Board increases student fees

Beginning next fall, out of state students and part timers who attend Idaho's Universities will be paying more for their education.

At its April meeting, the State Board of Education divided up the funds provided for higher education by the legislature and decided to up student fees to make up for part of the remaining shortage.

Part-time students will be required to pay $2 more per credit hour at Boise State, Idaho State, and Lewis and Clark State College bringing the total to $20 per credit hour at all four of the state's institutions.

Out of state fees were increased by $50, making the fee for such students $520 at BSU.

The Board elected to increase the fees to help reduce the difference between what the institution presidents wanted and what the legislature appropriated. The legislature provided $42.9 million for higher education, which, after subtracting what the institutions would need to maintain the status quo, left only $180,000 to satisfy $612,000 worth of "priority needs" requested by the presidents.

By increasing the fees, limiting pay increases for classified employees to 3 per cent, and cutting corners in other areas, they managed to come up with $623,000 to spend on the priority needs.

As a result, BSU received $191,000 for priority needs bringing its total allocation to $9.9 million for fiscal year 1975, as compared to the $8.6 million received last year.

Included in Dr. Barnes' priority list are such items as:

- replacement of Federal funds
- creation of a Director for Development
- expansion of the extended day program
- salary adjustments and correction of faculty load problems

No pie in the sky—5.5%

Underdog the winner in battle over pay increase

by Katrina Brown

An affirmative vote by the Faculty Senate on a method for distributing money for salary increases to schools on an "equal" basis was preceded last Thursday by an open battle between the School of Business and other schools on campus. Combatants came armed with facts, figures, and vested interests.

Termed a "disaster for the School of Business" by that school's senators, the method devised by the Faculty Welfare Committee divides the dollar increase amount granted by the State Board of Education (5.5 percent of last year's salaries) by the total number of full-time faculty at BSU. The dividend is the average salary increment for each individual. Multiplying this figure by the number of faculty in a given school yields the dollar amount to be received by that school for raises. This amount is distributed within the school at the discretion of the dean.

This method of allocating money for raises is innovative because it considers all the faculty at one time, rather than by school. However, Business School Dean Charles Lein's amendment to this proposal suggested just that — using each school's salary budget to compute the dollar increase amount, rather than using the total university salary budget as a base.

Arts and Sciences Dean Joe Spulnik commented "According to this amendment, the rich is gonna get richer, and the poor is gonna get poorer." But Lein, Knowlton and Scudder defended their position by citing the marketability factor. The School of Business must compete with the general business world for faculty, and according to Lein, the salaries he is able to offer are already well below the regional market value for people in the general business field. Lein's concern is that disgruntled faculty will leave because of insufficient yearly increments and he will be unable to replace them.

"The idea of marketability is a myth," declared Dr. Charles Davis, English Department chairman. He furnished handouts showing that liberal arts majors are also entering the general business world, and getting good jobs. Davis noted that faculty in any school have chosen not to compete in the general business world.

"Teachers are teachers, and we're all in the same boat," Davis concluded. "The School of Business shouldn't feel injured; my people have been feeling injured for years."

Dean Spulnik said that the base salary already takes into account the marketability factor and raises should be made on the effectiveness of teaching and the cost of living. He was strongly supported by Jack Dalton, chairman of the Faculty Welfare Committee, who said that because of the 5 percent cost-of-living increase granted in January, Boise State finally has a chance for a merit raise.

The defeat of the Business School's amendment cost them $84 per person per year, and Arts and Sciences $5, but the School of Health Science, Vo-Tech and the Library, all at the bottom of the heap salary-wise, stand to gain $81, $74, and $60 respectively.

The Faculty Senate also passed a recommendation that "there be a line item amount in the budget request for each of the next three years for the purpose of eliminating inequities among faculty salaries throughout the university." According to Sen. Glenn Selander, this will not only close the salary gap faster, but will show any federal or state agencies checking to see if BSU is rewarding equal work with equal pay that the university is policing itself and doing it voluntarily.

Christensen wins ASB election

Kit Christensen, a 22 year old Psychology major, has been elected president of the Associated Students of Boise State University. Also chosen in the elections — last week were Dave Ward, who will serve as vice president, and Wes Scrivner as treasurer.

Christensen out-pollied his only competition, Jon Rand, by 312 votes. Christensen received 725 votes to Rand's 413.

A student at Boise State for only a year, Christensen formerly attended the College of Southern Idaho where he also served as president of the associated students. Since transferring to Boise State, Christensen has held the post of director of Student Services and chaired the Personnel Selection Committee.

The newly elected ASBSU Vice President, Dave Ward, has been a member of the student senate during the '73-'74 year. Although this year's senate has been termed a disappointing one by some observers, Ward has often been pointed to as a bright spot in the senate. As vice president, his primary duty will be to act as chairman of the student senate. Ward is a 20 year old Business major.

Ward's only opposition on the ballot, Huck Hovey, received 389 votes to Ward's 737.

The third executive officer selected in last week's voting is Wes Scrivner who ran unopposed for treasurer. Scrivner, a finance and accounting major has worked in the ASBSU treasurer's office as business manager for the past year. Opposed only by write-in candidates, Scrivner's closest competition, Scott Whipple, drew only six votes. Closely behind Whipple in the treasurer race were: God, Henry Kissinger, and Richard Nixon, with one vote each.

Along with the executive officials, twelve persons were elected to serve on the ASBSU senate.

Senators were chosen to represent each of the various schools in accordance with the total enrollment of that school. The following persons were elected from their respective schools:

ARTS AND SCIENCES

- Kristi Kitchen — 228
- John Steppe — 188
- John Frazier — 166
- Doug Gochmour — 157

BUSINESS

- Dan Roberts — 189
- Jim Crawford — 176
- Dwayne Mayer — 151
- Bob Welker — 132

EDUCATION

- Claudia Swanson — 69

HEALTH SCIENCES

- Vicki Kerby — 49

VO-TECH

- Kenneth Butler — 93.

College Republicans working for presidential primaries

A presidential primary for Idaho has become a definite possibility.

The Idaho College Republican League is making preparations for an initiative drive later this spring to put such a proposal before Idaho voters.

At their annual state caucus, held here last week, State Chairman David Warnick mentioned some of the reasons for a presidential primary.

"It gives the rank-and-file voter a chance to be part of the presidential nominating system," he stated. It was also mentioned that a "quasi-regional" presidential primary would strengthen the system. The primary proposal would be "quasi-regional" since it would set the date on the same day as Oregon's and Nevada's presidential primary.

According to Warnick, most people first become politically involved by working in a campaign, and thus a presidential primary with all its campaigns would increase involvement in the political system.

Also, he mentioned that a presidential primary would attract more candidates to Idaho, who would then have a better understanding of the state's problems. By holding the primary on the same date as Oregon and Nevada, presidential candidates would be able to use travel expenses and advertising expenses much more efficiently.

But before Idaho can get a presidential primary, the signatures of 24,700 legal voters must be collected. The deadline for this operation is July 5.

Vested interests evident in senate

Following the discussion in the Faculty Senate of how BSU should divide its 5.5% pie, Charles Lein voiced the request that the preceding discussion not prevent the entire Faculty Senate from acting together in a rational manner in the future.

This request should be honored.

Whether they were in the gallery or on the senate floor, everyone present (except myself, of course) was representing vested interests. One of Dr. Lein's duties as a member of the Faculty Senate and the dean of a school is to promote the welfare of his employees. Drs. Davis, Dorman, Boren and Overgaard, as well as Senators Selander, Scudder, Jensen, Spulnik and Knowlton are also encumbered by these responsibilities.

The senators from Business must have known the fight was lost before it began. One must admire their courage in trying to defend their faculty in the face of overwhelming opposition. It was, to borrow a phrase from the immortal Senator Selander, "a good faith effort." K.B.

Presidents' notes

Congratulations to all the new officers. This year's elections were one of the smoothest run in recent years. The new officers will take office Tuesday afternoon, April 16th in the ASBSU offices.

Congratulations not only go to the winners of the past election, but to those who took an active part because of their sincere interest in ASBSU government. The candidates who did not get into offices this year have shown their concern by running for the various offices. It takes a lot of personal time and devotion to run for a student office; I hope everyone who worked on their own campaign and those who helped them will now take an active role in student government. My wishes for the best of everything goes out to the new officers for a successful year.

A personal thanks goes to everyone I have worked with this past year. Student government could not have functioned without the help and support of the many dedicated students. Best wishes to them for a successful future.

Sincerely,
Doug Shanholtz
ASBSU President

I would like to take this time to thank the many students who have placed in me their confidences. Indeed, the position of Associated Student Body President is a large and complicated one as well as a position which is an honor to hold. I appreciate the opportunity to serve the students of Boise State and I will promise to do the job as well as possible.

I feel that we have a year to look forward to, a year in which student government will work for the students of Boise State.

During the remainder of this semester I want to make myself available to all students. The following is a list of the hours I'll be in the ASBSU offices: Monday, Wednesday, Friday - 8:30 am to 12:30 pm; Tuesday, Thursday - 10:30 am to 1:30 pm and 2:30 pm to 5:00 pm.

Please feel free to visit the ASBSU offices at anytime, if for business or just to get acquainted.

Once again, my deepest appreciation for the confidence and support given to myself by the students of Boise State University.

Kit D. Christensen
ASBSU President Elect

Help on election appreciated

Editor, the Arbiter:

This is to express my sincere appreciation to Joe Foster, City Clerk, as well as the city for the use of the voting machines. Also, Steve Maloney, director of Data Processing for setting up the computer for the election program.

A special thanks goes to the Election Board members, Christa Bax, Activities Advisor; Jeff Gooding; Gary Crowell; Carl Scheider; Pat Bonadiman; Gwen Gibbons; Cammy Gabica; Connie Robertson; Ron O'Halloran. Also, congratulations for a job well done for the people who manned the ballot boxes for the two days of voting. Also, thanks to the Arbiter Staff, Associated Student Senate, and officers for their support and cooperation for a well run election.

Since this was the first Boise State University election, I am pleased with the way the campaigns were run and the support from the candidates and I am pleased with the fact that everyone was satisfied with the validity of the election results.

Sincerely,
Steve Mengel
Election Board Chairman

Impeachment almost certain

WASHINGTON — The impeachment of President-Nixon, which used to be the pipedream of a small group of liberal congressmen, now seems almost certain. Even after the firing of Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox, the secret count for impeachment in the House was less than 80 votes. But today, a majority are expected to vote for impeachment.

Several factors have brought about this change. First, the incessant public debate has lessened the fear of the process. Previously, many congressmen were afraid the move would weaken the political system. Now they have become convinced that the best way to preserve the system is to impeach the President.

But the justification most often given privately for impeachment is that the congressmen are merely grand jurors. They determine only whether there is enough evidence to warrant a trial. They don't judge the President's guilt or innocence. It will take a two-thirds vote of the Senate to convict him.

Meanwhile, more than 100 lawyers, investigators and research assistants are now studying the evidence behind the tightly closed doors of the House Judiciary Committee. Enough evidence has already leaked out to justify a Senate trial. So the House is expected to vote for impeachment.

Even the President himself, according to my White House sources, is now concentrating on winning the final showdown in the Senate.

Soviet Oil: For six months, Radio Moscow has called upon the Arabs to use their oil as a weapon against the West. Even today, Soviet broadcasts in the Arabic language are still urging the Arabs to resume the oil embargo.

Yet strangely, the Soviets haven't followed their own advice. They could have used their own oil as a weapon, but unaccountably, they never did it.

The Soviet Union exports about 100 million tons of oil a year. Half of this goes to its Communist satellites. But the other half is sold to non-Communist nations.

The Arabs reduced their oil flow to the West last October. Had the Soviets turned off their spigot as well, the effect could have been devastating. Yet the Soviets continued to supply oil to the West at the same time that Radio Moscow was goading the Arabs to shut off the oil flow.

Intelligence reports suggest that the reason was two-fold. First, the Kremlin was worried that the Soviet oil boycott might wreck the detente. Even more important, the Soviets desperately need hard currency and oil exports are their single greatest source of it.

Therefore, the Soviet broadcasts supporting the oil embargo were beamed only to the Arab world. The broadcasts to the West were silent on the subject.

Churchmouse awaits Easter

Editor, the Arbiter:

It has been a heart-warming experience to see individuals making an extra effort during these Lenten weeks attending church services and special lectures. These efforts have been indicative of a desire to establish a meaningful communication with God, to learn their goals, and to stop and meditate on their efforts to achieve that goal.

These Lenten weeks of study and prayer will culminate in a glorious Easter, the Christian's day of victory! It is the Resurrection of Christ, the one incident in history that assured everyman of his future and that life has meaning, no matter what the problems.

I'm looking forward to seeing all you lads and lassies in church on Easter in your gay-colored clothes accentuating the color and fragrance of the flowers and candles in the sanctuary.

Student believes Grievance Board 'unable to function'

Editor, the Arbiter:

I predicted to Dr. Taylor and others that my grievance and plea for redress would come to naught when I presented my case to the Academic Grievance Board. I was correct in my prediction, and I am willing to further predict that no grievance by a student against an instructor will ever have a chance when brought before this present Board. It simply cannot function under its present organizational structure, and should either be restructured or discontinued altogether.

No student will ever vote against any instructor while in the presence of other instructors who are members of the Board. He may subsequently have one of the instructors in a class, and the threat of possible repercussions because of a pro-student vote looms before him like a specter. He is biased against his peers by way of intimidation.

No instructor will ever vote against another instructor, because the very act of such a vote is a threat to him as an instructor. Any precedent of an action taken against any instructor, establishes a policy which may govern his own policies later on, and such a precedent is unwelcome to him. He is biased against any student because of expediency.

A student with a grievance cannot hope for justice when he brings his plea before such a kangaroo court. The student/instructor membership of the AGB is a two-edged sword of bias over which an aggrieved student is powerless to control. The AGB cannot function fairly under its present method of application. As long as its membership includes persons from the two factions of the institution's campus community, justice will bow to expediency in any and every decision rendered. It cannot be otherwise.

Yours truly,
Bob Stephenson

BSU Health Center offers free services to full-time students

The BSU Student Health Center is located at 2121 College Boulevard right next to "The Other Bookstore" and directly across from the Campus Elementary School. The office hours are from 8:30 am to 4:00 pm every school day. The office telephone is 385-1459 and 385-1473. Since the Student Health Service is financed by a fee within the registration fee, most of its services are free to full-time students.

The services offered are similar to those of a private office practice and include the following:

- All Laboratory tests
- Immunizations - TB skin tests, Diphtheria and Tetanus, Overseas requirements, Cholera, Typhoid, etc.
- Allergy injections
- Venereal disease diagnosis and treatment
- Contraception examination, prescription, and counseling
- Approximately 80 percent of all medication that is prescribed for treatment and prevention (Most colleges charge extra)
- Minor surgery - removal of warts, cysts, and moles, etc.
- Some orthopedic care, such as sprains and contusions; all bandages, splints, cervical collars, casts.
- Examination and treatment of illnesses such as strep throat, ear infections, upper respiratory diseases, etc.

Job opens: Student Assistant to Dean needed

Applications are now being accepted in the Student Advisory and Special Services Office, Room 114, Administration Building for Student Assistant to the Dean.

This is a ten month appointment with a salary of $300.00 a month. The student assistant should expect to schedule approximately twenty hours a week minimum plus late afternoon and evening meetings. Applicants should be a second semester junior or above during their tenure of office with an acceptable (2.00) grade point average.

The student assistant is a key member of Student Affairs, acting as a direct link between students and staff. The position calls for an individual capable of communicating the concerns, needs, and proposals of the students and groups served by this office to the staff and, in turn serve as a resource person to the students. Selection will take into consideration the applicant's maturity, experience, and sincerity in working with special student programs and projects.

Interested students should pick up application forms in Room 114, Administration Building before the deadline of April 19, 1974. Final Selection is expected to be made prior to May 8, 1974.

- Emergency care - suturing wounds.

Linda Stout, Morrison Hall B-1, 385-1426; Robert Ruff, 1927 Yale Court, 343-4550; Ron O'Halloran, 1108 Grant No. 1, 345-7753; Sue Stutzman, A-700 Towers, 385-1950; Gene Volz, Nampa, 466-0946; Dr. Robert Ellis, Chemistry, 385-1695; Sue Mitchell, A-110, 3333 or 3334; Bill Jones, P.E. - G202A, 1116 or 1701.

Suggestions for improvement and specific complaints - particularly about alleged moralizing on the part of the doctor in regards to prescribing birth control - should be made to one of the above people. The appropriate input from students is needed if the Health Service is to fulfill its stated objectives of care for the acutely ill and continuing health education. The students own the Health Center. It is, therefore, their responsibility to see that it works.

PR Board links students to community

The ASBSU Public Relations Board was effective this year in projecting "the best image possible for the students," according to Chairman Owen Krahn. The Board contacted many campus and community groups over the past months and found them to be very receptive.

The primary responsibility of the PR Board is publicizing all activities of the ASBSU offices. The six members are each in charge of a different area and have never met as a group. Barbara Samuelson prepares and distributes posters and handbills, and Jon Adamson handles radio, TV and newspaper relations and coverage. Patty Humphrey and Becky Anderson contact student groups to explain the functioning of the ASBSU offices and encourage involvement. Claudia Swanson writes various articles for the Arbiter on the campus committees, while Brian Johnson arranges speaking engagements in the community for the ASB officers. Owen Krahn organizes all these efforts, meeting with the Board members on a one-to-one basis.

Results of the hard work and "behind the scenes activity" are evident. Through the PR Board's efforts, Doug Shanholtz spoke before both the Elks and Rotary Clubs this spring and received a tremendous response. A first for student government came when seven representatives of the news media attended a press conference where Shanholtz spoke on university status. The Board also brought U. S. Senators McClure and Hansen on campus to speak to students. Owen Krahn explained that open communication was established with many state legislators to express student views on various subjects.

Through the year, Krahn noted that "community news media is very interested in student, college news." The Public Relations Board took advantage of this interest and attempted to present a positive image of BSU students to the community.

Were you born to fly?

Not everyone is. It takes a blend of brains, drive and dedication. We're looking for men like this for the Navy Air Team, men who are Doers.

If you measure up, we'll teach you all the skills demanded to handle our sophisticated aircraft. When we're through, you'll have your Wings of Gold and a commission as a Naval Officer. So it works both ways. You get an aeronautical education and a career. And we get another born flyer.

If you're going to be something, why not be something special?

Foreign Film Committee invites new members

We of the Foreign Film Committee are pleased with the faithful following we have acquired in the last few years. Because of our audience we have been able to maintain what we consider a high quality program of classic and difficult to obtain film. It is our purpose to provide for our patrons movies that are rarely (and in many cases) never-seen-in-Boise.

The committee does have a problem, though. Except for one member, Dan Peterson, the rest of us, Patty Snow, John Bowman, Nancy Morris and Theda are seniors who will be graduating (we hope) this spring. We would like to see the committee pass on into the care of a concerned and enthusiastic group of undergraduate people.

Voting for Outstanding Educator Award scheduled

The voting for the Outstanding Educator Award, sponsored by the Student National Education Association, will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, April 17 and 18. There will be two polling places, one in the foyer of the library and one in the SUB, open from 9:00 am until 3:00 pm.

of the polling places with an additional person, it became readily apparent that few students were even aware of the Outstanding Educator election. The special ballot boxes were removed on the second day of the student body elections, and the few ballots that were cast were destroyed without counting them.

Originally, the voting was to have taken place in conjunction with the student body elections, held on April 3 and 4. A late decision, handed down through the Student Body Senate, required that the ballot box for the Outstanding Educator be physically separated from the regular ballot boxes. As a result, without the manpower to man all

The Student National Education Association and its officers apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused, but believe the special election will be far more equitable and hope that it will be less subject to criticism than an election in which few people had an opportunity to vote and in which the possibility of election irregularities were present.

A vast knowledge of foreign films is not necessary. We are primarily concerned in enthusiasm and a desire to furnish the area with cultural enrichment. You can bring to Boise State such recent quality films as O Lucky Man, Murnau of the Heart or Last Tango in Paris. Or you could select classics along the lines of Shoot the Piano Player, Rules of the Game, or The Blue Angel. That would be your decision if you become a member of the Foreign Film Committee. Contact Theda Lindeblad at the Program Board office upstairs in the SUB or obtain an application at the same location.

Ombudsman necessary for BSU

The etiology of the word ombudsman is derived from the Swedish, translated as 'grievance man' or more simply 'one who represents someone.' Ombudsman positions have been created within government to provide alternatives other than the courts for those who feel deprived of their basic rights. While the ombudsman is not new to government, the application of the concept integrated within the academic judicial system is relatively recent. There are however, over sixty campuses in this country which have instituted varieties of this concept.

What can an ombudsman do for the campus community particularly BSU? Because BSU is a growing community (now over 10,000 students) it has been forced (or has chosen) to adopt impersonal bureaucratic features. Most people of at least marginal intelligence are aware of the liabilities of this particular structure and the limitations and efficiency in dealing with problems that arise.

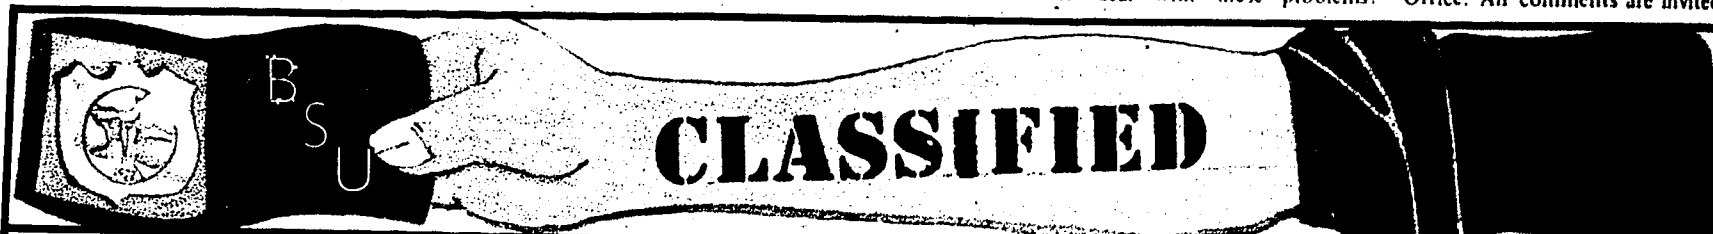

What channels has BSU created to deal with these problems?

Existing policies for students are: 1. see the instructor; 2. see the department chairperson; 3. contact the dean of the school; 4. all of the above. If the student is not satisfied, grievances may be filed with one of several boards. Faculty members, staff and classified employees have similar grievance procedures to follow.

Unfortunately for many, these grievance boards produce more distress than positive solutions. The proposition of initiating an office to receive and investigate complaints in a neutral posture could be positive steps toward effectively handling problems in a system inadequately designed to deal with them equitably at all times.

The ombudsman office would not be a duplication of any existing agency. But rather it would serve as a supplement to the existing structure.

NOTE: An ombudsman proposal is now before the BSU community and will be considered by the student senate. Informative copies of the program are available in the Student Services Office. All comments are invited.

US cities liberalize marijuana laws

(CPS) — There are mounting indications that liberalization of marijuana attitudes and penalties is taking place at the local level in a number of U.S. cities.

In three recent ballot referendums, the citizens of two cities voted to substantially reduce the penalties for possession and sale of marijuana, by enacting the most liberal laws concerning marijuana in the U.S.

The two changes occurred April 1 in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti Mich., when those two student-dominated cities voted to amend their city charters to provide a maximum penalty of a $5 ticket for possession or sale of marijuana in the city limits.

Ann Arbor previously had a $5 law when the city council was dominated by liberal Democrats and the Human Rights Party, a radical and student-dominated party in the city. However, last year, the Human Rights party ran candidates in Democratic wards, splitting the vote and electing a number of minority Republicans who struck down the law.

The new charter amendments require marijuana offenses to be processed like traffic tickets, with no resulting criminal record, and prohibits city police and attorneys from prosecuting offenders under other laws. Since the changes are charter amendments, they can only be repealed by another ballot vote.

In a third vote, Seattle, Wash. voters defeated a local ordinance calling for no penalties. However, even if the measure had passed, there would be conflict, because unlike Michigan, Washington's state law supercedes local ordinances. Most opposition came from civic leaders on this point because the initiative would have interfered with a local ordinance scheduled to go into effect next Dec. 1 calling for a $100 fine for possession of less than an ounce. The latter law is considered viable because it follows the principle of state laws calling for some penalties for possession.

Paul Elliot, an organizer of the Seattle initiative, said he was happy with the 31.1 percent favorable vote, pointing out that there was only a 25 percent voter turnout, and that his group spent only $5000 in an 18-month campaign. Referring to the defeat of Proposition 19 in California in 1972, Elliot said, "They put half a million dollars into that campaign and only came out a few percentage points (34 percent) better than we did." Elliot indicated that the main goal of his group had been education of the voters.

Several other cities have enacted lesser penalties against marijuana recently through city council votes.

Sacramento, Cal. police are now merely issuing citations to first-time marijuana possession offenders if the amount involved is less than an ounce. Instead of being fingerprinted, booked, photographed and jailed, an offender is merely required to appear in court as he would for a moving traffic violation, and no bail is required. If found guilty, offenders face a misdemeanor fine. If the system is successful in Sacramento, California's capital, other California cities may adopt the system sometime in the future.

Denver, Colo. enacted a new ordinance in mid-March which gives police the option of issuing a citation for possession of less than an ounce if the offender can prove a Denver address or show other local ties, and police records indicate no previous offenses. The possessor then may simply pay the attendant fine over the counter and go free. The measure has been criticized, however, because under Colorado law, those who pay the fine must plead guilty to a narcotics possession charge, as marijuana is still classified as a narcotic.

These laws are evidence of a growing liberalization in the handling of marijuana offenses at the local level. But perhaps the clearest indication of change is the results of a Harris poll released in late February which showed for the first time that only 49 percent of those surveyed would oppose a reduction in penalties similar to the $100 fine now in effect in Oregon for possession of an ounce or less.

Finally, and perhaps most significant of all, the poll showed that 61 percent feel that alcohol is equally or more dangerous than marijuana.

BSU spring rodeo to be held April 26, 27

Boise State University's annual Spring Rodeo will be held April 26th and 27th at the Simplot

Multi-Purpose Stadium in Caldwell. Performance times are April 26th, 7:30 pm and April 27th, at 1:30 and 7:30 pm. Governor Andrus will proclaim

April 26th as Intercollegiate Rodeo Day in Idaho.

Fifteen colleges and universities from Idaho and Utah will have rodeo teams competing at our rodeo. Standard intercollegiate rodeo events, bareback, saddle bronc, bullriding, calf roping, ribbon roping, steer wrestling, goat tying, barrel racing and break-away roping will be offered for participation. The Boise State Rodeo Association plans two special events: a faculty and staff bareback bronc riding and fraternity bull undecorating.

The Boise State University Rodeo Association invites students and faculty to attend this exciting sporting event.

IK conference convenes in Washington

The Intercollegiate Knights of Boise State University will be among 25 chapters expected at the national IK Convention at Washington State University, April 9-12 in Pullman, Washington, according to national president Dennis L. Ward of Boise.

The gathering of the scholastic honorary will also be the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the WSU Cougar Guard chapter, one of the IK's original eight charter members. Numerous festivities will be held in conjunction with the convention including a Royal Banquet on April 12.

Wakoski, a poet who dares to be read

by James Hepworth

Among other things, Diane Wakoski is the sort of poet most of us always said we'd like to be. She is a professional, and poetry, not teaching literature courses, is her livelihood.

For one thing, she has published fourteen books of poetry. But perhaps most important, her poetry is readable. Her work sells, which is not to say that she is a "popular poet" any more than Creely is popular, or Duncan, or Kelly. Wakoski is a poet who dares to be read. For example, her collection entitled, MOTORCYCLE BETRAYAL is dedicated "to all those men who betrayed me at one time or another, in hopes they will fall off their motorcycles and break their necks." On the page, she is bold, judgemental, explosive, and personal, yet she insists that her work not be included with the "confessionals."

Needless to say, Wakoski has a guarded ambivalence toward men, hence, the title poem of the volume. Wakoski calls this poem a "dance poem" because, she says, "the element of repetition is created by movements of language rather than duplicating words and sounds."

The story "behind" the poem is the separation of a man and woman who have been living together.

'As You Like It', the icing on the Subal cake

The Subal stage is bustling with activity once again. For nearly two days it was empty, but now the stage is filling with the set for William Shakespeare's "As You Like It."

This set, designed by Roger Bedard, is nearing its final week of construction. Any Shakespeare production is difficult to stage, especially on the Subal stage, but this design is visually attractive, multi-dimensional, and colorful as well as being versatile enough to make the change from court to country easily and believably.

This set, like all the productions this season, was designed during the previous production. Construction began the Monday after the last show closed and will go on until about a week before the show opens. It makes for a very busy year for the designers and a very busy year for the stage, with only about eight days out of the year without a new set on it. Five major productions a year is a heavy load.

As soon as this set is painted, the lighting crew will begin setting up the forty-odd lamps that will be used in this production. Lighting for this show will be particularly difficult as the lights will have to help make the divisions between the scenes that take place on the many different levels. The lighting design is by Frank Heise.

"As You Like It," as the last production of the season, is a difficult show and a challenge, but should prove to be the icing on the cake for the 1973-1974 Subal season.

The woman kills the man mentally:

*God damn it,
at last I am going to dance on your grave,
old man,*

*you've stepped on my shadow once too often,
you've been unfaithful to me with other women,*

She accuses him of being a liar in the only way she knows. He rides "a broken motorcycle," and speaks "a dead language." Worse: he writes "with an inkless pen."

Although the poems in DANCING ON THE GRAVE OF A SON OF A BITCH still reflect the surrealistic influence Wakoski attributes to Ginsberg and the American colloquialism of W. C. Williams, they are not the same poems she was publishing three years ago in MOTORCYCLE BETRAYAL. If they are still conversational, they are less talky and prosaic; the imagery more keen and precise; the voice less bitter. Even in the title poem which is a shocking, defiant, rant against injustice, Wakoski manages to control her previous tendency to let anger carry a poem. At times, the voice is understanding of men's faults, as close to gentle as she has come. In "The Moon Is Only Agressive When You Are There," she writes of the man in question:

... you do not mean to be my enemy.

But sometimes you are

*another world,
one where I am choked and cannot breathe,*

*where blood must run out of my nostrils in pain/
as the vessels burst in my head.*

You do not mean to hurt me;

I can only say,

*however,
that sometimes you* do

Ms. Wakoski is presently poet-in-residence at Willamette University in Salem, Oregon.

Easter breakfast recipes

by Frances Brown

Easter is almost upon us and a menu for a leisurely breakfast to bring the whole family together seems fitting. The meal is light, can be prepared quickly and is a rather delightful way to add a special quality to the festivities of the holiday.

Grapefruit Halves decorated with Sliced Strawberries
Shirred Eggs in Bacon Rings
French Breakfast Puffs
Coffee or Milk

Immediately remove from muffin cups and roll in 6 Tbsp. melted butter and then in a mixture of ½ cup sugar with 1 tsp. cinnamon. Serve hot. Makes 12 medium muffins. If you're counting calories, remove the muffins to the serving plate without the melted butter, cinnamon-sugar whirl.

SHIRRED EGGS IN BACON RINGS

Partially cook (not crisp) one bacon slice for each egg to be prepared. Line a greased 3-inch shallow baking dish or glass pyrex cup with a slice of bacon. Break an egg carefully into each bacon-lined baking cup. Dot with margarine. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add 1 Tbsp. cream, cultured sour cream, tomato juice, or undiluted cream of mushroom soup. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) until set, 15-20 minutes. Serve hot in the dish. Can be garnished with a sprig of parsley.

FRENCH BREAKFAST PUFFS

Mix thoroughly: 1/3 cup soft shortening (part margarine), ½ cup sugar and 1 egg

Sift together: 1½ cups sifted flour, 1½ tsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt, and ¼ tsp. nutmeg

Stir the sifted ingredients into the mixture alternately with ½ cup milk.

Fill greased muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake until golden brown at 350 F., 20-25 minutes.

'The Telephone' shows April 12

Ben is in love with Lucy and wants to propose but Ben has a problem. Lucy seems to be forever on the telephone and how is he going to get her attention in order to talk to her?

This problem and its solution is the story of "The Telephone" by Giancarlo Menotti. Menotti's music is melodious and the enjoyable 20-minute musical takes place in Lucy's apartment.

Sue Nichols, soprano and Jim Dodson, baritone sing the parts of Lucy and Ben. Jeannine Berry will provide the piano accompaniment.

"The Telephone" will be presented in the Concert Class scheduled for Friday, April 12 at 12:40 pm in the BSU Music Auditorium. There is no admission fee and everyone is welcome. NOTE: Sue and Jim are willing to present this musical performance at public gatherings. Please contact the BSU Music Department about an engagement for this production.

District Health operates family planning clinics

The Central District Health Department continues to operate sixteen family planning clinics a month in two Boise facilities, according to Ulisse C. Pardini, acting director, Central District Health Department.

Clinic services (physical examinations, instruction, etc.) are being provided for all individuals 18 years of age and older. Individuals under 18 will be provided clinic services with written consent from a parent or guardian. Mr. Pardini also states that counseling service is being provided to all individuals regardless of age.

Information with regard to clinic times and counseling service may be obtained by calling Central District Health Department 375-5211.

'Student Ensemble Series' to be held April 16

The Boise State University Music Department has announced another concert in the "Student Ensemble Series." On Tuesday evening, April 16, at 8:15 pm, the BSU Percussion Ensemble and the Keyboard Percussion Ensemble will present their annual Spring Concert in the Music Auditorium. The ensembles are directed by Dr. John Baldwin, Assistant Professor of Percussion and Assistant Director of Bands.

The eleven-member Percussion Ensemble will open the program with Benciscutto's RONDEAU FOR PERCUSSION, an exciting work in 5/4 with a recurring theme interspersed among shorter contrapuntal sections. The second work will be Carlos Chavez' classic percussion work, TOCCATA FOR PERCUSSION.

The Keyboard Percussion Ensemble consists of nine musicians playing marimbas, xylophone, vibre, bells, and electric bass, and is the only ensemble of this nature in Idaho at this time. The Keyboard Ensemble will perform two special arrangements by Dr. Baldwin - Scarlatti's Sonata No. 321 in E flat, and Peter Warlock's CAPRIOL SUITE. The latter work is a collection of short pieces based on dance tunes from Arbeau's ORCHESOGRAPIE, an important treatise written in 1588 on the dance customs of the 16th century.

Season tickets for the "Student Ensemble Series" will be honored at the door, and additional tickets will be available at the door. The public is urged to attend this unique concert with the reminder that all proceeds go to the Music Department's Scholarship Fund.

Baseball game against Vandals deemed crucial

It will be "catch up time for the Boise State University baseball team if they still want a shot at the northern division title of the Big Sky Conference. The Idaho Vandals come to town Friday and Saturday for a three-game series.

Boise State is 1-2 in the league and their series with the Vandals is a crucial one because it is the last home league games of the 1974 season. It will be the first league clashes of the season for the Vandals.

Action will get underway Friday at 1 pm on the Bronco field with a doubleheader with a single nine-inning affair at 1 pm

Saturday.

The two teams have not met this year. They were to have played in the College Classic in Boise two weeks ago, but the game was called on account of a wet field.

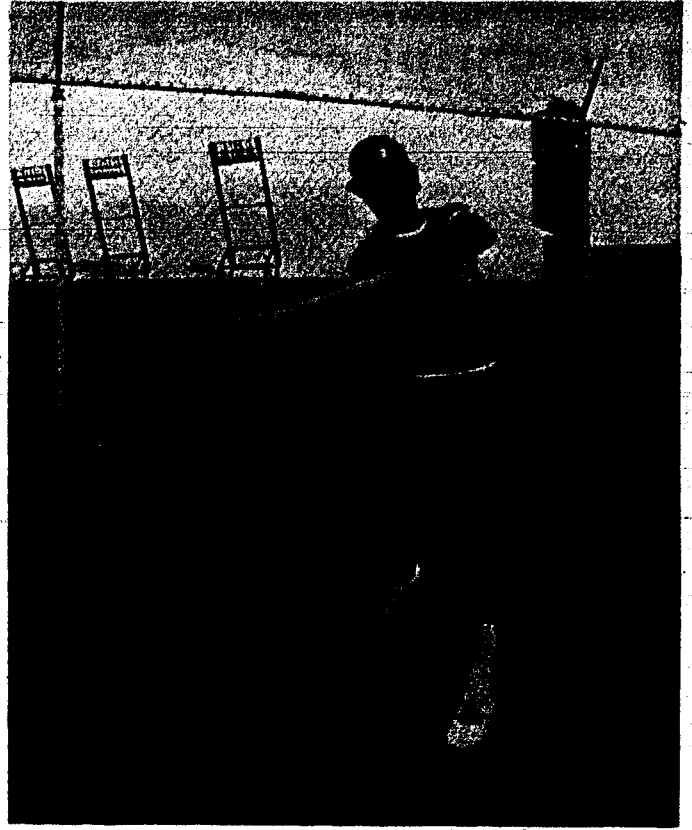

Boise State will take a 12-11 season record into the Big Sky series and Bronco head coach Ross Vaughn says that his team needs at least a couple of wins.

"The Vandals will be tough, they're a good team and hit the ball well. They also have some fine pitchers in Tim Kampa and Steve Williams. Idaho has an improved team from last year," Vaughn said. "If we play well we can beat the Vandals and it has to be a total team effort."

On the mound for the Broncos in the first game against Idaho will be sophomore Scott Hunsaker from Mesa, Ariz. He has a 4-1 record and an ERA of 3.27. In the second game Vaughn will call on Paul Levar, junior from Casper, Wyoming. Levar's record is 2-2 and his ERA is 2.63. Nick Mitchell, junior from Vancouver, B.C. is the probable starter in the single game Saturday.

The other expected starters against the Vandals are Karl Benson, .393, first base; Mike Guindon, .303, second; Gary Allen, .366, third and Kent Peterson, .310 at shortstop. In the outfield will be Bob Papworth, .208, left field; Dan Armitage, .253, center and either Max Stith, .313, or Bob Murray, .233, in right. Handling the catching chores will be Bruce Bergquist who is hitting .333.

Bronco tennis team to go to

Moscow for Inland Empire Tourney

Two of the three teams which defeated Boise State last year in tennis will be facing the Broncos this weekend at the Inland Empire Tournament in Moscow, Idaho and Pullman, Wash. The teams are Washington State and Idaho.

The Inland Empire is hosted by Washington State and the University of Idaho. The Cougars beat the Broncos last year at the Inland Empire 6-3 but this year the two squads are in different brackets and will meet only if they finish the same in their prospective brackets.

Boise State 2-0 in duals, will face the Idaho Vandals for the second time this year in action Friday in Moscow. Earlier this season the Broncos defeated the Vandals 6-3. Idaho defeated the Broncos 6-3 last season.

In one bracket there is Boise State, Idaho and Spokane Falls while in the second bracket the teams are Washington State, Montana and Weber State. "We were third at the tournament last year and we hope to do better than that this year," coach Dan Owen said.

Sunday the Broncos will travel to Spokane for a match with the Spokane Raquet Club and meet Spokane Falls Sunday afternoon. They will also try to get in a match Monday with either Gonzaga or Whitman College.

At the Inland Empire, the bracket winners will be decided the first day with the number one from one bracket facing the top team in the other bracket. The other teams will also meet opposite bracket opponents in the same manner.

Making the trip for the Broncos will be Nacho Larracochea, number one singles; Bill Steege, number two singles; Tony Pontious, number three; Dave Graham, number four; Larry Parsons, number five and Dennis Gibbens, number six singles.

The doubles will feature Steege and Jim Smyth number one with Pontious and Larracochea number two. Graham and Parsons will be at number three doubles.

Math scholarships awarded

Gary Gaige, David Murakami, and Beth Miller, all Boise State University students from Boise, have been awarded scholarships for the 1974-75 academic year at BSU.

Gaige and Murakami are recipients of the Elsie Buck Honorary Scholarship. Miss Miller has been awarded the BSU Math Department scholarship for next year.

The scholarships are awarded to upper division students who have shown excellence and promise in mathematics, and are supported by contributions of BSU Math Department members.

Tuition for one semester is covered by the awards.

Presidential primaries...

Before the petitions can be circulated, they must be approved by the Secretary of State and the Attorney General's office, which check the documents for proper form, and assign a short title to the proposal.

According to Richard Miller, chairman of the BSU College Republicans, the draft petition is currently going through this process.

Once the petitions are printed, many people will be needed to circulate them. Miller invited anyone, "regardless of party or political affiliation," to contact him if they are interested in getting involved.

The College Republican proposal would provide for the selection of delegates to national conventions. Eighty per cent of the delegates would be selected in accordance with the primary results.

But, according to Miller, the winner "would-not-take-all". Delegates would be distributed proportionately.

Miller mentioned that there were a couple of reasons for this provision - "First, the national party rules require this for the Democratic party." In addition, he pointed out that this would prevent all of Idaho's delegation being pledged to a minority candidate.

"For instance," he said, "in a primary with five candidates and a vote distribution of 7 percent, 10 percent, 20 percent, 31 percent,

Women & religion

How does a career woman deal with her church's doctrine which states that her place is in the home? How does a divorced, christian woman deal with her guilt? Can a person accept sexual equality, and also accept the teachings of the Bible?

WOMEN AND RELIGION will be the topic of discussion at the Women's Center on April 17 at 7:30 at the YWCA. Guest speakers will be Sister Superior Clarissa, from St. Mary's Catholic Church, and Deaconess Sharon Miller, from the First Congregational Church. The public is invited.

Summer school info

Intention Cards for those BSU students planning to attend summer school will be available in A-100 beginning April 15 through May 17. Prepared packets are automatically made for those students who are attending Spring '74 for the Fall '74 unless you withdraw before the end of spring semester.

Packets are NOT PREPARED for summer school unless you have an intention card (which has pertinent information for the Data Center) pulled, or if you withdraw, a new application submitted. You may register for the summer session without a prepared packet but it will be much easier and faster with a prepared packet.

Intention cards may be pulled by calling 385-1653 or dropping by A-100.

OPINION...

Viewpoints on Christianity differ

by Greg Johnston

My point behind this article is to show that Mr. Moon's "religion" is based upon his own ideas and do not jive with the Bible. I use the Bible because he also uses the Bible as a basis for his "religion."

I hope to show how Mr. Moon has grossly presented the word of God. Below are some examples of Moon's interpretation of the Bible which appear in his book "Divine Principle."

CREATION

The Reverend Moon says, "the universe did not suddenly come into being without a lapse of time, but it took considerable time for the generation of the universe to take place. (p. 52).

The Bible says, "and God said... and it was so," (Genesis 1:11, 14, 15, 24) "By the word of the Lord were the heavens made, and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. For he spoke, and it was done; he commanded and it stood fast," (Psalm 33:6,9). Comment: This does not jive with Genesis at all.

SIN

The Rev. Moon says, "Redemption through the cross cannot completely liquidate our original sin." "The original sin lineally transmitted from heaven has not been liquidated," (Divine Principle pp. 144, 148).

The Bible says, "For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world; but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself (Hebrews 9:26).

Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works.

UNIVERSALISM

Rev. Moon says, "the ultimate purpose of God's providence of restoration is to save all mankind (p. 190).

The Bible says, "Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come fourth; they that have done good, into the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation (John 5:28, 29).

THE SECOND COMING

The Rev. Moon says, "It is absolutely incomprehensible to the intellect of modern men that the Lord would come on the clouds." We need to consider the numerous Biblical records concerning the second advent from the viewpoint that the Lord might come on the earth by being born in the flesh (D.P. pp 500, 501) Comment: If God says he's coming in the air, you had better believe it.

The Bible says, "And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory."

(Matthew 24:30): "And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight. Which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven?"

Beware of Mr. Moon, he is not a Christian, he is only involved in Moonology.

Matthew 24:2,5,11 says, "and Jesus said into them, take heed that no man deceive you. For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many. And many false prophets shall rise and shall deceive many."

I will end with this item I also know about the Unification Church. They believe that in order to show your faithfulness to God is to split up the families. I know of a man who's wife was sent here (Boise), children were sent to California and the husband went to Washington and they all lived in the East. This is something Moon thought up and does not have scripture to back it up. Beware of the Moons in the world, there are many. Just pray that not many are taken by this false prophet.

Veterans are reminded by the Registrar's Office that they should be prompt in returning the certification of enrollment card which they receive in April (a blue-topped card).

This card needs to be returned to the Veterans Administration right away to "keep those checks comin' along."

Spring drills started for BSU team

What is the biggest questionmark of the 1974 Bronco football team as they hold their spring drills? Undoubtedly it is who is going to replace four men on the offensive line with three of those gone being All Americans.

The Broncos lost All American honorable mentions Dan Dixon, Al Davis and John Klotz and highly regarded Charlie Russell.

Assistant coach, Dave Nickel, who handles the offensive line, feels it will be very hard to replace those players. "Anytime you have four men like those, you will have quite a rebuilding job for the next year. But fortunately we return academic All American Glenn Sparks at one guard and some pretty good back-up men to the ones we lost."

Sparks, from Vancouver, Wash., will be complemented by Greg Palin, Castro Valley, Calif., at right offensive tackle; Jim Ryan, Pleasant Hill, Calif., at guard; Ted Scoles, Orofino, Idaho at center; and either Carlton Ching, Honolulu or Mike Reynolds, Anchorage, Alaska at left tackle.

"I'm really expecting great things from Palin," says Nickel. "We do a lot of traps and pulling at tackle and he has shown a lot of promise. This is especially true since he played behind Sparks last year and this is a new position for him."

"Glenn Sparks was an academic All American last year and started as a sophomore. We expect just as much, if not more from him this season. Ted Scoles, who played behind John Klotz for three years, is only lacking experience. He learned a lot playing behind Klotz and is a very solid football player.

Jim Ryan is another who played behind an All American in Dan Dixon and Nickel says that he has a chance to start and gain more experience. The left tackle spot is up for grabs with Ching and Reynolds having the inside track.

Coach Nickel feels that spring training is very important, not only in technical ideas, but also to give the inexperienced players time to play and to teach the skills that are applicable to each position.

"We don't have time to teach the skills, catching and blocking during the fall. We must prepare each week for a new team, so all our time is taken up in preparation. This allows all the new players to gain experience at their respective positions and hope this is enough for the coming fall," Nickel said.

Depth is another important aspect of each team. "If we lost a few top-notch players we could be in bad shape. But fortunately, we have some very hard-working and dedicated players and all of them are very easy to coach. All of the coaches are looking forward to the upcoming season," Nickel said.

The spring drills will end Saturday night, April 27 in the annual Alumni Game. Kickoff is slated for 7 pm in Bronco Stadium.

BSU track team host Weber State this weekend

Boise State University's track and field team will try to stretch their dual meet record to 3-1 this Saturday, April 13, when they host Weber State in a dual meet at Bronco Stadium.

The field events will begin at 12 noon with the steeplechase opening the track events at 12:30 pm. There will be an admission charge for all except Boise State students.

The Broncos are fresh from a 73-51 win last weekend over the Idaho Vandals in Moscow. Bronco coach Ed Jacoby was pleased with the victory over the Vandals but pointed out some things which are bothering him.

"I'm a little concerned about the inconsistencies we have been getting from some of the athletes," Jacoby said. He added that his main concern is Henry Mago in the discuss who has to "even out," Jacoby said.

"It's really difficult to assess what we did against the U of Idaho because of the bad weather we had. Our sprint times were good, but they were wind aided. Those cited for their good efforts against the Vandals were Sam Jenkins, in the sprints, Bob Walker in the distances and Gerry Bell and Larry David.

Commenting on the upcoming meet with the Wildcats from Weber State, Jacoby said, "Weber State has fine distance runners in Dan Price, Dan Dean and Al Yardley. They also are strong in the javelin with Bob Hill. We'll have to get good performances to be in there against them."

Event breakdown (best marks/time from each school): Steeplechase - Dave Lockman, BSU, 9:56; Jerry Miller, WSC, 9:58; Mile - Dan Dean, WSC, 4:14; Jim Bonnell, BSU, 4:17; 120 yard high hurdles - Ken Carter, BSU, 14.1; Bob Cox, WSC, 14.5; 440 - Larry Stark, BSU, 48.1; Steve Zander, 50.0; 880 - Dan Knighton, BSU, 1:53.8; Dan Dean, WSC, 1:54.0; 100 - Sam Jenkins, Karl Bartell, BSU, 9.5; Lou Willingham, WSC, 10.0.

440 yard intermediate hurdles - Ken Carter, BSU, 52.8; Steve Turner, WSC, 54.2; 220 - Sam Jenkins, BSU, 21.3; Lou Willingham, WSC, 22.5; three mile - Al Yardley, WSC, 13:53.8; Bob Walker, BSU, 14:26.0; long jump - Ken Carter, BSU, 24.3; Jimmy Watts, WSC, 22.9; high jump - Mike Bennett, BSU, 6.9; Bill Shaw, WSC, 6.8; pole vault - Stan Andrew, BSU, 15.6; Todd Parker, 15.0; triple jump - Gerry Bell, BSU, 50-10½; Jimmy Watts, WSC, 46.8; shot - Larry David, BSU, 53.2; Bob Davis, WSC, 47.9; Javelin - Bob Hill, WSC, 211.0; Glenn Sparks, BSU, 196.0.

Golf team to compete in Bronco Invitational Tourney

Eight collegiate golf teams will converge on the Warm Springs Golf Course in Boise Thursday and Friday, April 11-12, for the Bronco Invitational golf tournament.

Host Boise State will be facing some tough competition from Weber State, Utah State, Idaho State, the University of Idaho, Treasure Valley CC and Northwest Nazarene. BSU will field two teams.

The tournament will begin at 1 pm Thursday afternoon with 18-holes and windup Friday with another 18. Tee-off time Friday is 8:30 am. The teams will be playing medal-play with the low five scores from each team counting.

"The tournament will be a good test for us," commented Bronco golf coach Mike Montgomery. "We will be facing some very strong competition from Weber State and the University of Idaho, both of whom finished above us in the Big Sky championships last year."

Montgomery will have two teams in the Bronco Invitational. Those competing in the first squad will be Jeff Rodwell, Rich Stanwood, Steve Farris, Ron Hodge, Don Towery and Keith Ayres. On the second team will be Tom Smith, Tom Williamson, Rick Collingwood, Jim Broich, John Haynes and Roger Holmes.

Hearing pending on discrimination

On Thursday, April 18, 1974, commencing at 2:00 pm in the Student Union Senate Chambers, there will be an Open Hearing to receive "pro" or "con" statements on whether the non-discrimination statement for recognition of student organizations ought to be revised to include a provision on "sex" discrimination in addition to race, color or creed (religion) provisions which are a part of the present policy.

Currently, recognition requirements for student organizations state that a "Non-discrimination statement must be incorporated into the constitution. It is the policy of the University to oppose and prevent in any activity or organization, discrimination based on race, color or creed (religion) and requires each organization to include a non-discrimination statement in their national and local charter, constitution or by-laws."

The primary question to be addressed at the Open Hearing is: Are you in favor of including the designation of "sex" in the non-discrimination statement required for recognition of student organizations on the campus?

The Student Policy Board invites all interested organizations or individuals to present a statement at the Open Hearing of Thursday, April 18, 1974 at 2:00 pm in the student Union Senate Chambers. Presentations will be limited to five minutes in length. Individuals or groups who wish to schedule a specific time in advance may do so through the Office of the Vice-President for Student Affairs, A-110.

Parking problem continues

Students and administrators are looking for solutions to the parking problems at Boise State. A student-faculty committee is soon to begin reviewing the present parking regulations, and the administration has asked Boise City to consider taking over the enforcement of parking regulations.

If the city agrees, the parking rules would be enforced in the same manner as other city parking violations. Violators would be handled by the courts, either by mailing in fines or appearing in court to fight the case. City Clerk Don Horan suggested placing a box on campus where violators could deposit fines. The city presently has jurisdiction over Campus Drive, the road adjacent to the Boise River.

The university, currently handling the administration of parking, has very little power of enforcement. The only real control over students who violate parking regulations is denying registration for classes when they fail to pay parking and other fines. Some attorneys question the legality of this practice because of a court decision that the withholding of transcripts in lieu of payment of fines is illegal.

Some students appeal their tickets to the Appellate Traffic Court, where the fines are rarely upheld. Faculty and staff, also subject to parking fines, can have any fines deducted from their salaries, but only if they authorize payroll deductions in writing. The school has no control over persons not affiliated with the college who use the parking lots.

A joint student-faculty committee may begin work this week to determine the regulations which will be enforced by the Boise City Police Department. One controversial item for discussion is sure to be preferred parking for faculty and staff. Faculty members claim that as paid employees they are expected to be at school on time, and should not have to scramble for a place to park.
