Bounty offered for conviction of eagle killers

Students campaign for open environment hearings

WASHINGTON—Students on a number of U. S. campuses have begun a campaign to turn the Nixon Administration around on its refusal to hold public hearings on the issue of environmental impact of the proposed trans-Alaska pipeline.

Working with the Alaska Action Committee, an organization of conservationists living in the vicinity of Washington, D.C., these students are distributing a pamphlet entitled "The Alaska Pipeline Reading Lesson." The pamphlet deals with unanswered questions and inconsistencies found in the government's pipeline impact statement.

At issue is whether the federal government will grant, as early as May 4, a permit for construction of the 789-mile, hot-oil pipeline that would carry oil from Prudhoe Bay in the Arctic to the Alaskan port of Valdez. There the oil would be transferred to tankers for transport along the west coast of Canada to western U.S. ports.

Canadians have expressed fears about the prospects of oil spills on their coast along the route. In addition, environmentalists fear that the pipeline, going through one of the world's most active earthquake zones, might exact severe damage on the wilderness, rivers, streams, wildlife and fishery resources of Alaska. All of the land over which the pipeline would be laid is owned by the federal government.

In its own study of environmental impact the Interior Department reveals there would be less environmental risk and no greater economic cost involved in constructing a pipeline through Canada. However, the consortium of seven oil companies seeking the trans-Alaska permit, already has pipe stockpiled and wants to go ahead with the project as originally conceived.

The government, in refusing to hold public hearings on the impact statement, urged interested citizens to read the report and render comments. Conservationists complain, however, that there are only seven copies of the nine-volume study available for public inspection in the "lower 48" states. Copies can be purchased through the mail, but they cost $42.50, and delivery time is still uncertain.

Copies of "The Alaska Pipeline Reading Lesson" can be obtained in quantity from the Alaska Action Committee, 729-15th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

A $500 bounty for information leading to the conviction of a person for shooting a bald eagle has been awarded by the National Wildlife Federation. The reward is the first to be given under a nation-wide bounty program started by the NWF in 1971.

The money was awarded for information given to law enforcement officers which eventually led to a conviction and fine for an eagle-killer. Authorities have asked that the details of the case, including names of those involved, be withheld as "it could possibly endanger the safety" of the informant. NWF Executive Director Thomas Kimball said that "We abhor the atmosphere in which this type of information cannot be given public credit." "Both the man who exposed the shooting of this magnificent bird and the shooter should be clearly recognized," he added.

Although it has been against Federal law to shoot bald eagles since 1940, the National Wildlife Federation reward program was started in 1971 as a result of the mass slaughter of eagles in Wyoming revealed in August. At that time, helicopter pilot James Vogan admitted in congressional testimony that he had participated in the killing of an estimated 570 eagles.

The national outlook for the bald eagle population is considered bleak. The total in the lower 48 states is estimated to be as few as three to four thousand birds and the use of hard pesticides and diminishing habitat continue to take their toll. The southern species of bald eagle found in the eastern half of the U.S. is already classified as an endangered species by the U.S. Interior Department.

The National Wildlife Federation continues to offer a $500 reward upon verification that the claimant's information was substantial assistance in obtaining a conviction for shooting a bald eagle. The claimant must request the reward in writing to the National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th St., N.W., Washington 20036, within six months after conviction. If more than one eagle was shot by the convicted person, $500 will be awarded for one bird representing the total number shot.

ecology: a wild idea

This picture was not taken on the Boise State campus. It is a reminder that 15 miles away is a national "Birds of Prey" area along the Snake River. This area was set aside by the U.S. Government because of the many eagles, hawks, and other birds that live and nest there. Several experts who testified against the Swan Falls-Guffy dam insist that the lake created by the proposed dam, near the area, will have an adverse affect upon the birds and wildlife that have been living here for aeons. According to a reliable source there is a controversial report prepared by the Bureau of Land Management that concludes the Swan Falls Guffy Project is an economical boondoggle. This same source insists the report will not be released until after the elections because of the adverse effects it might have on some of the candidates who support the dam.

BSC picnic cited success

The 1st Annual BSC Picnic
For those of you who didn't think much of the idea and didn't go, you missed a hell of a blast. Some people had to work, like myself, but I got off at 5 and trucked on up there. The dollar admission was well worth it. I got there about 6 and there was about 300 to 400 people there and jumpin'. Kids, dogs and students were having a great time.

Pat Large and Dwayne Smith deserve congratulations for putting on one of the best parties this school has experienced. I understand it cost $600 to set it up, but everyone got their moneys worth. The State police were very cooperative and didn't hassell anyone to my knowledge. Thanks again to Pat and Smitty. It was a kick.

Kudos to drama

To the Editor:

We wish to congratulate the Theatre Arts Department and the Music Department on their fantastic production of "Stop the World - I Want to Get Off." This was definitely one of the most outstanding plays that BSC students have had the opportunity to see. Due to the nature of the play, somewhat of a unique atmosphere was called for, and the Lookout provided this. This situation may have put a few restrictions on student use of the Lookout, but in turn, it was also facilitating the students attending the play. To see those people who felt the pattern of their daily lives was severely altered for a couple weeks, we hope you took time out from your pouting to see the play. It was free of charge, free snacks were provided, the acting was superb, and all in all, it was an evening well spent!

Georgiades to support Johnson

Editors Note: Dave Georgiades, State Coordinator for Student Efforts For Byron Johnson, explained to the Arbiter why he supports Byron Johnson.

I've known Byron Johnson for the past six years and have had the opportunity to work closely with him on a number of previous political campaigns. I must confess that I am tremendously impressed with Byron and find him to be a most intelligent, straight-forward, sincere, and able man. He is articulate and has his head in the right place. He wants to see the quality of life we have in this state maintained. He has been involved actively with a number of environmental organizations. One of the major positions he is taking in his campaign is that he is vigorously opposed to any further exploitation and destruction of Idaho's natural beauty and resources by vested corporate interest. Also, Byron favors immediate and complete withdrawal from Viet Nam and a total re-evaluation of what appears to be an improper and obsolete foreign policy. I think that his feelings toward the welfare and rights of individuals are best expressed through his past efforts in this communit. (He has been President of the United Fund in Ada County; Chairman of the Legislative Taskforce on Education; and, interestingly, the local attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union (A position, by the way, that takes a lot of courage and strength of convictions in this area.)

As college students, I think we should have particular interest in this man because he stands for what most of us want-a decent future. Byron Johnson seems to have the right combination of ability, intelligence, sincerity, and attitude that is needed to help turn this nation away from the ultimately disastrous course it is taking with regard to the environment, the economy, foreign policy, and the quality of life for the individuals in this country. In short-he care's, that may sound too simple or trite, but that's where he's at.

In support of Kidwell

Editors Note: Campus representative for Wayne Kidwell, Doug Shantholtz, explained to the Arbiter why he supports Kidwell.

When I first met Wayne Kidwell politics was the furthestest thing from my mind. My father was in need of legal services and had hired Wayne to represent him. After hearing my father praise his abilities, I wanted to meet him. I made an appointment and the first thing that struck me was his youth and his articulate manner.

After talking with Wayne, I was convinced that here was a man that had the rare quality of leadership and concern for individuals. Wayne's open-mindedness and fairness, coupled with his deep feeling of responsibility for any obligation he takes on, made me want to get to know him better. I watched him in the legislature and was always proud to see him recognize the rights and privileges that should be accorded to first voters in this election, as well as his demonstrated concern for protecting the ecology of this State. He is a candidate that will put his vote where his mouth is.

When Wayne announced that he would be a candidate for the U. S. House of Representatives, I wanted to become involved in his campaign. Among other things, Wayne flatly took the position that we should have a permanent moratorium on dam construction on the middle Snake River. This again renewed my confidence in Wayne's manner of taking a stand on issues. I couldn't have been more proud than when he asked me to serve as his college chairman and I knew Wayne would not run on generalities, but specific issues.

Art Berry expressed his desire to help Wayne on his campaign, after having been in one of Wayne's classes, as he has been impressed with Wayne's ability to be open-minded and to communicate with his students.

Service announces new draft procedures

The Selective Service System recently announced new registration procedures for the draft. Under the new provisions, a registrant must register with a draft board or a draft registrar within the period 30 days before to 30 days after his 18th birthday. He must bring some official type of identification with him when he registers, such as his birth certificate, Social Security Account Number card, drivers licence, school or college activity card, or a credit card.

The new registration procedures are designed to make registration more registrant-oriented and draft board operations more streamlined. Registration will consist of filling out a Registration Card. Additionally, a new Registration Questionnaire also must be filled out, although the registrant can take the questionnaire with him, or it may be mailed to him. He must return it within 10 days.

The new Registration Questionnaire requires the names and addresses of three persons outside the registrant's immediate family who will always know his address. The names, relationships, and addresses of all the registrant's family over age 16 also must be listed. In addition, the form includes questions inquiring whether the registrant believes he qualifies for a hardship deferment, for status as a conscientious objector, for a surviving son exemption, or for other Selective Service deferments and exemptions.

Finally, every registrant must list a place of permanent residence, as well as a current mailing address. The draft board will be the registrant's permanent draft board, regardless of where he registers.

When he registers at his own draft board, and when time permits, after he has completed the registration card the registrant will be issued his Registration Certificate along with his Notice of Classification stating that he has been placed administratively into a holding classification, Class 1-H. Practically all new registrants will remain in Class 1-H until after their lottery drawing which will be held early in the calendar year in which they reach age 19. Those who receive low lottery numbers will then be considered for classification out of Class 1-H. Young men become draft eligible, provided they do not receive a deferment or exemption, during the calendar year in which they reach age 20.

Ward Elected Royal King

Dennis Ward, Duke of the Intercollegiate Knights at Boise State, was recently elected Royal King at the IK National Convention in Logan, Utah.

The IKs, a national collegiate service organization, has been at Boise State for approximately 32 years and has played an active roll in college activities.

As Royal King, Dennis will precide over the entire national organization and will be fulfilling the most important post in the IK realm.

Dennis is resigning as Duke of the chapter here at Boise State to fulfill his obligations as King. Ron Crouch has been elected as the new Duke for the Golden Plume Chapter at the college and will resume Dennis's activities.

Jones wins

Squad travels to Montana

BSC sophomore Rich Jones garnered a first place trophy for his performance in oral interpretation during the forensic tournament held at the University of Montana last week, according to Jim Demoux, BSC debate coach.

In senior division debate, Jones and sophomore Greg Clopton made it into quarter final rounds with a five-win, one-loss record, but lost on a 2-1 decision to the Washington State team in that round.

There were 37 colleges and universities in attendance at the Montana tournament, with representatives from Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Montana, Utah and Idaho. Others included the Merchant Marine Air Force Academy from Connecticut and Loyol a University from Chicago.

BSC was represented by seven students, Barb Bridwell, Toni Ickes, Helen Christensen, Peter Spagnolo, Greg Feeler, Jones and Clopton. They were accompanied by Demoux and communications instructors Leonard "Doc" French and Dave Rayborn.

The Montana tournament, the fourteenth one attended by BSC students this semester, was the final tournament of the year, stated Demoux.

"This has been one of the most successful years in the 30-year history of forensics at this college. We've had finalists in every tournament in both debate and individual events, and we've been competing with teams from all over the country," he said.

Demoux added that his department is planning to expand the traveling group for next year. "Debate is a wide open activity for any student in good academic standing who is willing to work hard. Experience is not necessary, interest is most important, since we can train anyone who wants to participate, either in debate or individual events."

He said that those students interested in debate should contact him before the end of the semester in order to get on the mailing list to be sent next year's topic. Preparations for next year will begin in August, Demoux states.

Hansen announces candidacy for U.S. Senate

George Hansen announced his candidacy for the U.S. Senate on May 2.

Hansen commented, "Although I have earlier stated my intention to seek the office of the U.S. Senator for Idaho, I am today formally declaring my candidacy."

"The people of Idaho and this nation are crying for men who will exercise positive leadership and raw courage in meeting the crucial problems we face."

"It is time and past time that this void be filled. We need iron integrity among men to serve where it is right, and to vote for what is right-not for what will get them elected and re-elected." "To make this point I speak out on one issue today: the fact that Idaho and Idahoans depend on agriculture for a majority of their income. Yet, not one U.S. senator west of the State of Kansas serves on the Senate Agricultural Committee, and I'm prepared to show why my representation on that committee and others would be for the well-being of Idaho families."

"My experience, not only in Congress, but in the Executive Department places me in the strongest position to rectify not only this agricultural problem, but all problems facing our state and nation."

Classes in male-female relations to be offered next semester

Two new classes dealing with male-female relations are being offered to students next semester. These classes are Crisis in Identity: Male and Female, to be taught by Carol Harvey and a class in sexuality to be taught by Daniel Huff.

The Crisis in Identity class, will explore social and economic attitudes toward male-female identity, the historical development of male and female behavioral differences and male-female portrait in literature, among other things. Mrs. Harvey said that she thinks that the community here is willing to listen to some of the things that will be dealt with, among them the question of women's lib.

"People are willing and want to discuss this, but when it comes to actual application in the home, it's a different thing," she said.

The crisis class can either be taken as an upper or lower division credit in sociology.

The class in sexuality will be a bit different than the classes students are used to taking at BSC. It will deal with topics that most people don't mention, much less teach about in a class. Some of these topics are homosexuality, masturbation and abortion.

Huff said that the main reason he is giving the course is to acquaint people with their bodies. "A person can go to school and get a good background in his major, but come out not knowing a thing about his body."

Birth control will be dealt with extensively, because, Huff said, many students don't know the different techniques and because he feels that birth control is of primary importance to the survival of mankind. The history and attitudes toward birth control will also be dealt with.

"If this class could prevent one girl from going through the trauma of an illegal abortion, then the course is worthwhile. Huff said. This class can either be taken as an upper or lower division credit in either sociology or social work.

Draft reforms

The Selective Service System in mid-March issued its last major group of Regulation changes and thus ended more than two years of almost constant reform in draft policies and registrant rights. The Regulations concern procedures for personal appearances and appeals, among other subjects. The issuance of the new Regulations removed the administrative hold on personal appearances and appeals which had been in effect since late 1971.

The Regulations set a 15-day time limit following the mailing of a Notice of Classification card in which a registrant must request a local board personal appearance or appeal. When he demonstrates that his failure to respond within 15 days was due to reasons beyond his control, his local board may grant an extension of the 15-day period. The new Regulations also require local and appeal boards to give a registrant at least 15 days notice of his scheduled personal appearance before his local appeal board. Another change announced gives a registrant who is under long postponement of induction the right to receive consideration from his local board for a reopening of his classification to hear claims for exemption, deferment, or conscientious objector status.

The new Regulations also allow a registrant to have up to three witnesses appear in his behalf at his local board personal appearance, require that a quorum of the members of the local board be present, entitle him to 15 minutes for his presentation, and state that his local board must furnish him with reasons should he receive an adverse decision on his classification request.

A personal appearance before a quorum of his state appeal board and, when the vote of the state appeal board is less than unanimous, the Presidential appeal board, also must furnish the registrant with the reasons should he receive adverse decisions on his classification request. He is not allowed to have witnesses appear in his behalf before appeal boards.

If a registrant has any questions he should talk to his local board or the draft counselors at BSC.

ROBERT E. SMYLIE

Republican Candidate for U.S. Senator

P.O. Box 1552
Boise, Idaho 83701

DEAR BOISE STATE STUDENT:

As a Republican Candidate for United States Senator, I have been actively campaigning for three months.

My appeal has been issue-oriented simply because I am convinced the times demand a willingness to give firm answers to the hard questions that confront the nation. Philosophic dissertations are no answer in times like these.

ENVIRONMENT - Hell's Canyon and the Sawtooth-White Cloud Area must be preserved. Action to accomplish this has been too long delayed. Our air and water can be clean and pure with effective federal programs.

ECONOMY - We must stem inflation and restore the economy to secure accepted levels of employment for young workers.

THE WAR - We must end the War in Southeast Asia and disengage totally from our commitment there as soon as possible.

TRANSPORTATION - We need effective systems of transportation for people in the West - especially older people. The slide toward no transportation must be stopped.

TAXES - We need tax reform and property tax relief now, and we do not need a value added tax to accomplish this. VAT would be a national sales tax by another name.

I will appreciate your interest in and support of my candidacy for the Republican nomination. If you want to know where I stand on any issue or want to help, please write me at P. O. Box 1552, Boise, Idaho, 83701.

Vote in August - absentee if need be - but please vote.

Sincerely,

ROBERT E. SMYLIE

If you think Kodak is just pretty pictures, you ought to have your chest examined.

When a chest x-ray shows that you have a potential killer like TB or cancer, it's not a pretty picture. But it's an important picture because it can help the doctor detect and catch the killer in time.

When doctors are out to catch these potential killers, they want the sharpest, clearest x-ray films they can get. And that's why people at Kodak spend so many hours creating new and better x-ray film equipment. Already, the results include convenience for the patient, economy for the hospital, an even more useful tool for the radiologist—and, most important, reduced radiation exposure.

Researching and creating better x-ray films is good for our business, which is why we went into them in the first place. But it does our society good, too—which isn't a bad feeling. After all, our business depends on our society—so we care what happens to it.

More than a business.

One unique athlete

Fem team keeps two

A hard hitting group of BSC softball sluggers kept their two year unbeaten string intact and won a tournament to boot last weekend at Pocatello. The girl batters, under the direction of Mrs. Pat Holman, managed to down ISU, Ricks, and Idaho to take the title.

Boise's first game against ISU saw the Broncos get off to a fast start and tally a 12-5 win. They put the game away early by racing to a 9-2 lead after two innings. Debbie Gaythwaite picked up the win, with Penny Gillespy in the catcher's box. Leading the attack were Terry Madsen and Chris Hamilton with three each. ISU due, their own grave by issuing 12 walks to the Boise hitters.

Game two with Ricks was the highlight of the tourney, and it was this contest that proved to be crucial in BSC's championship effort. It took the local coeds six innings to do it, but they managed to pull out a 10-6 victory. The win was a special one for Holman because her charges bounced back from a 6 run deficit to register the victory. The sixth inning told the story when BSC rallied for a big seven runs. Ginger Waters and Madsen started the fireworks that blew the Ricks infield apart. Gaythwaite was again the winning pitcher.

The final game for BSC only put the icing on the cake as the gals cleaned Idaho 11-2 after a good second inning rally. The Bronco squad put together a ten hit barrage to give Chris Hamilton the win.

Bronco netters to head for Washington

The Bronco tennis team will pack its gear this weekend and head north to Pullman, Wash. for the annual Washington State Invitational Tournament. Featured along with BSC are host WSU, Montana, Southern Oregon and Whitman.

The event could be very interesting for the Broncos because it will include a rematch with WSU, at team Boise beat in April. Also, the tourney will give Coach Bus Conner a look at Big Sky foe Montana.

The Boise State netters bring a sparkling 15-3 record into the tournament. Only Utah State, Idaho, and Oregon have beaten BSC this season. But the Broncos have had some measure of revenge by beating Utah State and Idaho in return matches, leaving Oregon as the only school to be undefeated by BSC.

Last week Boise returned from a road junket with a 1-1 split. Idaho, the perennial Big Sky champ took the Broncos 6-3 but Conner's crew came back to take Whitman by an identical 6-3.

Individually, Dave Graham and Ray Balbutin went unbeaten and Bill Long, Jim Smyth, and Greg Strawn split 1-1. Terry Benjamin had his troubles and was 0-2. According to Coach Conner, the two losses were Benjamin's second and third of the season while Ray Balbutin has had only two setbacks this year.

Conner said he will stick with his regular lineup for the rest of the season, and the BSC could have three of the top seeds in the Big Sky Tournaments which will be held here May 19-20.

This week's player is Bill Stephens, a twenty year old junior at Boise State College. He is one of the outstanding running backs for the Bronco Varsity football team and is an active member of Brother Speed.

Prior to his attendance at BSC, he attended Arizona University and West Arizona Junior College. He is also a physical education major.

Stephens is unique, in that he is the only student at Boise that is currently a varsity ball player and a member of Brother Speed. When asked about his membership in Brother Speed and what he like about it, he said, he joined because they live the life — riding motorcycles.

One of his bikes is a 1972 Harley Sporster XLCH Model, that he has rebuilt as he puts it, "an expression of myself."

When asked about the social ratings often labeled onto Brother Speed, he commented that he did not want to be labeled a radicle, liberal conservative or anything else, he wants to be (like most other people) a person.

His statements about college and the football atmosphere, included the idea that he likes it here, the whole ball of wax. He like the coaching staff and the students, and assumes that the majority of people feel the same about him.

To the age old question, "What do you want to be," he quipped about teaching in high schools or related social work, owning a cycle shop and running a large gym.

Not to be forgotten, is his desire to play proball. And, certainly, football is a game that he can play. To this reporters eyes, he looks like a ballet dancer flowing through a herd of asian water buffalo. This grace coupled with his strength is what makes him the elusive and effective ballplayer that he is.

He says he would like to play for the Jets, Rams, or the 49'ers.

Steve Hage to represent Boise

When the national outdoor intercollegiate archery tournament is held May 12-13 in San Bernadino, Calif. BSC will be well represented in t the person of Boise sophomore Steve Hage.

Recently in a touney at Brigham Young University Hage established his credentials as one of America's best bowmen when he beat both the third and tenth ranked free style archers in the nation. Earlier in the spring he was a member of the team which copped first in the regional shoot-offs in Seattle, Wash.

According to the archery team coach Mrs. Phillis Bowman, "Steve will really repret the school well. He has been working very hard recently and deserves all that he gets." She also mentioned that he has been nominated for the All-American team, which consists of the ten best shooters in the country. Hage's achievement is even more remarkable in light of the fact that he began the sport less than two years ago in Mrs. Bowman's novice archery class. She recognized his talent and steered him to the Boise Bowman, a local archery club. It is here, according to his advisor, that he got the refined coaching that has led to his present competency.

"Steve is a good example of someone who has some talent and has gotten the most out of himself by hard work and dedication," added Mrs. Bowman.

Hage will have his hands full in the national meet, which has been traditionally dominated by host San Bernadino Valley College and Arizona State. All of America's top collegiate archers will be there and a good showing by Hage could put him in the All-American category.

BSC femine tracksters to vie in third meet, held in LaGrande

This weekend the feminine tracksters will travel to LaGrande, Oregon where they will try to run their meet victory string to three.

A speedy group of Boise State female track stars came home with a handsome trophy last weekend when they placed first at a meet held at Idaho State University. The BSC squad swamped the field with a depth laden team and managed to score 66 points despite the fact that they registered only three first places. Kilia was runnerup with 22 others competing were ISU and NNC.

Jackie Kilia was the only individual Bronco winner taking both the 100 and 220 dashes. The 440 relay team of Sue Grimes, Shannon Page, Ronnie Rich, and Kilia took home a blue ribbon in their event. Took $4.5 time was best of the best in the Northwest this season.
