Presidential Candidates Explain Positions

BILL ROMERO

Sociology Major—Senior

Experience: Currently Student Assistant of Minority Affairs, Idaho representative of the National Task Force Dr. La Raja, a national education organization, held student office at San Jose City College, California.

Mr. Romero expressed concern that the student's right to know what is going on in student government has been neglected. He feels that the student should not have to come to his perspective but should be in executive offices, but they, the elected officials should go to the students. Mr. Romero feels that senators and executives have forgotten who and where they are serving. He stated that if elected, he would "keep back student government at all students, not just a chosen few."

DENIS HAWK

Education-Senior

Experience: Royal King National President of the International Knights, Student National Education Association Senator, ASBSC Senator, 1973.

Mr. Hawk believes that the main issue with the students is money. Mr. Hawk is aware that many students and where it is spent in relation to the bills that the student body is paying for. He would like to see the student C-D Bookstores established, five student parking on campus, and utilization of the student publications. Pertaining to student publications, Mr. Hawk feels that only those issues, political or otherwise, that are important to the student and to the campus should be the only student news or dealt with by the president. As a member of the board, Mr. Hawk would support provision for part-time students and in continuation with this he feels that any student with an activity ticket should be able to use the Club Room for every move presented here on campus that they wish. Mr. Hawk feels that student publications may be able to start with a two-dollar subscription. This would be a way that he feels that he believes in and encourages students' participation in the school government. He feels that there should be an open-door policy in student government so that students may know what is happening and what is being done for them. Finally, Mr. Hawk has stated that he would be willing to be on campus.

JOHN ELLIOTT

Theater Arts Major—Senior

Experience: Served as Vice President of the College of Southern Idaho and as Vice President of Alpha Pi Omega, "The President should be a person who can listen, but most importantly, an individual who will seek out problems and suggestions rather than wait to hear them second-hand. It is then his job to determine those suggestions and put them into action."

RODGERS SHANHOLTZ

Marketing-Junior

Experience: Director ASBSC Student Lobby, Director Student Voter Registration, Director All Idaho Week, ASBSC Senator and Vice-Chairman 1972-1973.

Mr. Shanholts' basic proposals are in the area of student participation in government and theStudents' right to know. He feels that if elected he would go to the students in the dorms, campus organizations and the different schools. He feels that the students should be the main reason in the government and in their desires, the president would create interest on the part of the students. Mr. Shanholts was a weekly report to the students by the student government working with the student publications to keep in touch, a firm stand against state tuition; and more appropriations for student activities in the state. Mr. Shanholts has always been a firm believer in student rights and will support them in the past, such as the poll tax during registration. He would continue to car them in the future, especially on the firm stand against state tuition. He supports towards subscriptions of the Arbiter and the Les Bois. Above all, he feels that there should be more students' voice in the government and that the government should work for a better student-faculty ratio.

BOB STEPHENSON

Communications Major—Freshman

Mr. Stephenson considers himself the future of Boise State College of primary importance. He states, "Student government is no longer a club for a chosen few but a college which educates the college. This has moved a change in the student body of Boise State College to receive less than what the school offers and I believe it is time that we change it."

Mr. Stephenson feels that the president should go to the students. Mr. Stephenson feels that there should be a firm stand against state tuition; more appropriations for student activities in the state; firm stand against state tuition; and more appropriations for student activities in the state. LARRY DEAN

Dressing & Design Technology—Freshman

If elected to serve as your president, there are the items which I will strive to bring, to be served as the year may pass.

1. Combine the Arbiter and the Les Bois into a department of publications, to be headed by an Editor of Publications. Boise times will be combined under the student editor in charge of the Arbiter and, assistant editor in charge of the Les Bois. Work requirements will be combined under the editor of publications, thus increasing numbers of forty-eight (48,000) for other publications.

2. 1 will appoint an editor who will see the Arbiter will deal more with college events and more features and public service-oriented political items.

3. The advertising revenue of the Arbiter and the sales income of the Les Bois will be to support most of the cost of publications, with remaining towards forty-eight (48,000) for other publications.

4. 1 will publish weekly reports on sports activities and any activities in the Arbiter so that all students can see what is being done.

5. Conduct opinion polls and do my best to carry out the wishes of the majority of the students.

This has been my proposed platform as your president. I am now and will continue to be open to your ideas. I want to be YOUR president. I want to help Boise State College become better than it has ever been.

STEVE WILLIAMS

Economics—Ivor

Experience: Has served on the Pop Concerts Committee, Special Affairs Committee, College Union Board of Governors, and is presently College Union Programs Board member.

Mr. Williams listed the following in an area which he would re-elect the efforts of Mr. Williams. He has been a firm believer in student rights and will support them in the past, such as the poll tax during registration. He would continue to car them in the future, especially on the firm stand against state tuition. He supports towards subscriptions of the Arbiter and the Les Bois. Above all, he feels that there should be more students' voice in the government and that the government should work for a better student-faculty ratio.

I want to be YOUR president. I want to help Boise State College become better than it has ever been. [FIGURE]}
Separation Impossible

Because of our location in the state capital and the fact that we are the largest school in the state, we have a particularly important role to play in the primary system. The present ASBSC administration has made a strong start toward Boise State enhancing its reputation for high standards in character and scholarship while we have been making plans for the future.

We are confident that we can carry on the work we have begun. The present student body administration would do away with the Treasurer's position. We must have a new Treasurer who would do a good job and have the support of the entire student body.

Belle State College's Newman Center is presenting a "Grand Folk Concert," featuring Boise's own night club concert singer and composer, STEVE HARMON. Also featuring Westover's tenor vocalist, LINDON ROYAL.

You may have heard Steve Harmon at Bronco stadium last month, or the Sandpiper or the Ramada Inn's Iron Gate. Linder Road has performed at the Turtle and other top Boise spots. Miss Bloch's ability to play the lute as well as recorders (alto, soprano-Fundamentals classes take note, and soprano-soprano) and the Renaissance and Elizabethan musical art form demonstrates by its own special irony.

Miss Bloch, daughter of the renowned composer Ernest Bloch, is today perhaps one of the best representatives of the Renaissance and Elizabethan musical art. Her dedication and enthusiasm makes the audience sing out--Bravo Miss Bloch!

Need Extra Money? Your Talent Or Skill May Be 'Worth It'

If you are a Boise State College student, faculty, or staff member and have musical, artistic, theatrical, or talent of practically any kind, you can make some extra spending money and enjoy yourself while doing it.

The Boise State College Office of Special Projects is looking for talent to give performances at Senior Citizen Centers in Boise, Rexburg, Caldwell, Emmett, Pocatello, Nampa, Council, McCall, Cascade, and Mountain Home. "Lecture," Dr. Reed, Director of Special Projects, states, "The Senior Center music programs of some kinds but not always. We've scheduled Dr. Reed to give art lectures, some of the ceramics classes to demonstrate their skills, and Dr. Horst to play on the lute, a shoe of rocks, minerals and fossils."

Dr. Reed finds that most of the program requires from Senior Citizens. Centers are asked for appearances right after the noon meal, at about 1:30 p.m., usually they want from 30 minutes to one hour of entertainment," he says.

"We emphasize the fixed expense for using their cars and $30 per hour performance time. In addition, we can allow one meal per participant if the performance requires traveling any distance from Boise." Dr. Reed states that the Senior Citizens are very appreciative of the attendance and that they enjoy almost any kind of performance or engagement. "No one should worry about suffering fright when performing for Senior Citizens; they make you feel right at home." Dr. Reed.

"I need additional talent now," says Dr. Reed. "All you have to do is call John Welsh, "Amos" or "This Transition," and one by James Irons, "The Father of Poetry." The lone non-fiction entry is Dwayne å's short story "On Freedom of Expression, Law and Order, and the Silent Majority." Lorene Worrall's photograph "Harry's Chick, There a Chick," is the single entry in that category.

In addition to these individual competitions, THE COLD-DRILL will be judged for layout and design, typography, and overall content and format. In two previous competitions the BSC literary magazine, published by the Department of English, has garnered more awards than any other Idaho college literary magazine, and last year was a top award winner in the entire competition.

Editors of the BSC literary magazine, Mrs. Carole Schroeder and Mr. James Irons, have announced the entries in the annual Rocky Mountain Collegiate Press Association Competition. The yearly contest includes more than twenty-five colleges and universities from Montana to Texas, and this year will be held in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Art works include the editor's into page, Magrane Tatuch for "Horses," Magrane Kosh for "Glimmerglass Reteller," and Jim Clayton for "Old Man."

For short stories from THE COLD-DRILL, the editors selected two works by John Welsh, "Amos" and "This Transition," and one by James Irons, "The Fathers of Poetry." The lone non-fiction entry is Dwayne å's short story "On Freedom of Expression, Law and Order, and the Silent Majority."

Veteran’s Benefits to Be Discussed at DAV Meeting

Dr. George J. Lapidus, Honolulu, Adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans, will be the featured speaker at an upcoming meeting on February 22, 1973 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting, sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans, will be held at the Lied Center 3rd floor DAV, 143 E 7th Street. The purpose of the meeting is to apprise area disabled veterans and their dependents of veteran’s administration benefits available to them and of pending legislation that may affect them in the future.

Trained personnel will be available to answer individual questions and to assist in matters pertaining to veteran’s benefits.

B.S.C. Provides Experience and Academics at Capitol Building

One of the highlights of Boise State College this semester is the Capitol Building. Six BSC students are participating in the work of the legislative session and are earning academic credit at the same time. The students are enrolled in an internship, serving as assistants to legislative leaders with the approval of the Political Science Department.

Gregory Mathis, a junior pre-law major from Driggs, is sponsored by the Idaho State Bar. Mathis is working for Senate President Pro-Tem James Ellsworth. Professor Mathis spends five days a week at the Capitol, Monday through Thursday, and five days a week, Mondays through Fridays, working as an extern for the House of Representatives.

“Everyday I learn here helps,” Mathis said. “There are things here to be learned that are simply not in textbooks, and the experience is in the office every day. I hope to understand my political science classes at Boise State better.”

Another student, taking advantage of the internship program is Mark Bankhead, a senior business major from Boise. Bankhead is working with Senator O’Connor in the Senate. He said, “Working at the Capitol is the perfect experience, especially with the Senate.”

There are at least two financial appropriations committees on which none of the students are serving. One is a joint committee of the Senate and House of Representatives that recommends departmental budgets, and the other is the Appropriations Committee of the Senate. However, the students are learning about the budget process, and the process of drafting appropriations bills.

The Senate has passed the joint resolution calling for an audit of the Department of Education. The Department of Education is one of the largest departments in the state, and it is important to the students that this audit be conducted. The students are working with the Department of Education to ensure that the audit is conducted properly.

Other students are working with the Department of Health and Welfare, the Department of Commerce, and the Department of Revenue. These departments are all important to the students, and they are learning about the budget process and the role of the legislature in the budget process.

The students are also learning about the legislative process, and they are learning about the role of the legislature in the budget process.

For What It’s Worth

The Senate started off its meeting for February 13 with a report from the Associated Students of Boise State University regarding the ASBSC Student Senate passed its first resolution of the year regarding the advancement of ASBSC Student Senate. The resolution was passed unanimously, and it was sent to the House of Representatives for consideration.

The resolution called for the creation of a new position, the Student Senate Sponsor, to be elected by the students. The position would be responsible for ensuring that the Student Senate is functioning properly, and that the students are aware of the work being done by the Student Senate.

The resolution also called for the creation of a new committee, the Student Senate Finance Committee, to be responsible for the expenditure of Student Senate funds.

The Senate also discussed the proposed constitutional amendment regarding the advancement of ASBSC Student Senate. The amendment was passed by a vote of 20-0, and it was sent to the House of Representatives for consideration.

Don't Be A Fink — Think

Age you worked about your mental health? No! You should be as concerned about your mental health as you are about your physical health. The best way to maintain mental health is to lead a healthy lifestyle.

Good mental health practices and studies haven't progressed much. Adam and Eve, our first parents, knew about mental health. They had to deal with the consequences of sin and the effects on their mental well-being. Continue to learn about mental health so you can make healthy choices.

Viggo R. Thorson, Executive Director of the "Nostalgia Week" program, said, "We hope to offer a unique and enjoyable experience to students and faculty to celebrate the past and to learn from it."

Don't be a Fink — Think,

By Tony Farmer

Of late, it’s become fashionable to question the entire spectrum of the criminal justice system in the “Post modern” era. It is said, furthermore, that the nation’s law enforcement agencies are in shambles. This was not so even thirty years ago and the nation’s jails and prisons were overflowing with criminals. The Department of Justice was established in 1973 to oversee the criminal justice system.

Barbara Allen, a member of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms, said, "I believe the criminal justice system is working fine. It’s just that people need to be more educated about it."

"If we’re not careful, we’ll have a crisis on our hands," said Allen. "We need to make sure people understand how the system works and why it’s important."

Peter E. Wilson Wins Logo Contest

Peter E. Wilson, 15th February 20th, was the 85th for his logo design, which incorporates the library's initials into a distinctive box. Mr. Wilson is the winner of the School of Advertising Agency Inc. of Boise.

Economists estimate that $5 each would pay to Theria Williams, 1311 North 25, a graphic artist for the Boise Schools Thomas C. Booth, 2111 Montana, whose work was part of the 39th Annual Exhibition for Artists of Idaho and Los Angeles, of the 12th, and Mrs. A. L. App, 9311 Gardenia, a third grade student at Fairmont Junior High. Honorable mentions were also awarded to Robert J. Peterson, 9511 South Avenue, the president of Dros Foods, and Avis R. Shaw, 148ikon, assistant professor of art in advertising design at Boise State College.

The winning designs were selected from 147 entries submitted when the contest closed on January 27. The judging was done by Beverly Fishman of the Friends of the Library, Robert Shriver of Robert Norman Associates, and Yuki Arima of the Boise Public Library. Their deliberations were completed on January 30, and the winning jobs was announced to the Library Board of Trustees for final approval on January 8.

The Library and the Friends, who raised the $75 in prizes, are looking forward to using the logo on library stationery and in advertising and on their annual remembrance programs.

The winners are:

The Paul Blake Trio

In the 'Look-out'

Paul Blake Trio

Thursday, February 15, the Paul Blake Trio again entertained in the Lookout. For anyone who missed them in their previous portrayal, you really locked out. They were good the first time, then they were fantastic the second time. This audience may have something to do with that. It being about five times as large last Thursday. They were also in better physical condition. Not suffering from the flu, and they seemed to groove on the people being entertained a lot more. Paul Blake, while not singing any better than the first time, didn't seem to mind. George Knox did not seem worried about the failing crowd. This was more strange hearing an entertaining act of no concern.

All in all, however, it was a very fine, fine evening, and I wish to encourage the CUBS and Chuck, Jim on especially mine of the same. For anyone else who was interested, it is hoped that we lock up in the main floor of the Library Union, to the Program Office, and talk to someone about it. Anyone would be glad to help you.

University of Arkansas Responds to BSC Needs

Ray Tracey R.N., Boise, a 1972 graduate of the Boise State College School of Nursing, has been accepted at the University of Arkansas Medical School at Little Rock for Family Nurse Practitioner training, starting February 26. A student leader, Ray was president of the graduating nursing class, and organized the BSC chapter of the Student Nurses Association.

The Mountain States Regional Medical Program is implementing the nurse-initiation and exemption for Ray and another 108 registered nurses, Open Class of 1974. The four-month specialized training course in Arkansas will be followed by a five-month internship in the nurse home communities. The BSAs currently are employed at Mercy Medical Center, Nampa, in the emergency room.

"We are both married, each with three children. There are no training programs in Family Nurse Practitioners," explains Laura Lewis, R.N., director of the Mountain States BSC.

"We are totally without jobs in our state institutions for our growing list of applicants," she said. "We felt strongly that the University of Arkansas responded favorably to our request, to accept two registered nurses from Idaho. The demand forqualified nurses to serve in expanded roles in Idaho communities for Boxton’s supply.

"Ray admits that he was "burned out" in nursing, while working his way through college as an orderly and in the emergency room at St. Armand’s Hospital. After almost two years in the interior science schools, he switched to nursing and has never been sorry. His wife also shares his enthusiasm for the specialized training he will be obtaining, even though it will keep him away for an extended period of time. R. C. (Shirelle) Ray was in the service for three years of that time.

"We are all happy, Mike Madden, and "Unless Congress learns to handle the problems the world throws at it today, there isn’t going to be any Congress of any kind. It’s really a question of the survival of Congress, the survival of real, independent, concerned branches of Government," Senator Clifford P. Case, R.R.I.-K., says. "Congress must "set the people a good example in the direction the Government takes.

Another, but less publicized plan was a surprise move by the Agriculture Department taking Ray from local school officials the right to decide how teaching staffs are used to improve the health and well-being of a group."

"The Senate-including George McGovern, D.S.D., Chairman Robert Taft, Jr., Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey and Walter Mondale-unanimously in Senate Early Ballot, that this "true-directly counter

Leadership Softly: "There is such a cry for action, the week weakens. Leadership is beginning to stir, Senator Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, a Democrat, an outburst of last year, now says the Democrats will "definitely take the legislative initiative and begin asking majority rules to their own face, rather than just waiting for Nixon proposals before action." (Washington Post, November 30.)

The New York Times says, "Many Republican Senators and aides believe that Mr. Nixon now faces the prospect of defections by Republicans as an indication of their exasperation with even the tip of the White House, December 6, Colombo Evans and Nixon report (November 29) "continues in a come back among Congressional Republicans over what they regard as President Nixon's increasing influence to his party's Congressional wing during the four-month stretch before the Senate begins its drastic reorganization plan. The rising hostility stems partly from the President's spectacularly successful newspaper campaign during which many Republican candidates lost their seats," Senator Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, chairman of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee, told the AP that will not be seen for the White House to claim "party loyalty" for votes in the next Congress. The Christian Science Monitor (December 5) tells of widespread party realignments, and new recruitment. Republican leaders are particularly concerned over the activity of the Committee for the Re-election of the President and its "party politics.

Growth of Reform Forces—Added to this, the growth of reform forces in Congress. In the house, the Democratic Study Group formed "a twenty-two to forty vote advantage (slip for viable forces," Republican congressional watchman, have come to 1972. For example when going flat, Republicans report the chairman of the powerful Rules Committee, a senator, reported that any blow to the McCarthyism in Congress, to check the President’s ability to get the House to do the things he wants, and the emergence of younger "men and women impatient with the old ways of doing business," less deferential to their elders, and more intent on gaining a piece of the action now. He points out, the 1970, November 30 told the Democratic members have come to Washington since 1964.

The women took the College Women's State Championship for the third consecutive year. The meet was held at Idaho State University in Pocatello.

BSC meets Idaho, Gonzaga

Montana State, as predicted, downed Boise State with little resistance 93.77 to 55 Saturday night in Bozeman.

The Bobcats, led by five men in double figures, upped their Big Sky record to 7-2 while BSC dropped to 3-8 in the league.

At halftime the score was 45-35 in favor of the Montanans.

In the second half Boise State shot better than their 24% first stanza and came closer to the Bobcats by five at one point.

Head wrestling coach Mike Young seems tense during the match with the University of Idaho while son Cory takes a breather.

Tom Harrington struggles against this Arizona wrestler. Tom won the decision.

Broncos get socked on road, slate final two games at home with Idaho and Gonzaga

By Dave Nickel

Boise State "blossomed" out of the 1973 season on the whole, even though the Broncos finished regular season play with a 5-5 record and a 3-3 record in the Western Collegiate Conference.

Young indicated BSC placed four freshman-loaded schools in a total of five matches: Brigham Young University-rated 13th, Oregon State University-rated 12th, Oregon State University-rated 13th and Southern Oregon-rated 3rd in total. According to Young, playing the bigger schools proved a lot. The competition was strong and as a result the BSC wrestlers were able to meet the challenge, proving they can be a part of the show, even in a minor way for the time being.

"We could have selected better teams for this year," said Young, "but where would that get us?"

Boise State had previously engaged each season with smaller schools like the Eastern Oregon College. The fact that the Broncos beat Washington State University, a Pacific-Eight Conference school, last throw a key block: those wrestlers are out with a 26-point scoring spree against the Broncos beat Washington State University, to catch a pass or for someone else to win with a 12th. Oregon State University-rated 13th, here's got to be more done to educate the public. Both Sopatkv and Grozdanich "have outstanding football," according to Dave Nickel. That would meanstrong as a result they resisters meets as Young would have liked, but said tough teams once again. Included in his list are Stanford University and Air Force Academy also. he said horizontally.
