it would be useful to examine one or two of them.

Law and Morals Ends
One fallacy is that the rule of law applies only from moral ends. It is asserted that the disobedient one, when found guilty, should acquiesce in the ultimate judgment of the courts. Should we acquiesce ever in the law professedly immoral? Should we acquiesce in the ultimate judgment of the courts, even where, as in the Dred Scott decision, the Court declares Blacks have no rights? Or where the law gives few, a yellow armband? To insist we must accept some point, assuming even that a professedly immoral law ultimately is to be enforced, must mean that the rule of law in all situations supersedes the immorality of the particular law which represents it, and in itself constitutes a higher moral or supreme value.

The ground on which this troublesome point the ingenuity of the rule of law, the essential condition of individual liberty and the recital to the state. This throws many moral aspects which may be considered unnecessary because while individual liberty can be granted for the sake of, or in pursuit of, one's own, surely the state is an organism for its own sake, with the values of human and social ends. The state's needs, even its existence, must be weighed in the available capacities to achieve those values. Moreover, to talk about the rule of law in the abstract, as the essential condition for liberty, begs the question; it ignores the need to say what the rule of law supports liberty, and when it does not.

If the legalists were really concerned with liberty, there would be circumstances where the rule of law could not be obeyed, where disobedience might be the essential condition for liberty. But the legalists fend such no solution. They appeal to the point of obedience back from the legislative to the courts.

Bad Laws. Right or Wrong?
A common argument that disobedience even of bad laws strong because it fosters a greater good. This is the same basicness conservative amuck who once saw savage wrong laws as leading to we can see them rise to some form of society, to the extreme, as if all were necessary in order to det absolute to With such ideas, nothing is the joke down. The usual argument is that the reason is that it is always in the interest of theoke who can make social choices in action. To limit free speech is to destroy our capacity to make choices. Act from making choices is to say whether the issue of freedom is important or which we still exercise an action. If we do not discriminate we do not know whether we want to oppose, how can we recite the rule that we are in the interest of the public. When we go beyond speech the court is not left with the choice of replace with a question of that. To make values assert themselves.

However, it is the positive. Of civil disobedience that should be stressed. If citizens

BSC Spanish Student Gets Club Scholarship

Marsha Roub, BSC Spanish minor, has been awarded a $900 summer fellowship by the Boise International Club for travel and study in Uruguay...
The selection was presented at last week's meeting in the Student Union Building. James Gamble, International Club Vice-President, Idaho Senator Frank Church was the featured speaker following the announcement.
Marsha has three years of high school Spanish plus one year of Spanish at Boise State College. She will stay with a family in Uruguay for four weeks and spend the balance of the six weeks traveling throughout the country with members of friends of the host family.

This is the second year the Boise International Club has participated in the Experiment in International Living program, which sends qualified individual to a foreign country. Marsha was chosen from a number of applicants for the fellowship.

Upon her return, she will appear before interested civic organizations with a report of her travels and experiences. First, Marsha will join winners from other programs at the State Capitol for a special luncheon in June at the School of International Training, Putney, Vermont. It is an audacious request for the exchange program called Experiment in International Living...

Folk singer Receives Praise After SUB Coffee House

by Jan Dunn

"Uh-huh, you were a good one. Oh, yee, you were a good one." The relevancy of these two lines lies within a song labeled "Mother," brought to our attention last week by Frank Moore.

BSC played host to this 23-year-old traveling Canadian folk-minstrel for seven fascinating days. Moore, currently playing at the U of I, is on a five-week tour, soon to visit the University of Montana and Montana State.

Although he claims Newfoundland as his original home, he is now from Toronto, Quebec. The beginning of his career took substance four years ago as lead singer for a group called "The Head." Inevitably, the thing split up, Frank going on his own way two years ago. As he said, "I progressed from the dives and then played a club in the Village that later turned into a discotique."

Group distinctions uncovered the word "consistency." The answers taking a giant place in his view. "One of the strongest things about them is their beat," he said, the fact coming up that they have been one of the major instigators of nearly every new movement in the last five years. They too are part of his ilk, as is Stephen Wolf, a Toronto-based group. Moore feels that Canadian talent is going to come on strong in the near future. All the music on their radio was from the States, he said, but it will be changing. Everybody with talent went to the States to try to make it, he indicated.

The possible solution to the problem of relations is difficult to map out because so much groundwork would have to be done. In other words, student body governments and student newspaper editors would have to be independent.

Harried Placement Office Serves BSC Students

By C. J. Evans

Changes, outside of the small cubicle, which is otherwise known as the Boise State Placement Office, are under way. This office, run by the director, Pauline Himan, for the sole benefit of the students, has undergone some full-time personnel. Her secretary, Jo Mary, will be absent half-time off campus completing college requirements. Twelve members helped the office during the middle of April.

Recently, the one and a half hour meetings of the placement service sent two hundred letters to major U.S. companies. They instilled such into ten interview prospective employees on the BSC campus and informed them that we are now a four-year school.

Such companies as Texaco and General Foods have sent representatives. There has been an increase in the number of the interview room at a time. The interviewers are now asked to sit in the interview room at a time. The interviewers are now asked to sit in a room.

In the second month since June, 1967, Mrs. Himan opened a letter from a student who had been in the background of a job.

Apple Releases Liberal Thoughts On Campus

Apple Releases Liberal Thoughts On Campus

The need and want for more liberal thinking on the Boise State College campus for some time but the method to go about obtaining these also was never materialized until Apple. Closing themselves as a part of the liberal element on a campus, a handful of students began meeting in hopes of promoting more liberal student involvement in student-concerned affairs.

One of the few "dared" to announce several of the gatherings and the group grew until they needed a large meeting room to accommodate the liberal following.

It was obvious the interest was there and so BSC's first liberal organization was in the planning stage. Weeks were spent writing and rewriting a constitution and statute of procedure. When the latter was complete, then they needed a name.

Mike Phillips became the first Apple chairman and things began to happen. "Many liberal students have felt isolated on the BSC campus and our group brought them together," Phillips explained.

People began to listen as Phillips presented their student rights and involvement. "Students should use every weapon available to them, the administrative policies that concern the students. The students now have voice.

Students should be aware of their rights and responsibilities. To the extent that study..." Phillips explained.

Boise State College will welcome the new Elgin Psi chapter of Alpha Xi Delta, national fraternity for women, on the BSC campus the weekend of May 1-4. The chapter will be installed Saturday at 11 a.m. at the First Methodist Church of Boise.

Elgin Psi became a colony of Alpha Xi Delta on February 15 with the pledging of twenty charter members.

Alpha Xi Delta was founded in LeTourneau College (now Knox College), Galesburg, Illinois in 1916, and became one of the ten original National Panhellenic Conference groups in 1934. Alpha Xi Delta now stands with 122 college chapters and over 122 alumnae groups.

On the national and local level Alpha Xi Delta has an increasing number of awards which serve as an incentive for high scholarship and endeavor. Since World War II, the Alpha Xi Delta has realized efforts on American youth, participating in the White House Conference on Children and Youth, supporting mountain climbers in the Himalayas, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas through Save the Children Federation; and it now has a program to curb juvenile delinquency.

Preparing for the installation of the Elgin Psi chapter will be the president, Dr. John Barnes, professor and director of the psychology department, Dr. David P. Torbet, psychology professor and director of the college counseling center at Boise State.

Dr. Torbet gave a talk on some of the reasons for prejudice, using the film "The Human Kind," to illustrate his points. The film was screened and spotted hand puppets to illustrate that although everyone's origin is somewhat different, all people are basically much alike.

"If you're alive, you're prejudiced in some way," said Dr. David P. Torbet, psychology professor and director of the center for counseling at Boise State, at a recent Encounter Idaho meeting at the YMCA.

The Boise State Broncos warmed up for the Ricks College Vikings Wednesday afternoon at Nampa by wallopping the Central Oregon Lumberjacks 12-1 in a lopsided meet.

Coach Ray Lewis' thriclands ran away with 10 firsts and swept four full events, the discus, shot put, and the two dashes, 100 and 200,.

According to Assistant Coach Bob Smith, Friday's meet may turn into a close affair. The Vikings have established some very fine times thus far this season and will provide the Broncos with some excellent competition.

Smith said, "Jim Cafferty, who has yet to lose in the 150 high hurdles this season, should turn in a 14.7 time or better. Herb Gassen will be out to turn into a close affair. The Vikings four hits .

Doug Smith should run away with at least 15 points in the long jump, according to Smith, "He ran a 49.4 in the 440 leg last week-end and will be a strong threat in the open 440. He is also aiming for a 45 triple jump."

High jumper, Mike Schell has gone over 6-6 numerous times and will probably like nothing better than to clear the bar at 6-7 or better.

Tom Kelly in the long jump and Mark Biugener and Arlo Decke in the shot and javelin are also showing marked improvement with each meet.

Smith said that if the foursome could get their hand-offs down in good timing the 440 relay team is capable of a 42.5 time or better.

"We will have to take up first places in theprints and relays and some second and thirds in our weaker events such as the distance runs and field events to score well against the Vikings. With a few breaks and the fact that this is a home meet we should come out on top. Our distance team will probably be Ricks' biggest threat."

He concluded by saying, "We are aiming for the Western Competition at Ashland, Oregon in June, and we feel that with a few outstanding individuals that have a real good chance of advancing we can rank at or near the top in many of the events listed."

The second contest Coach Smith looked good for the first six innings against Idaho State, and could have turned the tide of the seventh. Smith allowed four hits and no runs to give Boise the win.

In the bottom of the sixth to take a 3-1 lead over the Idaho State. Smith allowed only six hits and no runs to give Boise the win.

Boise Sweeps Pair From Ricks

Terry Begg and Dan Smith both went the distance for Boise State College in a pair of wins over Ricks College at Rexburg. Smith was aided by a grand slam home run off of Ricks' Gary Norman by Boise's Dave Meinke in the top of the fourth inning. Meinke's home run put Boise ahead 4-2 and went to the top of the six and coasted home: as he only allowed the Vikings four hits .

In the bottom of the eighth Smith started things happening as he drew a walk. A seventh wild pitch by Idaho's Jim Farriss put Smith on third and set the stage for catcher Jim Rogan's run scoring single. The only extra base hit of the second contest was a double by short-stop Jim Blanch.

Track and field, along with Tennis will get the spotlight this weekend for Boise State athletes as the college hosts the BSC Round-Robin while Ricks College enters to the Boise oval for this initial dual meet. Baseball, golf and the women's tennis team all finished action earlier in the week.

Coach Bus Connor's highly talented track squad is highly preparing for the BSC hosted Round-Robin featuring the University of Idaho, Weber State College and Idaho State University along with the Broncos.

Boise State finished behind champion Idaho and runner-up Whitworth in the Vandal Invitational at Moscow this past weekend. The Broncos won two matches at Moscow, after dropping the opening round match 9-0 and then outdistanced Washington State University 7-2 for the third place spot.

Competition for the Round Robin will pit the BSC on the BSC courts on Friday at 3 p.m. while Saturday's Round is scheduled for 9 a.m.

Ray Lewis' track and field team dropped a 91-54 dual meet to a very strong Weber State team at Ogden. The Broncos gained some much needed extra points in some sparkling performances.

DISPLAYING the trophies to be awarded Saturday at the KETR Car rally are, from left, Chip Murray, program director for KETR; Karen Roark, new Associated Student Body receptionist; and Larry Wheeler, president of Broadcasting Club.

The trophies will be presented to the first, second, third and fourth place winners and the revolving trophy plaque, center, will be given to the winning club-sponsored car. The club will have its name and year engraved on the plaque and will turn it over to next year's winning club. The rally will begin at 1 p.m. at the "U" in front of the Ad Building.

The Boise State Broncos fell prey to the Weber State Wildcats 91-54 in a dual match at Ogden last Saturday, but in losing to the highly favored Wildcats the Broncos turned in some very impressive performances.

The Weber school was once again led by its ace sprinter, Randy Henson, but Broncos' Rich Dickson was fast a step behind pushing Montgomery to a pair of wins in the 100 and 3200. Dickson sped to a .93 second clocking while Dickson turned in a 2:33 time. Both performances for Dickson were best for the young athlete.

Weber grabbed 13 first places while Boise managed 4 for the meet. The Bronco points came mainly on strong second and third place showings.

Mike Schell finished second to 15.00 feet leap in the high jump with a 6.4 foot leap.

Dickson captured the long jump with a fine 22 foot effort. Kelly finished in a tie for second just three weeks ago at the NMA Invitational behind Montgomery and Ace King. King finished second this time around, an inch back to a second place for Dickson.

Bob Nelson finished second in the pole vault for Boise with an even 14.0 try. The vault was six inches from Todd Parkers winning vault.

Herb Glassen was only 1.1 seconds off the winners pace in the 880 m with a 1.55.7 time good enough for second place.
