Boise State University ScholarWorks

Student Newspapers (UP 4.15)

University Documents

2-27-1970

Students of Boise State College

Although this file was scanned from the highest-quality microfilm held by Boise State University, it reveals the limitations of the source microfilm. It is possible to perform a text search of much of this material; however, there are sections where the source microfilm was too faint or unreadable to allow for text scanning. For assistance with this collection of student newspapers, please contact Special Collections and Archives at archives@boisestate.edu.

Miss BSC pageant budget termed costly

Senate discussion hinges on committee appropriations

Vol. 2 No. 15

February 16, 1970 The meeting was called to order by Vice President Jim Tibbs. He then led us in the Pledge of Allegiance. The minutes were read and approved. Mike Requetts was approved by the Senate to have a scat on the Senate, representing the School of Education.

e

Dr. Hendry, Director of Student Personnel (sic), told the Senate of the recommendation from the Academic Council to completely do away with early registration for students. The only time a student can register is at his designated time allotted to him to do so.

This means athletes, workers at registration, and all other excuses (sic). The Senate endorsed this proposal which will now go to the Executive Council.

Ben Hambelton, Social Chairman, told the members not to forget the concert put on by the Spiral Staircase, a rock band, on Feb. 26 in the West Ballroom of the SUB.

A blood drawing will also be held Feb. 26, in the West Ballroom.

OLD BUSINESS

Representatives were voted on to be on the Curriculum committee. These include: Science and Health-Carol

Musgrove Arts and Letters-Gary

Bermeosolo Education-Joanne Newman

School of Business-Jan Hellhake Representatives for the All

School Curriculum committee will be voted on at the next meeting.

STUDENT UNION BOARD

Linda (sic) Baril, representing the Student Union Board, the Senate with the constitution of the Boards. The constitution was already ratified two years ago, but additions have been made.

The new additions consist of being funded by ASB so they can bring in small groups which would consist of Coffee House entertainment, speakers, movies,

The question was asked pertaining to the position of Social Chairman, an elected official, on whether this would take away his position of getting moderate entertainment and having to limit only to "big time" name groups.

The definition of both groups will have to be defined before a decision can be made.

Gary Dance, Senior Class President, moved that the ASB give the Senior Class $4,000 for the graduation party.

This is to be an annual affair which will consist of dinner and a dance for graduating seniors, Senate, and Alumni. It was not put in an emergency session so it will be voted on next week.

Jim Attebury, representing the Parking Committee, passed out revisions that Dr. Barnes, president of Boise State, made on the parking proposal.

It was moved and seconded that the Student Senate endorse the code that Col. Mengel from Buildings and Grounds, can void tickets if there is a valid excuse for the fine.

There was controversy on whether he could make a decision on voiding a ticket as long as the Appelate Court existed.

MISS BSC PAGEANT

The budget for the Miss Boise State College Pageant was discussed and members feel that $2,502 (sic) is too much to put on a pageant. Members suggested that through a little bit of their own efforts the cost would be decreased. At the next meeting Kathy Wentz, chairman of the pageant, is asked to come and discuss the high cost of the affair.

SHETLAND PONY

It moved and seconded that we buy a shetland pony to beused as the school mascot. It was defeated.

It was hard to compare a shetland pony to a Bronco. Guess some of us felt we'd drag our feet.

It was said that the Publications Boards (sic) constitution was a very important piece of legislation to be thrown out just because of one claus (sic).

A committee of five members should be composed to go over to the Arbiter and see exactly what goes on, and come back to the Senate and give a report.

UNIFORM ELECTIONS

Gary Johnson, Junior Class President, submitted a proposal to set up a Uniform Election Law, which will set proceedures (sic) for balloting. This proposal was passed unanmously. ARBITER

Gary Johnson also told the Senate that if people are so dissatisfied with the situation of the school newspaper, then they should do something about it.

Respectfully submitted,

Kathy Nolan ASB Secretary

DOUG CRISMAN, BSC junior, and Governor Don Samuelson proclaim Mar. 1-7 as Circle-K Week in Idaho. Cusman, who is also the Boise State representative for the Utah-Idaho District of Circle K, and the Governor made the proclamation Monday.

Dean of Men announces need for dorm referees

Application forms are available for qualified men to be appointed to positions in the Resident Advisor Program in Chaffee Hall for the 1970-71 academic year.

The resident advisor receives his single room and board free plus a monthly stipend. The assistant resident advisor receives his room free for the entire academic year.

FEB 27 10

FEBRUARY 1870

BOISE, IDANO

Application forms may be picked up in the Office of the Dean of Men, Admin. 123 B. Applications are being reviewed and selection will be made soon.

ON VALENTINE'S DAY Mickael Phelan was arrested for selling the peacestix (pictured above) in violation of Idaho Code 18-3401. This provision makes it a misdemeanor to sell any article on which a deface representation of the flag has been painted of printed.

That Phelan is actually guilty of descrating the American flag questions whether consecutive issues of the Statesman TV Weekly (pictured here) and now the Arbiter's nameplate are also guilty of violating the Idaho Code.

Following the arrest of Phelan, indignant statements were directed toward police action. Since considerable comment has been made, the Arbiter will run the Apple column in next week's issue. Related story on page 2. THE IDANO STATESMAN

CARE A MARKET AND A START WALK OF FEB. 8-14, 1970

Bright's night lights

Sheriff's aerial patrol should be eliminated

Invasion of privacy is an avenue in which the members of the Ada County Sheriff's Office have recently begun expansion. Equipping a helicopter with spotlights and flying over residential areas of Boise last week, the gendarmes were testing a new approach for Idaho law enforcement.

The helicopter technique allows the officers to cover ground faster, sneak up over suspected areas of illegal pursuits and peer into your backyard where you are privileged to do many things which in public are no-no's.

Granted, aerial surveilence is fine when a dangerous suspect is being pursued, but lighting the night around residential sections is as bad as breaking in the door unannounced looking for suspected pot.

Many people were concerned, some even frightend. to see beams of light zapping out through the foggy night air. Flying saucers were discovered by a local pilot in the late 40's, and there are still people who don't agree with the Air Force that UFO's do not really exist. Sheer panic caused by a sudden flash of light in the sky is only one reason for the county constables to discontinue the use of copters for night patrolling.

However, since so many of our liberties are being infringed upon by federal and state laws which suspend the Bill of Rights, the use of aerial night lights is but another step toward a paranoid police state.

If the good sheriff of Ada County wants to ease his mind concerning illegal acts he is unable to stop, the suggestion is that he become a bit more universal with his codes, and direct the energies of his deputies toward all violations and not just those that are the fad today.

But first of all, take your lights from the sky, Paul Bright, before you suddenly flash down upon a car carrying a family and, in the panic the vehicle leaves the road. ΛJG

Campus notes

Debaters place second in ISC

Boise State College senior debaters Charles Davis and Patrick McDermott won second place in the Idaho Speech Conference February 21. They competed with teams from U of I, ISU, NNC and Eastern Oregon College for the award. First place went to NNC and third place to ISU.

Other participants from BSC the speech conference were:

Ann Barnet Robert Barraclough Lillie Brown

Audrey Gaskell

Cathie Hopper Rick Hunt

- Lois Joslyn
- Patricia Mathews

Certificates of distinction were awarded to the following people for outstanding participation in the rournament:

Fraternity hits Logan, Utah

The Theta Omicron Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi sent 20 members of thefraternityto the regional conference held last weekend in Logan, Utah.

The group toured several local businesses in Logan and attended business sessions. meetings and panel discussions relating to the operation of the fraternity.

The Boise State chapter also was elected to host the next regional convention which will be held February 12-14, 1971.

This conference on the BSC campus will host approximately, 200 Alpha Kappa Psi members from around the region which includes Regis College, University of Denver, University of Colorado, University of Wyoming, University of Utah, Utah State University, University of New Mexico, ISU and BSC.

in a second design of the second

Charles Davis-Oral Interpretation, Patrick McDermott Oratory, Rick llunt – Extemporaneous Speaking, Lillie Brown-Oral Interpretation and Audrey Gaskell -Oral Interpretation.

The next intercollegiate speech tournament which BSC will enter is the Linfield College Tournament held March 5, 6 and 7 in McMinnville, Oregon.

Library lists new hours

Library hours have been revised for the spring break. Hours will be as follows: Sat. & Sun. March

7-8-CLOSED M o n 9-Sat. March 14-OPEN 1-5

Sun., March 15-OPEN 2-5 Monday March 16-REGULAR HOURS RESUME.

New group colonizes

Boise State College will welcome a new fraternity on campus this weekend. Saturday, February 28, 1970, the Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity will be officially colonized.

The event will take place in a Silver Room of the Student Union Building at 1 p.m.o

Artist featured in Gallery

John Takehara. internationally known potter and assistant professor of art at Boise State College, returns to the Boise Gallery of Art now through, Mar. 8 with an exhibition of his most recent work.

Takchara's latest ceramic art will be shown in one wing of the Gallery, and selected work by his students will be on display in the other.

"God and Country" people strike The status of local law is questioned on Feb. 14

by Terry Ertter

Mike Phelan, operator of Boise's only known head shop is currently free on $50 bond awaiting further action on his arrest for almost breaking a law.

He stands accused of criminally descerating the American Flag, a misdemeanor punishable by a $100 fine or thirty days in jail.

To avoid crossing the law with possibly treasonous comment, 1 will abstain from personal judgments concerning the validity of such a law. My opinions are irrelevant anyway.

The law is that law and order must prevail; or what are we if not a nation of laws to protect us fromourselves?These laws are all that stand between us and something bad.

I would not wish to go on record as advocating that everyone go out and tear down the nearest flag to protest this arrest.

There are logical reasons for laws against destruction of personal property; besides, flags are pretty.

However, no matter how you count the stars on this desecrated flag it it difficult to get past nine; no matter how well you count. Political science majors will remember that our usual flag has fifty stars. It is not even a replica of a portion of the flag because if you extend the flag-shaped object behine the peace symbol (in your mind) the result will not be the American flag.

So, this desecrated flag is not ours; it is someone elses. Actually, it more nearly resembles England's Union Jack with nine stars and a few extra stripes added.

Still, it might be argued that the law states that any representation of our flag is a misdemeanor. It is also true that no great stretch of the imagination is required to see some resemblance between 'Exhibit A'' and Old Glory.

However, before we unstretch our imaginations, us all look at the front cover of the TV weekly for the week Feb. 15-21. With our still stretched imaginations we can see what appears to be a distortion of the American flag. Superimposed on this flag are Uncle Sam, a cartoon creation from the 1800's, and one of his contemporary associates, Mr. Magoo.

This cover is an advertisement for a TV produced cartoon.

It is violation of Section 18-3401 of the Idaho Code, which states in part that posession, as well as manufacture of such representations of the flag is a misdemeanor.

Theoretically, (and you could probably ask Mike Phelan about theories) the men in blue could have visited nearly any home in the Boise Valley on the day they received that issue of the paper and discovered multiple offenses by people in possession of descerated flags.

If the matter is to be judged as to the extent of degradation it could be asked, is peace any more, unAmerican than Mr. Magoo?

(Para Not at 18-1).

Gaugas appoint the sector (1995 S.

Also, as long as we are dealing in broad interpretations of a law prohibiting the possession or manufacture of any article or substance which has a representation of the flag on it, consider this:

An article or substance (decal) containing the words, 'America, love it or leave it" and a representation of the American flag which bears a far stronger resemblance to the actual American Flag than does the peace symbol which may cost Mike Phelan $100 or 30 days in jail.

In the land of the free, an order to love it or leave hardly

For what it's worth Quinn movie does not equal other successes

by Bill Sommars

A Dream of Kings brings back memories of Anthony Quinn's performance in Zorba the Greek-unfortunately the movie is neither as good nor does the plot stir anyone to do anything that "now" movies do.

Anthony Quinn is a desperate Greek immigrant living in Chicago- with his family and his son who is dying of some unmentioned but incurable disease. Quinn is possessed by the idea that a return to Mt. Olympus will cure his son, but needs $700 to finance the trip back to Greece.

The ultimate breakdown of Quinn's morals and scruples to secure the money lowers him to a social outcast among the proud and honest Greeks who clutter the slums of Chicago.

Advertisements indicate that the viewer should judge the man, but obviously no one could condemn him for throwing away

Sorority tags new officers

New officers of Epsilon Nu, a charter chapter of Alpha Chi Omega, were elected this week. Officers are Alice Koskella, president; Kay Flock, first vice-president; Pat Keenan, second vice-president; Molly Walling, third vice-president; Dee Harrison, treasurer; Becky Shepherd, assistant treasurer and Marianne Zubizareta, secretary. Also elected were Cindy Fiske, social chairman; Suzy Bush, assistant social chairman, Rita Robinson, Lyre editor and publicity chairman and Julie Richins, "Panhellenic representative.

Additional offices will be handled by Julie Duncan, rush chairman; Linda Hutchins, assistant rush chairman; Kathy Fisher, activities; Glenda Karn, AWS representative: Kris Williams, historian and librarian; Crystal Huey, scholarship chairman and Eva Larrow, song léader.

Installation for Epsilon Nu chapter will be held March 6, 7 and A seems consistent with our stated values. In fact, loving or not loving something is an entirely personal matter which does not encroach upon anyone else's rights.

Rather, such a demand encroaches upon the rights of the person or persons upon whom such demands are made.

To couple such demands with the flag of freedom seems to be a far more grievous offense than to associate the flag with peace.

Or, as two Tories once said to John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, "If you don't like it here why don't you move to Russia?"

his dignity and pride for what he believes will save the life of his son

The movie is cluttered with colorful Greek traditions and mannerisms that might have lightened the film if it had not been for the seemingly overused plot of man versus environment.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor,

This last weekend 1 visited the University of Idaho. The trip was quite an experience. This was the first time that I had ever been in a college atmosphere.

the students at the U of I seem to realize that they are no longer going to high school, and they act accordingly. It was quite refreshing compaired to the Boise State College student attitude. (Or should I say lack of attitude.)

At the University, the kids leave their own little world and take an interest in their school and the other people on campus. The students are proud of the andits University accomplishments.

As for their attitude toward Boise State, it can be summed up by the remark of one of the students, "Those people who want to go to college will keep coming to Moscow. Those that want to continue with their high school will go to Boise State.'

The University of Idaho has nearly thirty students working on their school paper. The Arbiter has trouble mustering a half-dozen people to put out an issuc.

People bitch and moan about paper delays and bad issues, yet you can never find any of those people trying to help put out an issue.

issue. Boise State College will grow and prosper, but, it will aways be a second rate active, wall we get some student on classic who want to be college strengts and get away from her fitted.

page 2

1. 1. gadica

'Slow Dance' never gets off killing ground

by John Elliott

Thursday evening the Boise State College Sub'al Players presented

"Slow Dance on the Killing Ground" to a near capacity house. The performances of BSC Professor John woodworth, Linda Watkinson and new-comer Clyde Merriwether ran from just mediocre to pure - bravado in the course of a mere two hours.

The play, although written some eight years ago, is one of the best scripts of its kind around today. It deals with racial problems, abortion and man's inability to face responsibilities that surround him, not to mention a few notes of interjected humor and poetry-sheer poetry, which were lost to the audience because of man's inability to handle dramatic emphasis and common stage diction.

At the beginning of the play, it was apparent that tempo, that little element that allows a play to flow rather than to drag itself to death, was absent; this was due-in part-to slow line pick-up and delivery.

Let us examine the work of the actors in detail

It was John Woodworth that handed in his best performance to date as the German refugee Glas. His performance was studied and at times slow, but he was very close to believable in his high-powered scenes in which he delivered secrets from the past.

His facial expressions were dynamic and alive, that is when you could see them. Woodworth, along with his fellow actors in this production, had a running love affair going with the floor, and for some reason seemed to be more interested in that said floor than in the audience

There were times when Woodworth lost concentration and seemed to want something to react to, but this certain something was not always present.

If he could have kept his performance at the level that he maintained during the judgment scene, Woodworth could have easily stolen the show, but-alas-Woodworth's basic problem was a lack of continuity he was not the only one!

Linda Watkinson's performance of Rosie, the frumpish, pregnant escapee from a small New York suburb hit close to home with anyone who had experienced that particular torture known as a blind date

Of all three performances of the evening, Linda's was the performance containing the most continuity, but it was far from honest.

The reason for this lack of honesty could have stemmed from her basic character concept, which was not human, but super-human. Her gestures- obtained from such memorables as "The Tempest," "Three Penny Opera " and "Macbeth"- were immensely over-done, and at times we wondered if Linda would need stairs to ascend to the balcony.

At one point in the play, we the audience-felt sorry for Linda because of the entrance blocking she was given.

Her entrance, which reminded one of Camille's death scene and took nearly as long, was possibly a joke on the audience perpetrated by Del Corbett, the director of this little gem.

I felt at times that Linda could have replaced alot of shouting with intensity-remember, intensity can not be replaced by mere shouts.

Clyde Merriwether, a newcomer to the Boise stage, gave a natural and enjoyable performance as Randell the young gentlemen of some color. His performance was colorful, but I don't believe that a large amount of this Tour de Force was planned. I think that a great share of it happened by accident.

His movements were smooth, and his movements were delivered with the commensurate glee of a tipsy duck. This greatest downfall was the lack of constancy in characterization and the delivery of this characterization.

Though he shows a lot of promise, Merriwether is still a diamond in the rough, so to speak, and as soon as he learns a small - amount of technique, he shall be simply grand.

I must say, however, that this is his first perfromance of any length, and a final not bad.

All and all, the play is watchable, but slow nothing to do with the title which may account for the appearance of lack of direction.

With all of the unmotivated movement and the questions left in the minds of the audience members concerning what he was trying to say and convey, Del Corbett must be given credit for trying a venture of this magnitude in "fi'l old Boise. Next time Corbett will not ignore a show of this potential and direct some intensity into it. When he does this his show will come up to its audience's standard, so to speak.

19-year olds may not vote

Pollution bill reaches Senate; suffrage act may soon die

by Bill Yost

In recognition of the intent of Congress to abate pollution of streams and lakes, Idaho's House of Representatives passed House Bill 497 by a unanimous vote Feb 9. The bill is now in the Senate Health Committee.

The purpose of this bill, as explicated by the House Affairs Committee, is "to enhance and preserve the quality and value of the water resources of the State of Idaho and to assist in the prevention, control, and abatement of water pollution." Under this act. the Legislature had adopted water quality standards, authorized the State Department of Health to implement these standards and provided for a water pollution

This fund is to provide 25 per cent of the cost for eligible projects. These projects being ones which would conform to the rules and regulations of the Idaho Board of Health, and which could receive Federal

Complete

Formal Rentals

ALEXANDERS

CAMPUS SHOP

Ph. 343-5291

control fund.

assistance

Federal funds would provide for as much as 50 per cent of the project costs Although the unchecked dumping of pollutants into our streams and lakes would seem to be the basis of the problem, this is not so, according to Representative Ed Hedges.

Hedges was enthusiastic about the bill, and felt that this was an area in which legislation was needed. But he seemed to feel that the act was superficial population is the basis of this problem of water pollution. Air and water pollution are directly proportional to the number of the Ways and Means Committee of the Idaho State Legislature, one is the bill which would

Ed Hedges, Representative from the 15th District, is an avid supporter of the 19 year old vote He reported that "Although 2,000 signatures were recently received from the University of Idaho, they were simply filed with many others. The bill will probably never come out of committee."

Town Teen open Friday night until 9:00 p.m.

Broncos ready for post-season games

Broncos finish 19-5 season with losses to New Mexico regular season game to the nation's fifth ranked team, 105-79. The first team BSC has ever played in the top ten

Altrusians push ecology stickers

Bumper Stickers

Georgia Standing, a Boise State voice instructor, has brought to the attention of the Arbiter a service of the Altrusa Club of Boise

This international service club, which is running a contest for high school students and awarding school students for anti-litter essays, has undertaken a local project this year, distributing bumper stickers that read Keep Idaho Clean.

Anyone interested in a cleaner America and a cleaner Idaho, contact Georgia Standing for an attractive red and blue sticker, in the Auditorium Building, Room 106.

HELP WANTED

JOBS! JOBS! and more JOBS! Students, Teachers. Stateside and International Jobs. Recreational Jobs; Year-round Jobs; Summer Jobs. All occupations and trades. Enjoy a vacation while you earn. Hurry! The best jobs are taken early. Write: "JOBS", P.O. Box 475, Dept. CP61-1, Lodi, Calif. 95240 national ranked teams handed a sound thrashing to the Broncos and clearly showed why they are ranked number 5.

The Broncos started well keeping even with the Aggies during most of the first half. They even took a small lead at several points. With only four or five minutes left in the first half, the New Mexico State Aggies finally did what was expected and opened a nine point lead.

Bill Otey had a great night, scoring 27 points to lead all scorers. Ron Austin added 21, Don Barnes 13, Wendy Hart 12, Keith Burke 4 and Renee Ruth har! 2.

Sorry, excuse us!

The statement in last week's editorial stating that the campus radio station is passe' should have been corrected. The station KETR is now and has always been functioning.

KETR is now on the air from 2p.m. to 10p.m. weekdays with a staff of 12 D.J.'s.

Arbiter Art Galus Acting-Editor

Jack Rencher Spirits Editor Harry Van Brunt Business Manager Jim Dalos Advertising Manager Colleen Terry Advertising Manager Ralph Sword, Bill Sommars, Marty Gregory Reviewers Jane Dunn, Sister M. 1. Wasmuuth, Bob Radloff Reviewers Fistablished May 1969, the Arbiter is a consolidation of the BJC and BC Roundup newspapers. Printed under the auspices of the ASBSC, the Arbiter is produced in cooperation with the BSC Center for Printing and Graphic Services and with Graphic Aris of Boise. The Arbiter is published weekly except during holidays and test weeks.

ISE SALU

Live entertainment 9-midnight Thurs.-Fri.-Sat.

UNITARIANS

Boise Valley Fellowship

Sun, March 1, 11 a.m., YMCA

Speaker, JAMES TOMPKINS

AABBBBBB

100 South 6th Street

Corner 6th & Main

OPEN

Sunday thre Wed, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Thurs, thru Sat. 11 a.m. to 1:00 a.m.

"The Freedom to Procreate"

The Broncos were defeated by the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys in a game that started to look like a Bronco victory.

BSC started the game on a hot note and maintained a 7 point lead through most of the first half. They took a 44-37 lead into halftime.

During the second half the Broncos fell victim to a reinspired team of cowboys that inflicted a full court press. The Broncos turned the ball over five times and lost the fire.

Cliff Harris of the Cowboys lead all scoring with 33 points. Bronco scoring showed Ron Austin and Don Barnes each pumped through 19. Bill Otcy

Vandals desecrated Boise State termed Bum-of-the-Month

by Bob Radloff

It's too bad that with all the interest in sports today, that some universities are more interested in the almighty dollar than in the schooi's record or individual athlete.

One future Big Sky opponent finally decided to let someone else in on its gravy train, namely University of Idaho. Idaho has said in no uncertain terms that they would rather play a football game, lose 70-3 and take home $40,000, than play Boise State College and possibly win 30-10 and have a miscrable $3,500 guarantee.

What are college sports forthe players and schools' enjoyment or for the college to build a multi-purpose sports complex?

U of I is more interested in making money than in having a winning season or in the players' having a future in pro sports. Most of the time the pros go for an indiviudal who has come from a winning team.

Boise State is developing into one of the West's future powerhouses, mostly on the backs of men like Tony Knap and Murray Satterfield.

Two years ago we didn't go to Georgia for the National Junior College Championship because we weren't 10-0.

Today if anyone asked us to go to a playoff, we would have

Best pool room

in town.

Two tables;

FREE pretzels

Happy Hour

15¢ Beer

every Thursday

9-11 p.m.

already left on the plane. This is good, but why weren't we consistent?

New Mexico State, the number five ranked major college, was willing to take us on for one reason or another. Sports Illustrated called it "NEW MEXICOSTATES'S BUM OF THE MONTHMEMBER."Well, if we are bums, what is Sports Illustrated? Mickey Mouse 'Cartoons?

I hope that in the future if Boise State College ever gets as nationally known as New Mexico State, we take a page out of NMS's history and not out of U of I's. added 18^{-before} fouling out late in the game. Final score of the game stood at Hardin-Simmons 100, Boise

Pledge of Perfection The Keepsake pledge of quality . . . guaranteed for color, cut and clarity and permanently registered.

Keepsake

