Senate approves new member, four students take oath for judiciary

Shanholtz negotiates for student use of stadium

Another subject that stirred considerable discussion was the approval of an archery range on campus. At the meeting of the Student Executive Council Monday evening, President Barnes appointed Mr. Shanholtz to the job of clearing the land and removing all trees and all other impediments, if any, from the area. Shanholtz said that the students who are interested in the archery range will be required to take a course in archery at the University of Idaho before they can use the range.
The Federal Court takes action on Xerox's patents threatened

The other day, a Supreme Court lawyer, speaking in New York about the status of the Xerox patents threatened by the Federal Court action, said:

"The only way to gain the public's attention is to let the public know what is happening. In a free country, the public's attention can be gained only by letting the public know what is happening."

The decision was handed down by a federal judge stating that Xerox must release all of its patents to the public. This is a significant victory for the defendants in the patent case, who have been fighting for years to gain control of the technology that makes the company one of the leaders in the business of producing copiers. The judge ruled that Xerox must release its patents to the public, a decision that has been welcomed by many as a step toward greater access to the technology that is essential to the operation of the company.

With this decision, the company's own patents and other businesses that use the same technology will now be able to compete freely in the marketplace. This will help ensure that the technology is available to all, not just those who can afford to pay high prices for the use of the patents.

The decision also has implications for the future of the patent system. It may lead to a reexamination of the way patents are granted and enforced, with a greater emphasis on ensuring that they are used to benefit society as a whole, not just the companies that control them.

The victory for Xerox is a reminder of the importance of innovation and the role that patents play in driving technological progress. It is a victory for the public and for the future of technology.

Boehlke's "Centerpiece Vase" features a fluted design, artistically etched, and enhanced with a realistic silver leaf. The vase is a stunning addition to any setting, showcasing Boehlke's talent and skill.

The bowl is held in front of the window, the silver leaf shimmering in the light. The design is intricate, the etching delicate, capturing the essence of the artist's vision. The bowl is a testament to Boehlke's dedication to his craft, a beautiful piece that is sure to be admired for generations to come.

The bowl was one of several items on display at the 1973 Steel Design Competition. The competition is organized by the Steel Structures Fire Protection Society, showcasing the best in steel design and craftsmanship.

The competition is open to students and professionals alike, offering a platform for aspiring designers to showcase their skills and talents. The judges are experts in the field, evaluating each submission based on criteria such as design, aesthetics, and craftsmanship.

Boehlke's bowl, however, stood out among the others. The design was unique, the etching precise, and the overall presentation was exceptional. The judges were impressed, and Boehlke was awarded an honorable mention for his work.

The competition is not just about the awards, though. It is about the opportunity to share ideas, connect with others in the field, and gain recognition for one's hard work. Boehlke's success is a testament to the power of dedication and hard work.

The competition is held annually, and it is open to students and professionals alike. If you are interested in participating, contact the Steel Structures Fire Protection Society for more information.

Residents recall the history of Idaho in ‘Old History Interviews’

By Frances Brown

Idaho’s history is partly written on the whiteboards of the children who attended it in the early days. “Old History Interviews” is a column that brings together these memories, preserved by the citizens of our state, to pass down to future generations.

Idaho Historical Society

Idaho has a rich history that is often overlooked. The society is dedicated to preserving this history and making it accessible to all. They organize events and programs that celebrate the past and encourage learning about the state’s heritage.

Alumni of the University of Idaho

The University of Idaho is a great place to learn about Idaho’s history. The university has a long and storied history, with many notable alumni who have contributed to the state in various ways.

The Idaho Historical Society

The society is a great resource for anyone interested in learning about Idaho’s history. They have a wealth of information and resources available to the public.

For more information, please visit the Idaho Historical Society website.

Pierson’s Pianos

Pierson’s Pianos is a long-time Idaho favorite. They have a large selection of pianos and accessories, and their knowledgeable staff is always ready to help.

The Idaho Historical Society

The society is a non-profit organization that relies on donations and memberships to fund its operations. They are always looking for new members and volunteers to help preserve Idaho’s history.

For more information, please visit the Idaho Historical Society website.
Second hand stores called part of America

By John Eiffler

One of the more interesting phenomena of our American culture is the establishment we call the second-hand furniture market, blossoming to a marvelous size in recent years. Adults and kids alike find this market so very necessary, they have made it possible for those who live on a limited budget to have as much or more than they have at home, or fulfill the cost of new furnishings.

During the 1920's, auctions were held to dispose of the second-hand store's inventory of furnishings. But in the late 1940's and early 1950's, the best buys of the last century, and even of today, were found in the second-hand shops, antique shops, and family furniture stores.

For over a century, the second-hand furniture market has flourished, and has continued its growth into the present century. The introduction of antique furniture into the market has been a gradual one, and has been paralleled by the growth of the second-hand market.

Today, the second-hand furniture market is a major part of our American culture. It is a market that is growing at a rapid rate, and is a market that is very popular today.

Broadcasting Festival

Festivals are a great way to celebrate the culture and history of a place. They provide an opportunity to come together as a community and enjoy the arts, music, and local cuisine.

On September 29th, the Festival of Julian Assange is taking place in London, England. This festival is a celebration of the life and work of Julian Assange, the founder of WikiLeaks.

The festival will feature a variety of events, including music, theater, film screenings, and panel discussions. Some of the featured artists include Bruce Springsteen, Bob Dylan, and Kanye West. The festival will also feature a performance by the London Symphony Orchestra.

The festival will be held at the Royal Albert Hall, one of the most famous concert venues in the world. The hall has a capacity of 5,272 and is home to the Royal Albert Hall Music Festival.

The festival is open to the public and tickets can be purchased online.

Co-op store front

The Boise Consumer Cooperative is a great place to shop for second-hand furniture. They have a wide selection of used furniture, including chairs, tables, and beds.

Their store front is located in downtown Boise, and they have a large selection of used furniture, including chairs, tables, and beds. They also have a variety of other items for sale, including clothing, books, and electronics.

If you're looking for a good deal on furniture, this is a great place to check out. They have a wide selection of used items, and their prices are very reasonable. They also have a friendly staff who are always willing to help.

Mary, Queen of Scots

Mary, Queen of Scots was a powerful figure in Scottish history. She was born in 1542 and ruled Scotland from 1542 to 1567.

She was the only daughter of James V and Mary of Guise. She was married to her cousin Francis II, who was the son of Mary of Guise and James V. She married him in 1558, but he died the following year.

After the death of Francis II, Mary was forced to abdicate in favor of her younger brother James VI.

Mary spent the rest of her life in Scotland, where she was a powerful figure. She was executed in 1587, at the age of 36.

She is known for her beauty and intelligence, and is remembered as a brave and courageous leader. She is also remembered for her beautiful gardens and her love of music.
In behalf of the staff and myself, I would like to invite you to stop in and see us at our newly remodeled and enlarged offices during our Open House, Thursday, September 27th.

As you know, the area in and around east and south Boise is growing. So is Boise State College. And, at Idaho First we’ve expanded our facilities to grow with the area we serve. Extensive in-bank remodeling has provided more room with additional tellers (we now have nine) plus an exciting new decor throughout! Our motor bank has three TV tellers to serve you and there is more-than-ample parking space for those who prefer to do their business within the bank. For our customers who like to bike over to do their banking, we’ve installed a bicycle rack just outside the main entrance on the east side of the building. Although we’ve changed a lot, one thing remains constant. Our service. We offer every banking service you may need. Savings plans ... checking (no service charge on student checking accounts) ... drive-in banking ... new home and remodel loans ... business and farm loans ... automated customer service ... equipment leasing service ... Master Charge (bank credit card) ... safe deposit ... trust services ... auto financing ... student loans ... just to name some of the major services.

Our service and facilities are complete with a trained and friendly staff to serve you. Come in and see us today.

PRIZES, FAVORS AND REFRESHMENTS!
There will be favors and refreshments for everyone. Be sure to sign up for valuable prizes, too. Beef certificates and $25.00 credits to your Idaho First Master Charge account will be given away.
Open House hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. all day today!

Colts Drop Tough Defensive Game 7-14
by Tony McKern

The Vandals didn't expect much, losing 14-7 to Idaho State in the season opener last September. The Vandals had scored 56 points in their opening game against Idaho State and had easily defeated Montana 33-0.

The Vandals led 7-0 at halftime, but failed to convert the lead into a victory. The Vandals defense was playing well, with three interceptions and two sacks. On offense, the Vandals had 214 total yards, with 107 passing and 107 rushing.

The Vandals defense was led by safety Marc Johnson, who had two interceptions and a fumble recovery. On offense, the Vandals were led by quarterback Mike Dunbar, who had 145 passing yards and a touchdown.

JOHNNY * CASH

CARL PERKINS, the original King of Country-Rock, is one of the featured performers in the Johnny Cash Show. Since 1955, when he wrote and recorded “Blue Suede Shoes,” Carl Perkins has been recognized as one of the foremost musicians, performers, and producers in the pop-culture field. His contributions to the development of rock and roll as a major force in the music industry have been recorded by many artists. His songs have been recorded by the top entertainers in all fields, from the Beatles, who had a hit recording of Perkins’ “Méchant”, to Johnny Cash’s smash “Daddy Sang Bass.”

JUNE CARTER CASH, the breath of fire on the JOHNNY CASH SHOW, and in Johnny Cash’s life, will join her famous husband in concert at the BSC gym, for one performance only at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 3.

Originally gaining fame as part of the singing Carter Family, June went on to become both a soloist and comedienne, marrying Johnny Cash in 1968. Preferring to be John’s “Darling Companion” (one of their hit duets), rather than continuing her singing Carter Family, June went on to have a career in Nashville. Abounding in humor, charm and serenity, June places her role as wife and mother above her outstanding ability as a performer.

With John Carter Cash, the son she was born in the Carter’s in March of 1970, June is a part of the Carter Family show. The current Carter Family, which is comprised of Maybelle, and two of her daughters, Anita and Helen, Her third daughter, June Carter, works with her husband, Johnny Cash, on the show. The Carter Family do the vocal background instrument in many rock bands and is a major departure in the early days, in most songs now sung without accompaniment. The Original Carter Family compositions and arrangements continue one of the longest traditions of folk-country music in the history of America. Left here.

The current Carter Family, which is an integral part of the Johnny Cash Show, is comprised of Maybelle, and two of her daughters, Anita and Helen. Her third daughter, June Carter, works with her husband, Johnny Cash, on the show. The Carter Family is the vocal background instrument in all of the Johnny Cash records. Maybelle Carter has not changed her style since the early days of her career. She has covered the traditional mountain songs to today’s audiences... simply more like “Wildwood Flower” and “Black Mountain Rag.”

..... As the world’s leading exponent of the style which is now recognized as country music, he has brought to the forefront a true country tradition in many rock bands. Many also knew her as the queen of the hillbilly style of guitar playing she developed many years ago known as “The Carter Scratch.”

Maybelle Carter has received several musical awards. The small, quiet woman who never sought critical acclaim has distinguished herself as the “First Lady” of country music. She has no gimmick. She has earned her place, just as any rock and roll, and she has earned it.
