ALBERT CARLSEN . . . PRESIDENT OF IDAHO POWER

Albert Carlson, president of Idaho Power Company, will be the commencement speaker for graduation ceremonies at Boise State College May 19. Announcement of this speaker was made May 1 by BSC president John B. Barnes.

The graduation will take place at 2:30 p.m. in the College gymnasium. Receiving will begin at 2:15 in the Union Building for both faculty and graduates. An academic procession will march from the SUB to the gymnasion. The faculty, in May of seniority, will lead the procession.

Carlson was elected president of Idaho Power in Jan., 1967. He began his career with the company as a laborer with the company's mobile crews, helping to construct new transmission lines and sub stations. In 1942, he left Idaho Power to organize Idaho Potato Starch, which grew into a nationwide business. When he returned to the utility, as president the company he was heading was operating three plants in Idaho, as well as one in Colorado.

He has been involved for many years in education, serving ten years on the Blackfoot school board, two years as president of the Idaho School Trustees Association, and currently as a member of Governor Bob Smyser's interagency committee for the study of Idaho education. Currently he serves on the advisory council to the State Department of Education, which includes vocational education among its areas of activity.

Boise State College has 221 candidates for baccalaureate degrees and has applications for 176 two year diplomas and associate degrees as well. A variety of education in the form of graduation ceremonies in the Student Recreation Building.

FORESTRY

Jerry Davis, Assistant to the Dean of Students, said today, Davis stressed that students should return the plastic cards, instead of throwing them away. A "valid" cardholder will be issued at registration next fall, which will be attached to the back of the card", Davis said.

Dr. A. H. Chatham, Director of Summer School Sessions, announces May 12 the addition of a special topic for teacher training workshops, "Interaction Analysis," which will be taught by Sister Clare Marie Kelly.

Interaction Analysis is a system of ten categories which summarize the various ways in which persons interact verbally. When used as a method for measuring teacher pupil interaction, it becomes a productive tool for improving class behavior. New Flanders developed the ten categories and adapted them to the "interaction training of teachers," according to Sister Kelly.

The system is based on the assumption that a teacher can be helped to define more accurately his own concept of desirable or ideal teacher behavior and subsequently to modify his behavior in the direction of that ideal.

Within the last four years this program has been used by an increasing number of teacher training programs. Sister Kelly is a Benedictine nun. Currently she is Dean of Arts and teaching of sociology at Bishop Kelly High School.

She received her B.A. from Mount Marty College, Yankton, S. D. and her M.S. in Educational Administration from the University of Wisconsin, at Madison Wisconsin. She has done graduate work in sociology and is currently at St. Louis University and Creighton University, Omaha, Nebraska.

During the past three years, Sister Kelly has been on the participating staff of a series of Interaction Analysis Workshops at the College of Idaho, Western Montana University, and most recently at Berkeley, California.
The 'Rugged Individual'

A young man lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended the public schools and participated in the "free" lunch program. He was drafted --- received clothes, food and lodging from the army. Upon discharge, he obtained his National Service Life Insurance. He enrolled in the state university, working part time at the state capitol to supplement his GI education checks. At graduation he married a public health nurse and bought a home with an FHA loan.

His baby was born in the city hospital. He bought a small ranch with the aid of the veteran's land program and obtained emergency medical assistance checks. REA lines supplied electricity. The government helped him clear the land, the county agent showed him how to terrace it, and the government built him a drainage reservoir and fish pond.

He read books from the public library and his banked money was insured by an agency of the government. The child grew up, entered the public schools, had free lunches and rode the school bus. The family owned an automobile, so he favored the federal highway program. He signed a petition seeking federal assistance in developing an industrial project "to help the economy" of his area. He needed his own two feet without expecting handouts.

I believe in rugged individualism.

EOC Stops BSC Twice

9-8, 10-8

The Eastern Oregon College Mountaineers stopped the Broncos of Boise State twice Tuesday afternoon at La Grande 9-8 and 10-8.

The loss dropped the home squad to an 18-15 record on the season with one ballgame left.

In the first contest, the Mountaineers battered Kent Schiffrin and Bill Schuhart for nine runs on nine hits, while their mates were committing four errors behind them. EOC used a fine run fifth inning in the first game and a seven run start in the first frame of the second contest in coasting to the pair of wins. Schiffrin was the losing pitcher while Jim Shuster picked up the win.

Dave Menke paced the Broncos at the plate with a three for four performance while centerfielder Bob Peterson was bunging up a pair of hits in four trips. The Mountaineers exploded for seven big runs in the first frame off losing pitcher Terry Berg as the Broncos were again responsible for five errors at the night, while on to score single runs in the final three innings to pick-up the win. Boise couldn't settle down even after the first inning and went on to record more four errors for a total of nine in the game and 13 on the day.

Jim Rogers and Gary Powell each had two hits in three trips to the plate for the second game but all to no avail.

Dan Smith was the overall leader for the day as he hit for five safeties in eight trips to the plate for a .625 batting average for his afternoon's work.

Dr. Bronson Relates Interests, Counseling Experiences At BSC

by Lyn Wright

"The developmental area is the most interesting field to the child and adolescent, both abnormal and normal," said Dr. William Bronson, Director of the Reading Diagnostic Clinic on campus.

You can observe children growing toward adulthood and in some cases help them to differentiate and overcome the stresses from developmental difficulties or deviation," he continued.

Dr. Bronson stated one of the primary reasons for coming to the college 15 years ago was to establish a remedial program and guidance counseling program. Today his programs, listed as Reading Improvement in the college catalog, included extensive pre-diagnostic testing. The student is given a reading program geared to his individual needs, such as comprehension analysis, visual student, or kinesthetic studies.

Dr. Bronson has conducted several research projects and has written two papers on threed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Winning students were Gary Pratt, David Skiver, Gil Stomansky, David Steduloff, Susan Carpenter, LaRoy Moore, and Everett Galyan.

Other students participating were Virginia Mobley, Gary Barnes, Glenn Lee, Maurice Gathara, Loren Wheeler, and Bill Wright.

Currently in the fundamentals course the essence is to teach the student to communicate and not to perform. In keeping with this philosophy the activity is called a Speech Challenge.

The contest allows the student to bet on himself that he can reach out and communicate with a larger group of people then the ordinary speech class, an audience of 100-150 persons.

The student is judged by the audience who fill out speech critique forms. The reward for students doing a successful job in this manner is a speech rating of an automatic "A" in the fundamentals course. That is, exemption from the last week of classes, the final written exam and the final test required.

Opportunity was given to 200 students seven winners.

Knights Honor Sociology Prof

Dr. Marcus W. Collins, Sociology professor of Boise State College, has just been named a national member of Intercollegiate Knights.

He received the honorary gold medal due to his outstanding work in Human Relations. This represents the highest honor the Intercollegiate Knights can bestow upon any individual, and is but one of the many honors which he has bestowed upon Dr. Collins.

Anthropology Students Dig For Indian Artifacts
By Ken Jewell

Ever think—that someone would actually "volunteer" to spend hours of back-breaking work on the end of a shovel or trowel? This has been done almost every week-end in BCS Anthropology Department.

Miss Virginia Cox, instructor in the department, said that the weekend field trip gives students valuable experience in two areas. First, they provide a lab-setting for the classes, and second, members of the field expeditions also have the opportunity to increase their historical knowledge about early Indian tribes who inhabited Idaho.

The diggings thus far have centered on a former Indian camping site on the Snake River south of Melba. The land is owned by the John Caylor landowner that there had been many "relic hunters," Dr. John Phillips is chairman of the Anthropology Department which has "a cultural price tag" has been placed on the property over the years.

"Unfortunately, much improved planning is needed, which has "a cultural price tag" has been lost. It would have helped fill some of the missing pages in early Idaho history, she added. When asked about the objects her students uncovered, Miss Cox said that many excellent stone artifacts had been found "indicating that an ancient tribe had been living here manufacturing weapons and tools."

One of the more important finds the students uncovered in the area were the remains of five hearths and shell middens. "Finding them gives us proof that people used this area for camping," Miss Cox said. Archaeologist monitor Terry Pike has spent his field trips searching for Petroglyphs, which are designs pecked into the rock. Anthropologists have found these rock designs scattered from Nevada to Oregon, and some date as far back as 1000 to 7000 BC.

Next October the site will again be opened, as the anthropologists continue their excavations. Students interested in this area of social science are urged to contact Miss Cox concerning next year's work. Volunteers are always welcome, but please—no relic hunters. All artifacts uncovered become the property of BSC.

McCann, Gibbs Inspire
BSC's First Jazz Festival
by Lyn Wright

It was definitely a "doing your own thing" affair for Boise State's first jazz festival last Friday. Famous pianist, Les McCann and vibraphone specialist Terry Gibbs took the stage to an enthusiastic audience of hundreds. "Sunshine Superman," opened the program with McCann's rhythmic fingers accenting Terry Gibbs' bass player, Lefoy Vinegar, and drummer, Donald Drew. The McCann Trio also accompanied Vinegar's own bass contact, "That Thing." Also featured were the selections "With These Hands," and an arrangement of "Shadow of Your Smile." Phoenix, Arizona, native and Coca Cola campaigner, trumpeter Eladio Rodriguez closed the second half of the jazz session.

Gibbs and Feaster both took their hand at the piano. McCann dabbled in the vibraphone successfully. In an interview following the concert, McCann revealed that he had never before attempted to play the vibraphone. Taking the scale at more than 300 pounds, McCann dropped forty-three pounds in a year, six months by strict adherence to an HCG diet. "It's been a life saving factor," said McCann, who still maintains a strict diet. "It's been a life saving factor," said McCann, who still maintains a strict diet.

The Phillips pair, identical twins at 6'3 and 195, have won many honors in their three years at Borah. Under the direction of Jeff Phillips and his brother, Greg, the Phillips team is seeking "Best Blocker," and "Best Blocker," and "Best Blocker.

John Coltrane, Miles Davis, Wes Montgomery and Herbie Mann were cited as the jazz artists the group most admires.

Boise State's first jazz festival can be termed as nothing less than a huge success. The standing ovation crowd gave McCann and Gibb's group a well-deserved round of applause and traditional formation for future years.

Boise State College football fortunes took another big step forward last week with the announcement that two Boise Stateline offensive linemen, Greg and Jeff Phillips, have signed letters of intent to enroll at BSC this fall.

Vandals Take Tennis Tourney

The University of Idaho Vandals swept all three of its matches to walk away with the championship in the Boise State College Invitational Round Robin tennis tournament over the weekend.

The Broncs finished second into Idaho with two wins and a single loss. Weber State was third with one win and two defeats. Rounding out the four team tournament was Northwest Nazarene who failed to find the fourth column in their three matches.

The Vandals toppled Northwest Nazarene 8-1 Friday while the Broncos were downing Weber 7-2, thus setting the stage for the championship game Saturday in which Idaho stopped Bonneville by the same 7-2, 6-0 margin. Also in Saturday’s final round Weber State dumped the Crusaders from Nampa by the same 7-2, 6-0 score.

The Broncs then turned around to win the NNC — and pushed identical 8-1 set back Idaho earlier whipped Weber by the same score.

Cindermen Run Over
Ricks Vikings, 91-54

Boise State raced to its third dual track and field win of the season last Friday by overwhelming Ricks College of LaGrande, Oregon. The Broncos dropped both ends of the Friday double header 91-54 and 9-0.

The Broncos won 13 of 17 first spots, eight in the running events and five in the field events. The running events included a clean sweep in the 440 dash, the teams second of the week. Doug Ward turned in a 49.35 clocking and was followed by John Estes and Dale Rainard, respectively.

Rich Dickson and Ward were double winners for Boise. Along with his 440 crown, Ward added the triple jump with a 43-10 1/2 effort. Dickson won the 100 dash in 10.16 and then came back to capture the 220 dash in 22.6. Both athletes ran a kg in Boise's most exciting race of the meet.

Boise State's winning 440 relay team, which was won in 43.0, and each earned three points of the 10 points in the meet.

What was probably the most exciting race of the afternoon Boise's Herb Claszen brought the crowd to their feet as he turned on the speed in the final lap and came from last place to win the 880 run in 1:57.0 by a step over Mike Stewart of Ricks.

Mike Schell won his specialty, the high jump, with a 6-6 leap. Cary Card had the

EOC Sweeps Twin Bill

The Mounties from Eastern Oregon College swept two games from behind seventh innings in beating the Broncos 5-3 and 9-6, on the Bronco diamond last week.

The two losses leave Boise's season record at 17-13. EOC was first to draw blood as they scored a run in the top of the first and another in the third. Boise came up with three big runs in the bottom of the third and took over the lead. As the game progressed it looked as if Eastern would be able to hold on to their one run lead. EOC tied it up in the top of the sixth and went ahead to stay as they scored seven on top of the seventh. In the second contest the Boise nine jumped out in front 2-0 in the first frame as Jim Bianchi led off with a double and Dave Menke walked. A ground out and a sacrifice fly scored the two Broncos runs. Successive singles by Deb Burger and Bob Peterson and doubles by Bianchi and Dan Smith increased the lead to 9-1 in the third inning.

BOISE STATE'S Jim Bianchi shows he means business at the plate during a May 2 contest with Eastern Oregon College of LaGrande, Oregon. The Broncos dropped both ends of the Friday double header 91-54 and 9-0.

EOC came back with two runs in the fifth and then chased Smith off the mound in the sixth when Peterson, his fourth chance of the inning, hit a solo home run in the following frame. The Mounties unloaded in their half of the seventh for three more runs as they sent all nine batters to the plate. A pair of Boise batters allowed the EOC nine hits in the contest.

Shuler was the winner for Eastern and Schwartz absorbed the loss.
