Editorial

Wait it's that time of year again. But don't be afraid to come to an airing of this great show that is this tradition "WE WISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS!". And the Artillerie still, myself and several others that just wandered in, do just that...all with you very Merry Christmas and the best of New Year.

We could tell you that we have an exciting planner prepared for next year, but tell the truth we're not at all sure whether we will be here let alone the page. If we are we will, you the reader, the paper will continue to improve and while we can't promise of you there are no doubt a few more we can make history.

"No, there is not a whole butt of a tea to pay, I made the proper Christmas greetings, the usual new years resolutions, that we will all try to keep...wait, one thing, this is the last edition we will put out this year, we've tried to make it a good one and we hope you like it. So Merry Christmas again, I'll write more but I've got to go now some smoking to my fireplace.

Guest editorial

The following is a guest editorial by Art Berry, student at Boise State College, and State Director for the Idaho Student Lobby. In his editorial he discusses in state tuition and some of the efforts he can use the students and the educational system in Idaho and the problems that any in-state tuition board could have an adverse affect to Idaho and hope you the reader will feel that he is your opinion also. To Mr. Berry's statement, for get me, instead, and to this is part of the penmanship, etc., the good news. More can be if you speak loudly enough, and this issue is of importance to the pocket book of student, and the over taxed, over worked, and under paid people must be made aware that everyone benefits from an increase in-state tuition, has so many far reaching effects that many students don't experienced frustration used of the paper. If we are we can tell you this, the paper will continue to be a good one and we hope you like it. So Merry Christmas again, I'll write more but I've got to go now some smoking to my fireplace.

Senator Maginnis-Phi Beta Kappa's proposed legislation to establish an in-state tuition, is a means for reaching offices that many students don't realize the consequences facing them, or fear that there is nothing they can do anything about it.

Could you afford to cog it college if the legislative authorized the Board of Education to charge tuition fee which could amount to hundreds of dollars?

Over the Christmas holidays, I would welcome you to discuss with your local legislators the problems that the Idaho students face.

At Boise State College alone, the Financial Aid Department received over 3,000 applications for aid. If you half of the full-time students apply for aid, how could you afford to college if the legislative authorized the Board of Education to charge tuition fee which could amount to hundreds of dollars?

"It was not too many years ago that Idaho schools began educating more people than it was not in state, due to higher costs. Nonresident students felt that they could get more for their educational dollar out of state if faced with the same expenses in Idaho that prevail in a great deal of out of state colleges. And if so financially able students could not afford the increase, what would be the condition of education in Idaho?

If this problem close to home, I would encourage you to let your elected officials know.

The key to the future of Idaho is education. People must be made aware that everyone benefits from an increase in-state tuition, has so many far reaching effects that many students don't experienced frustration used of the paper. If we are we can tell you this, the paper will continue to be a good one and we hope you like it. So Merry Christmas again, I'll write more but I've got to go now some smoking to my fireplace.

Bellinga Game Maker

Elzio Dalia, Hawaii, now has gathered many of the students in the making of the game. The game is called "Vyntra" and it will be a major calls of the students studying at Boise State College.

One of the main characters in the game is the "Vyntra". The game is not just for the students at Boise State College, but for anyone interested in the making of computer games.

The game is designed to be played on personal computers and is expected to be released soon. The game is a mix of action and adventure, and it will take players through a series of puzzles and challenges.

The developers of the game hope to create a unique and engaging experience for players, and they are excited to share their creation with the world. The game is currently in development and is expected to be released in the near future.

Congratulations, Bob

Dally on Tuesday issued a letter to the Boise State Senator, asking for support for his proposal to make Idaho "the home of Vyntra". The letter highlighted the potential economic benefits of establishing a local game development studio, such as creating jobs and attracting other businesses to the area.

Dally also expressed his hope that the senator would support the proposal, and encouraged him to visit the studio to learn more about the potential benefits of investing in the local game industry.

The senator has expressed interest in the proposal and has indicated that he will be open to discussing it further with Dally and the studio team. The letter received a positive response from the senator, who thanked Dally for his interest and expressed his willingness to support the proposal.

Questions arise on the responsibility of leadership

Mr. Editor:

The responsibility of legislation is to protect the nation's welfare, which is achieved through the formulation of policies that ensure the well-being of the nation. In the context of the Boise State College case, it is important to consider whether the decisions made by the legislature are in the best interest of the students and the community.

Mr. Dally's proposal to make Idaho "the home of Vyntra" is a step in the right direction, as it promotes the growth of the local game industry and creates economic opportunities for the students and the community. However, it is crucial to ensure that the decision is made after a thorough evaluation of its potential benefits and risks.

The magnitude of what has gone wrong in Vietnam

I don't get as the movie very often, but I've found that sort of thing, though, because I couldn't understand the film. The magnitude of what has gone wrong in Vietnam has caused it to be launched on the world's enemies and tensions into our national consciousness. The film "Winter Soldier" opens that new chapter in the fall of 73, and the American public in the war seems to have become completely detached from the events. "Winter Soldier" won't get mass distribution in the fall of 73, even though it marks its 20th anniversary on August 15. It ran for two years on New York's commercial television stations, is being screened on some college campuses, with support of the Veterans Association Against the War, and once a film is at 11:30 p.m. on Saturdays, the other night is in the fall of 73. Louis University, the other night is run (35 minutes). It will be run by another channel, at home, in 1971. The film is about "Winter Soldier." The film is about the lives of those who served in Southeast Asia. The kinds of atrocities and terrors into our national people about some of the atrocities we have committed in Southeast Asia. The film "Winter Soldier" is the result of some of the atrocities we have committed in Southeast Asia. A little late, but...... FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH

As on the Senate, the Senate approved the appointment of Mr. Kays to the Southern California Senate. The committee is working on a proposal to establish an Academic Senate which will hear and decide upon all academic grievances brought by the student after he has gone through the proper procedures.

Ron Silberman has indicated to President Doherty that he is looking for a reasonable solution to the ticket sales for the athletic events. Students will be admitted to basketball games with just their student cards.

The Senate, in passing Legislation resolution 157, directed a resolution on the results of the students' opinion poll for the health service fee to the State Board of Education.

President Anderlee appointed Scott Mead to the Academic Senate, Ronald McDonald to the Student Affairs Committee, Janet Otto to the Fine Arts Committee, Stan Leal to the student Affairs Committee, Steve Williams as Publicity Chairman. All of these appointments were notified by the Senate.
Al Izzo—New Food Service Director

At last, the new Food Service Director of the university, Al Izzo, comes to Clarkston as he is being assigned to the new position. On December 21, O.D. Food Service was renamed Izzo’s Food Service. In the new position, Mr. Izzo is responsible for planning and implementing the food service policies and procedures for the university's various dining facilities.

Al Izzo was born and raised in Clarkston and has been working in the food service industry for over 30 years. He has a strong passion for providing quality service and ensuring customer satisfaction. Mr. Izzo is excited to bring his expertise and leadership to the Clarkston campus and improve the dining experience for students and staff.

Community is friendly, warm and welcoming, and I am very excited to be a part of this wonderful university family," said Izzo. "I look forward to working with everyone to create a positive and enjoyable dining experience for all who visit our campus.

At the same time, the current head of the Dining Services Department, Mike Finck, will be transitioning to a new role within the university. His contributions have been invaluable, and he has left a lasting impact on the campus. The university wishes to extend its gratitude for his service and dedication to the community.

‘Give a little, it’s Christmas’

A short while ago a letter appeared in the Student Union office from W. B. Young of Plymouth, Va. He was a disabled man with free children, Betty W. Young, who was always ready to help when needed. Betty and her family were able to help many people who needed assistance. She was a kind and caring individual who kept the promise that they could help where and when needed.

The letter ended with a request for the readers to give a little during the season. The series is open to anyone who may wish to do so. The series started on December 14, 1972, and the final installment was published on December 24, 1972.

The basic spirit of the Campus Crusade for Christ is that men must change their hearts so that their problems of greed, hate, sex, prejudice, envy, murder, hatefulness, terrorism, sin and natural desires are overcome. This can be accomplished by bringing the message of love to the college campus. The message is simple and clear: "Love thy neighbor as thyself." The series concluded on December 24, 1972.

'LOGO' Contest

The Boise Public Library and the Friends of the Library are happy to announce the beginning of a Library Logo Contest on December 1, 1972. Open to all Boiseans, the contest will award a fifty dollar prize to the talented entrant who designs a winning library emblem—a library logo. Five runners-up will receive honorable mention awards of five dollars each. These prizes have been generously donated by the Friends of the Library.

The purpose of a library logo is to symbolize the spirit of the library. Simple and direct, the logo should be similar to a trademark for the library.

The library's logo will be used on library stationery, publications, and programs. Staff members will wear identification tags carrying the emblem. The logo should appear on the new building, at any library function outside the building, and in any community function in which the library participates.

Because of the importance of a good logo to the image of the library, the Boise Public Library Board of Trustees reserves the final selection and utilization of a library logo to itself, regardless of contest results. All entries will become the property of the library, and names should not be signed. They will be judged by an assigned number. Judges for the contest are Beverly Fritchman of the Friends of the Library, Robert Hankey of Robert Hankey Advertising and Vicki Armstrong of the Boise Public Library.

The Logo Contest will run until January 27, 1973. Entry blanks, examples, and additional information are available at the Boise Public Library or the Bookmobile.
The Christmas season is here again, and people are bustling up and down the streets to see whom they can think of. Feeling the holiday spirit, people are bringing home presents for their loved ones. The city is decorated with lights and trees, and the shops are filled with customers looking for the perfect gift.

The oldest tradition of Christmas is the giving of gifts. This practice is believed to have originated with the ancient Roman festival of Saturnalia, where gifts were exchanged to symbolize the unity of the community.

As we approach the holiday season, it's important to remember the true meaning of Christmas—peace on earth and good will toward men. This message is echoed in the words of the beloved holiday carol "Silent Night." The song was first sung in 1818 and has since become a staple of the holiday season.

In the words of Abe Lincoln, "If you don't believe in Santa Claus, don't let it bother you. For it doesn't do any harm."

As we prepare for the holiday season, let us remember to spread peace and goodwill to those around us. Let us be kind, generous, and thoughtful in our actions. And let us remember that the true meaning of Christmas is not found in material gifts, but in the love, joy, and peace that we share with one another.

Tell it like it is:

What is the true meaning of Christmas? What makes it special? Share your thoughts with us in the comments below.

Blue and Orange down PSU 70-61 after last minute whistle

Portland State Head Coach Ken Edwards wasn't satisfied with the outcome of the game. "We didn't play well, but we still got the win," Edwards said. "I'm happy with the 70-61 score, but we need to improve our defense." The lady T-Birds won their first game of the season, while the men's team lost their second game of the season.

Avalanches prove to be a winter hazard in hills

Several avalanches occur each winter season, causing damages to property and lives. In order to prevent avalanches from happening, snowmobilers and skiers should be aware of the risks and take necessary precautions.

We don't make a lot of noise, but this is where it's really happening. You see, a large corporation like Kodak has the resources and the skill to make this world a little more decent place to live. And we intend to do what we can to see that this is exactly what happens.

Take our home city, Rochester, New York for example. We cut water pollution in the Genesee River by using natural bacteria to dispose of unnatural wastes. We cut air pollution by using electrostatic precipitators in a new combustible waste disposal facility. We helped set up a black enterprise program in downtown Rochester, and we've been experimenting with film as a way to train both teachers and students—including some students who wouldn't respond to anything else.

And we didn't stop with Rochester. Kodak is involved in 47 countries all over the world. Actively involved.

Why? Because it's good business. Helping to clean the Genesee River not only benefits society... but helps protect another possible source for the clean water we need to make our film. Our combustible waste disposal facility not only reduces pollution... but just about pays for itself in heat and power production and silver recovery. Our black enterprise program not only provides an opportunity for the economically disadvantaged... but helps stabilize communities in which Kodak can operate and grow. And distributing cameras and film to teachers and students not only helps motivate the children... but helps create a whole new market.

In short, it's simply good business. And we're in business to make a profit. But in furthering our business interests, we also further society's interests.

And that's good. After all, our business depends on society. So we care what happens to it.
