Student Politicians Expect ISGA Meet To Produce Results

The Idaho Student Government Association is meeting in Boise this week and officials are looking for substantial results.

Boise State ASB President Wayne Mittleider, president of ISGA, said Tuesday the group consists of student leaders from nine Idaho state institutions of higher learning, brought together to promote student government.

He said, "Every institution will be looking at other institutions. They'll find the problems they have are not unique. We've got it broken up so that after every major conference, everybody will end up in six different discussion groups to discuss what happened."

He said the agenda had been changed so large and small colleges will be together. There will be 35 minute openers and discussion groups will follow.

The event will take place within the Hotel Boise, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, when delegates come to register, they will pick a number from one to six, designating discussion groups in which they will be involved.

Mittleider said the smaller the group—the better, because if persons feel they have to contribute, they will.

Political activity will be emphasized during the convention, because both gubernatorial candidates, incumbent Gov. Don Samuelson and former State Sen. Cecil Andrus, will address the conference. Attorney General Robert Robson will also address the conclave.

Mittleider said, "I think there will be a lot of comment on the governor race. After Samuelson and Andrus speak, the group will break up, and they will come back with six different ideas."

Student government will be highlighted on Saturday, and the political atmosphere will be out of the way. Mittleider said student rights will play an important part. Student leaders will be preparing an agenda for the State Board of Education, and resolutions will be voted on Saturday.

The Student Bill of Rights will be discussed in the capacity if other schools wish to adopt it. Functions of the bill will be emphasized Mittleider said. An important feature of the convention will be the campus unrest situation.

Student leaders from the University of Idaho, Idaho State University, College of Idaho, Ricks College, Lewis and Clark Normal, College of Southern Idaho, Northwest Nazarene College, North Idaho Junior College, and Boise State will participate. Presidents, vice presidents and administrative assistants from each school.

Thursday, Oct. 15, registration will be conducted from 1:55 p.m., followed by a meeting of inter-action group leaders in the Idaho Room from 5 to 6 p.m. An informal reception with Cecil Andrus in the Capital City Room will be scheduled for 6 to 7 p.m. A Welcome dinner from 7 to 9 p.m. in the ballroom will feature Boise State College President Dr. John Barnes. A President's reception in the Capital City Room will precede a delegate assembly meeting.

Friday, Oct. 16, Gov. Don Samuelson will address the group with "The Future of Higher Education in the 70's" in the ballroom from 9 to 10 a.m.

College of Idaho delegates will present one of two seminars on "Small College Problems," and Idaho State University will present the other side, "Large College Problems" both from 10 to 11 a.m.

Inter-action group meetings will be conducted from 11 a.m. to 12 noon. Dr. Donald Kline, director of Higher Education in Idaho, will address the lunch session from 12 noon to 1:30 p.m. on "From the Other Side of the Generation Gap."

Gov. Don Samuelson and Cecil Andrus will attend a press conference from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. on the ballroom.

Two seminars, "Student Government, What Is It, What Should It Be," presented by North Idaho Junior College, and "Drugs A Problem?" presented by the College of Southern Idaho, will be conducted from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Following inter-action group leaders and delegates will participate in discussions until 6 p.m.

A social hour and dinner will follow from 7 to 9 p.m., with Attorney General Robert Robson speaking. A president's conference and special group meetings will be conducted afterwards.

Saturday, Oct. 17, two seminars will be conducted, "Responsible Change on Campus," by Northwest Nazarene College and Ricks College and "Course and Teacher Evaluation," Lewis and Clark Normal, from 9 to 10 a.m. A general assembly addressed by Bob Serrano with a presentation on "All Idaho Week" will be conducted from 10 to 11 a.m.

Inter-action groups will meet until noon when Robert C. Arneson, director of the Law Enforcement Planning Commission, will address the lunch session on "Riot Control and Campus Unrest."

The final seminar "Minorities on Campus" by the University of Idaho and Boise State College will be conducted from 2 to 3:20 p.m. General discussion and inter-action group meetings will be from 3:30 to 6 p.m.

Dinner in the Ballroom will feature a panel of the presidents and ISGA discussion for all delegates.

College Newswriters Flock to State Convention in Boise

This is the week for conventions in Boise, and the Idaho Collegiate Press Association will be meeting to re-discover the original concept of the organization.

President Larry Anderson, Idaho State University, said Tuesday it's time to get down to the concrete ideas for which the organization was formed. He said, "We are trying to ban together and form a power structure to help ourselves as a group of student press people in Idaho."

All editors and staff members of Idaho's nine college and university newspapers will attend the convention to be conducted at the Hotel Boise, Friday, Oct. 16 and Saturday, Oct. 17.

Representatives from Idaho State University's SPECULUM, Bill Hathaway, editor; University of Idaho's ARGONAUT, Cliff Eidemiller, editor; Ricks College's VIKING SCROLL, David Bly, editor; North Idaho Junior College's CARDINAL REVIEW, Larry Haight, editor; Northwest Nazarene College's CRUSADER, Gayle Moore, editor; College of Southern Idaho's HORIZON, Paul Buker, editor; Lewis and Clark Normal, Nancy Rousseau, editor; College of Idaho's COYOTE, and Boise State College's ARBITER, Jane Dunn, editor, will attend.

Anderson said registration is set for Thursday, Oct. 15, from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Hotel Boise. The opening banquet will feature guest speaker Sam Day, editor of the INTER-MOUNTAIN OBSERVER, discussing the United States Student Press Association (USSPA) convention last summer in Manchester, N.H.

A social hour will follow at 9:15 p.m.

Friday, Oct. 16 the breakfast meeting will be in conjunction with the Idaho Student Government Association, with Gov. Don Samuelson speaking. 10:30 a.m. is the time set for a plenary session headed by Anderson. Discussion on resolutions will include service award standardization and the University of Idaho student Bill of Rights.

Discussions will center around ICPSA funding and committee assignments.

The lunch session with the ISGA will feature Dr. Donald Kline, director of Higher Education Idaho, addressing the groups "From the Other Side of the Generation Gap."

Press conferences with Gov. Don Samuelson and democratic gubernatorial candidate Cecil Andrus will be conducted from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Discussion groups from 4:30 to 6 p.m. will highlight content of student publications and paper format. Two groups will give opening statements and papers will be critiqued.

Three ARBITER reporters went roving for answers. Monday, Oct. 12 and we received several which were mildly interesting. The question was, "Do you feel you had an adequate opportunity to become informed about the senatorial candidates during the recent student Senate elections?"

Funny thing, a lot of students felt that the posters splashed all over everything in sight did little to inform them of the candidates viewpoints.

Signs like, "Let's incorporate, you vote for me, I'll work for you", "Give a Basque a chance" and "Don't be old-fashioned" somehow failed to tell the students what they wanted to know about the candidates.

The speeches were a farce, as usual, with nothing accomplished except proof that one candidate could say the same thing better than another. Most of the candidates promised to work hard for YOU this year, to write a column for the paper or publish a weekly bulletin to let YOU know what he was up to and to be a strong voice for YOU in the Senate. Tape recordings of campaign speeches from the last few years would have accomplished the same purpose.

If all the candidates who have promised weekly columns or senate bulletins at BSC in the last three years could be stacked on top of each other they would comprise the tallest edifice in the world. The ARBITER does not reject these weekly columns so you'll have to guess again to figure out why you have never seen them.

Strong voices in the student Senate is one thing we have had in the past and will probably have again this year. One strong voice last year contributed strongly to our strong debt. Some less strong minds were bent by that strong voice and it only cost us $4,000 (we were already a few thousand in the hole). It has always seemed ridiculous to me that issues should be decided on the basis of which side has the better speaker, rather than on their own merits.

One suggestion we received from a student during our roving was to hold at least one forum with the candidates and interested students asking and answering questions. That way any student can find out what each candidate thinks about issues which are important to that student.

It is unnecessary for a liberal arts major to know what a business candidate thinks so the forum could be broken down into separate rooms where students could interrogate candidates from their majors without taking up time from students with other majors.

Any candidate who is actually interested in his constituents should be willing to take a stand on issues which are important to those who elect him. One of these forums per campaign would be a minimum, however, more than one would benefit everyone concerned. These forums should be open to everyone including faculty and administration.

It has been suggested that student Senate elections be held in the spring and I believe this is a good idea. It seems that students are more aware of the issues and care more about what is going on in the spring than in the fall.

Naturally, freshman elections would have to wait until fall and it might be better to extend the frosh campaign to three weeks and encourage interested freshmen to attend the first few meetings to become acquainted with the problems before their elections. A forum is the only practical way for new students to get a working knowledge of their candidates since they have not been around long enough to know about most of the candidates.

I submit these opinions in the humble hope that next year my strongest memory of school elections will not be a poster which stated, "Mom, apple pie and the 2M Company".

Rotary Student Program helps citizens to bridge generation gap

At a recent luncheon of the Boise Rotary, a wide range program devoted to vocations for youth was presented to the club membership by program chairman, Loren F. Scott.

Scott said the program would direct its attention to junior and senior high school students as well as college age participants. A vast reservoir of advising talent, covering areas ranging from Marketing to Zoology, has been assembled for the sole purpose of aiding young people. With all of the attacks on the nation's youth, this is a refreshing change of pace to witness in these troubled times. The results won't be seen for sometime. But the potential of this new program is far reaching.

Known as "Rotary Student Vocation Program," or RSVP, the venture relies on the ability of various school counselors to keep young people informed as to the resources he has available to him in his desired area.

It is dangerous to generalize about youth. It seems that when someone of well meaning caliber undertakes at this misguided exercise the result often becomes an attempt at futility and, at worst, a gross error on the part of the originator. Needs are different in every human being. And young people are no different. But the road is tougher for youth. The pitfalls are more plentiful and too few are really intent on helping.

The attacks by Vice President Agnew on the younger generation haven't helped matters either. Agnew's rhetoric has aided in furthering the cause of turning on and dropping out. Now is the time for solid efforts. And, in the case of the Boise Rotary, those attempts are being made.

There are a few hidden beauties of this program. First, and foremost, is the program was initiated on a local level. It is directed to the local population and it uses local talent. Those who are participating in this endeavor are experts in their field. No one is more qualified to advise a young man or woman on a future, for example in journalism than is Eugene Dorsey, publisher of the Idaho Statesman and his right hand man, Richard Hronek, managing editor of the publication. Other areas have like strengths.

It has been fashionable for politicians, social climbers and others to lambast youth with great vigor. Labels such as leftist and radicals are becoming increasingly more apparent in our vocabulary.

But a group of citizens feel loose rhetoric is not the answer. They argue that genuine attempts to communicate with all concerned is a must if the youth is to become a part of society instead of being known as the targets for un-yeilding verbal insults that merit no justification.

In this age of dissent and reaction to that form of protest, too few shining lights make life worth the effort for youth. But R.S.V.P. is one of those lights and may well become an effective example of promoting good will between two generations. Society can well use the attempts.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The ARBITER:

After reading the front page article in the Arbiter (10-9-70) dealing with Wayne Mittleider's appointments as provided for under the 1970-71 ASB budget, I would also like to ask the ASB Senate members to carefully consider Mittleider's proposals and appointments before demanding anything of the ASB officers.

In the past, our student body affairs have been run with the efficiency of a free-for-all. Every plan calling for action was placed in committee, and these people were directly responsible for seeing that the whole works came off as hoped.

A myriad collection of chairmen had to get together in order to coordinate all of their activities, and many times these key people were unable to meet as a whole. The position held by Tom Jacobs, that of administrative assistant to the Associated Students, is badly needed. The mixups from the past are witness to this fact.

So, before you blast Mittleider out of his chair, be cognizant of the fact that Wayne is justified for his actions in part. Any other complaints stemming from the acquisition of clothing and such for the use of the ASB officers is another matter.

Matters requiring Senate approval should be reckoned with but not because you, as senators, have been by-passed, but because the students have been by-passed. Are you looking for a fight with 2M Co. because you were slighted or because the students were slighted?

For my money I hope that you are reacting due to an issue that concerns the students and not due to an exchange of hostilities in some heated, disorderly debate. Often in the past, student government has been for, of and by the Senate instead by the students. This year make an intelligent effort to tend to the issues and not to bloody noses of the people you disagree with.

Beligerently,
Art Galus

Editor, The ARBITER

Contrary to Miss Wyndi Spaulding's polemic, there is validity to Mr. Peterson's criticism of the Black studies course. Academicians both Black and White in American universities are presently engaged in such a debate over Black studies.

Of all the arguments that might be raised on behalf of such an academic course, expiation for the guilt feelings over the actions of our collective forefathers is the poorest justification possible. Neither is there much validity to Miss Spaulding's other assumptions, especially as to which minority group has suffered most at the hands of the white man, or that one minority studies course is necessarily better than another.

If there is justification for a Black studies course, it seems to me to be twofold: first, to develop an understanding of the very real contribution that Blacks have made to American history and culture, and, second, by recognizing their accomplishments, often made in the face of great difficulties, we can help to dispel the stigma of inferiority that has been wrongly stamped on black skin.

An appreciation of a peoples' culture has always been a prerequisite to a basic understanding of a people themselves. But that approach to Blacks in our country raises a very fundamental question: Are the Blacks another people or are they just Americans, having the same aspirations as you and I?

John Edgerton: "No, because the decision was made by the vice-president that a write-in candidate could not speak. There was no freedom of speech."

Kent Dricoll: "No—the posters didn't give enough information."

Sharon Gregor: "No—whenever they had their speeches I couldn't leave class. I heard about the candidates from other people. They should have had a write up in the ARBITER a week before telling the pros and cons of candidates."

Vickie Larson: "No, the posters are irrelevant and they don't say enough about the candidate."

This week the Roving Reporter posed the question, "Do you feel you had an adequate opportunity to gain sufficient information about Senate candidates to vote intelligently during the Senate elections?"

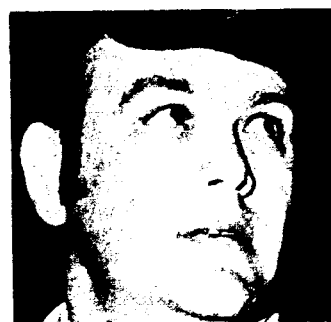

Peggy Cole: "No, I didn't know who was running. For improvements the elections should be more well known. Not everyone could go to the speeches either."

Steve Eismann: "Definitely not. I didn't have much contact with the candidates. I saw a lot of signs around but there was not personal contact. There should be an open forum."

Sandra Clyne: "I think the opportunity was there and teachers did let kids out of class. I think posters give enough information."

Tom Brown: "Yes, if the student has any interest at all, it's available to him. Participation is better this year."

Owen Krahn: "No, I didn't think there were any issues brought out. This is the reason for apathy, possibly."

Senate Report

Procedures, rules slow Senate

by Sharon Barnes

Procedures, confusion and more procedures highlighted the weekly ASB Senate meeting held Tuesday. Bugged down with unfamiliar parliamentary procedures, the Senate trudged through proposals and legislation within a matter of a few hours.

However, great strides were taken as the ASB proposed budget was approved by a vote of 12-6 with the exception of appropriations including campus radio (KFTR), administrative service awards (ASB officers wages), cheerleaders and Associated Women Students. Those appropriations not passed are to be taken back into the financial committee for further investigation.

Wayne Mittleider, ASB and ISGA president reported that the ISGA convention will be held at Hotel Boise, October 15-17. Mittleider also suggested the Senate propose a leadership retreat to be conducted by Dr. Dodson, BSC Counseling and Guidance Center. Senators appointed to the sensitivity training committee included Judi Fisher, Donna Stephens and Ward Knox.

Ward Knox, senator from the school of business proposed a bill which would initiate a faculty Rap Board, established for the purpose of communications between the faculty and students of BSC, to discuss the attitudes of students toward faculty policies and to instill an overall cohesiveness with students and faculties at BSC.

Amy Young, senator from the school of education proposed legislation concerning the ASB expenditure funds. The bill states that itemized information of all ASB expenditure funds be made known to the public. The bill states that the treasurer's first report of the year shall include everything from such time as the officers were elected. The treasurer will publish and present to the Senate an itemized statement of incoming and out-going ASB funds and first and third Senate meeting of each month.

Committees appointed by Mittleider and approved by the Senate include Traffic Appellate Council, chairman Cathy Crane, Carol Cornel, Tom Brown, and Lou Fuess; Parent's Day, Amy Young and Tina Blakely; Judicial Council, Owen Krahn; and Academic Standards Committee, Dave Gardener and John Williams.

A committee formed to look into the possible routes for the campus radio station included Christy Spratt, Clint Tinsley, and Dee Cazier.

FROSH WEEK...

by Nancy Tipton

Marilyn Lawrence

"ANYBODY FOR A SLAVE" is the call during the slave auction last Tuesday during Colt Happening activities near the dorm complex on the BSC campus. (Photo by Don Jamison)

Frosh Week Activities Make A Go

Monday was the kick off for Frosh Week activities. The upperclassmen challenged the underclassmen to a tug-of-war for the Olympic games held behind Driscoll Hall. With strained effort the upperclassmen won the first event. In the next event, the crowd of about 200 cheered as the boys defeated the girls in Leap Frog.

The Slave Sale was anxiously waited for as Chaffee Hall began the auctioning of 27 frosh coeds. Chaffee Hall A.I. Inc., headed by Russ Johnson, Rick Morris and Bruce Herron, succeeded in digging up $13.60 to buy 10 slaves. The main command was for some home-cooked food and someone to talk to on the telephone. The $64.51 profit went to the Wally Benton fund.

A pie eating contest, supplied by Driscoll Hall, finished off the Olympics. Contestants knelt with both hands tied behind their backs and ate off the ground. The winner was Angelo Gamboa and his reward was to have the rest of the pies thrown at him.

Tuesday functions were limited to a talent show and leg contest sponsored by Marian Hall. The two owners of the most beautiful set of legs were Sally Eckert from Morrison Hall and Randy Eife from Chaffee Hall.

"It's a Colt Happening" activities continued last Wednesday with a car rally, bonfire and pep rally.

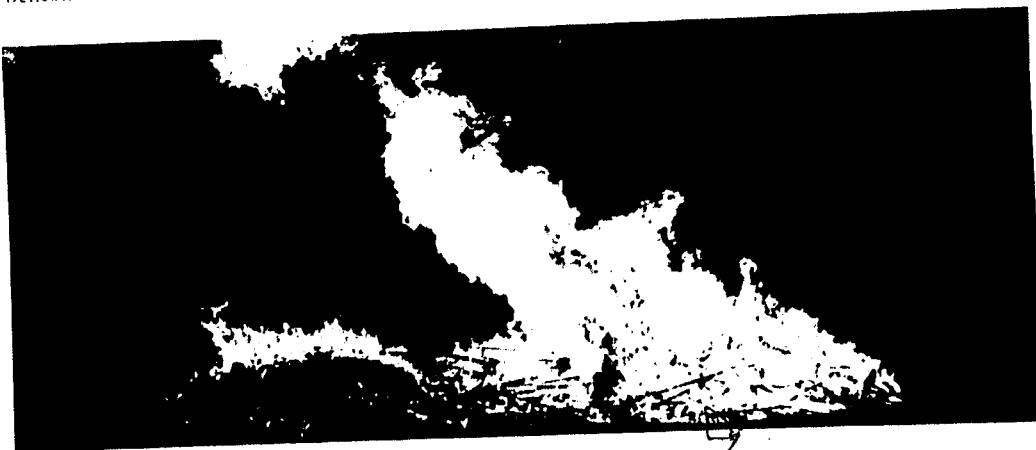

Wednesday afternoon a car rally was held. The turnout was limited, but still a success according to the people involved in this event. The overall winner was Lars Hansen, with Dennis "Hoggie" Francis winning the Grudge Match Trophy.

Wednesday night Chaffee Hall sponsored a bonfire near the new Vo-Tech Complex. BSC's varsity cheerleaders led the crowd in cheering for the Colts game on Saturday. The frosh coaches were introduced along with the starting offense and defense for the game Saturday.

Also at the bonfire was a car bash. A pre-Naderized Corvair was the object of the bash. Later, as examination showed, a lot of effort went into rendering the Corvair helpless.

Thanks go to B & B Salvage who donated the car and to Sonny's Towing for removing the battered auto. Special thanks go the Boise City Fire Department.

BONFIRE IN THE night lights up the sky during festivities held in honor of BSC's first Frosh Week.

Frosh King & Queen: Rick Brisbois & Debbie Gillings

The Frosh Dance Oct. 9, sponsored by the Associated Student Body, was topped off with the crowning of the Freshman Colt Happening King and Queen. The frosh king and queen are Rick Brisbois (DECA) and Debbie Gillings (Chaffee Hall). They were crowned by Lisa Hutchinson (Alpha Chi Omega) and Angelo Gamboa, freshman class president.

Angie Carlson, from Alpha Chi Omega managed the crowning with help from her sorority sisters.

Approximately 500 people attended the dance and it was considered a complete success. Live music was featured by a group called the Incredible J. Slarg Do.

Organizations and groups on campus sponsored their respective king or queen candidates. Balloting took place on Friday at the SUB.

Second runners up were Charlotte Ellis, sponsored by Delta Epsilon Chi (DECA) and Ron Franklin (Broncette Drill Team).

First runners up were Tony Balderama (Marian Hall) and Steve Williams (Alpha Chi Omega).

All funds from the dance will go to the Wally Benton Fund.

..RIGHT ON!

On Thursday Oct. 8, the Gamma Phi Betas and the Tri-Deltas sponsored the Bug Race in the "It's a Colt Happening" Activity lineup.

All the VW teams practiced for weeks to get in shape for the event because the Bugs were to be pushed by an unlimited number of team members through a grueling course.

The TKE's cleverly devising a relief team system, checked in with 53 seconds.

First runners up were a conglomerate group referred to as "The Independents or the Math III's with a time of 58 seconds. Second runners up were the Gamma Phis, with an all girl division, clocked in 59 seconds. They had a little difficulty, the driver missed a pylon in a Norm Bishop donated Bug and spun a 360 degree turn.

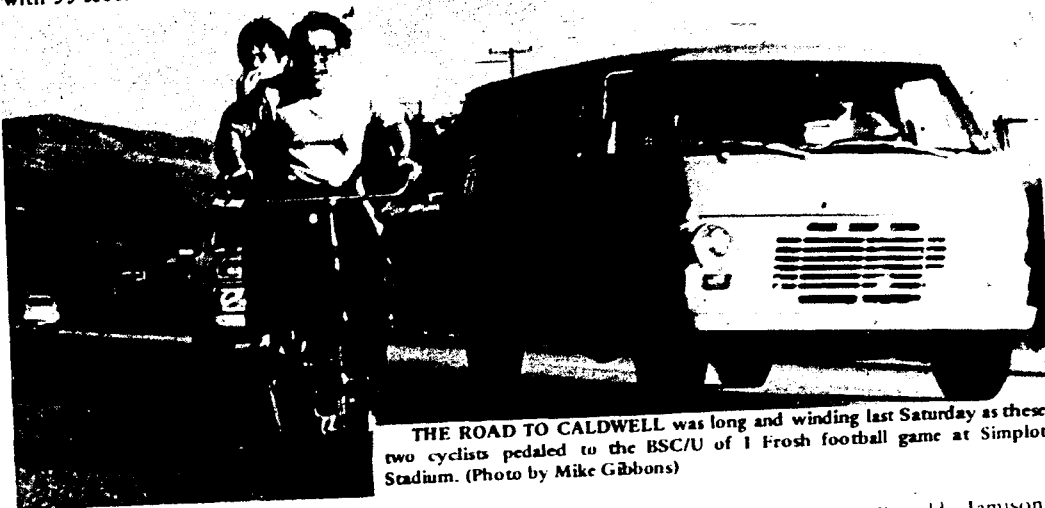

Morrison Hall, all girl squad, completed the course in 1:45. They actually had a pretty good time, but three penalties cost them 30 seconds.

Last came the Delta Epsilon Chi (DECA) team with 1:47. Their time record was hurt by five penalties.

A trophy was presented to John McCloud of Tau Kappa Epsilon for the best time of the rally.

An entrance fee of 25 cents from each team will go the the Wally Benton Fund.

Saturday Oct. 10 the frosh BSC Colts challenged the frosh U of I Vandals at Simplot Stadium in Caldwell. The Colts were unsuccessful (19-13), but the game signaled a new era of student participation for future freshman games at Boise State.

Both the BSC and U of I bands were there to support their fledgling teams.

Volunteer freshman cheerleaders, Rick Brisbois, Dave

Trummel, Angelo Gamboa, Glenda Hillman, April Schroeder, Pam Painter, Marti Worlham, Nancy Kreps, Julene Day and the horse head, Marilyn Lawrence supported and cheered for our Colts. The Tau Kappa Epsilon frat were there with their bell.

The freshman king and queen were personally escorted to Caldwell by Sigma Chi president, Rick Lackman in a Mercedes Benz 1600. Also, the car caravan featured a Volvo sedan and a Mazda all donated by Lyle Pearson Mercedes Benz.

A tandem bicycle marathon with Tau Kappa Epsilon and Kappa Sigma left the Rodeway Inn at 5:00 on Saturday, destination Simplot Stadium.

Those rugged athletes riding for the Kappa Sig's were Ken Asvitt, Terry Adams, John Beery, Lon Beery, George Mustard, Jess Hinman, Dwight Smith, Bob Hoppie, Brian Ballard, Steve Williams, Dary McArthur, Scott Sword, Dennis Ward, Bruce Bergquist, Bob Walters and Donald Jamison.

Will you have what's needed to send your children to college?

No matter how young your children are, it's none too soon to be making financial plans for their college days. In fact, it might possibly be a little late even now.

In "Planning for College Costs," a booklet specially prepared for New York Life, Sidney Sulkin, Education Editor of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, points out that higher education expenses will continue to spiral over the years, and he stresses the importance of preparing well in advance.

In a detailed discussion, this authority analyzes various ways of financing a college education: long-term loans, state loan programs, installment loans, personal savings, stocks, government bonds and life insurance, citing the advantages and faults of each.

"CATCH-22"

IS THE MOST MOVING, MOST INTELLIGENT, THE MOST HUMANE — OH, TO HELL WITH IT! — IT'S THE BEST AMERICAN FILM I'VE SEEN THIS YEAR!

It comes as close to being an epic human comedy as Hollywood has ever made! Alan Arkin as Yossarian provides the film with its continuity and dominant style. Arkin is a deadly serious actor, he projects intelligence with such mono-maniacal intensity, he is both funny and heroic at the same time. Nichols remains, as he was before, one of our finest directors." —VINCENT CANBY, N.Y. TIMES

"IT'S ONE HELL OF A FILM! A COLD, SAVAGE AND CHILLING COMEDY! Firmly establishes Nichols' place in the front rank of American directors." —BRUCE WILLIAMSON, PLAYBOY

AWS Coordinates Co-ed Clubs

Associated Women Students is the coordinating body for all women's groups at Boise State College. It serves to unify clubs, organizations and most important, it represents the spirit of service at BSC.

Officers this year are President, Karen Lee, Vice-President, Elaine Pierce, Secretary, Carol Kaurisch and Treasurer Marcia Neal.

Also chosen in last year's AWS elections were sophomore, junior and senior representatives. These are Lynne Beguhl, Kathy Ross and Jean Axelton, respectively. Freshman Representative Nancy Lipton was elected in the Senate elections held this fall.

Appointed "official hostesses" of BSC by the ASB officers, AWS will create its own hostess board. One nominee from each club on campus having a woman student will appear before a review board and a group of hostesses will be chosen. This idea has been developed to create an exclusive panel that will represent the student body at all functions.

This year AWS has several fund raising plans in mind. Their major project will be selling mums for Homecoming on Oct. 24.

In the middle of February, AWS will sponsor BSC's only formal dance, the Sweethearts Ball. Each year a King of Hearts and his court is crowned.

The funds raised by AWS last year assisted the Outbound Ambassadors Club, a group that sends several BSC students abroad each year.

AWS would very much appreciate representation from all clubs with women members. If you are unsure if your club is represented, please call Carol Kaurisch at 343-1479 or Karen Lee at 345-0051. They will be glad to assist you in assuring that your club is represented by AWS.

Cutting Problem Posed

by Joy Ann Kent

If you're one who feels there are things more important than attending class you become one of the hundreds of "skippers" at BSC. According to the Dean of Men's office, Boise State College does seem to have a large skipping problem which certain professors are quite concerned with, however, much of this could be contributed to mix up in registration causing some students to be signed up for classes they didn't intend to take. Also, some students, when unable to attend their regularly scheduled class, go to the same class at a different time.

Why do students cut classes? Based on interviews with about 35 BSC students the following answers were compiled. A most common reply was "I was just too tired" or "I oversleep a lot!" Another frequent reply suggested that some classes are extremely boring and the students feel they can make the grade without attending.

For freshmen it is a problem of adjusting to college life altogether, learning to use in between classes for studying rather than more enjoyable activities.

Almost each student had at least one reply such as "That room is always so hot I fall asleep", or "I get hungry about that time so I cut classes sometimes to eat lunch after all, I'm sure the prof. wouldn't want me passing out in the middle of his lecture."

Others were "My car needed some work done this morning and cutting class was the only way", or "I really didn't skip because I did have a dental appointment but just the same I wasn't in class". One last answer "That was the only time I could see my fiancée."

VERY few students said they never have cut a class.

Energetic Forensics Program Initiated at BSC

An energetic forensics program is under way at Boise State College, says Harvey Pitman, acting director of the speech-communications department.

The first of many varied activities was hosting the Third Annual High School Forensic Workshop, Oct. 3. This workshop was for area high school forensic teachers and interest students.

The BSC debate team will travel to the Lewis-Clark debate tournament, Oct. 16 and 17 in Portland. Other tournaments scheduled for this semester include ISU Nov. 5-8 and Western Speech Tournament Nov. 26-28 and other possible invitations for December.

In addition to debate, the department also embraces an entire range of other forensic activities of literature and persuasive speaking. These activities are featured at various debate tournaments under the direction of David Rayburn.

The speech-communications department is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, an influential forensics organization in the western United States. Pi Kappa Delta will host a tournament in April at Houston, Tex. which will be one of the most important and largest forensic tournament held in the west.

According to Pitman, the entire forensic program is being emphasized. An open invitation to visit the speech office, complex in A-216 is extended to all interested students.

Boise State College Colts Yields To Vandal Babes

Boise State College Colts suffered a 19-13 loss to the University of Idaho Vandal Babes in gridiron action at Caldwell's Simplot Stadium.

Early in the first quarter, the Vandal Babes split the game open on a pass play into the endzone. The point after touchdown attempt failed, giving the Vandals a 6-0 lead.

From the second quarter on, both teams began working out the bugs in an attempt to function as single units. BSC fumbled eight times, five of which were recovered by the Vandals. The Babes dropped the ball four times, all of which were reserved by the Colts.

The Colt frosh tallied 14 first downs to 13 by Idaho, and 202 yards passing to the Babes 80 yards. The Colts averaged 47.12 yards to Idaho's 42.1 yards in punts.

Idaho tallied 170 yards rushing to 31 by the Colts. In total offensive yardage, the Babes led 250 yards to 233 for BSC. The Vandals also intercepted three of Boise's passes.

First to score in the second quarter, Idaho's Bruce Watson hit pay dirt from the three-yard line to build the score to 12-0 as the PAT failed.

Midway into the second quarter the BSC offense sprang to life as Don Hutt scored on a 34-yard pass play into the endzone, shooting the score to 12-7. The PAT was added by Stan Lane.

The Babes fumbled on the first play following the BSC kickoff. Two plays later Colt Loren Schmidt, collected a 15 yard pass on the 10-yard line, then proceeded to shake three Babe tacklers as he stepped into the endzone. The PAT attempt failed and the Colts led the half 13-12.

U of I closed the game scoring 19-13 midway into the third stanza by going over from the one-yard line for the touchdown.

Red Raiders to Tangle with BSC

by Ginger Waters

Boise State-College will host Southern Oregon College Oct. 17, 1:30 p.m., at Bronco Stadium for a non-conference tilt. Southern Oregon is located in Ashland, Ore. and has an enrollment of 5,000 students.

The Red Raiders belong to the Evergreen Conference. Other members include Central Washington, Eastern Washington, Western Washington, Witworth College, Eastern Oregon, Oregon Tech., and Oregon College of Education. Last year Southern Oregon had a record of 3-6.

Hope for a better season for the Red Raiders is on the shoulders of new head football coach Larry Kramer. Kramer has a collegiate coaching record of 18-9-3. He joined the Oregon club late but has made up for lost time by vigorously recruiting members for the team. Kramer's success is shown by the fact that 100 athletes turned out for fall practice as compared to a 37-man turnout for the 1969 season.

Kramer will have the assistance of 13 returning lettermen, among them, Dick Orr, an All-Oregon Collegiate Conference halfback. Other outstanding members of the Raiders squad are Craig Johnson at split end, Tim Jones, a defensive tackle, George Gardner at tackle, and Marvin Moor at flanker back. Newcomers that show promise are Louie Amadoro, a freshman tackle, and Marty Popp, a sophomore transfer quarterback from Marshfield.

Boise State College enters the contest with a 4-1 record and is one of the leading contenders for the Big Sky Conference title.

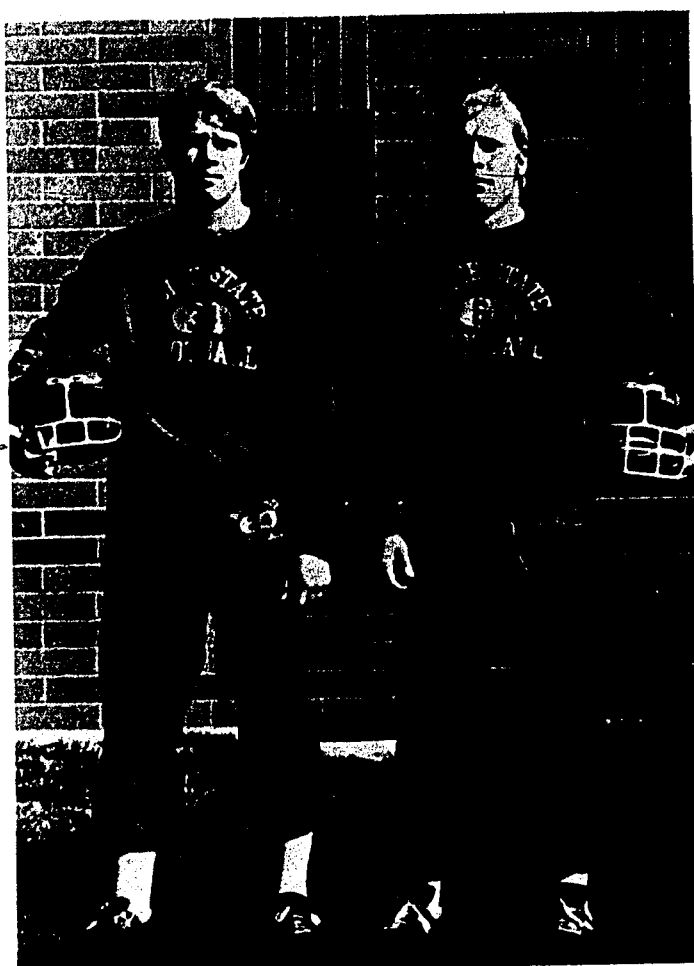

ISU Sports Writer Picks Broncos to Finish Near Top

WATCH THE BRONCOS
by Paul Emerson
Reprinted from the ISU Speculum

Consider if you will, a football team that has won 17 of its last 20 games, has 43 returning lettermen, has a coach with a 43-15-2 record in four-year school competition and has its starting quarterback and entire defensive backfield back. Would you rate them to finish in the cellar of the Big Sky Conference? In a preseason poll, the Big Sky coaches did and we can hardly agree.

The team in question is our neighbor to the west, Boise State, who is entering the Big Sky for the first time this year.

This will be the first year since the Broncos started four year competition that they will be facing more than one or two teams that could be considered high caliber competition, and because of this, the Big Sky coaches feel that they won't be on the same level as the established conference schools. We don't agree and ISU coach Ed Cavanaugh sees it our way. He stated, "The only reason they (the other conference coaches) say that is because they haven't been playing them." Cavanaugh should know, his Bengals have lost to the Broncos both times they have faced them.

BRONCO ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION members picked Cary Hoshaw and John Walker as players of the week against Long Beach State. (Photo by Don Jamison)

Hoshaw, Walker Tackle Win

Cary Hoshaw and John Walker were honored by the Bronco Athletic Association for their efforts in the Boise loss to Long Beach State.

Hoshaw, a 5-11, 180 pound halfback won the offensive player of the week. Cary carried the ball 10 times for 58 yards and ran his season totals for the Broncos to 73 yards in 14 carries.

John Walker, the team's leading tackler, won the defensive player of the week honors for the second time this year. Walker had the honor of batting heads with Long Beach's All-American Leon Burns many times during the contest.

Walker made 10 unassisted tackles in the game to run his season total to 44.

Head Coach Tony Knap remarked that little mistakes killed the Broncos chance to win as they suffered their first defeat in five games this year. Knap also said that "Long Beach is a very fine football team. I think in some instances that we weren't fully prepared for them."

The Broncos return home to their own turf Saturday to face the Southern Oregon Red Raiders.

Broncos Stopped by Long Beach State, in 28-14 Big Sky Tilt

Besides those qualifications we have already stated, the Broncos definitely have the scheduling on their side. While ISU is playing the likes of Drake and Tulsa, and getting beat, the Boise team is running all over such "toughies" as Eastern Montana and Central Washington. What it all boils down to is Boise can point toward the conference games and take it easy while the other conference schools are beating their heads against a lot tougher competition.

With all of this going for them, we feel very safe in predicting that the Broncos will finish at least in the upper division, if not higher, like at the top.

The Boise State College Broncos were handed their first defeat of the 1970 season by the powerful Long Beach 49ers. Long Beach State's All-American Leon Burns was turned loose and carried the ball 37 times for 178 yards and scored on plays of two, one and one respectively.

The Broncos broke on top early in the first period when Charlie Holmes returned a punt 73 yards and Guthrie kicked the PAT.

Long Beach, stifled by the Bronco defense, managed to score in the second period by driving 65 yards in seven plays. Jim Kirby climaxed the march by rolling 44 yards to paydirt.

The 49ers put the game away for good with 7:05 left on a pass interference call on the Broncos, giving Long Beach a first down on the Boise one yard line.

Pat Ebright took control of the team and marched them down field 80 yards in 19 plays as Jerry Herring backed over from the one for the last of the scoring.

The loss dropped the Broncos to a 4-1 season record and 1-1 in the Big Sky play.

Cary Hoshaw led the Bronco Offense with 58 yards in nine carries and Ross Wright picked up 40 yards in nine tries.

Steve Forrey and Charlie Holmes led the defensive charges for Boise.

Boise's next game is at home Saturday with Southern Oregon at 1:30 in the afternoon.

by Bob Radloff,

ARBITER Sports Editor

The Boise State College Colts will tangle with the University of Montana Grizzlies frosh Saturday, Oct. 24, at Grangeville. Game time is at 7:30.

the Colts will be out to even their season record against Big Sky opponents. This will be the first meeting between the two schools in football battles and will also be the last game of the year for the frosh Colts. Their record now stands at 1-1 with the loss to the Vandal Babes of Idaho.

Drama Extension

Because of the high interest in the Theatre Arts' production of "All My Sons", the performance has been extended for another day for BSC students exclusively.

The added performance will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 20 and students need their ID card and a reservation. Make your reservation now at the Suba'l Theatre box office.

Basque Speaker

Dr. William Douglass, from the Basque Studies Institute, University of Nevada, will be in Boise, Sunday, Oct. 18, to show slides and lecture on the European studies program to be conducted next summer.

The public is invited to attend, 8 p.m. at the Basque Center, 607 Grove Street, Boise.

Geology Club

A geology club meeting will be held Wednesday, Oct. 21 in S-217 at 7:00 p.m.

This meeting is for officially organizing the club and introducing the officers. Those who have already signed as members are urged to attend and those interested in membership are also welcome.

Make It Yourself With Wool

District 4 Make It Yourself With Wool Contest will be held on the BSC campus this Saturday, Oct. 17 in the Liberal Arts building.

Contestants will register at 8:30 a.m. with Mrs. Thelma Allison, chairman of the home economics department. Judging will take place that morning.

Winners, who will be eligible to compete in the state contest to be held in Burley, Nov. 17, will be announced at the fashion show 2:00 p.m. in L.A. 106.

Barbara Brown, president of Eta Epsilon, the campus home economics organization, will furnish commentary for the show. Judges are Messrs. Harmon Holverson, Gary Grove, David Taggart.

Members of Eta Epsilon will conduct contestants on a tour of the campus and will hostess a tea for all guests following the fashion show. Martha Harrison is in charge of arrangements.

All girls on campus are urged to compete in the Make It Yourself With Wool Contest.

TKF TK

The annual TKF TK toilet bowl and powder puff football game will be held this Sunday, 1:00 p.m. at Bronco Stadium as a kick-off for Homecoming.

Worn Grass

BSC Grounds is asking all people on campus to please use sidewalks. If there continues to be more wear on certain parts of the grass on campus, fences will be put up to curtail this unwanted wear.

"Oldenburg"

All freshmen wish to thank Rick Oldenburg from KSPD for all publicity for "It's a Colt Happening" in conjunction with Wally Benton Week!

UNITED FUND

This week is United Fund Week on campus. If you would like to contribute to get something done, give your contributions to Fred Olvis in the Business Office, Dr. Gary Newby in the physics department, or Bob Gibb, administrative assistant to President Barnes, in the executive office, third floor of the Business Building.

A Ride

Female students wish a ride for 8:40 class from North end of town. Will share gas expense. 344-1302.

"Golden Z's"

Golden Z's pledging started with kidnapping of pledges on Thursday Oct. 1. Hellweek runs from Nov. 16 Nov. 20 constitutes the true test for Z pledges. Formal pledging is on Nov. 20.

The 1970 Fall Semester Golden Z pledges are Patty Berg, Debbie Cox, Bea Eichmann, Kimberly Gray, Carla Helmick, Cheryl LaMay, Barbara Luther, Jeannette Edell, Mary Omberg, and Nancy Tipton.

Officers are President, Anne Morrow, Secretary, Karen Omberg, and Jean Axelton, pledge captain, Vice President, Nikki Killenberger, and Treasurer, Nancy Harris. Lois Joslin is AWS representative.

Projects this year include the sponsoring of Miss BSC along with another organization. Also at present Golden Z's are preparing their Homecoming float.

"Tipton"

After an active campaign, emphasizing personal contact with freshman girls, Nancy Tipton was elected Associated Women Students freshman representative.

A graduate of Boise High School, she feels that the independents and resident campus freshman girls need more representation at BSC. Her duties consist of compiling all information pertaining to women's activities on campus in the AWS scrapbook.

Also, she will serve as the voice of all freshman women being aware of their feelings and attitudes. Nancy is a Golden Z pledge and a member of the ARBLET Staff.

"Scholarships"

Applications for spring semester scholarships are now available at the Financial Aids Office, Room 128, Adm. Bldg.

New and renewal applications are available, and the closing date is Monday, Nov. 2. Final determination of awards by the Scholarship Awards Committee will be made after the fall semester grades are recorded.
