Students be free--Vote YES!

Consistent with the growth explosion and the expanding complexity of the ASB government, the newly proposed constitution to be presented to BSC students in a referendum Feb. 26 is another step indicating the potential of student government.

The newly proposed document was revised Saturday by the ASB Senate for the last time before the students take a week at it. The "mandatory joint ticket" is completely removed from the document, promising to make it a clean sweep with the students.

The new document promises to be more democratic in that the executive and legislative branches have finally been separated, eliminating the executive vote on the Senate. Under the old document, the executive cabinet could block almost any legislation.

Other additions found in the new constitution are the inclusions of the recall, referendum and initiative. Initially the new constitution states in Article V, Section 2, Clause 1, "Students shall have a minimum 2.23 cumulative GPA standing at the time of election to office and must maintain minimum college standards throughout their entire tenure of office.

In the referendum, students may vote on this clause separately, choosing between the above clause and the following clause: "Students shall have a minimum 2.00 GPA cumulative standing at the time of election to office and must maintain minimum college standards throughout their entire tenure of office."

The position of class officers will no longer exist according to the new document. The class officers cannot adequately represent any group whose interests are so diversified and have no common bonds. Twelve senators will be chosen proportionally according to the number of full-time students in the particular schools.

The executive branch has been to cut to include only president, vice-president and treasurer. The secretary and social director will be appointed. The duties of the secretory will be strictly clerical. This eliminates the vote in the executive cabinet.

The social program is a branch in itself and has little to do with the nitty-gritty functioning of student governmental affairs. Social director will no longer vote on the executive cabinet. A person experienced and qualified to deal with band dealers, etc., will be selected. Funds no longer need be wasted in training a newly elected, inexperienced social director.

Confusion and controversy reigned as the fall of 1970 came around when it was determined ASB was moving ahead without authority of the ASB Senate. What can a government do when no Senate is available? The new document provides for senatorial and ASB officers elections in the spring of the year. This will enable a great deal of planning and work to start in the early fall or even summer before students arrive.

BSC is a growing institution, and student government has to be the leader. Student leaders should have the structure found in a document such as this new constitution to promote expansion.

The ARBITER endorses the new constitution and asks students to do likewise. VOTE YES Feb. 26 in the constitutional referendum.
Judicial Council caught with pants down

The Judicial Council got caught with their pants down at the ASB Senate meeting Tuesday, when it was shown recommendations for the Black Student Union Constitution had not been completed until this week.

The document had allegedly been under the jurisdiction of the council for two weeks during that time. Chief Justice Gaylen Drown and Justices Michelle Morrison and Owen Khran were to review it and make recommendations.

Four BSSU members at the meeting asked the Senate to consider their document for passage because projects were already being started and had to be sanctioned.

The Chief Justice was nowhere in sight, and Miss Morrison and Khran had to fill in for him. Their recommendations for statements to be incorporated into the constitution were in regard to affiliation with Boise State College, organization entrance requirements and eligibility requirements between public and higher education. There is simply not enough money in the state's kitty to adequately and keep the troops satisfied under present conditions.

The warring factions say it with roses on their behalf, but when the parties go behind closed doors the sticks and stones sharpen.

For years, the battles that have incurred through votes into bitter conflict and the result is worse than that. Someone must force the two groups into utter confusion and the result is worse than that. Conditions. The warring factions say it with roses on their behalf, but when the parties go behind closed doors the sticks and stones sharpen.

First, someone must take steps to halt the widening rift with Boise started, and they had to be sanctioned.

Secondly, Republicans aren't buying Gov. Andrus' budget proposals. The GOP leadership charges the Democratic chief executive with robbing Peter to pay Paul. At the same time, the health, education and welfare portfolio of Idaho's general fund request tab tallies near from these three areas. Higher education monies have been distributed on the basis of enrollment. Up until now it has been everybody for himself. The State Board of Education stepped into the picture and declared those taxes were a matter of past history. From here on out, it would be the board who would take command of the situation. To some extent, the board has been successful but it still boils down to numbers. The more bodies you have the more money you receive. Quality takes second place on the battle ground and in some cases it steps to a poor third. Since 60 per cent of the total. When cuts are made, they come from these areas.

Higher education monies have been distributed on the basis of enrollment. Up until now it has been everybody

The change in the abortion law that Idahoans have waited so long for is on its way but what about the change? A woman may now have an abortion if 1) her life is endangered by the pregnancy, 2) she is a victim of forcible rape, 3) there is any other kind and 4) she is in peril of mort. The law also says abortion in all cases must be ordered by a panel of three doctors, none of whom is the patient's own doctor. If abortion is asked for in case of rape or incest, the woman must have a statement that such a crime did occur from the preceding attorney. I must congratulate Rep. Harold Kelty.

Abortion proposal a farce?

Action gets heavy during Senate meeting with passage of Black Student Union Constitution

Controversy was apparent at the ASB Senate meeting Tuesday as the Judicial Council recommended that the Black Student Union Constitution not pass until certain college requirements be incorporated into the document.

William Barnes, ASB's Vice-President, asked the Senate to table the Constitution. It was then written in black and white that the judicial recommendation must be in the constitution before passage is possible. After a great deal of discussion, the Senate approved the BSUC's constitution despite judicial recommendations.

Lea Mercy, ASB Vice-President, stated that the constitutional referendum would be held Feb. 26 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dean Cazier, ASB Treasurer, said the finance board is meeting to see how the referendum will get out.

The meeting broke for 10 minutes, during which time the black students met with the two justices to iron out the differences. Four points were made, that the Judicial Council is the only body for making recommendations on the constitution. Judges Morrison and Khran said it was up to Drown to correct the document.

The meeting ended up passing the Constitution, the Senate ended up passing the Constitution, the Senate ended up passing the Constitution.

The vote was unanimous. The vote was unanimous. The vote was unanimous.

ASB appointments to the College Union Board of Governors include: Eric Gabrielson, Pat Lee, James Crawford, Ed Weber, and Pete Peterson. Other appointments are Jerome Wilson, Foreign Film Committee, Stephen Wasserfall, Arts Planning Committee, Mark Burgener, Homecoming Committee and All-Ideah Week, and Art Peterson, Art Planning Committee.

Listening to Fleetwood Mac's Kilnhouse has an amazing parallel to reading an alternate novel, one that has tremendous flow. The album climaxes to a point and drops with unbelievable dexterity, capturing the listener as the book would its reader. Kilnhouse is Fleetwood Mac's latest release and is a fine example of capture.

The album contains and identifies the group as one of today's finest musical vocations.

With a touch of irony, Kilnhouse brings back the days of Chubby Checker in "This is the Rock." In "Blood on the Floor," Fleetwood Mac plays with a western flair that resembles that of Merle Haggard.

But when it comes to such tunes as "Hello Silver," "Jeweled Judy," or "Buddy's Song," Kilnhouse reflects the style of Fleetwood Mac's originality in the field of straight rock.

Students! You can purchase this album at the Roe March Record Shop, where they have the largest selection of fine listening sounds in Boise.

Some suggested albums are:
- Wrong End of the Rainbow, Tom Rush
- Supersaw, Cold Blood
- John Denver, Savoy Brown
- American Beauty, Grateful Dead
- Led Zeppelin, and Shpongle
- Pearl Jam, Janis Joplin, Working Class
- Here, John Lennon, Emerson, Lake and Palmer

A special meeting of the Associated Student Body Senate was called last Saturday, to try and get the two-thirds majority vote needed to present, as a group, the proposed ASB Constitution. And get the majority they did.

With speed, a break two hours, little argument, save controversial issues, the 17 members present out of 20 eligible voters rapped article by article and section by section to iron out differences and clean up previously deadlocked clauses.

In the second floor lobby of the Student Union Building at 1:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon, discussion began on the 11-page document, which has been revised and edited.

The meeting was called by one majority of senators, but not everyone showed up. Some 35 minutes were spent waiting for 17 of the 20 to arrive.

The preamble and Article I were passed, and in Article II, Legislative Branch, Venetian Glass President John Subah mentioned that the president appoints a senior class president upon taking office.

In Article III an addition was made to Clause II C that the vice-president shall succeed to the office of the president in the event that he is Vacuum (rather than by recall). This was done to add consistency to other parts of the document.

In Article IV, Section II, Clause 1, a motion was passed to change the makeup of the ASBSC Judiciary from six students and three teaching faculty to five students and one TENURED faculty. This was the recommended change from the Judicial Council. The quarter numbers were changed to read three students and one tenured faculty.

In the same Article, Section II, Clause 7, it was changed to dismiss three students and one faculty member shall be appointed to the ASBSC Judiciary in December of each year, and two students and one faculty member shall be appointed in April of each year.

Article IV was passed by a unanimous 17-0 vote.

In Article V, the controversial Elections and Qualifications category, Clause 3 was stricken from the document. That means anyone who wants to run for ASB President or Vice-President must a choose a running mate.

The clause had brought much discussion and controversy over the fact that candidates for the two highest executive offices choose running mates or should they be able to run and file separately on the election ballot. The braintrust belonged to Student Union Assistant Director Gary Kleeman, who said when asked why no one thought of it before, "It only occurred to me two seconds ago."

The second biggest hassle in the document, whether candidates for student offices should be required to have a 2.25 GPA at the time of the election, whether they should have a 2.00 and maintain it in both cases, was also trashed.

The choice will be left up to the students. On the ballot drawn up by the Election Board, the first choice will be to vote for the Constitution as it is, closed. The second choice is the constitution with amendments.

"Students shall have minimum 2.00 cumulative GPA standing at time of election to officer and must maintain that standard throughout tenure of office."

"In Duties of the Senate, Legislative Branch, (addition) to impose, for good cause, the officer of the ASBSC by two-thirds vote of all voting members."

"In the Judicial Branch, powers of the ASBSC Judiciary (additional clause) to preside over impeachment proceedings of officers."

A little discussion came up on the qualifications of the ASBSC Treasurer. An amendment was made that the treasurer must be a business major with two semesters of accounting by the end of the semesters of his election, and shall have completed at least 48 credit hours along with the president and vice-president. All three shall have attended BSC one semester immediately prior to the time of candidacy.

This last three articles were passed with little discussion except on minor points. Those deals with recall and vacancies, initiative and referendum and amendments, the first two are new to any Boise State ASB Constitution.

The document has been sanctioned by the group that put sections together. It is the hope the student body will pass the measure in the referendum Friday, Feb. 26.

At Tuesday's Senate meeting, ASB officers said balloting for the referendum would be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., with stations set up in the Student Union, Vo-Tech, Liberal Arts, Library and Business Buildings.

The majority of votes cast in the election will decide the fate of the ASB Constitution.

Legislative Report: Senate and House play miniature war game

More is not enough, but it helps. The good things in life are rare and the better things are far more.

Public hearings are over and the post season lobby committee has locked its doors and began the fairly high-kicking to come up with some sort of budget that beats the governor's proposal while still holding down tax increases. This miniature version of War Games has all the aspects of the real thing. The governor's $136 million request in principle against competitiveness estimates of $120-$125 million and politics from congress, the largest cuts will come if they do and they probably will from requests of Health, Education, and Welfare.

There is a critical question involved in this debate. Does the present system of state government. You only get what you pay for and nowhere does it show more true at state and local units of governmental process. This dilemma is in this do we provide necessary services or do we split our attention into any tax increases? The answer is a plaguing them for the services.

One of tax increases being unjustified are being heard from throughout the state and legislators are forced to listen. The citizens are tired of paying more but seemingly getting less.

Property taxes have jumped steadily in the past 12 months. Some Ada County residents have seen individual assessments skyrocket 100 percent. The inadequate tax structure is so bad that it is the home owner who bears the responsibility instead of larger concerns, normally able to do so.

Publics and higher education are squaring off into a battle ground that encompasses the entire state. Neither want to have the hatchet at least not yet. On the outside, the result is barreled wire and bramble bushes.

While all this is happening, a few elected officials sat behind closed doors and determined what is good and what is bad in the end, it is special interest that shoves while John Q. Public is left unheeded. An average citizen has little chance of making his voice heard when he is placed against the resources of powerful lobby groups, Money talks.

It is like young Jack confronting the Giant, but in this instance, the giant rolls on and Jack is left behind.

Darkhorse presidential candidate to address Jefferson-Jackson Banquet

Democratic party leaders in Idaho will be gathering in Boise March 3 to attend the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet at the Rodeway Inn. Senator Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, will be featured speaker, and President Nixon's Attorney General, John Mitchell, will be a keynote speaker.

Tickets are available from the Democratic State Headquarters office, Hotel Boise, from Democratic County Chairmen, legislative district chairmen, and members of the Jefferson-Jackson Day Committee.

All tickets costs are available for $4.50 from Professor of History Dr. John Caylor, ADM 218-C, or in the ARBITER OFFICE, ADM 217. The regular price for the tickets to the democratic banquet are $25.

Hughes is a three-term governor of Iowa and was elected to the Senate in 1968. He serves on committees including those for Labor and Public Welfare, Budget and Revenue and Equal Educational Opportunities. In April 1969, Hughes was named Chairman of the Special Subcommittee on Alcoholism and Narcotics, establishing for treatment and rehabilitation.

During his term as Iowa's Governor, Hughes was instrumental in getting capital punishment abolished and instead of capital punishment, life imprisonment after open housing legislation passed.
Author runs for Idaho State Bug

Some may have thought it could never happen, but it looks like it has. A human is running for the Idaho State Bug. In a contest sponsored by KFXD Radio in Nampa.

A young 25-year-old man came into the ARBITER office last Tuesday named Grant Humphreys, residence everywhere and anywhere.

He is running in the bug contest under the name "Hippie Hemphug". In his declaration of candidacy for Idaho's first official bug, he states: "I, too, believe that Idaho needs an official state bug and a sense of humor as an antidote for that officialness. Because of my convictions and beliefs that Hippie Hemphug is the "true Idaho potato bug." I think it only fitting that he be hailed as Idaho's first official bug."

Humphreys says he feels he could fill the vacancy better than any other bug. "I am a college dropout. A father, an army desertee," he claims. "I am a college dropout. A father, an army desertee, a student at Richland and Idaho State University. I have a degree in English."

And now he is moving around Idaho, hitting all the major school campuses promoting his candidacy for the Idaho State Bug. He has made radio appearances for Radio Station KLIX, Twin Falls; KISN, Pocatello, and KFXD in Nampa.

"I, too, believe that Idaho needs an official bug and a sense of humor as an antidote for that officialness," he wrote in his campaign literature.

"I believe that Hippie Hemphug is the "true Idaho potato bug.""

"I also believe that the people of Idaho would rather have a bug than a hare, "Huf. Huffman says he is going to write a story about the campaign called "Hippie Hemphug," as he travels he has taken to acquire the official bugdom.

As a final note, he said, "I believe that the people of Idaho would rather have a bug than a hare.""
Look out gang! Here comes STEPPENWOLF live at the Boise State Gymnasium, Saturday March 6, along with MARK/ALMOND from England.

STEPPENWOLF is America's number one hard rock band, composed of lead singer John Kay, drummer Jerry Edmundson, organist Goldy McJohn, lead guitar Larry Bryon, and bass George Biondo. Tickets will be available for $2.50 for BSC students. General admission will be $5 and reserved tickets will be $7. Gates include the Boise State Student Union Information Booth, the Bon Marche, Alexanders, Music Box, Nampa, and Dorey's Caldwell.

Star Concerts, Inc. is bringing the bands in cooperation with Boise State College, Social Committee and Social Chairman Ed Webster.

Program promoter Mike Magauran, Portland, Ore., was in town Tuesday to set up arrangements with the Social Committee and Boise State, and he commented on both groups as to style of show the audience can look forward to.

STEPPENWOLF will be coming from Chicago Friday night. They have been working the last six months only two nights per week. They have appeared at Fillmore East in New York and Fillmore West in San Francisco last week. In the line of albums, STEPPENWOLF has come out with four gold records, "STEPPENWOLF", "STEPPENWOLF the Second", "Monster", and "STEPPENWOLF Live".

Magauran says the group has spent six months on their stage performance to upgrade their show, and says they have come a long way. He says, "They are now one of the better live rock groups. They are tightening up now. They are going into the softer things, kind of like Chicago and Three Dog Night. They are using a lot of acoustic work."

Kay is from 'East Germany. He defected from his country, went to Canada, and then entered the United States.

The band got its start in 1967 in the Haight-Ashbury District of San Francisco, when Big Brother and the Holding Company, Grateful Dead and Country Joe and the Fish were in the area, doing shows for free. The group is named after a German novel by Herman Hesse, which centers around an outlaw who exists outside society.

Magauran said the group likes to play college campuses, and in areas that are away from big cities. Places like Idaho, Washington, Oregon.

Mark/Almond is composed of Jon Mark and Johnny Almond, who played with John Mayal on his "Turning Point" album. Along with them are Tommy Fye, formerly with Joe Cocker, and bassist - cellist Roger Sutton.

The groups play 32 different instruments between them, but feature no conventional drums. Magauran says the group is a cross between the defunct Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young and the Beatles.

Get your tickets now, and be prepared for one hell of a show!

Dear Dr. Dodson:

My husband is great with kids, sick people, and anyone who really down and out. He's also great to me, as long as I don't disagree with him too strongly.

With everyone else he's a vertex-aggressive, boastful, and rude. What's his problem? Don't say he should get counseling. Because it would never do it. Baffled Betty

Dear Betty:

I'll bet he's also a hard loser when he plays games a won't argue unless he's sure he'll win, although he wouldn't admit it. Yet his behavior causes most people to dislike him. He anticipates that people will dislike him, which causes him to put them down before they put him down.

Once he's relatively "safe" with you, you have the potential to help him immensely with his problems, and probably already have. I'd be glad to talk with you about how you might be even more helpful.

Dr. Dodson

I just read your column. It really ticked me off the way you answered the guy who asked why every professor thinks his class is the only one.

You said, "As a former student I sympathize with you. As a professor, I suggest you enroll in one of my classes if you want to learn something really important."

I'll bet you're a pompous (Censored) like most professors and like all psychologists. In re:

Dear:

I may or may not be a pompous student but some psychologists and some professors are okay guys. But that as it may, I don't think you missed the point. Try reading it again this time with a little sense of humor.

Alpha Kappa Psi hosts conference, wins award

Feb. 11-13 the BSC Theta Omicron Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi hosted the West Central Regional Conference, three days packed with professional activities, discussions, and excellent entertainment.

Thursday morning a welcoming breakfast was conducted with honored guests Dr. John Barnes, Boise State College, Dr. Dale Bickamon, Dean of Business, Karl Gayford, Regional Director, West Central Region, Wayne Minter, ASB President, BSC, and Gary Kerstew, President, Theta Omicron Chapter.

After a morning of workshops and tours, lunch was conducted at the Downtowners, where fraternity members and guests participated in a question-answer discussion with J. R. Simpson, President, Simpson Industries, Inc. William Irwin, President, Idaho First National Bank, Ralph Comstock, Jr., President, First Security Bank of Idaho, Albert Carlson, President, Idaho Power Co., and Roger McGinnis, Secretary, Boise Chamber of Commerce.

Workshops featuring discussions on fund raising and efficiency rating were held Saturday, and films on accounting, finance, economics, management and marketing were also shown. The main business meeting was conducted Saturday: Idaho State University has been selected as the next convention spot for the West Central Conference.

John Cahill, National President, Alpha Kappa Psi, and Robert Hambrecht, President, Boise Cascade, were featured speakers at the Saturday night banquet.

Theta Omicron was awarded their efficiency rating for the first time ever to receive 100,000 points in the first year.

"JOE"

J.OE is a film you can't walk away from unchanged. Joe Carran starts at everyone from the Letters to the Editor, from the films of Middle America, from every popular misconception and folly.

Though the supporting actors are shakier, and many of the lines to gish, Peter Boyle rescues the film. He plays Joe Carran too well. He'll never lose that.

The performances approach the level of excellence.

J.OE proved what the two men in the truck in EASY RIDER proved, fear and ignorance turn men (willing or not) into death machines.

Broncos close out season with northern tripad

Wallace paces Big Sky rebounders, Austin maintains free throw margin

Steve Wallace and the Austin Toros continue pushing deeper in the Southern Basketball Conference this weekend. While Atkinson, Weber Wildcats and By U.S.A. Bruins are in action, Wallace leads the league in both points and rebounds per game.

Wallace, who grabbed 24.9 rebounds in non-league settings and 12.1 in league play, had his best week this season. He scored 24 points, grabbed 17 rebounds and had a season-high 5 steals in a victory over the By U.S.A. Bruins. He followed that up with another 18 points and 11 rebounds in a loss to Weber. His 45 points and 28 rebounds in the two games gives him 205 points and 123 rebounds in his last six games, which he said is the most he's ever scored in a week.

Wallace is currently averaging 26.4 points per game and 17.1 rebounds per game, both of which are leading the conference.

Big Sky Conference officials are predicting a three-way tie for the conference championship, with Weber, By U.S.A. and Austin all having two losses each.

The Austin Toros are currently 10-6 in conference play and 15-8 overall, while Weber is 11-5 in conference and 15-7 overall, and By U.S.A. is 7-8 in conference and 12-10 overall.

The Toros have a tough road ahead, with Weber and By U.S.A. both scheduled to play this weekend. Weber hosts Weber on Saturday and By U.S.A. travels to Austin on Sunday.

The Toros are currently 7-8 in conference play and 12-10 overall.

Football in February?

February is the month of New Year's resolutions. Many people spend this time planning their goals for the year. However, for football fans, February often marks the beginning of the football season. The Boise State football team is no exception. The Broncos will take the field during spring practice, which is scheduled to begin in early March. The team will practice twice a week, with Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday being the regular practice days. The squad will break during winter break and then return to practice in early March.
