Soldiers Home Controversy Erupts City Council Meeting

by Sharon Barnes and Margaret Paxton

"To everything there is a season... and a time for every purpose under heaven... a time to plant and a time to uproot." Ecclesiastics: 1-8 was the invocation at the Boise City Council meeting Monday night where citizens gathered to discuss the controversial issue of saving the Old Soldier's Home.

Earl Manchester, Chairman of the American Party, said the present location of the Curtis Road extension through the Old Soldier's Home "is the most atrocious engineering monstrosity ever conceived."

Boise Mayor Jay Amyx and council members were questioned by Veterans and citizens for three and one-half hours on the Curtis Road issue. Amyx said he appreciated the interest of the young people in saving the trees.

He asked citizens to look at the overall picture. "We are concerned about saving any tree we can... But we also have to look at your safety. We can replace trees, we cannot bring people back to life."

Several citizens, including Jack Munsen, a Veteran, said the park holds a great deal of sentimental value. The home was built on land contributed by 121 old-timers including P.F. Church, the grandfather of Senator Frank Church, and the law firm of Stewart and Borah in 1893.

According to Munsen, a heartless computer in Palo Alto, Calif., decided the route of the Curtis Road extension. He read the definition of a computer to Mayor Amyx and his Council and the Mayor assured him that he and the council were aware of the computer's capabilities.

Manchester, a Boise contractor, said the city needs both the road and a Veterans' Memorial Park. He said the park could be tie-in to the Green Belt and could be used as tourist attraction. However, State Street should have priority concerning rebuilding. "It can't hold the traffic on it now," he said.

Milo Needles, a 10-year

Veteran and chairman of the "Citizens to Save the Trees" movement, said Boise needs a rapid transit system more than the Curtis Road Extension. He noted there might be disturbance to local nursing homes, and part property could be torn up by road-building equipment if the extension is built.

Hank Vanderhoff, representing the Department Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said he could find only five persons who had favored the Curtis Road extension after he read through the minutes of several hearings conducted on the proposed plan. He said the Old Soldier's Home property was to be held for state deposition with the final decision to be made by the State Legislature.

Councilman Harold Jones said the council has been trying since 1961 to acquire the home property from the state to make a park, but the land had not been made available.

Amyx said a great deal of money and time has been spent on the design and planning of the road. Preserving the trees and grass is one of the most important issues the engineers considered in designing the extension.

A citizen from the back of the crowded meeting room said, "We want to stand with you. We need to participate in the decision making." To that Amyx replied, "The city is wanting help to get that park. You should put the pressure where it's really needed and help us get this land for a park." He said if petitions were going to be sent, they should be addressed to State Legislature.

James Nishitani, United Veterans Council, said a bill is to be proposed to the State Legislature to make a park out of the area. He said he had 12,000 signatures of a citizens who support this move to preserve the area for a park.

Milo Needles commented after the meeting that the council really didn't believe the young people were sincere about the saving the trees.

He said citizens would occupy the Old Soldier's Home if necessary to keep the bulldozers away. When asked if he was planning to get involved, Needles said, "I'll be one of the first ones in."

He added Mayor Amyx said it's too late to change the plans. Needles feels it's "never too late." He has no definite to hand the council, commenting, "I am not sure we have the answer yet, but I'm sure there is a better way."

The "Save the Trees Movement" has gone into the community. Needles detects a positive attitude in saving the Old Soldier's Home. He said a petition circulated in Boise already has 2500 signatures.

Ecology is the main objective of the movement. "We really need the support of the citizens." We feel the majority of people in Boise are in favor of the park, and we need their voice," Needles concluded.

"Students it's your Vote"

Much is being said these days about student power or, as you prefer, student rights. But few realize that it all begins or stalls at the student polls. Today is election day and successes or failures in the area of student rights will make their mark at the polls.

At least once a day you hear the worn out and trite phrase, "Student government is Mickey Mouse." But the facts show student government is only as strong as the student body wants it to be.

Boise State College was admitted to the state system of higher education Jan. 1, 1969. Prior to its admittance, a large sum of student fees was directed towards physical improvement of the campus. Such facilities as the new stadium, a physical education complex and the new business building were built totally or in part by student funds. You, as students, do have a say as to how your money is being spent.

Students are paying, roughly, $18 a semester to fund the athletic program. Add another $18 each term for the stadium complex and you have a grand total of $36 a term or $72 a year spent on athletics. That does not count the P.E. complex.

It is not the point of this editorial to discuss the pros and cons of spending this kind of money for such items. But the point is this. Through your elected representatives, you will either have a voice on the affairs of your school or not. It's up to you to decide. Let's vote.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NO FAD BABY, FACT

Editor, the ARBITER
After reading Mr. Peterson's article about the Black studies program at this college being a "fad of the time," I just couldn't sit back and let this article go by without rebuttal.

Granted, there are other minority groups who are more native to this area than the Black students attending this institution. How many of these minority groups have been enslaved, oppressed and made virtually invisible in this country?

My Chicano brother came here by choice to work or to make a better way for himself or even to flee oppression. The same for my Oriental brother. They were not uprooted from their homeland by force and brought to this country to be made less than a human being, a slave and a piece of property. America has never fought a war to decide whether or not my Chicano, Oriental or Indian brothers could walk as men. America never had to.

My brothers of color were not stripped of their own names, and given the names of their owners. My brothers of color have never had their blood polluted by rape. So polluted that their brothers and sisters come in assorted colors. So assorted that sometimes it gets hard to know what you really are.

These are just a few of the reasons that there are Black studies programs, not only here at BSC, but in all of the major colleges and universities in the United States.

If the truth is "polarizing non-white American against its Caucasian counterparts", then let it. In fact the truth is only polarizing White America against itself. And the truth is that Black Americans have suffered in this country the base of human degradation.

All this is just to say to you that a fad does not live and breathe and die. And if this is a fad, then so is truth and justice and America. The Black man is not a fad, but a living fact. BELIEVE IT. And as long as there are Black Americans left on this earth, the fad will last and outlive both you and me.

On behalf of the Boise State Broncos and the coaching staff I would like to extend my most humble thanks and most sincere admiration to the members of the Boise State student body who cheered us to victory last Saturday afternoon.

In all my experience as a coach I have never seen where the enthusiasm of the student body proved to be such a motivating force for the team. I am sure that in the second half of that game your participation lifted us to victory.

The Broncos are your team, made up of the members of your studentbody and your support for the team was, indeed, something to behold.

OPEN LETTER TO THE BSC STUDENTS AND ADMINISTRATION:

Speaking for the staff and students of Boise State College's new Theatre Arts Department, I wish to broadcast a resounding expression of appreciation, admiration, and a general Hallelujah to all participants of the Boise State College scene.

This year flags the beginning of a new decade. From where we sit there is already concrete evidence that it will be one of the most exciting, most creative, most productive periods in some time.

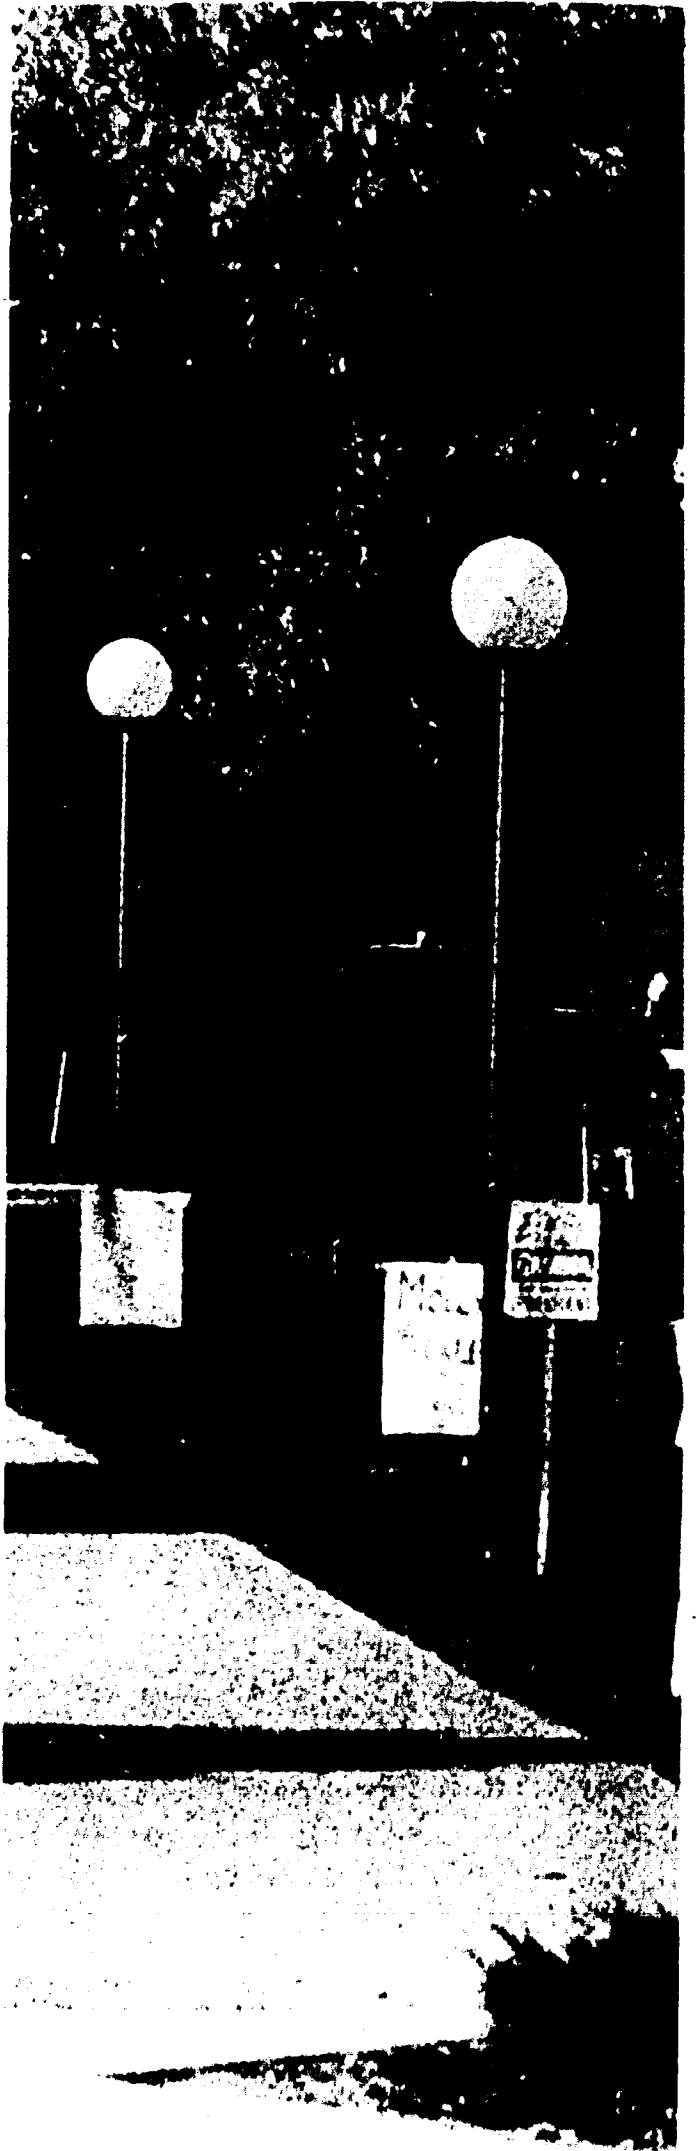

Conscientious educators are aware of the shortcomings in the general educational system. The greater part of their lives is the dream of an institution where true education can occur.

It is remarkable that during a time when many schools are disintegrating BSC is functioning progressively. We thank you, students and administration, for the opportunity to pursue excellence in education through theatre arts. We shall strive to provide the finest quality theatre possible, both in academic and production programs.

We want good theatre to be available to everyone. We will continue to make it so through a policy of free admission to all productions and an invitation to all students to participate in the productions.

Our pride in this college and its student body is equaled only by our gratitude for being in on the total action at BSC.

Reporter Roving

The IDAHO STATESMAN has called the Old Soldiers Home controversy a "bridge" for the generation gap in Boise. To find out how BSC students feel about this community issue, the Roving Reporter asked, "What do you think about the extension of Curtis Road through the Old Soldiers Home?"

Ken Coleman: "I know very little about it, but I think they ought to leave it alone. It's a nice site. The Veterans should have a place of their own. It would destroy a little bit of the park value."

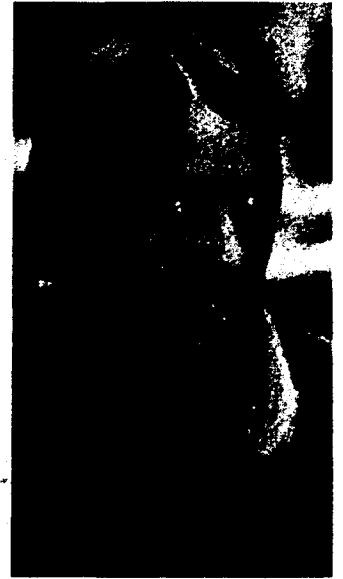

Frances Drury: "I have no objections to it."

Robert McDowell: "I'm against it. Since I retired from the Air Force, I guess that makes me an old soldier."

Larry Knighton: "I think that they can definitely take it around."

Marie Peterka: "I think if it can be rerouted, it should be. Boise has lots of trees, but old trees are nice."

Ron Stacy: "Well, I don't see any sense in taking down those trees and all. They could have diverted the road a little bit and saved the park."

Lisa Winn: "If it's a historical landmark or something, I say leave it."

Glen Hashimoto: "I don't like it. People should stop once in a while for something. Some things are more important than progress."

Anita Friscopp: "It sounds like a bum deal. I've heard they have alternate routes, and I really think they should take another one."

Jim Shrosbee: "I think they could move the road. Make a park out of the Old Soldiers Home."

ASB Officers Call for BSC Constitutional Revision

by Jane Dunn

Associated Student Body officers Wayne Mittleider, Lee Mercy and Dee Cazier said Monday discrepancies in the student body constitution have caused the need for major reworking of the entire document.

If three major points of the constitution were followed, including rules governing budget approval, Senate elections, and expenditures authorization, the entire 1970-71 activities program could have been set back three months.

CONSTITUTION

To see why the constitution is at fault the officers said to take a look at the way the budget has to be approved. When each ASB funded club formulates proposed expenditures, requests should be presented by March. Last year requests were not confirmed until the term was over. The final sum could not, consequently, be approved by the adjourned Student Senate.

In effect, the constitution reads any spending done with ASB funds before the budget is approved is in violation of the document. Mittleider replied, "There is no carry over of Senators who could have approved the budget for the next year. Through the summer if you don't have any money to spend, you might as well rip off the entire student activities program."

Mittleider said special expenditures include a glass door for the ASB office, "because we thought it was important. The old door made it look like an entrance to a janitor's supply room."

He said if the money had not been spent during the summer months there would be no newspaper, yearbook, telephones, social activities, and in effect no organization.

Mittleider, Mercy and Cazier made the decision to spend the funds by "executive fiat," authority delegated by themselves, giving the move proper sanction. Included in the move was the raising of salaries for the ASB officers. Mercy said, "We spent more time in the ASB offices during the summer than any of several administrations in the past, trying to put together a decent program for this year. We have lost a lot of personal income."

There has been some question as to how student funds are spent in other areas. Treasurer Dee Cazier constructed a pie chart to break down an average $160 fee expense which resident full-time students pay each semester. The largest percentages this year are general building fees, 34 per cent, and the Student Union Building fee, 25 per cent. The rest is for ASB, 10 per cent; athletics, 11.5 per cent; health insurance, eight per cent; health center, three per cent; SUB equipment fees, six per cent; general fee, two per cent; and alumni activities, .5 per cent.

SENATE ELECTIONS

The delay of the Senate election this week occurred because total enrollment figures were held, pending release from the administration and the Office of Higher Education. Mercy said, "We had to get the figures to see how the schools were going to be reapportioned for senatorial distribution. We finally got them this week, and we had to postpone the elections until this week."

He said, "People can't say they didn't know about the election because we have had a lot of response. Last year only 12 students ran for Senate seats. I'd like to say we had 45 people who signed up to run this year. 28 of those met the requirements, including class officers."

He said the new election procedure will be an IBM program. An election board headed by Mercy includes Rex Reagan, Amy Young and Suzy Bush.

One discrepancy is that not all offices have candidates to run, and some are being challenged by only one person.

IMPROVEMENTS

The present constitution lacks a system of checks and balances. Improvements the ASB officers would like to see include all class officers and Senate members elected in the spring with ASB officers, excepting freshmen who would campaign in the fall; and the appointment of standing committees for Homecoming, All-Idaho Week; Lyceum; Social activities; etc.

Mittleider expressed the need to evaluate positions within student government to see if offices and functions are realistic.

Until the constitution is revised, the discrepancies will continue to halt progress for budget approval, elections and fund appropriations. Two committees are working on the revision aspects, one headed by Gary Johnson. A referendum is scheduled to be given to the Senate for approval in February.

Distributive Education Club of America starts planning for another great year

"It is going to be a great year!" says Rick Brisbois. Rick, a freshman from Pocatello, is the new DECA president. He estimates that the enrollment for the club is 55 and will increase to 175 before long.

DECA, short for Distributive Education Club of America, was founded in 1946 by business men of Minneapolis, Minn. The club started out with 100,000 members, a staff of 10 and 52 state groups.

DECA was started for high school and college students interested in the field of distribution as a vocation. The functions of the club are similar to those of the Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis. To belong to DECA, a student must be a business major, pay a fee of $3.50 and attend meetings regularly. In return, the club will provide a good deal of helpful knowledge to be used in business, strikes a point on job application forms and combines business and social activities.

Throughout the year, national conventions will be held. In mid-November, the Western Regional Convention will be held in Boise. Later on there will be a State Post Secondary Workshop and elections will be held for the state. Next spring there will be a State Leadership Convention and later, a National Leadership Convention in San Antonio, Texas. Idaho provides funds to the winner of the state convention.

BSC's DECA began the year by holding an election. Vice-president is Mike Ramirez, a freshman from Caldwell, VB is Jerry Timmons, a junior from Caldwell, secretary-treasurer is Sandy Poletti, a freshman from Borah High School, and parliamentarian is Delbert Swartz from Kellogg. All six officers are mid-management majors.

Other plans for the club include social events, money raising projects, a campaign to support Rick Brisbois as senate representative and a campaign for the Homecoming Queen candidate.

Meetings for DECA are held every Thursday morning at 9:30 in B101. The advisors are Mrs. Penelope Fisher, Leo Knowlton and Mrs. Judy Lemmon. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Freshmen Present Colt Happening at BSC

by Nancy Tipton

It's a Colt Happening!, is the theme for the freshman activity week Oct. 5-10. This idea, a result of brainstorming by the Assistant Dean of Men Ray Wolfe and Dean Ed Wilkinson will be five days entertainment provided by the freshman class for the BSC student body.

This years frosh are totally in charge of the project. They intend to involve all new BSC students in this event and create interest and enthusiasm for all of BSC.

Numerous events are scheduled Monday through Friday. All events will try to be strictly non-profit although several activities may cost a few cents in order to cover expenses. The dance held Friday will be a donation affair with contributions going to the Wally Benton Fund.

Monday

Monday will start off with the Freshman Olympics. This features a wheel barrow race, over death defying obstacles in the Chaffee Hall parking lot. Also the dizzy baseball bat twirl, an egg tossing contest, a leap frog race and tug of war between organizations.

A peeing contest is open to everyone. Activities will happen between 3-5 p.m. near the grassy areas of Morrison and Driscoll Halls. Please contact either Beverly Lamb at Morrison Hall or Wendy Standley at Driscoll for more information.

All organizations are invited to participate or any individual is encouraged to get involved and have fun at all activities during "It's a Colt Happening!"

A F Chaffee Hall is sponsoring a slave sale of Freshman women! Make arrangements to sponsor the coeds in the slave sale.

For more facts concerning the Slave Sale contact Freshman Class President Candidate, Henry Hanscheid, in Chaffee Hall at 385-1719.

Tuesday

A talent show will be scheduled for 8:30-10:00 p.m. in the gym Tuesday.

Tuesday will behold a "leg contest" for all people with the necessary requirements of two. Both varieties of people will display their knees, while eliminating prejudice, the rest of their bodies will be cleverly concealed in a burlap bag. The decision of the winner will be based solely on the quality of leg revealed. This will be combined with the talent show, and plan have been made to have KFXD's Rick Oldenburg MC the show. Contact Marion Hall to enter.

Wednesday

Freshman Senate Candidate, Rick Brisbois and Steve O'Neill of Chaffee Hall have organized a bonfire Wednesday night 8:30-10:00 at the site west of the new Vo-Tech Building. There will be a car bash. Help is needed in finding transportation for these cars from their wrecked auto lot. Contact Rick at 385-3712 in Chaffee Hall.

Driscoll Hall is providing a songfest at the bonfire. If you want to get involved, call Driscoll Hall at 342-9205.

The Bronettes and Alpha Omicron Pi are having a rally at 8:00 p.m. at the stadium. BSC's freshman team and coaches will be introduced.

Thursday

Gamma Phis and Tri Deltis are sponsoring a "Bug Race." Volkswagons disguised as monsters of the road will attempt to outdo each other in an obstacle rally event. If you have a Bug, enter it! One restriction, only Volkswagen with true VW potential can be entered. No rascals with VW's without engines, or just a frame may be entered. This is because instead of motorized transport, these autos will be pushed. There is no limit to the number of people pushing. Get your car entered. Call Vicki Hawkins at 342-3113. This will be happening in the parking lot by the stadium at 4:00 p.m.

Also, the Bronettes Drill Team is having a Treasure Hunt in the SUB at 7:00 p.m. Donations from Boise sporting good stores will serve as treasures or grand prize. Anything can happen at this event!

Friday

Friday's activities consist of an informal sock-hop at BSC Gym. Everyone is asked to attend this dance sponsored by the ASB. A freshman Queen and King will be crowned. All clubs and organizations having freshman members are encouraged to select their representative king and/or queen. For further information, contact Angie Carlson at 343-6160.

Donations are suggested, and all profits will go to BSC skydiver, Wally Benton.

"CATCH-22"

IS THE MOST MOVING, MOST INTELLIGENT, THE MOST HUMANE — OH, TO HELL WITH IT! — IT'S THE BEST AMERICAN FILM I'VE SEEN THIS YEAR!

It comes as close to being an epic human comedy as Hollywood has ever made! Alan Arkin as Yossarian provides the film with its continuity and dominant style. Arkin is a deadly serious actor, he projects intelligence with such mono-maniacal intensity, he is both funny and heroic at the same time. Nichols remains, as he was before, one of our finest directors." —VINCENT CANBY, N.Y. TIMES

"IT'S ONE HELL OF A FILM! A COLD, SAVAGE AND CHILLING COMEDY! Firmly establishes Nichols' place in the front-rank of American directors." —BRUCE WILLIAMSON, PLAYBOY

"Viewing Arkin is like watching Lew Alcindor sink baskets or Bobby Fischer play chess. A virtuoso player entering his richest period! A triumphant performance!" —TIME MAGAZINE

Striking Out

by Bob Radloff

Boise State has struggled through three pre-conference games thus far, and it is about time they started to settle down and play Big Sky caliber ball. With Montana State being the first game of the conference the Broncos are going to have to play more heads up ball than they have been playing.

The Broncos have had their high and low spots but have been unable to maintain a steady diet of good ball control during the game. Montana is one of the lesser winning ball clubs, but yet manage to win when needed.

In pre-season picks Boise was picked eighth in the eight team league. This in itself ought to make the club fight even harder.

In order for the club to win the conference title they must win at least four games in conference play. Boise plays three conference members Montana State, Idaho State, and Weber State. Long Beach State has been deemed a conference team for Boise. Of the four mentioned, this reporter feels that Long Beach and Weber will be the two to beat.

Going into the first week of Big Sky action, Montana is tied for first with Boise, both are sporting 3-0 wins. Northern Arizona is second with a 2-1 record. Followed by Weber 1-1, Montana State and ISU, 1-2, with the U of I last with a 0-3 record.

Broncos Squeeze Win from CWS

By Tony Smith

BSC's backup quarterback, Pat Ebright, guided the Broncos to a 34-20 win over Central Washington State here Saturday.

After regular signal caller Eric Guthrie was sidelined with bruised ribs in the second quarter, Ebright came on to lead the Broncos to their third straight win of the season. BSC is now tied with Montana for the league lead in the Big Sky. Montana garnered its third win via a 20-0 win over Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff.

The Broncos pulled away to stay with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter. But a stubborn CWS eleven ballted the Broncos to a 20-20 standoff for the first three frames. Halftime score stood at 17-10 with BSC on top.

CWS scored first in the contest with a 39-yard field goal midway in the first period. Moments later Guthrie found flanker Dennis Baird for the first BSC six-pointer on a 36-yard touchdown aerial.

In the second frame Dennis Pooley added six more points via a 10-yard reception from Ebright. Guthrie added the PAT to pull BSC to a narrow halftime lead.

After intermission, a second field goal notted the score at 20-20 for CWS.

The Broncos scored twice in the final quarter with a pair of touchdowns, one caught by Al Marshall and the other by runningback Mike Haley.

Colts Humble Mountaineers

Led by split end Don Hutt, The BSC Frosh defeated an outmanned Eastern Oregon crew Monday afternoon here 48-0.

After obtaining a 6-0 edge in the first period, the Colts broke loose in the second quarter for two touchdowns. Quarterback Owen Seuoka ran for one score and passed to Hutt for the second. Stan Lane booted PAT's after each TD and the halftime score stood at 20-0 in favor of BSC.

Following intermission, the Colts continued their domination over the Mountaineers, scoring two more touchdowns.

The fourth period saw another pair of scoring counters. Fullback Loren Schmdit plunged over the middle from one yard out to score the final six-pointer.

BSC will host the University of Idaho Vandal frosh in its next encounter Oct. 10 at 8 p.m. That game will be played at Simplot Stadium in Caldwell.

BAA Picks

Baird, Skow

Senior split end Dennis Baird and junior defensive end Pete Skow were named offensive and defensive players of the week by the Bronco Athletic Association.

Baird made four catches for 65 yards and one score, a diving catch in the end zone of an Eric Guthrie pass. He is the top receiver on the team with 14 catches for 215 yards and two touchdowns. Baird punted three times for 88 yards against Central Washington.

Skow repeated himself as defensive player of the week as he was picked last week against Eastern Montana to bring his three game total to 17 unassisted tackles.

Mike Haley and Charles Holmes were voted runnerups in the balloting done by the 60 members of the BAA.

George Squire narrated the game film and gave a short scouting report on Montana State. This will be the first Big Sky Conference game for the Broncos. Game time is two p.m. Saturday afternoon at Bozeman.

Judo Club Strikes Crew Backs Theater Work

Seven meets are scheduled for the 1970-71 edition of the BSC Judo Club, the first to be held late in November.

This year's group boasts five blackbelts, five brownbelts and a number of whitebelts. Members of the squad holding blackbelts are John Lyon, Don Davis, Dwite Johnson, Mike Koto and Ken Wiscombe.

The team travels all over the United States. The tournament schedule includes the Eugene Northwest Intercollegiate affair and the Michigan National Collegiate Tournament. BSC is defending team champion of the Eugene tourney. Mike Harbig, president of the club, encouraged all persons interested in judo to join in participating with the classes.

Vo-Tech Realizes Plans, Dreams

Approximately 200 BSC students, administrators, faculty and city officials attended the dedication of the Vocational-Technical Center.

Don Miller, director of the center, spoke at the ceremony and introduced Dr. John Barnes, BSC president and ASB vice-president Leland Mercy.

The $1 million center will contain facilities for welding, auto body repair, auto mechanics and office machine repair. Graphic services for the college is also housed in the 65,000 square-foot building.

$500,000 was financed by ASB funds and $500,000 from the State Permanent Building Fund. The circular building, complete with workshops, laboratories, a learning center, offices and classrooms was designed by architects Johnston and Associates. Pavette Contractor was Matelli Construction from Boise.

"This building represents the frustration, dreams and plans of a lot of people," said Joe D. McCollum, State Board of Education vice president.

When you see a play production you see basically the actor. It is a well know fact that the unsung heroes of any production are members of the crew. They are responsible for executing set building, hanging lights, recording sound, making or finding costumes, and keeping track of the director's notebook.

Two important persons are the stage manager and the assistant director, who must keep track of blocking, actors and lines, and be aware of the duties of the technical designer.

Jim Bottoms, stage manager, and Sam Johnson, technical worker and director, the crew and actors promise to make "All My Sons" a fine production worth seeing. Tickets will be available Oct. 1 at the SUBA Theatre box office to students with ID cards and to all faculty members.

The show runs from Oct. 8-18, curtain time is 8:15.

"On A Clear Day You Can See Forever" by Marilyn Lawrence

"Hilarious, sad, astonishing, captivating, and tender" Miss Streisand is just that and more. She turns on a song not only with her voice, but with her whole being.

The story is purely fantasy, but with elements of reality. One line is soft and the next is angry and funny.

No other script and cast could have such a mixture of emotions and portray them as well and still have character and a warm sort of glowing ending.
