Policy change

The following policy concerning the content of the Arbiter is a revision of the policy currently in effect. This revised policy is effective Feb. 23, 1970.

Arbiter Editorial Policy

The editor of the Arbiter will be to review national and local events in an effort to give students and idea of trend, policies and problems.

Concerning editorial policy directed at the campus, such policy will either support student action or shall review and comment upon matters directly affecting students.

Club News Policy

Student groups wishing to publish information club elections, meetings and projects as well as pictures of groups, officers and project workers may do so if only if the necessary information is in the Arbiter office on Thursday of the week prior to the week of publication.

Student groups wishing to announce pledging are encouraged to do so. Similar plans should also be made concerning pledge renewal, directly to other students such as cake sales, auctions, etc.

Arbiter Advertising Policy

Each space for advertising shall be $2.75 per column inch (5 lines to the inch) and $1.60 per column inch for specialties.

Students and student groups are offered a 15 per cent discount on all total advertising costs paid in advance.

A $5.00 charge will be made on account utilizing any advertising office.

Arbiter Photography Policy

Students wishing to have a picture taken to appear in the Arbiter are asked to contact the Arbiter at least three days in advance of the time when the picture is to be taken.

The Arbiter reserves the right to reject copy that exceeds 250 words in length, copy that violates professional ethics and copy that may be damaging to persons other than the author.

THE FIRST GIFT TO THE BOISE STATE COLLEGE FOUNDATION INC. was presented to RBC President Dr. John B. Barnes, right, by Alumni Association President Clifford Fordham, left. The $2 million gift was made by the people of Idaho. It will be used to construct a new student union building.

THE BOISE STATE COLLEGE STUDENT UNION BUILDING will be doubled in size within 18 months as shown in an architect's sketch of the revised and enlarged building. College officials said the building was needed because of the numbers of students using the present facilities. Idaho is expected to be let this spring. Construction will take another year. During construction the work will add to a four-story and considerable remodeling of the interior. James M. Dyke, Nally, Student Union Director said during construction the building will have to be curtailed in order to meet safety requirements and to allow contractors to complete the expansion in the shortest possible time. The present Student Union Building was opened in 1927.

Apple action

WHY GUNS? No one questions the right of any individual to carry a firearm. The following question must be answered: Should the possession of firearms, loaded or unloaded on campus, be prohibited? Our position is that it should not be prohibited.

College regulations expressly prohibit the possession of firearms, loaded or unloaded on campus. We believe there is no reason for an off-duty law officer to carry a gun on campus. (Personally we feel a little uneasy when the guy sitting next to me is carrying a can of mace, guns can just as easily be left in the car or at home.)

We feel that the appropriate governmental agencies should take immediate action to ban the carrying of firearms by off-duty policemen on campus. This ban should also include concealed weapons.

WHY PARKING? One of the biggest hassles on campus is parking fines. Well, the college administration and the Student Senate, those of you who bitch and moan about parking fines are going to have to find a new topic.

After APPLE'S petition asking for the lowering of parking fines started circulating, action was taken by the Student Senate, the faculty, and the administration to review past policies and to consider new ones.

Walker makes bid for youth; emphasizes change in party

by Jane Deam

Arbiter staff writer

Lloyd Walker, a Twin Falls attorney and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke in the SUB's West Ballroom, Thursday, Feb. 12, in an effort to generate the interest of college students in the political arena of Idaho.

Walker, active in politics since 1959, helped prepare the Idaho delegation for the late Sen. Robert Kennedy in Los Angeles, in 1960, and was to be the Idaho campaign manager for the late Sen. Robert Kennedy in 1968.

His purpose in coming to Boise State was to let young people know that he feels it is the right period for them to get involved in "the great debate."

"It seems to me in the last four years there has been a great moral revolution in the United States, started by Gene McCarthy. Now we are discussing the war. Prior to Gene, it wasn't an issue. "Young people are the most effective force of political government today," Walker stated, adding, "I think it is important that people..." View on the war

Faking a stand on the Vietnam War, he is a dove. The idea of leaving 300,000 men in Vietnam just won't do. He feels the South Vietnamese should be given a date when we will pull out, and then they can take over their own operations. Relating this to local officials, he said, "I think it is important that people in state government take a position on the war."

Emphasizing the issues in Idaho, he sees the second phase of the current legislative session as incapable of producing much effective substance for the new decade.

"It is important to develop a program for the 70's," he concluded.

Regarding higher education as the present controversial topic, he said, "I think it is absolutely ridiculous about the state university system. We don't have to approach education as just a part of the Chamber of Commerce. There has to be some real interest in the quality of education. Regionalism has got to end."

He feels we cannot support three universities and that (cont. to page 3)

Communication board hangs on a point of compromise

The case for a Communications Board

Politics and news commentary do not mix. Neither will emotion and impartial decision mix. Yet the student body on this campus has attempted to combine these factors in a new communications operation with mixed results for years in regards to their communications media.

To dictate policy and then attempt to comment on that policy is an impossibility. Therefore, it was necessary that a communications board be set up to comment on the communications board. When a disagreement breaks out between these two bodies, the student body is entrusted with the task of weighing the figures instead of framing the mind in order to decide a just decision, or rather a fair decision.

That is the principle purpose behind the Communications Board. The proposal presented to the student senate last week. The Board was an attempt at satisfying emotion and permitting due process.

As a guided plan, as any proposal, the Communications Board died as soon as it was introduced into senate chambers. And why it died is due to many reasons.

Chiefs of these, no doubt, was the bombshell placed in the student body, the communication board which blew the cool composure of many. Secondly, it influenced many people wrongly.

Secondly, relatively recently was granted, additional funds above its own budget and later died unceremoniously, many people may say that a communications board is in order, to check on the other communications media on campus, the Arthur and the Boise.

Thirdly, the proposal died due to lack of prior education concerning two bodies. Many people may say for certain why such a board was needed. Many people do still not.

In addition to performing in an arbitrary position, the Board is also charged with the task of determining management and selection. This presently at best holds no continuity.

The students have not selected an editor for either the newspaper or yearbook in over two years. The board is set up to do this, making certain that qualified people are chosen. Very few know how a budget for a multi-thousand dollar project is decided on, but the board reviews such management procedures. Can a governing body honestly and fairly decide on matters affecting a second body, which comments on the dealings of the first? Hardly! To attempt to do so is simply missing the unmissable, political points of view. However, some commissions must be made in order to insure that the Communications Board is constructed fairly.

The Board definitely must represent the students on the campus. Therefore, the communications board on the Board should be limited to a least half of the voting majority as outlined in the proposal.

First of which, no doubt, was the bomb placed in the student body, the communication board which blew the cool composure of many. Secondly, it influenced many people wrongly.

Included in this proposal is a series of articles concerning the riots in Chicago during the Democratic Convention, the "free" delegation to the 1968 Democratic Convention, and Jesse Jackson, a member of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and head of operation Breadbasket.

Also scheduled is a series of films, the first one concerning the riots in Chicago during the 1968 Democratic Convention, entitled "Chicago: The Season's Change." This will be shown Wednesday, Feb. 25, at 7:00 p.m. in the West Ballroom.

Applications due for scholarships

Realent Reid, Director of financial assistance, is scheduling a Mac 2 deadline for scholarship applications. The question coming at the most debate, however, is that concerned with the mechanics of choosing the people who shall constitute the Communications Board.

The proposed board selects its own replacement members who serve two-year terms. The consensus of the student senate is that the president of the Student Senate has the right to select the replacement members. The Board's responsibility funds to staff and operate the establishment of a student establishment of a student establishment of a student.

Repeal o performance of last week's angry and emotional senate meeting will just make our entire campus setup seem a "big laugh," he said.

As guilded a claim as any proposal might present, the proposal presented to the student senate last week. The Board was with the machanics of choosing the people who shall constitute the Communications Board.

The student body has decided on the Communications Board, but the Board reviews such management procedures. It IS raised, then a responsibility funds to staff and operate the student establishment of a student establishment of a student.

With the organization currently holding no continuity, the Communications Board died as soon as it was introduced into senate chambers. The consensus of the student senate is that the president of the Student Senate has the right to select the replacement members. The Board's responsibility funds to staff and operate the.

Lack of lack of communication

In this exhibition more commonly referred to as Boise, there is a distinct lack of visiting students with a message for everyone. APPLE is currently working to all as an excuse to this problem.

What are we trying to do is get such students as Julian Bond, a black from Georgia, who is the "free" delegation to the 1968 Democratic Convention, and Jesse Jackson, a member of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and head of operation Breadbasket.

Also scheduled is a series of films, the first one concerning the riots in Chicago during the Democratic Convention, entitled "Chicago: The Season's Change." This will be shown Wednesday, Feb. 25, at 7:00 p.m. in the West Ballroom.

Applications are available for new and renewal scholarships in his office, Room 128 of the Administration Building.

Students receiving financial assistance in the 1970-71 academic year from federally-funded programs should report for renewal of their aid during this period. Students are requested to apply for renewal of their aid in the 1970-71 academic year.

emphasize should be on particular curricula at the separate colleges. One of the great spoofs generating now is, will Boise State be able to play basketball with the University of Idaho. If the teams play and Idaho loses, they feel their appropriations will be lost. If Boise is defeated, we will risk our chances for the money. "The only fight is who is going to get the next nickel," he elaborated, "not what they are going to teach or what the product will be."

Idaho's atmosphere
Walker believes the political atmosphere for young people in Idaho must be developed to look ahead. "Right now it is pretty dull in Idaho, and we need to invite our young people in. They have got to be able to do more than lick envelopes," he said. He compared Idaho's situation with that of California. Something is always happening there, action, ferment, intellectual thought, participation, in general. And Idaho needs these motivations. He thinks the help young people would give will get the vote, not lose it. "Look at Kennedy and McCarthy and what they won the elections for them. Young people. They helped to elect Sen. Frank Church. They get votes and provide excitement," Walker emphasized. He does not think Idaho is that conservative, and he would not be afraid to work with young people or be identified with that group as he believes national and state political figures are.

Programs foreseen
Walker outlined his programs with the reformation of the Democratic Party and its choice of issues. It is going to need a great deal of funding if it plans to set up a platform and offer candidates for election come November. Walker sees many of the money from "all over." He cites as an example, those people from Ketchum already contributing money who have conservation interest of their own.

The inventory of state resources and the available uses for them should be a prime consideration. There are enough pollution laws on the books, but enforcement is needed. The great issue of environment still needs to be discussed, he feels, but he doubts if anything meaningful is going to happen in the legislature.

The single biggest issue is "White Clouds." He feels this area can be the one dramatic issue to get his party off the drawing board and into the spotlight. Walker said it is more important to maintain this area for environmental purposes than for any economic value the mining of its minerals can produce.

Questions answered
The question and answer period provided the groundwork for his initial position on the issue confronting Idaho.

Walker stated, "I would like to get the presidents of the three major universities together and ask them what they want to do. I think there should be just one chancellor for all three schools." He further stated that the colleges should be united under one head, so cooperation and funding would be less divided and easier to obtain.

The sales tax issue is one of Walker's concerns, for money is not going for educational purposes. He supports the idea that funds should be made available for school uses only.

Walker's appearance ended in Boise. His thoughts of Governor Samuelson's effectiveness in office were questioned, and Walker spoke of his respect for the Governor's integrity and honesty. But he concludes that Samuelson has not compromised enough. There have been no programs set up or the manpower to force important issues through the legislature.

Walker's appearance ended in his bid for young people's help. "Excitement is important. If we have this, we will have programs for the 70's. We can create excitement and moral force came here to ask you for your support. The older people not going to get excited. Do get yourselves involved. Make some racket. I think this is the time to turn it on and go!" CAPABLE TYPIST will do your typing for only 50 cents per page. Guaranteed no errors. Call 375-8546 or bring papers to 7951 Bobran St. Boise.

The Perfect Gift

It's the Marine Corps' test for the man who wants responsibility and leadership from the start, not at some obscure point in his future. And there isn't a tougher test you could take—for the Marines don't choose their new officers lightly. Two six week sessions at Quantico—or one ten week session—will tell them and you if you've got all it takes to lead some of the world's best fighting men. If you do, you'll pin on your lieutenant's bars after college graduation, and carry new weight on your shoulders from that moment on.

It seems to one who does not usually get a chance to see such things, that a thousand people in the park on a Sunday afternoon in February would be quite unusual, especially for this latitude.

Well, a recent tour through the park brought this pleasant fact to my attention. People can actually come out of a winter's hibernation to enjoy an afternoon of sun. Activities ranged from changing diapers on the baby, to waxing each other's car, and to throwing frisbees in the river. Some of the girls just sat in their cars watching the boys sitting in their cars watching the girls. When this occurs, spring can never be far away.

The snow is melting at Bogus, but the skiing remains quite tolerable. Maybe the weather bureau could supply about six more inches of snow.

The proverbial Pepsi generation has removed itself from the winter wraps and again, man prepares himself for months of bermuda shorts, cutoffs and hare feet.

Cars can be seen driving down the street with more than one window down. People can be seen driving down the street with more than one window down (not quite right). People can be seen driving down the street in cars with more than one window down. (That's it.)

The daily battle against pollution continues—we're losing. The garbage of the world mounts, as envisioned by the last issue of the Arbiter.

Baseball is around the corner—somewhere. The Broncos will be starting practice. The major leagues start spring training soon. The Mets will be back to defend the championship they won about three weeks ago, I think. It was longer than that, but winter was so short.
