10-22-1970

Arbiter, October 22

Students of Boise State College

Although this file was scanned from the highest-quality microfilm held by Boise State University, it reveals the limitations of the source microfilm. It is possible to perform a text search of much of this material; however, there are sections where the source microfilm was too faint or unreadable to allow for text scanning. For assistance with this collection of student newspapers, please contact Special Collections and Archives at archives@boisestate.edu.
Greatness, devotion and compassion for men
Is bred into only a few.
Leadership and responsibility
Is earned throughout the years.

Going strong when times seem bad,
A hearty smile when doubt troubles the mind,
Courage and hope bestowed by God,
Radiated to us through a humble man's eyes.

What better time than this
Of Homecoming and reminiscing of years gone by
To see Courage on his feet,
Than the man who has led our team.

Marilyn Lawrence
The 1970 campaign is as different as night and day from the events, which surrounded the 1966 struggle. Some campaigns are in order with a little more than two weeks to go before the day of reckoning.

Four years ago there were four candidates vying for the chief office of the state. One of the candidates tragically met his death in a plane crash over the Central Idaho wilderness as a result of the conglomeration of personalities, the winning candidate garnered only 42 per cent of the total vote. That plurality was far from his "mandate from the people."

Now the scene is different: two candidates who faced each other in the last set-to are back at it again. But somehow the issues are still the same. The interest is coming back to the same questions and the same answers are being given whether of which, in the war, is satisfying the electorate of the Gem State. He, who votes, is demanding to know that he is not being given the propaganda.

Unquestionably, forces involved in 1970 will week hours with the proposed constitutional amendment. Even

Problem of Liberalized Abortions Comes to a Head During Meeting

The problem of liberalized abortions came to a head in Boise last

Thursday at a hearing held by the Legislative Council Committee on Criminal Code. Many have expressed their opinions on the subject. I would like to express mine.

Many who attack liberalization base their objections on reverence for life. What do they mean by life? Is it the flickering, pinging, or in it the fulfillment of the possibilities of a human being? What if a child is unwanted, illegitimate, mentally or physically incapacitated? Will he be able to attain the height of achievement that we Americans value so much? We are admonished that pets require "tender loving care" but what of a child whose very existence is a hardship to his family?

Student power is reflected in the mock elections around the state, where every institution of higher learning polled, overwhelmingly supported Cecil Andrus. If we are going to be alive long enough to lead tomorrow, somebody had better start listening to us today.

Politics is the lifeblood of this nation. Everyone is a part, and student politics is real. Last weekend the Idaho Student Government Association voted not to be involved in party affiliated politics. Representatives said they would rather have backed an issue of a candidate than give personal support. It could have been a smart, safe move. But their time ran out, much as it is running out on this state, The changes won't wait any longer.

When the Idaho Environmental Council and Field and Stream Magazine support Andrus, the repercussions are phenomenal. They are waiting for the crowd.

That creates a big decision ahead. Everyone is doing a lot of speculating saying "Andrus is the man."

No matter what kind of government we have now, it's not going to do us any good to look back. Our incumbent Governor Don Samuelson has done what he seemed to be the best job for Idaho. But comparison between Samuelson and Andrus leaves no doubt as to where we are going. We have seen the programs Samuelson has produced and a new change offers more promise.

We need action and we need it now. We've got to boost our standards of education, environmental control, industry and agriculture. We can do it with changes that are constructive, progressive results. Vote for Cecil Andrus Nov. 3.

Jane Dunn, editor

The 1970 Political Campaign Differs from 1966 Slngfest

December Candidate Cecil Andrus seems to feel the new proposal will go down to defeat. All of the hours spent by the Revalor Commission will likely go for nothing. Why? Apathy.

It is difficult to blame anyone for the current wane when both political parties must shoulder the responsibility for not dealing with the means that would spread the word of their proposal. Both parties must shoulder the blame for being so slow. Ten years ago, to campaign on in 1970. Until candidates find the optimum formula in which to get down to the bone of the proposal, the times, the results will be the same. No one will care. And who should they be?

We are in a changing world. The problems are unique in 1970.

Answers sufficient for 1960, 64, or 66 do not even come close to solving the problems of today. Both of our political parties in the Gem State should take a hard look at reality. It is not the same as it was in 1966. The times are changing.

Brent Peterson

Maybe every fetus deserves to be born. I am not sure.

There is a compromise. Idaho has prohibitive measures on the sale of contraceptives and prophylactics (Idaho Code Volume 7, Sections 39-801-10). They forbid the display and advertisement of contraceptives and the display of a license to sell contraceptives. These measures seem to conflict with the liberalized.

Democracy implies choice, choice of candidates for public office, choice of occupation, choice of having or not having children. Someone at the hearing said that liberalization of abortion laws should encourage prostitution and murder. Under the present law only prostitutes have a choice whether to bear children and only murderers can perform abortions.

Margaret Paxton

Arbiter Editorial...

Arbiter

Editor, The ARBITER

Gov. Don Samuelson, though extremely popular with the people as governor and his campaign for re-election, last week saw his challengers run away with the Idaho Student Government Association last week.

Realizing the ISGA audience may not have voted for him, he felt the student representatives would appreciate the fact and understand the future of our state government.

Gov. Samuelson met with the student leaders at the Idaho Student Government Association last week.

One student asked if his government would fail to accede him the same respect. That feel we may be at the root of many of our problems as the young society. We should clean up our own affairs before we gace into another's and ridicule the others.

A man's measure is determined not by what he says, but by what he does during his administration. We at the student who can look through a classroom window to see, the evidence.

Don Samuelson stated he didn't have all the solutions to the problems facing us, but that he is and has found many of the finest men in their fields to assist him, with the goal of providing programs for the state of Idaho in an organized manner.

This is not the cheap rhetoric of a politician. This is the sincere attitude of a man who has a real future.

Name withheld upon request

Editor, The ARBITER

Unknown to many of your readers, the Idaho Environmental Council has endorsed Bill Brauner for first District Congressman in his race against Rep. James McClure.

The decision came after a two-month study of Brauner's record on environmental problems while he was state legislator and his personal standards and philosophy on environmental problems facing Idaho and the nation.

The Council wants a man who will stand up for Idaho, and who can contribute significantly to the solution of other environmental problems. And they want a man who will stand up for the nation.

Brauner supports the legislation on dams in Hells Canyon, Idaho, by his opposition to the TVA dam and its environmental repercussions.

He supports the creation of a national park recreation area in the White Cliffs and Sawtooth Mountain ranges, being so that mining laws must be changed, is concerned about air and water pollution problems, is concerned about finding the best solution to Idaho's power supply.

Field and Stream Magazine has named Brauner, in its annual September issue, as "Poor in the Woods, Good in the Water". That magazine said our Congressman was one of the 28 worst Representatives in the House on conservation issues.

Brauner is sufficiently capable and dedicated to do the job.
Tony Knap Recovers

Tony Knap, Boise State College head football coach, has regained the partial use of his legs and is able to walk with the aid of crutches. Coach Knap was paralyzed from the shoulders down due to an allergic reaction to a virus infection which caused swelling in his spinal cord about six weeks ago.

He traveled to Salt Lake City and underwent extensive treatment. At that time, he was able to move his ankles up and down.

When he returned to Boise, he attended the Elks Rehabilitation Center where he received further treatment to prevent deterioration of his leg muscles.

During this time he was restricted to a wheelchair.

However, he went to the Center five mornings of the week for rehabilitation sessions and continued coaching the BSC football team.

At the Center, Knap continues exercising with sports such as volleyball and receiving leg massages. Every available moment was spent in exercise his legs and practice walking.

Two weeks ago, through determination and constant effort, Knap was able to walk with crutches.

Further tests were made and indicated that his spinal cord was clear of the virus and that the swelling was reduced.

Knap now attends the Center three mornings each week and spends the rest of the day coaching. He indicated that he is in very good spirits and feels pretty well except for hyper-sensitivity in his legs.

Coach Knap feels that he will be able to walk without crutches in another two weeks. He indicated that it may be several more months before he will be completely recovered.

Knap feels that his rapid recovery is partly due to the staff at the Elks' Center. "They are a lot like football coaches. When you accomplish one goal, they set another one to reach."

Knap feels that the ordeal he underwent taught him a great deal. It made him a lot more humble about physical strength and abilities that others take for granted.

In This King

Homecoming Week is brought to you by...

Tony Knap

---

CREDITS

Editor-in-Chief: Jane Dunn

Copy Editor: Chet King

Layout Editor: Richard Tackman

Sports Editor: Bob Hubbard

Business Manager: Gary Krasnow

Carillon Editor: Tony Irish

Photographer: James Macmillan

Assistant: Richard Tackman, Mike Gibbons

Contributors: Bret Peterson, JoAnn Kenv, Ginger Web, Tony McKey, Marilyn Levermore, Margaret Pavlow, Tony Irish, Greg Ferri, Nancy Tillery

Advisor: John Mackhan

Established May 1968, the ARBITER is a weekly student publication of Boise State College in cooperation with the BSC Center for Printing and Graphic Arts, Inc.

Letters to the Editor of the Boise State College ARBITER cannot exceed 250 words. They must be submitted to the ARBITER editorial staff on or before Monday of the week the paper goes to press.

All letters submitted must be signed. Names will be withheld from publication upon request.

The ARBITER reserves the right to edit or reject letters submitted for publication.
McClure Defends Stands On State Issues

James R. Peterson

(Editor's Note: The ARBITER featured this depth of the two gubernatorial candidates - incumbent Gov. Don Samuel and Democrat Cecil Andrus. This interview feature both Congressmen Jim McClure, Republican and Bill Braun, Democrat.)

Jim McClure was born and raised in Payette. After his graduation from the University of Idaho Law School, he served as prosecuting attorney of Payette County and elected president of the Payette Chamber of Commerce. His commitment to public service is reflected in his participation in a variety of community activities, including serving as a member of the House of Representatives for the last four years. During that time, he has been a member of the Interior Service Committee and the Post Office and Civil Service Committee. He has seen first-hand the impact of federal policies on our state and country.

ARBITER: How do you feel about the congressional proposal to re-elect Congress so that the people of Idaho will have an assurance of continuity and stability in our political and social background, which is so important? McClure: This is a major point of concern over our physical and mental health. The problems of crime and social unrest in our cities and on our campuses.

ARBITER: Has the President's Vietnamization policy worked? McClure: It has worked better than I had hoped. Certainly there are problems in dealing with a foreign government. This is particularly true of the oriental philosophy. I think we have problems there, but so far they are not as serious as the problems of moving down the policy of Vietnamization. I don't believe the success of the Vietnamization policy is reflected in how the Vietnamese people and the Vietnamese government actually feel.

ARBITER: There is a growing fear that we will widen our involvement in Vietnam. Is this justified? McClure: Vietnam has been involved in the conflict. The war has not been continued to South Vietnam for years. The North Vietnamese have been voting in the South for years. The war has not been continued to the extent that it has been in the past. The conflict has been contained. Vietnam is an arbitration assessment that simply amounts to military reality. I don't believe there is greater danger of the conflict widening that there ever was. As a fact of life, I think there is less of a chance than there has been for years.

ARBITER: The White Clouds have been a major point of controversy for some time. A congressional proposal would set aside that area as a National Park recreation area. Your opponent has charged you with being a "JOHNNY-COME-LATELY." How do you feel about that charge and what is the condition of that the opportunities for the two generations to sit down and talk to each other?

McClure: I believe it is important to keep the lines of communication open. It is important for a widened understanding to be the two sides. I think a great many of the young people on the campuses have accepted Agnew's statement as directed to them. It is true. They are directed to a small group of radicals. That is where we need the wider understanding. We're not talking about college students as a single group.

ARBITER: What is your goal if re-elected for a third term? McClure: There are several laws in need of revision, dealing with public lands. We have been waiting for the Commission report and have not proceeded without new findings have been established. I am certain in January we will be taking up the revision of these federal lands. This is of extreme importance to Idaho. At the same time I hope to continue and expand my attention to the physical matters of our nation.
Editor, The ARBITER

We recognize that the image of the Police Department is not as good as it should be with some people. This was reflected in an article that appeared in the ARBITER Sept. 29, 1970, advising students to brutality.

The police recognize and respect an individual's rights. Protecting those rights is a part of our responsibility. We take it seriously. It creates an unfavorable and, we believe, an unfair impression when students are aware that they cannot count on police to respect their rights, that they may be subject to harassment and that if arrested and "raise hell" may be subject to brutality.

Our responsibility is to protect persons and property, to ensure that which elected representatives have enacted. If arrests are made, it is not because police want to harass people, but because our society has decided that violation of these laws harms people. Laws and law enforcement exist to serve people. If you should need the assistance of a policeman, you can count on him to come to your aid. If you are assaulted you can count on us to try to recover it. If you "do a joint" break the law in any other matter, you can also count on us to take what steps are necessary to arrest you.

John R. Church, Chief of Police
Boise, Idaho

AND THEN...

POLICE CHIEF JOHN R. CHURCH FACED THE ARBITER

The policeman on the town to create disorder. He's there to please disorder.

RICHARD J. DORE
Mayor of Chicago, 1936

by Chris King and Greg Freeler

With this thought in mind, and considering the recent receipt of a letter by Boise Police Chief John Church, the ARBITER staff felt that a little investigation into the local police department might be warranted.

Tuesday, Sept 29 the mayor presented Chief Church's wooden panelled office.

ARR: "What did you find offensive about the article published in the ARBITER concerning students' legal rights?"

Church: "I attempted to advise the students that some of the things they are doing is not as good as it should be."

ARR: "What is the monthly salary for a policeman?"

Church: "$470 for the first two years.

ARR: "How many officers have taken the criminal law course offered?"

Church: "Up to 25 or our men have had this training."

ARR: "What lab facilities are available to the Boise Police?"

Church: "We have adequate crime laboratory facilities, but we are fortunate to have an assistant chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on our staff.

ARR: "Does the Boise Police have a "Blast Squad" as such?"

Church: "The kids have no squad that we contribute to the blast squad on the local or the state level. It would depend on my recommendation. Then a request from the state president of the Mayor, Amy to Governor Sanfillaco would be needed.

ARR: "Concerning the recent action over the Old Soldiers Home where the BPD did individuals occupy the building and the campus, Church: "We would seek a restraining order from court.

ARR: "What is the legal department?"

Church: "Yes, we do have a general or specific policy toward the campus."

ARR: "Who is the attorney general for the Boise Police Department?"

Church: "Certainly college functions are their responsibility, and as long as it is conducted lawfully we will not interfere.

ARR: "Do you know of any organization that are potential troublemakers?"

Church: "No, I know of no such group.

ARR: "Is there any difference in attitude toward a patron?

Church: "We treat everyone as an established citizen in general."

ARR: "What is your policy concerning the sale of marijuana to minors?"

Church: "If the officer decides it is the sale or purchase by a minor, the officer will sell for cash and have the case signed into the campus.

ARR: "Is the department policy regarding the acute parking shortage at BSC?"

Church: "Yes, we do have no tolerance for bad parking."

ARR: "Is the Boise Police's position on emergency concerning the acute student housing shortage at BSC (Concerning certain incidents of students being arrested for sleeping in cars."

Church: "I don't know of any cases of students being arrested for sleeping in cars."

ARR: "Is there an incidence of crime rate increased alarming?"

Church: "I don't have the figure but the crime rate is increasing."

ARR: "What single Supreme Court decision has "reeled the hands of the department the most?"

Church: "We have no idea."

ARR: "What is the police's policy concerning vandalism?"

Church: "We would like to write a letter to the police the people are not equal unless that person is the same as you.

ARR: "What is your policy concerning written to you?"

Church: "I don't know of any cases of students being asked for information to the crime rate."

ARR: "Is there an incidence of crime rate increased alarming?"

Church: "I don't know of any cases of students being asked for information to the crime rate."

In all fairness and taking cognizance of many legitimate charges of misgovernance, the plight of the policeman is often overlooked. Few critics take the time to effort to compliment an officer for a job well done, but when the time to compliment an officer for a job well done, but when the time to compliment an officer for a job well done, but when the time to compliment an officer for a job well done, but when the time to compliment an officer for a job well done.

The in and why of law enforcement is know to all the individual by personal bias and prejudice. The man is only human and thus that might not be a good excuse. It's a hell of an explanation to erase the inevitable mistakes.

In recognition of this Chief Church reiterated that his door is always open to communication or condemnation. But we still remember the small notice which came to our attention as we left his office.

COMPLAINT FORM

PLEASE USE THE SPACE BELOW TO NOTIFY THE POLICE DEPARTMENT OF COMPLAINTS.

WRITE LEGIBLY
Brauner Challenges Present Representation

By Brent Sterner

Bill Brauner was born and raised in Nampa. After completing his education in the Nampa school system, Brauner completed his Doctor of Law degree at the University of Idaho. He has served as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for Canyon and Owyhee Counties as well as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for Ada County. The following is an interview with the Democratic challenger for the House of Representatives in the First District.

BRAUNER: Why do you want to run for Congress?

BRAUNER: Has the President's Vietnamization policy worked?

BRAUNER: Can only hope it has. But I am doubtful. As far as I can tell, the Nixon policy is no different than the Johnson program. If we believe, as we are led to do so by the President, our aim is to withdraw from Vietnam, then we should set a pattern for withdrawal and follow it.

BRAUNER: There is a growing fear the war will widen. It's been a negative representation Idaho was missing.

BRAUNER: Positive approach to solutions.

BRAUNER: What is the major issue of this campaign?

Brauner: A positive approach to solutions.

Brauner: What is the major issue of this campaign?

Brauner: Inflation has risen six per cent. The Nixon Administration uses high interest rates, tight money, and forced unemployment as its answer. There is also a hard-off policy to wage and price controls. Because of this, Idaho has seen a decline in housing construction, when the demand has never been greater. We have seen a decline in the state's two major industries—agriculture and labor.

Brauner: Because I wasn't satisfied with the kind of representation Idaho was missing. It's been a negative one.

BRAUNER: What can you offer to the electorate of the First District that your opponent hasn't?

BRAUNER: Looking forward to the election of the President's Commissioner on campus unrest headed by Mr. Branton?

Brauner: I'm not surprised by the report. It's obvious we have not been doing an adequate job of education and enforcement of our laws. But we still must use logic, not bullet. Violent reaction comes when we completely refuse to listen.

BRAUNER: What is your reaction to the recent findings of the President's Commissioner on campus unrest headed by Mr. Branton?

BRAUNER: Inflation has risen six per cent. The Nixon Administration uses high interest rates, tight money, and forced unemployment as its answer. There is also a hard-off policy to wage and price controls. Because of this, Idaho has seen a decline in housing construction, when the demand has never been greater. We have seen a decline in the state's two major industries—agriculture and labor.

BRAUNER: Young people, especially those of college age, are concerned about the critical attacks of Vice President Agnew, using reason and logic. And, by the same token, young people must be willing to do the same. When the young people use peaceful means to challenge the system, we ought to listen to what is said.

BRAUNER: What is the one goal you want to attain if elected to the Congress from the First District?

BRAUNER: I want to bolster the economy of Idaho. I want to see that all industries of the state receive equal treatment through effective national economic policies.

BRAUNER: The full following is the pattern for withdrawal and the measure's success this session. As far as I am concerned, he is a 'JOHNNY-COME-L A TLY' in conservation.

BRAUNER: Young people, especially those of college age, are concerned about the critical attacks of Vice President Agnew, using reason and logic. And, by the same token, young people must be willing to do the same. When the young people use peaceful means to challenge the system, we ought to listen to what is said.

BRAUNER: What is the one goal you want to attain if elected to the Congress from the First District?
Advocacy Journalism, Political Candidates Hilight Confab

by Jane Dunn

The Idaho Collegiate Press Association conference last week could be called typical of all conferences people hoping to accomplish something, fearing the time spent unable to matter how you look at it, it was an experience.

The ICPA is and has been going through rapid, progressive, dramatic changes. A new group has been formed in this country, the United Student Government Press Association, an organization for exchanging news stories, that is changing just as rapidly in response.

USGPA's John Hilton and Carl Nelson attended the Idaho conference to join inrap sessions and show Idaho Student Press representatives changes that are occurring in the nation.

Hilton and Nelson attended the ICPA's annual meeting in Manchester, New Hampshire, this summer, where student editors from across the country challenged the idea of campus newspapers as large institutions and challenged to press the issue as a necessity.

Another important person went to that workshop. Sam Deggren, editor of the Intermountain Observer was a guest of the ICPA conference lending advice and discussing issues covered at Manchester.

Thursday night at the Hotel Boise newspaper staffs from Idaho participated in a panel discussion on the problems of reporting, production techniques, and a new aspect: adverstising.

One prime concern of papers has been to report objectively, not becoming involved in what's really happening.

The worst possible method business people, politicians, editors, and publishers can avoid is involving themselves in the affairs with which they are not familiar.

The power structure of the community, politics of the state, foreign and domestic policies have a great deal to do with explaining college problems. It is a concept you must dig underneath issues to cause change, not just tell what.

The press is a vital part of social and economic processes. The reporter should be objective, but he must bring about change and show others.

The concept of the press is a business being charged as a corporate structure, composed of a president, stockholders, and, on down. Paper staffs must involve every person group's decisions are important. No one becomes a specialist, every one is a part of the total product.

Day says there is a damaging effect of compartmentalization.

Larry Anderson, president of ICPA, continued the discussion by observing that the real issues of the convention, topics. Below, a panel on a common advertising rate card, setting up a statewide exchange services, and funding state reporters to cover events in the Capital City to other sections of the state.

The final meeting of the day centered around paper criticism and an informal session with Boise press people. Attending were Sam Dey, Alice Deeter, both from the Intermountain Observer, Steve Allen, The Statesman, and Don Watkins, from the department of Education and formerly with United Press International.

The discussion centered around the difference between news and features material. A lot of papers have been experimenting trying to distinguish between two.

Day made news of the war in North Africa never gets covered, and it is important to write stories criticizing the commercial press.

There are practical limitations to news reporting, commented Steve Allen, but Hillsum said you can't keep the buses anything but out of the way, and must be in some cases, to tell the public what is really happening.

Day made reference to the story the AIRIFR has been running about the Old Soldiers Home. It is a community involvement, and one that has two sides, those who want to save it for aesthetic value and those who want to get it a way for highway extension through it. He said it should be a valid part of college news and more of it should be done.

The most interesting part of the conference, which was in conjunction with the Idaho Student Government Association, was the appearance of the Don Samulsion and Cecil Andrews, democratic challenger for his highest political spot in Idaho.

Samulsion barred off commercial press from the conference, but student press people attended. In answer to the tax question, Samulsion said if legislators are going to write an adequate school formula they have to equalize the tax base.

He said in response to questions concerning student conduct code that the details would have to be worked out by the Board of Regents, each school and students.

Samulsion was asked why he refused to debate Andrews, but offered no comment.

Cecil Andrews strode into the Boise Hotel, his footsteps shrilled. "I've never heard of a press conference being closed to the Press!"

Bill Isley, Student Body President of Idaho State University, commented that Andrews had been against the tax. Andrews replied, "It's in the record. I voted 'aye' in front of 44 other legislators."

Regarding government expenditure, Andrews said, "I question the value of the Department of Administrative Services. I question why we are building $2,000,000 (part of the Interstate Highway system) when school children are sharing books."

He said the state has to assess values that must be streamlined out. He commented he hoped to unify the sectionalized state of Idaho.

Pollution, drugs and abortion were posed as pension questions. Referring to the comment government expenditure, Andrews said, "If the state is peaking out in the Idaho, Andrews said to ask...

SAM Dey, editor of the Intermountain Observer, Boise, bench the discussion during the Idaho Collegiate Press Association meeting last Thursday at the Hotel Boise. (Photo by Richard Jacobson)

The chief executive and he voted against the State Sales Tax originally because the people he represented in the northern section of the Idaho did not want it. He said he never campaigned against it.

He asserted that proper management of government during the term of office created millions of dollars for investment in Idaho. He said there has been a 60 per cent increase in educational funding, but he could not list the increased items. He said without a proper accounting system, he could not tell what the expenditures were.

Samussion was asked to look at the facts. He said the state had gone through some tough times. He admitted he did not have all the information about changes in government to do necessary, current accounting. He had brought in some of the best minds to help them figure out a way. He said he could use, Leitch with the students, he said he made some decisions, no matter whether they were right or wrong, with a prayer.

Ranchers, farmers and other people who use and live near the Portnnllt, the Snake, the South Fork of the Snake, and the places of other rivers if the pollution had peaked out. He said it had not.

For personal reasons, Andrews said he could not agree to accept the idea of abortion right now. He said if the legislators passed a bill, he would look at it as a Bill. He is not dependent on what that piece of legislature enacted. He said he planned to put personal views aside.

Andrews said he was hard-headed about drug suppliers. He said the question was in the degree of usage, and rehabilitation and confinement for all the wrong.

Andrews said he felt Idaho would belong to the students of today after he is gone, and he is trying to leave behind a program. He said, "I will work for you, if you will work for your grandchildren. You've got a right to join him."

We've got to realize we can't make people comply with rules, and say you can't join our government. The most satisfaction ended with Andrews saying if elected the "doers will always be open to my office."
Homecoming... 1970

THIS TIME THE administration is being represented behind bars as Dean of Student Personnel Services Dr. Bill Hendry, Dean of Men Ed Wilkinson, and Administrative Assistant to the President, Bob Gibb.

GETTING THE HONORABLE Introductions Monday are EAC Homecoming Queen, Thomas Linda Elliott Linda Hutchinson, Peggy Valentine.

Mr. Bronco finalists Roy Johnson, the final selection, Ed Weber, Dan Befenkamp and Abe Kaulaha.

(Photos by Mike Gibbons)
BOISE STATE HOME COMING Queen LeAnn Stevens and Mr. Bronco Roy Johnson
Roll Out The Barrel

FOR A HEAVY EXPERIENCE...

THE VICTORIAN SHOP

108 N 10th

TOP FASHION CLOTHING FOR GUYS AND GALS

LEATHER COATS AND VESTS

BUTTON FRONT PANTS

BODY SHIRTS

INCENSE

POSTERS

HEAD ITEMS

HOMECOMING SPECIAL

OLD BOISE SALOON

Free Coupon

GLASS or PITCHER of our FAMOUS DRAFT BEER

Plus One - Get One FREE

LIVE BAND & PIANO

SATURDAY NIGHTS 9:00

100 SO. 6th St. Ph. 342-6891

World Championship Challenged

Ten members of Beta Sigma Chi fraternity, sponsored by a local brewery company and the ARBITER Staff will attempt to roll an empty keg from the ISU campus 216 miles to the ISU campus on Halloween weekend.

At stake is the International Long-distance Keg-Rolling Championship. The record, established on the weekend of October 19-21, was set by the Phi Beta Chi fraternity of St. Paul, Minn., who rolled a total distance of 150 miles.

This championship attempt must be completed in time for the ISC/ISU football game set for the same weekend.

One of the objectives of this effort is to get publicity for the United Fund campaign in this area, and the fraternity members will collect donations for the fund the entire length of the route.

Plaza-Twin

CINEMA 1

TODAY

"CATCH-22"

IS THE MOST MOVING, MOST INTELLIGENT, THE MOST HUMAN - OH, TO HELL WITH IT! - IT'S THE BEST AMERICAN FILM I'VE SEEN THIS YEAR!

It comes as close to being an epic human comedy as Hollywood has ever made! Alan Arkin as Yossarian provides the film with its continuity and dominant style. Arkin is a deadly serious actor, he projects intelligence with such monomaniacal intensity, he is both funny and heroic at the same time. Nichols remains, as he was before, one of our finest directors."

- VINCENT CANBY, THE TIMES

"IT'S ONE HELL OF A FILM! A COLD, SAVAGE AND CHILLING COMEDY! Firmly establishes Nichols' place in the front rank of American directors."

- ALAN ALDA, PLAYBOY

"Viewing Arkin is like watching Lew Alcindor sink baskets or Bobby Fischer play chess: A virtuoso player entering his richest period! A triumphant performance!"

- TIMOTHY LEARY,* FANTASMA
Student Government Association furthers bills, goals

By Jane Dunn

Unable to endorse a gubernatorial candidate working to improve student government and passage of several bills, Idaho Student Government Association conference last weekend.

ISGAP President Wayne Westler said conference members did not want to endorse a political candidate for the did not want to become a political force. He said the delegates would rather have lacked an issue, but time was not available to construct a bill

The Senate executive said he was involved in promoting the functions of the ISGA and what it would accomplish. He asked to question the results of the consultation whether it helped student government and leaders, and whether they had real leadership.

He said if only forge, out of the 100 students who attended, felt they got something out of the convention, it had been a success.

In his opening statement Thursday night Wester said the student leaders would discuss solutions and alternatives to real problems.

He asked who students student government and associations issues ISGA.

Friday speakers to the session included Don Dunham, who said we must assure the health of the university of its own development of student colleges and ISGA.

He said Idaho has natural resources, good people, and you opportunities to expand into education programs that are of value to the rest of the nation as well as the state.

He was interested in job as governor to those who are student leaders. He said, "As a governor, I represent many different groups and ideas, and I have to ensure that the desires and feelings of all constituents are considered."

Also Friday Attorney General Robert Robison addressed the conclusion and said, "In view of the criteria of "hardline," "dry-shouting" and "impossible politics" that have been leveled at me on and off campus regarding drug usage and the "student bill of rights," I am both pleased and surprised to be invited to address this group."

He said the likelihood of man going up with programs seems unlikely. He said, "The only trouble is that peace is being made to avoid having this issue provide no relief for the expression of violence."

It is good, Robison said, for it protects us against interlopes, and we show no signs of abandoning it as an instrument of international or national politics. He said the fact must be faced realistically, and must be controlled to minimize results.

Robert Ameson, director, Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission, said Saturday if the colleges cannot control campus situations, the state will.

He said the potential for civil disorder is always present, but for Idaho has not come close to the problems experienced by many other campuses across the nation, because of the caliber of students.

Ameson said student leaders should assume the responsibility of doing what they can to maintain peace. He said he felt quite confident the larger body of the state's student body will stay involved and have a enforcing impact on individual campuses.

Ameson said student leaders should assume the responsibility of doing what they can to maintain peace. He said he felt quite confident the larger body of the state's student body will stay involved and have a moderating impact on individual campuses.

Among assembly bills passed were those advocating a Speakers Bureau to get information on the campus, and the student bill of rights, and the ISGA. Student Body presidents would assign a speaker to groups requesting representation from college organizations.

The ISGA endorsed the concept that male and female voter in living group study rooms should be permitted on all Idaho College campuses.

The assembly authorized the ISGA president to establish a permanent standing committee on Rules and Resolutions. They will be responsible to insure that all resolutions submitted to the assembly are correct and complete.

The ISGA Assembly authorized the president to establish a permanent standing committee on legislative affairs. The purpose of the concept is to maintain a constant line of communication between ISGA and the government of Idaho.

The assembly authorized the president to establish a Student Judicial Affairs Committee to be permanently in region one of the state.

To see how the convention paid off, the ARBITER asked ISGA Senators what their impressions of the convention were.

Ward Knox said, "The ISGA convention created an audience which brought in different points of view common to all schools. It enabled me personally to perform my duties as a Senator in a more professional manner. I think the most important thing was the achievement of cohesion among the schools."

Clint Tinsley, Sophomore Class President, said, "As an educational process, it was great because of the interface of ideas which took place in the interaction discussion groups. The only problem is the equal representation as far as voting on legislative matters. In particular, one resolution to be passed by the convention was taken back to the various delegates and their opinions were considered. It was rejected."

Angelo Gamboa, Freshman Class President, said, "It was well organized, but it has room for improvement. I got a lot out of it. The interaction groups were effective."

Jodi Fisher said, "I gained a great deal from it. I think the best part of the conference was in the discussion with other delegates about campus control. I was very interested in talking about the University of Idaho Bill of Rights. It could be used as a model. I think we should have one."

Donna Stephens said, "Overall I was very impressed. I learned a lot. Just the fact that seeing how other kids are concerned with today's problems, environment, the school and the progress their schools are making was interesting."

The ISGA convention will convene next spring in Boise.
Consumer Report hits cars

by Gerry Locklear

Buying a used car is a hazardous business at best, and at its worst can be disastrous. There are a number of points which, if followed, can go far toward making the process less painful.

Never buy a used car on looks alone, especially from a dealer. Much, if not most of the work done on a lot by a dealer is cosmetic only, and is done so the car will fetch a higher price than it would normally. Many dealers do only enough mechanical work to get the car past the required safety inspection.

A private or "non-dealer" newspaper ad may be the front for an unscrupulous dealer, but remember that you can be taken just as badly by a legitimate advertiser as a phony.

Your best buy is usually a recent "hearse" or "hit and run" car, which on its own is not much cheaper than a comparable model, but due to its age type of construction is less likely to develop cracks and drafts as it prevails.

If buying from a dealer it's important to inspect the car thoroughly. Before you get up to inspect the car, make sure the lights, wipers, wiper blades, and the like are working properly. When you inspect the car, have the owner show you the "condition report," which lists all the parts that may be replaced for you. Also, find out if the car has any "cosmetic" damage to the body, and if so, whether the damage is visible from the outside or not.

1. Study the body surfaces. Look for paint chips, dents, or scratches. Check for rust and for body damage that can be repaired. Check for dents and for spots where the body has been welded or pounded. If the car has been involved in a collision, check for damage that has been hidden from view.

2. Listen to the engine. While driving, listen to the engine for any unusual noises. Look for any signs of oil, coolant, or water leaks. Check the oil and transmission fluids, and check the brakes and wheels for any signs of wear.

3. Check the tires. Make sure the tires are properly inflated. Look for any signs of wear or tear. Check for any signs of tire pressure problems. Look for any signs of tire wear in the tread patterns.

4. Check the brakes. Make sure the brakes are properly adjusted. Look for any signs of brake fluid leaks. Check the brake pads for wear. Check the rotors for wear.

5. Check the suspension. Make sure the suspension is properly adjusted. Look for any signs of suspension problems. Check the steering and shocks for any signs of wear.

6. Check the engine. Make sure the engine is properly maintained. Look for any signs of engine problems. Check the oil and coolant levels, and check the spark plugs and wires.

7. Check the electrical system. Make sure the electrical system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of electrical problems. Check the lights, wipers, and air conditioning system.

8. Check the fuel system. Make sure the fuel system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of fuel system problems. Check the seats and trim for any signs of wear.

9. Check the interior. Make sure the interior is properly maintained. Look for any signs of interior wear or tear. Check the seats and trim for any signs of wear.

10. Check the undercarriage. Make sure the undercarriage is properly maintained. Look for any signs of undercarriage problems. Check the differential and transmission for any signs of wear.

11. Check the battery. Make sure the battery is properly maintained. Look for any signs of battery problems. Check the cables and connections for any signs of wear.

12. Check the steering. Make sure the steering is properly maintained. Look for any signs of steering problems. Check the steering column and wheel for any signs of wear.

13. Check the alternator. Make sure the alternator is properly maintained. Look for any signs of alternator problems. Check the belts and pulleys for any signs of wear.

14. Check the fuel tank. Make sure the fuel tank is properly maintained. Look for any signs of fuel tank problems. Check the tank for any signs of corrosion.

15. Check the emissions system. Make sure the emissions system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of emissions problems. Check the catalytic converter and muffler for any signs of wear.

16. Check the brakes. Make sure the brakes are properly maintained. Look for any signs of brake fluid leaks. Check the brake pads for wear. Check the rotors for wear.

17. Check the suspension. Make sure the suspension is properly adjusted. Look for any signs of suspension problems. Check the steering and shocks for any signs of wear.

18. Check the engine. Make sure the engine is properly maintained. Look for any signs of engine problems. Check the oil and coolant levels, and check the spark plugs and wires.

19. Check the transmission. Make sure the transmission is properly maintained. Look for any signs of transmission problems. Check the fluid levels, and check the gears for any signs of wear.

20. Check the electrical system. Make sure the electrical system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of electrical problems. Check the lights, wipers, and air conditioning system.

21. Check the fuel system. Make sure the fuel system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of fuel system problems. Check the seats and trim for any signs of wear.

22. Check the interior. Make sure the interior is properly maintained. Look for any signs of interior wear or tear. Check the seats and trim for any signs of wear.

23. Check the undercarriage. Make sure the undercarriage is properly maintained. Look for any signs of undercarriage problems. Check the differential and transmission for any signs of wear.

24. Check the battery. Make sure the battery is properly maintained. Look for any signs of battery problems. Check the cables and connections for any signs of wear.

25. Check the fuel tank. Make sure the fuel tank is properly maintained. Look for any signs of fuel tank problems. Check the tank for any signs of corrosion.

26. Check the emissions system. Make sure the emissions system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of emissions problems. Check the catalytic converter and muffler for any signs of wear.

27. Check the brakes. Make sure the brakes are properly maintained. Look for any signs of brake fluid leaks. Check the brake pads for wear. Check the rotors for wear.

28. Check the suspension. Make sure the suspension is properly adjusted. Look for any signs of suspension problems. Check the steering and shocks for any signs of wear.

29. Check the engine. Make sure the engine is properly maintained. Look for any signs of engine problems. Check the oil and coolant levels, and check the spark plugs and wires.

30. Check the transmission. Make sure the transmission is properly maintained. Look for any signs of transmission problems. Check the fluid levels, and check the gears for any signs of wear.

31. Check the electrical system. Make sure the electrical system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of electrical problems. Check the lights, wipers, and air conditioning system.

32. Check the fuel system. Make sure the fuel system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of fuel system problems. Check the seats and trim for any signs of wear.

33. Check the interior. Make sure the interior is properly maintained. Look for any signs of interior wear or tear. Check the seats and trim for any signs of wear.

34. Check the undercarriage. Make sure the undercarriage is properly maintained. Look for any signs of undercarriage problems. Check the differential and transmission for any signs of wear.

35. Check the battery. Make sure the battery is properly maintained. Look for any signs of battery problems. Check the cables and connections for any signs of wear.

36. Check the fuel tank. Make sure the fuel tank is properly maintained. Look for any signs of fuel tank problems. Check the tank for any signs of corrosion.

37. Check the emissions system. Make sure the emissions system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of emissions problems. Check the catalytic converter and muffler for any signs of wear.

38. Check the brakes. Make sure the brakes are properly maintained. Look for any signs of brake fluid leaks. Check the brake pads for wear. Check the rotors for wear.

39. Check the suspension. Make sure the suspension is properly adjusted. Look for any signs of suspension problems. Check the steering and shocks for any signs of wear.

40. Check the engine. Make sure the engine is properly maintained. Look for any signs of engine problems. Check the oil and coolant levels, and check the spark plugs and wires.

41. Check the transmission. Make sure the transmission is properly maintained. Look for any signs of transmission problems. Check the fluid levels, and check the gears for any signs of wear.

42. Check the electrical system. Make sure the electrical system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of electrical problems. Check the lights, wipers, and air conditioning system.

43. Check the fuel system. Make sure the fuel system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of fuel system problems. Check the seats and trim for any signs of wear.

44. Check the interior. Make sure the interior is properly maintained. Look for any signs of interior wear or tear. Check the seats and trim for any signs of wear.

45. Check the undercarriage. Make sure the undercarriage is properly maintained. Look for any signs of undercarriage problems. Check the differential and transmission for any signs of wear.

46. Check the battery. Make sure the battery is properly maintained. Look for any signs of battery problems. Check the cables and connections for any signs of wear.

47. Check the fuel tank. Make sure the fuel tank is properly maintained. Look for any signs of fuel tank problems. Check the tank for any signs of corrosion.

48. Check the emissions system. Make sure the emissions system is properly maintained. Look for any signs of emissions problems. Check the catalytic converter and muffler for any signs of wear.

49. Check the brakes. Make sure the brakes are properly maintained. Look for any signs of brake fluid leaks. Check the brake pads for wear. Check the rotors for wear.

50. Check the suspension. Make sure the suspension is properly adjusted. Look for any signs of suspension problems. Check the steering and shocks for any signs of wear.

NEW OFFICERS FOR Boise! Hall are back row, left to right, Sally Robinson, president; C. G. Betts, treasurer; William A. Allen, historian. Front row left to right are Robert C. Eldredge, secretary, and Betty May. (Photo by Don Johnson)
Enlightened BSC group dedicated to creativity, forms Cinema Circle for far out flick tastes

By Timothy Mesmer

Somewhere in the corner of Bingham State College’s academic social environment exists an enlightened group of individuals dedicated to the fine art of creative cinema.

They call themselves the “Cinema Circle” and maintain as a nonprofit organization with the objective of presenting films in an art form and as a media of social comment. BSC student Bill Giore, who worked previously in the film department of the Metropolitan Museum of Modern Art in New York City, founded the circle last April. In June it made its debut with a film by Bob Downey, author of “Painey Swaps,” called “Chaffed Elbows.” It is a biting satire concerning movie aspects of social involvement. Also on the bill were six short subjects.

Giore’s staff includes Robert Enslow, Sharon Brown and Vera Vincent.

The nature of the Cinema Circle’s films have at times been correlated with the term “underground” or “avant-garde” and along with these connotations comes the scare of subversive aspects. The terms “Avant-Garde” or “Underground” simply refer to an expression that commutes a film produced by anyone other than a major film corporation. “Easy Rider,” for example, was an underground movie that made it big.

According to Giore, “The films are basic social documents and are in no way in context with any form of revolution, thought provoking, stimulating and educational, yes, but certainly not revolutionary.”

Giore also contends that “Modern films are just too commercial. The most creative technicians and directors are presently giving the film industry the finger and walking off because of crash commercialism and prostituted creators just for the sake of gross sums of money.”

The membership of the Cinema Circle is on a six-month basis, one film a month for the total cost of $10. The price of non-member admission to a “geng show” is $2 per person.

Future movies include “Mister Freedom,” a satire on super-American patriotism, “The Brig,” the story of ten men locked in a marine prison and the interaction between them; a program of adult animation; and a program dedicated to Andy Warhol, an individual who has done unbelievable things to the art of cinema.

The Cinema Circle in the future is looking to become a regular sponsored campus activity and is attempting to work with the administration, an excellent example that by working within the system, students can achieve popular means in the end.

National Recording Star B. B. King to Appear in Concert at BSC

B.B. King

IN CONCERT

OCTOBER 22, 1970
8:00 p.m.

BSC GYMNASIUM

STUDENTS – $1.50

National Recording Star B. B. King will burst onto the Boise State campus Thursday night with a fantastic blues show that has made him famous.

King will appear in concert in the BSC Gym at 8 p.m. National television began to recognize his position as the number one blues singer and the number one blues guitarist in the world, and a series of personal appearances on the Johnny Carson Show, Dick Cavett Show, Delia Reese Show and others continued to spark his popularity.

Ralph Glazan, the music professor, recently wrote in his syndicated column, “Thousands of young people came to the Rolling Stones concert and discovered B.B. King. They joined thousands of others led to his music by his disciples, by Moe Bloomfield and Eric Clapton, by Elvin Bishop, and a host of other guitarists whose inspiration and main influence B.B. King has been. All the guitar players in town pay homage to the master of the blues guitar.”

“The blues is almost sacred to some people, but others don’t understand, and when I can’t make them understand, it makes me feel bad, because they mean so much to me,” King told music critic Stanley Dance.

King’s international appeal has continued to expand. This year he was scheduled to appear during Expo ’70 in Japan and was invited to appear in Mexico, Hawaii, Africa, Taiwan, Thailand, as well as the United States.
The Boise State College football team has organized winning ways by handling the Southern Oregon Red Raiders a resounding defeat of 57-6.

Boise cleared everybody off the bench expect the managers and they were waiting for their turn. The home strength came from the unknowns - Ron Ault, a sophomore from Hawaii. Ault was later spoiled by regular signal callers Pat Sling and Eric Guthrie but not until he had passed for three touchdowns and ran one. Two of the receptions were caught by reserve Allen Dykman.

The Red Raiders looked at times like they needed to buy season tickets to the game as they could only earn two yards on the ground and 38 yards in the air. This managed late in the fourth quarter.

The Broncos were held to seven points in the first period but were able to break loose for 26 in the second stanza.

Dykman took a six yard pass to set off the sparks followed by a 12 yard pass from Pat Sling to Dave Toney. Toney was the leading receiver for the day.

Ault was later spoiled by regular signal callers Pat Sling and Eric Guthrie but not until he had passed for three touchdowns and ran one. Two of the receptions were caught by reserve Allen Dykman.

The Red Raiders looked at times like they needed to buy season tickets to the game as they could only earn two yards on the ground and 38 yards in the air. This managed late in the fourth quarter.

The Broncos were held to seven points in the first period but were able to break loose for 26 in the second stanza.

Dykman took a six yard pass to set off the sparks followed by a 12 yard pass from Pat Sling to Dave Toney. Toney was the leading receiver for the day.

Ault was later spoiled by regular signal callers Pat Sling and Eric Guthrie but not until he had passed for three touchdowns and ran one. Two of the receptions were caught by reserve Allen Dykman.

The Red Raiders looked at times like they needed to buy season tickets to the game as they could only earn two yards on the ground and 38 yards in the air. This managed late in the fourth quarter.

The Broncos were held to seven points in the first period but were able to break loose for 26 in the second stanza.

Dykman took a six yard pass to set off the sparks followed by a 12 yard pass from Pat Sling to Dave Toney. Toney was the leading receiver for the day.

Ault was later spoiled by regular signal callers Pat Sling and Eric Guthrie but not until he had passed for three touchdowns and ran one. Two of the receptions were caught by reserve Allen Dykman.

The Red Raiders looked at times like they needed to buy season tickets to the game as they could only earn two yards on the ground and 38 yards in the air. This managed late in the fourth quarter.

The Broncos were held to seven points in the first period but were able to break loose for 26 in the second stanza.
BSC confronts Savages

Boise State's Homecoming opponents this year are the Eastern Washington Savages which they will meet on Oct. 24 at Bronco Stadium.

The Savages, members of the Evergreen Conference, tied with Central Washington for the LCVC championship last year. Thus far Washington sports a 5-1 record with its only loss coming at the hands of Whitworth, 20-6. The Savages have defeated two teams as Central Washington and handled Southern Oregon a 20-14 defeat.

Savage offensive back Mel Collins should be the main threat to the Bronco defense. Collins, 5'11" and 180 lbs., was the EVCC scoring champion last year and was a member of the Little All-Northwest second team.

The main Washington defensive threat probably will come in the form of Eddie Fisher, who was a defensive back on the second team of the LAN. However, Fisher also plays offense and punts for a 40.6 yard average.

Eastern Washington boasts a total of 26 lettermen which they hope will allow them to pick up their sixth win at the expense of the Broncos.

Cagers lose grads

Boise State College's varsity basketball team is going to be working at a disadvantage this year, due to the graduation of most of last year's starters.

Senior Ron Austin, forward, is the only returning starter from last year's team. The Broncos lost seven seniors through graduation.

Four other members of the team who were not starters, but are back this year, are senior Marty Morris and sophomore Bill Barnes.

Last year's team completed the season with twenty wins and eight losses. They placed third in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Regional playoffs. The tournament pitted the Broncos against the University of California, Sacramento State University and the University of Puget Sound. The region itself included eleven states.

Equality urged in women's sports

Boise State College's women's athletic programs have been weak due to the lack of financial support. The women's teams travel in money to the expense of the men's teams.

In the last five years the school has only provided scholarships to women athletes. There are people at USC who have contributed to their women's sports programs.

The runners are in their starting blocks. A shot rings through the spring air to start the race. Seventy-five yards later, a United States record is broken by a small, slender and talented athlete. Later that year, the record-breaker graduates and plans to attend graduate school.

In most cases, colleges would offer outstanding scholarships to have this performer attend their institutions. This case is different. Not one college offers any athletic scholarship because the speedster, Tony Balderama, is a woman. Tony, a physical education major, attends Boise State.

Miss Balderama is one example of many outstanding women athletes who do not receive scholarships in sports. The main reason is that most colleges, including BSC, do not have intramural or special programs for women.

BSC did not have a women's hockey team, volleyball team, basketball team, track team, or softball team until this year. Due to lack of school support, members of the women's hockey team pay their own travel expenses and provide their own transportation. And when they get to a competition, they are hempered by poor playing facilities.

Money and better facilities will come as the programs advance, but before many of the programs can grow, page 15

B.A.A.Players of the week

Senior tight end Dave Toney and junior Steve Vogel were named back and lineman of the week Monday by the Bronco Athletic Association, for their triumphs over Southern Oregon.

Toney caught five passes for 69 yards and made one touchdown reception for his second score of the year. Toney raised his season total to 11 receptions for 198 yards, an average of 18 yards per reception.

Vogel, transfer from Gray's Harbor last year, collected 10 unassisted tackles to make his season total 19.

Mark Hoffman was second runner-up on defensive honors, with eight tackles and one interception. Mark was in on several punt and kickoff tackles that held Southern Oregon down.

Coach Wagner gave a short account of the Broncos' next opponent, Eastern Washington State College. The Savages from Cheney will play Boise Saturday for Homecoming. The Savages have the same record as the Broncos, 5-1.

Ricks Vikings distance Broncos

The Boise State Cross Country team fell to Ricks for the second week on Oct. 16 by a score of 23-34. The third team entered the race for the first time, the G of 1, failed to show up for the meet.

Harry Otley was again the top Boise finisher as he fell short of first place. But his second place finish earned him a trip to the University of Idaho for the Idaho Intercollegiate Championship.
Parents

Parents’ Day is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 14. The Parents’ Day Committee determined that parents or students must make room reservations immediately.

Housing may be a problem because of the 7,000-delegate National Convention in Boise at the same time. Reservations should be made immediately. The Committee suggests persons specify BSC Parents’ Day when making reservations. Students with apartments are asked to house their parents if possible.

A letter from Dr. Barnes and a schedule of events have gone out to parents. Among the activities planned are the President’s reception, a get-acquainted hour with faculty, campus tour by AMS, dedication of the new Business Building, and the Boise State football game.

The Business Building dedication will feature as guest speaker the ex-president of the World Bank, Eugene A. Black, presented by Boise Cascade President Robert Hamburger.

Parents should submit the registration blank sent to them. They can purchase football tickets for $1.00 each at the registration desk in the SUB November 14.

The Parents’ Day Committee asks all BSC students to extend a personal invitation to their parents and to make room reservations immediately.

Parents thanked the registrars for their cooperation in processing the requests.

Soprano Keys

A proposal for soprano key privileges was submitted by the first Interimary Council meeting. It was favored by the women residence hall students last spring. The key privilege enables first semester students to use the women’s residence halls with a CPA of 2.25 and second semester sophomores with a CPA of 2.00 to obtain keys.

Presently the dean of women’s office is making parental permission cards, which are to be returned to her office before Jan. 1. The date of the proposal is to take effect. However, it was pointed out that the keys may be granted before the proposed date if parental permission cards are received before the Jan. 1 deadline.

The Library

The Library will be closed this Saturday, Oct. 24, for Homecoming activities. The building will be open its usual hours Friday, 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Soprano Keys

A proposal for soprano key privileges was submitted at the first Interimary Council meeting. It was favored by the women residence hall students last spring. The key privilege enables first semester students to use the women’s residence halls with a CPA of 2.25 and second semester sophomores with a CPA of 2.00 to obtain keys.

Presently the dean of women’s office is making parental permission cards, which are to be returned to her office before Jan. 1. The date of the proposal is to take effect. However, it was pointed out that the keys may be granted before the proposed date if parental permission cards are received before the Jan. 1 deadline.

Brass Lamp Anniversary Celebration

BIG 2 FOR 1 BEER SPECIAL

BUY ANY GLASS OR PITCHER
GET ONE FREE

"SPECIAL HALLOWEEN PARTY"
9:00 UNTIL 12:00 SAT. OCT. 31

OPEN DAILY 11:00 A.M. - 1:00 A.M.
572 VISTA AVE.

Easy Term

Lee Read

Jewelers

927 Main - 344-6300

BRONCO HUT

BSC BEAT EASTERN WASHINGTON

HAPPY HOUR EVERY FRIDAY

5 TO 7 AT THE HUT

HOMECOMING FESTIVITIES AT THE HUT

Perfect Gift of Love

Express your love perfectly with a perfect Keepsake diamond ring – the gift she will treasure forever. Make this Christmas a memorable one. Give Keepsake®.

Keepake®

Brass Lamp Anniversary Celebration

BIG 2 FOR 1 BEER SPECIAL

BUY ANY GLASS OR PITCHER
GET ONE FREE

"SPECIAL HALLOWEEN PARTY"
9:00 UNTIL 12:00 SAT. OCT. 31

OPEN DAILY 11:00 A.M. - 1:00 A.M.
572 VISTA AVE.

EASY TERM

Lee Read

Jewelers

927 Main - 344-6300