Campus couple comment on college court collage

by Ruth Russel

"We sacrifice an awful lot, but we've got a goal which seems to make the struggle worth it."

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Schumaker, year residents of College Courts for married students have been married six years, are parents to Brenda, 4, and Kent, 3, and have forgone the income of a high-paying job to finish a college education.

Mel, whose wife, Sharon works as a secretary to Executive Vice-President, Dr. Richard Bullington, is in his second year of college, majoring in Industrial Business.

"The only time I ever get depressed with continual studying, income stretching and spending so little time with Kent and Brenda is when exams come," says Sharon. "We're so busy from 5 and 6 a.m. to midnight that we don't have time to think about missing out on the life on campus."

"We've got advantages that many people don't have, whether they're married or single students," says Sharon.

The Schumakers live in a three bedroom, utilities paid (except electricity) newly painted and modern apartment for $75 a month. After waiting 18 months to move in, they were given one of the more than 80 apartments.

"We are able to walk to church, to work and to school. The only time that we ever use our car is for grocery shopping on weekends, so we don't have much of a gas bill either."

Necessity of studying and keeping house make family excursions few and far between, but they both agree that considerate neighbors and close friends make up for it.

"The age group at the courts ranges between 24-26 with some older and younger," says Sharon. Brenda and Kent have a regular community of kids their age to play with, although according to everybody, keeping track of each kid's toys gets to be a problem.

"In the morning," says

Sharon "I feed the kids and walk them to our babysitter, Norma Jorgenson, whose husband also goes to BSC."

"I usually get up at 5 a.m. and fix breakfast and pick-up the house. Mel gets up about 6:30 a.m. for a 7:40 a.m. class, one which he's never been able to avoid, although he keeps trying."

During lunchtime the couple converge on the apartment and Mel fixes lunch. "He's a good cook," says Sharon. "I'd like to see him do it all the time."

"After school we eat dinner around 6 and Mel starts studying until about midnight. The kids are usually kept quiet either with something to do or a little persuasion before going to bed around 9 p.m. (noted on the dining room table, a rather old and worn looking leather strap at Kent's and Brenda's eye level and probably inherited by Mel.)

Living on the top floor of the two story structure built much like a hotel but with solid walls between every four apartments, the only problem is the heat in the summer. "Noise doesn't get to us much," says Sharon.

"Thin walls," according to Mel is relative. Walls today in most homes are of the same construction with only minor alterations," he says. "We've noticed that the couples who throw the parties are the ones who give up or flunk out."

What about the job he didn't take so he could finish college? Says Mel, "Before coming here I worked as field supervisor working up from a carpenter for Wright Construction in Rupert. I still work full time for them during vacations and the summer."

"I came here to get a degree preparing me for more advanced technical type of training which might help me get a stable job." In one year as field supervisor, the family moved from Rapids, S. D. to Salem, Ore., to Seneca, Kan. "We want to settle down more especially since it won't be long before the children are school age," said Mel.

HB 114 to consider legal age

19 year olds may vote yet; question reaches legal status

Shall Section 2, Article VI, of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to change the voting age from twenty-one years to nineteen years?

This question has been posed before the second regular session of the 40th Legislature. The bill (HB 114) was introduced to the Senate on Jan. 14, by State Senator Cecil Andrus.

Of thirty-five Senators only three, Bivens, Fredericksen and Klein voted nay. One Senator was absent. The resolution was sent to the House and placed on the agenda.

House member Vernon Latimer was questioned regarding HB 114. Representative Latimer expressed his belief that today's 19-year-old is a much greater prepared individual than the 19-year-old of twenty years ago. Latimer further commented that he would favor lowering the legal age for contracts and other legal aspects along with the voting age.

Should HB 114 pass in the House, the Secretary of State will be directed to publish this proposed constitutional amendment for six consecutive weeks prior to the next general election, in one newspaper of general circulation published in each county. The people of Idaho will then vote on whether to pass or defeat 19-year-olds voting rights.

The question of legal age will also be posed. Nineteen year olds will become of age to make contracts without a co-signer.

Problems will undoubtedly arise when responsibility is allowed where judgment is vacant. At 19 everything is seen in a new light. Judgment becomes a freedom without parental criticism and sometimes a period of adjustment is needed. Waiting until 21 allows such a period for maturation and time to learn sensible judgment.

Annual ball to crown king

A king, two princes and seven dukes are to be crowned Feb. 14 at the traditional BSC Sweetheart's Ball.

The AWS sponsored dance will be held in the SUB ballroom from 9-1 a.m.

The theme, "A Time For Us" taken from the Shakespearian play "Romeo and Juliet" will set the mood of the formal.

Women's organizations presenting the event are Alpha Chi Omega, crowning; Alpha Omicron Pi, clean-up; Alpha Xi Delta, decorations; Cheerleaders, coatroom; and Tri Delt programs.

Other women's organizations are Broncettes, refreshments; Driscoll Hall, publicity; Eta Epsilon, table decorations; Gamma Phi Beta, balloting; Golden Z, pictures; Marian Hall, tickets; Meistersingers, intermission; and Valkyries, invitations.

The AWS Executive Board is responsible for decorations. Admission to this girl-ask-boy event is $2.50 a couple.

In a survey of college students attending school in Idaho who favored lowering the voting age, each age group averaged out in the following manner (1969 figures):

Opening senate meeting considers buying horse

The opening Senate meeting of the spring semester was called to order Mon. evening by ASB Vice President Jim Tibbs.

The first item of business was the reading of a letter concerning the National Collegiate Parachuting Competition held last semester and attended by members of the BSC Skydivers. The letter recognized the abilities of the three Boise State students who attended especially Wally Benton for a first in accuracy.

Secondly, students interested in running for student body offices were urged to take C. Randell Byers' parliamentary procedures course Thursday evenings which is free of charge.

Tibbs then said he would announce student committees next week and their purposes.

In regards to the all school curriculum committee, three upperclass students from each school with 2.5 and better g.p.a.'s were to be selected and one of these three would be chosen to sit on the committee.

Jack Arbaugh, ASB president, recounted the funding of the Lyceum Committee and suggested that the students take over the entire funding of the committee since budget cuts have forced the administration to withdraw its part of the funding. The matter will be considered at a later date.

It was announced that the faculty has concluded its part of the bookstore evaluation but wishes to meet with the ASB committee and formulate one evaluation.

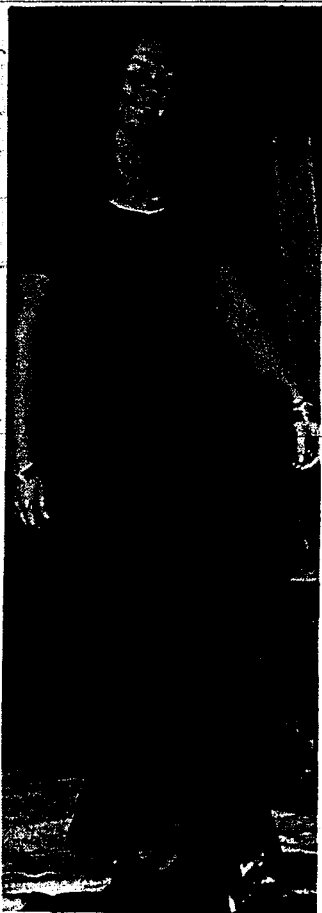

The Miss BSC pageant budget was distributed to the senate members. The budget calls for an expected total expenditure of $2500. Information concerning the pageant is available in the ASB offices. The matter was tabled until next Monday.

Dr. Var Selle Weaver, a local Boise dentist, offered to sell the student body a registered Shetland stallion for $300 to serve as a school mascot. The costs for upkeep and handling are to be provided by a private individual.

Previous plans involved buying a "horse" costume for $300 and paying for repairs. Both plans involve finding people to handle them during games. The item was tabled until next week.

Drama instructor, Ron Krempeta asked for $474 to cover taking a small drama production to Eugene, Oregon and an additional $150 to pay a part time student to work during (cont. to page 2, col. 1)

Natural look in new fashions

With the arrival of a new decade, spring fashions will be softer, more uninhibited and less contrived. The honesty of bare, loose crochets, clingy knits and shiny satins and vinyl introduce an awareness of individual femininity, the look of the 70's.

Loose weaves will be important in spring fashions. Worn over a body stocking or body, they will be used extensively in sportswear and casual clothes.

Clingy, knitted jumpsuits and sweaters many be seen on the figure-perfect girl. For those curvier femmes, smooth, loose knits made of cotton, linen and

BSC COSTS TO RISE

The cost of education for BSC students is going to rise. The State Board of Education has approved tuition and fees for the 1970-71 school year.

Students will pay $160 per semester for fees. However, out-of-state students will still pay an additional $370 a semester for tuition.

synthetics will be used in everything from bikinis to tunic suits.

The "Swedish look" in printed cottons and synthetics will use tiny, feminine designs. Used in shirtdresses, tunics, pantdresses, and pantsuits, this fresh, young look will be appropriate on any campus.

Vinyl and "wet-look" leather may be seen in casual and sportswear. Made into skirts, vest, pants and maxicoats, they will be great for those sudden spring showers.

In formal wear, the shiny look will be seen in panne velvet, satin, lame and glowing synthetic knits. They will be used in long, slim dresses, tunics with pants and long, slinky pantdresses. The influence of the "Gibson Girl" has brought in full skirts with a fitted bodice and full sleeves.

The skirt length for this spring will continue quite short. Some ankle and mid calf lengths may be seen, but mainly in coats and formal wear.

The very short lengths will be worn with textured, color-coordinated body hose. Slim, vinyl boots, finely woven knee socks and opaque panty hose will continue to be important in spring fashions.

The great colors for this spring will carry over the young, vibrant spirit in bright reds, yellows and blues. Softer, pale hues such as beige, lavender and white will be seen in knits with a bright color accent.

Important accessories will be bright scarves, loose-knit vests, chain and leather belts, great looking rings and gold chain necklaces.

This spring's fashions should enhance today's attitude of awareness, naturalness and honesty. Whether one dares to go bare in one of the new "naked" knits of covers up in a "Swedish look" shirtdress, today's girl will be able to express her individuality in the clothes she wears.

Yearly youth concert features local soloists

Featuring three young soloists, the 13 annual Youth Concert given by the BSC Community Symphony, is scheduled for Feb. 8 at 4 p.m. in the Music Auditorium of the College.

The soloist, Linda March and Adrienne Wheeler, pianists, and Brian Johnson, cellist were chosen from a field of twenty aspirants at auditions in December.

Each will perform a work with the orchestra, conducted by John H. Best, BSC music instructor.

Linda is a seventh grade student at South Junior high. She is a piano student of her mother and has been awarded superior ratings in the Federated Music Festivals for a number of years.

Cellist Brian Johnson, a senior at Boise High and student body president, was a member of the All-Northwest High School Orchestra in 1969 and has likewise won numerous superior ratings at Federated and school festivals.

Adrienne a piano student is a junior at Kuna High School. She is active in the band and in the choir for which she is the accompanist.

Commemorating the 200th anniversary of Beethoven's birth, the orchestra will open the concert with the Overture to Fidelio.

Beethoven wrote four overtures for his one opera, the other overtures being named for the opera's heroine, Leonore. The Fidelio Overture, the latest in the series, is usually performed as the prelude to the opera.

Works dealing with two legendary characters are also included on the program. Pinocchio by Ernest Toch is descriptive of the Italian folk-lore figure with the nose that grew with every lie he told.

The age-old story of Cinderella will be dramatized in music with the Waltz and Midnight from the Suite No. 1 by the same name.

A raffle with all proceeds going to the BSC Foundation Fund is being held Feb. 13. Tickets are available in the information booth of the SUB. A 1962 Corvair Monza donated by Larry Barnes Used Cars and $20 worth of additional items contributed by the BSC Bookstore are up for grabs.

Chances are available for a 50 cent donation.

productions. The senate declared a state of emergency and passed the $474 allocation. Krempetz was asked to return later on the matter of the student allocation.

Arbaugh questioned giving drama the money unless the student body received something in return. Krempetz agreed that the drama people would help in ASB functions when they could to offset the allocation.

Several openings have come about on the student senate concerning school representatives. Students in Education and Business Education who are interested in working on the senate are to apply in the ASB offices.

The senate decided to retain the use of the cloth gowns for graduation instead of a proposal by Gary Dance to let each student buy a paper gown. The matter was decided after a state of emergency was declared since orders for the rental cloth gowns were pending.

Ron Patrick, president of Apple, presented his parking fine petition to the senate. He was answered by Gaylan Drown who gave a report on existing parking fines.

Drown said that the $5 fines were set by former Dean of Students Rommack and last year's ASB officers. The money from the fines goes into the college budget as "local revenue."

Drown advocated a student traffic council to review fines with rules of operation set by the ASB.

Candy Schille, senate member working on the parking situation, will work with Drown and report next Monday.

Linda Baril, president of the Student Union Board, asked to have a hearing with the senate next Monday. She stated that it was time the board became a part of the senate instead of being a separate entity. Linda has worked with the architects in designing the look of the new third story and additions to the first and second stories of the SUB.

The board has been invited to the next meeting.

The meeting was adjourned at 7 p.m.

Arbiter editor apologizes for missing senate meeting

by Art Galus
Acting-Editor

This space is normally saved for the report of the weekly senate meeting, but unfortunately I wound up in the wrong room just after, or so it appeared, the dishes had been cleared away for the business portion of a banquet of sorts.

I imagined that it was a banquet. There were coffee cups and punch cups sitting before the people at the table.

Everything seemed normal and interesting, so I sat down to see and hear what was going on.

The master of ceremonies rapped the gavel and brought everyone to his feet for the pledge of allegiance. I was still mindful that I had a senate meeting to go to that evening, but the banquet became more and more enjoyable.

The MC asked a young lady at the head table to read a letter of congratulations while some people yawned and others yakked. He then gave a few announcements before handing the meeting over to someone else sitting further down the table.

This person spoke a while while others yawned and yakked. Then he gave the meeting over to a guest speaker who augmented his presentation with a short film.

All during this, people yakked, yawned, yakked. A good time was being had by all.

Another man was introduced to the people at the table who watched as he begged for some additional funds. Someone wanted to hold up on giving him any-money because the banquet group wanted to throw some big whing-ding. But after he had stood while they were seated, they gave him part and told him to come again for the rest.

The next person did a short comedy routine about paper graduation robes, adding to the good time being had by all.

Another young man was introduced and talked about some kind of petition. Then right after him was another fellow who gave a detailed report on something. I can't remember exactly what it was because everyone was having such a good time. Such a good time in fact that I was unable to hear all the man said, and some of them didn't hear a thing he said.

A young lady was introduced next. She was the president of something. She spoke for a brief moment and caught their attention for the first time.

The last fellow up was another comedian. He made a few funny remarks and handed the rest of the jokes around on mimeographed sheet.

Then it only took them 15 seconds to adjourn.

Readers, I am sorry that I missed the senate meeting and wound up in that banquet (must've been a banquet with all that yawning and yakked). But next time I WILL make the senate meeting.

And another thing: if you can't find anything to do, drop by the SUB Monday evenings at 5 for a great time.

Peace Corps cometh

Rosemary and David Alvord, who served in South Korea in the Peace Corps, will be on the Boise State campus during the week of Feb. 9 through 13.

They are especially interested in signing up business administration, economics, education and math and science majors, but at the same time still welcome the liberal arts major.

They will be available at the information booth in the SUB next week, and will be giving the Language Aptitude test to applicants.

Rosemary, who is an English graduate of Skidmore College in up-state New York, taught English as a second language within the Korean secondary school system while a volunteer.

Her husband David, who majored in political science with a minor in biology at Idaho State University, served as a biology teacher, also in South Korea secondary schools. His assignment was to set up a laboratory course to correspond with the existing biology lecture course.

'Y' retreat to Job Corps

The Boise Family YMCA, in conjunction with the Marsing Job Corp Center, is planning a one day retreat to the Center in Marsing. This will be an excellent opportunity to discover some of the aspects of the Job Corps.

By restricting the retreat in size and to young people, it is hoped that it will be especially meaningful to those able to attend.

The date has been set for Feb. 14. A bus will leave the YMCA in Boise at 8:30 a.m. and will return to Boise at 4 p.m.

Lunch will be served at the Job Corp Center. Total cost for the trip is 75 cents for lunch and 10 cents for insurance for the trip.

For persons at all interested in seeing how our government is meeting an important social concern, this retreat will be important.

Interested persons should contact the Rev. John Butler, campus minister for the Campus Christian Ministry in Boise (343-3933), or Jeanne Troutner at the YMCA (344-5501).

Theology courses to be offered

The Campus Christian Ministry in Boise is initiating three discussion courses.

The discussion leader will be the Rev. John Butler, Campus Minister for the Campus Christian Ministry. The courses are:

- (1) Protestant Theology.
- (2) Theology and Radical Social Change.
- (3) Advancing Technology and Human Values.

Persons interested in participating in one of the three discussion courses should call 343-3933.

Broncos slash ISU team with final 10 point lead

The Broncos continually prevented the Idaho State Bengals from mounting any rally at all in the second half and maintained a murderous offense after keeping even during the first half.

The Broncos started slowly as the Bengals jumped off to a slight lead. After several minutes had gone by, the Broncos began hitting their shots and the gap closed until halftime when the score was 38-38.

After halftime, the Broncos again started slowly and the Bengals took a small lead. After several minutes of the second half, however, the Broncos caught fire and took the lead away from the Bengals, eventually building a 16 point lead. ISU made several attempts at a rally but could not stall the Broncos' offensive punch.

The final score was 98-88 before another capacity audience.

Renee Ruth topped BSC

scorers with 28, scoring mainly on the fast break. Season statistics show Ron Austin and Wendy Hart leading the scoring with 16.4 and 14.9 respectively. Bill Orey tops the rebounders with 14.4 followed by Austin with 9.6.

The Broncos journeyed to Ogden to play Weber State and basically played a good game, but fell victim to a Weber State team, hot at the free throw line. Three of the Broncos fell victim to the five-foul rule. Final score of the game in Ogden was 92-81.
