Student Building Committee views plans for events center, footbridge

by David Frisinger

Plans for a new deck on Bronco Stadium a Science-Education Building and a 425-seat Special Events Center are now being studied by the Student Building Committee. Created this spring to help Barnes plan new activities on campus, the student committee is also reviewing blueprints for a new Vo-Tech building and a footbridge to Julia Davis Park.

The Science-Education Building has been approved by the State Board of Education and the Permanent Building Fund Council, and Phase One of the building will be constructed as soon as funds become available. The first stage of the building will include facilities for the biology, chemistry, physics and nursing programs. In addition to the 5000 new seats in Bronco Stadium, four new handball courts will be built on the Broadway side of the stadium. Varsity Center also plans expansion of its reception and ticket sales area, as well as another classroom, a storage room, and a dressing room for referees and other officials.

The Bronco Stadum-Varsity Center project will be funded by a parity bond to be paid off by surplus money from student building fees. This surplus fund also holds the $1.1 million to be used for the Special Events Center.

The Special Events Center will be used for Theater Department productions, pop and foreign films, and other "special events." This building could be the site of any concerted effort earlier this year when the seating capacity was reduced.

Dr. Barnes found the money to add 75 more seats. He also changed the location of the hockey team pointed out that Barnes had originally planned it, the building would cover the hockey field.

Construction will begin on the new Vo-Tech Building this summer. Planned for the vacant area west of the current plant, the building will include shops for auto body, heating and air conditioning, recreational vehicle repair and parts distribution courses, as well as three new classrooms.

Dr. Barnes hopes that construction of the footbridge to Julia Davis Park will begin within sixty days. He has asked the state to appoint an engineer to work on the project.

New senate hit with fee increase, budgeting

The twelve persons who were elected to serve as ASBSU Senators during the upcoming academic year took their oath of office Tuesday and were immediately two of the weakest problems, they will face their entire term how to spend the ASBSU money, and whether or not to seek a student fee increase.

Within the next two weeks the Senate will have to decide if they want to ask the State Board of Education for an increase in fees or to seek a student fee increase.

The outgoing senate took the floor briefly Tuesday to hear a plea by the Intercollegiate Knights for $130 to cover losses incurred by the IK's in the Miss BSU pageant. The service fraternity sponsored the pageant because it was evident that no other group would, and, after the pageant was over, the IK's hadn't made enough in ticket sales to cover the cost of the pageant. Before nipping down the way for the new senator, the old senative approved a loan to the IK's and stipulated that they work off the debt by performing service projects for the ASBSU.

After the new senators had been sworn in, Treasurer Wes Scrivner and outgoing Treasurer Terri Moore presented the ASBSU budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year. Lobbying unity necessary

As is well known throughout educative circles, the business of education has become a highly important factor in big business. The future executives, politicians, and administrators can all see walking the halls and strolling over the campus of many colleges and universities throughout the United States and the rest of the world.

Idaho is no different.

With three universities and a handful of colleges and Jr. colleges, the Gem State has its fair share of future leaders. At Boise State University, the abundance of probable is considerable.

Here at Boise State we are involved in three politically active organizations. The Idaho Student Government Association, the Idaho Student Lobby, and our own Boise State Lobby. These three organizations separately yield a good amount of influence, but perhaps even more influence could be facilitated if these three organizations would blend themselves into one super student faction.

With these three organizations combined into one group with one thought in mind, the rights and interests of the student in the formation of governmental and administrative policy, more concrete results could be obtained. In fact, this organization would serve as a unifying faction between the various Idaho student governments much in the same way that a lab team brings together workers in matters that concern their working conditions.

It is in this writer’s suggestion that the possibility of such a joint venture be looked at seriously; then acted upon in order that the students of Idaho’s institutions of higher learning be given a loud, clear voice in matters that directly concern them and their education.

WHERE THE WELLDRESSED VICE-PRESIDENT SHOPS... Student supports presidential primary

About 40 years ago a young Republican maverick named William E. Borah waged a bitter battle against intended opposition to finally win for Idaho a state wide direct primary. The people, he declared, "should be masters in their own about the existance of Idaho.

"The people," he declared, but the candidates will learn more about the candidates, Idaho a state wide direct primary.

Republicans are seeking a similar help to correct this ignorance. About 40 years ago a young compete for delegates and stand in judgment before the voters of this state. This, in turn will have two good results. Idaho will not only learn a bit more about the candidates, but the candidates will learn about the existence of Idaho. It is reported that some presidential aspirants have had to be told that Idaho is no longer a territory. A direct primary, which would bring candidates into the state, would help to correct this ignorance. A Presidential primary will also increase citizen participation in the electoral process. Too often in the past the average person had little control over delegate selection. He had a vote in the November election and little more. Unless he was part of a well-organized group his presence at a state convention had little effect. Those who ran the party usually ran the convention. Conventions like the 1973 Sun Valley meet—where the power bosses temporarily lost control—were few and far between.

I doubt that the College Republicans will receive much more than lip service from those politicians who entrenched its office. The Old Guard never looks favorably on those who challenge its power. But the CR’s should expect support and manpower from such groups as the Young Democrats and the ex-McGoverners. The League of Women Voters is another organization that should get involved. In fact, it is disappointing that these people have not yet offered their support in making this a bipartisan effort. A Presidential primary is too important to be left as a matter of political football. Regardless who is pushing this measure forward, it should be supported. It is a needed and necessary reform.

A simple sneeze

WASHINGTON — Newspapers have reported that the Chinese-American detente is in trouble. As evidence, they have cited the new cultural revolution sweeping through Communist China. This has sparked a campaign against all things foreign. Even Henry Kissinger’s friend, Premier Chou En-lai, has broken with the regime calling it “aggression.” China also turned back U.S. wheat shipments contaminated with fungus.

Everybody has seen, however, reports of the deteriorating detente simply are not true. The secret cable traffic and intelligence reports indicate that Chinese-American relations are not, only remain friendly, but probably will improve.

The confidential cables from American diplomats in Peking, for example, tell that daily contacts between Chinese and American officials are lengthy, candid and often called U.S. businessmen are pleased over their reception in China.

Intelligence reports, furthermore, indicate that the new cultural revolution is completely controlled by the Communist party; this was not true in the last political upheaval. Federal officials have issued strict orders, for example, that propaganda posters are to be put up only after working hours. The “revolution,” in short, is not going to be conducted at the expense of production. Chou En-lai’s critical comments can be attributed to the fact that he is a man with a survival instinct which grates Richard Nixon’s. And as far as the wheat riot is concerned, the simple fact is that the Chinese refuse to pay good money for tainted grain.

The China-watching press tends to put too much emphasis on trivial incidents. They sometimes see a calamity in a simple sneeze. This time, it appears, they are reading the signs wrong.

The committee’s senior Republican, Rep. Ed Hardwich of Michigan, served on the special investigation of Watergate. At that time he insisted it should “include an investigation into improper conduct.” He avoided it should be “another investigation into improper conduct.”

Now, Hutchinson is singing a different tune. He now tells me the President’s offenses must be impeached, not just improperly. But the past statements hang heavily over the Republican’s head.

It must be spring...

While I was walking to class today I was overwhelmed by the beauty of spring. It encouraged me to write a poem I thought other people might like to share with me. Here is it:

It’s a lovely day in the neighborhood.

My heart is like I watch the grass rise

At God’s green earth brings

The season’s no harm.

It must be spring.

Even if it’s rain,

I feel no pain,

I just want to sing.

But it must be spring.

Oh, season of sunshine.

You are the best

I like you better than

All the rest

Because you’re spring.

Boise’s YWCA to have open house April 25

The public is invited to open house at the Boise YWCA, 720 Washington St., Thursday, April 25, from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on theme, “Celebrate Women”, the open house is planned as part of National YWCA Week observance to acquaint Boiseans with the facilities and programs of the local YWCA.

Conducted tours of the building will include all program areas, the Residence, Body Shop, Women’s Center, and Feminist Library. The Day Care/Day Center will be operating for pre-school children, and the Children’s Thrift Shop will be open for business.

Displays and information tables will be staffed by representatives from the various YWCA programs, including Parks, the Youth Task Force, Family Day Care Seminars, Senior Citizens, World Mutual Service, International Folk Dance Group, Imperative Group, Parent Education, Mothers’ Monday Out, Rug Club, Mothers’ Wednesday Out, Auto-List, Creative Movement, and Santa’s Workshop. Members of the YWCA board will hold and serve refreshments throughout the day.

The regular YWCA Thursday luncheon forum on Thursday will feature Elise Montgomery speaking on her experiences traveling around the world staying at YWCA’s. Thursday registration will begin at 11:45 a.m. and requests for child care are due by Wednesday noon. Brown Bags pay 25 cents toward lunch and do not need reservations.

The theme “Celebrate Women” was chosen in recognition of the YWCA as a strong women’s movement historically and this year in the age of liberation. The organization was founded in 1855, during the Industrial Revolution in London, when a group of church women decided something had to be done to improve the deplorable working and living conditions of young women factory workers. Throughout its 119-year history, the YWCA has worked as a positive agent for change to improve the quality of life for all people, particularly women and girls. The Boise YWCA was chartered in 1910.

How to recognize and cope with emergencies requiring medical help will be discussed at the Family Day Care Seminar, Tuesday, (April 23) 7:30 p.m., at the YWCA, Dr. Donald Sinkey, emergency room physician at the Aliphonse Hospital, will speak on emergency situations with children.

The meeting is one of a series of information seminars for family day care mothers being sponsored by the Boise YWCA and DECS Child Care Licensing office. Subjects are chosen in response to needs expressed by those responsible for taking care of pre-school children in their homes. Interested parents are also welcome.

Adult Basic Education program offers classes

Boise State University’s Adult Basic Education program will again offer classes in American Government beginning April 16. Classes will be held during the day and evenings.

Evening registration will begin 6:30 p.m. on April 16 in the auditorium of the Technical Education Building on Bellevue St. Entry into the program can be made anytime within the first two weeks.

Daytime class registration will be held beginning 11 a.m. April 16 in the Vo-Tech Learning Center. Day classes will be held on Tuesday and Thursday from 11 a.m. to noon.

A fee of $15 will be charged, payable at the first class session.

Textbooks will be furnished to as many students as possible. New books are available at the Student Union bookstore.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 285-1645 or 285-3484.

The Student Union Building will present the last production of the 1973-1974 Subal Theatre Season. The production is William Shakespeare’s classic comedy “As You Like It.”

Being the last show of the year, in addition to being a Shakespearean comedy, tickets will go fast. Last week, even though the box office was not open yet, calls were received from people wanting to make reservations for the play. High school teachers have also called to make reservations for their English and drama classes to see the show. Noting this, it would be wise to make reservations as soon as possible.

May 1 set aside for ‘Law Day’

“Law Day” (May 1) is the time set aside for students and other interested people to stop and ponder where we are in respect to laws that govern everyone in the United States.

This year’s objectives of Law Day USA are:

1. To advance equality and justice under law.
2. To encourage citizen’s support of law observance and law enforcement.
3. To foster respect for law and understanding of its essential place in the life of every citizen of the United States.
4. As responsible citizens we also can help to ‘Make better laws’ by becoming informed about vital issues facing the country, by examining various ways social change can be affected through the law, and by supporting these efforts toward improvements.

If a law, for one reason or another, is found to be no longer serving a practical or useful purpose, or is patently unfair or unjust, should be reviewed and modified or repealed. You also can help preserve good laws by becoming well informed about major issues confronting city, county, state and nation which may necessitate enactment of new or improved laws. You also can help ensure passage of good laws by knowing the qualifications of candidates seeking public office and by supporting those best qualified to represent the people in your district.

Watch for and participate in the “Law Day” activities at BSU May 1, 1974.

Facts on Athletic Budget public information

by Katrina Brown

Money— for new programs, faculty, salaries, scholarships, etc.— is in short supply on the BSU campus this spring. There just isn't enough to go around, and the have-nots are beginning to point a suspicious finger at the haves. The Athletic Department has been receiving a growing amount of criticism lately, probably because it spends over $200,000 on one phase of its program— football.

This isolated figure does indeed sound high, it is revenue from football, basketball, the Bronco Athletic Association, and student fees which supports the athletic program, and not money from the instructional budget. According to Roger Green, Vice-President for Financial Affairs, the only state-appropriated money spent in inter-collegiate athletics is in salaries: $162,170 for 15 people, including the athletic directors, coaches and secretaries. BSU's total salary budget is about $56,000.

Boise State actually spends less money than either Idaho State University ($339,000) or the University of Idaho ($274,000). When the State Board of Education ruled this year that keep the expenditure of new tennis courts, construction ISU President Davis even Stephenson said this actually saves the university about $80,000. In addition, both Stephenson and Green pointed out that many of the boosters are influential people, and their initial involvement with the athletic program often has benefits for the entire university.

The money generated by football and basketball is not used exclusively for these two sports, but supports an expanding minor sports program, as well as the BSU marching band. Because the Big Sky Conference and the State Board of Education regulate expenditures in both basketball and football, the only increase in the budgets of these two programs next year will be an adjustment for inflation. BSU already spends a larger portion of its athletic budget on minor sports than the other two universities, and is planning to make substantial increases in 'lifetime' sports budgets, like golf and skiing. $150,000 will be spent next year on women's athletics.

The BSU Athletic Department has been making a profit for several years, and Green said this surplus has been invested. The interest income from the invested surplus does not go back to the Athletic Department, but into BSU's general budget, and benefits the entire university. About $36,000 of the 1973-74 surplus will be used to build four new tennis courts. Construction on these will begin after the 1973 football season is over.

The budget printed above was prepared by Kyle Smith, Athletics Director and Ron Stephenson, Assistant Athletic Director, at the beginning of fiscal year 1973-74. Both revenue and expenditures in some areas exceed the amounts shown here according to Stephenson, but this budget does give a good indication of the amounts of dollars spent and received by the Athletic Department. The estimated budget for 1974-75 will be completed in about two weeks, and will be a matter of public record.

Johnny Lister talks of occult, reincarnation, astrology

Johnny Lister, nationally recognized astrologer, has recently been invited to address the Theosophical Society in New York. He will be appearing with Psychic Jeanie Dixon at BSU April 22, at a reception given in their honor after Mrs. Dixon's lecture.

ARBITER: Johnny, what is the difference between the psychic and the astrologer?

LISTER: An astrologer is judging purely from the relationships of the planets' positions. An astrologer does not judge as psychologically or mathematically with qualities or situations. Any one position of a planet is a symbol for a vast number of qualities and events. The astrologer can be very exact in a psychological or psychiatric sense, but he has little indication of what will actually happen in a particular event. A psychic operates from an exactly opposite position. The psychic can tell a great deal about an event, but often has a hard time interpreting it. Some psychics, like Jeanie Dixon, get many of their messages in symbols.

ARBITER: What do you mean by symbols?

LISTER: For example, the White House could indicate the President. So her symbols also offer correct interpretation. They can tell you where you are headed if you continue in your present path. The astrologer can be especially helpful in enabling you to understand how your unique qualities would fit into various future plans. Consequently an astrologer and a psychic can add depth to understanding. Much of the information you are not able to understand is the work done by the psychic and astrologer. The astrologer can indicate many things you are not able to understand. The psychic can be helpful in showing you what is going on. This combination, the psychic and astrologer, can be extremely helpful.

ARBITER: Can you give me an example?

LISTER: Yes, it is much the same as what you have done in this life. Let us say that what you did as a junior built a foundation of what your performance as a senior will be. What you are doing in this lifetime is built on what you have done in the past. You will have a harder time with calculus in this lifetime. The knowledge psychic can gain about your previous lifetime can help shed light on this life.

LISTER: What does the astrological wheel represent?

LISTER: The astrological wheel represents the totalities of the evolved soul. In any one life we will possess only a small fraction of all these qualities. We must focus strongly on those qualities we possess and learn both the positive and negative uses of them. We will also learn that no one angle alone will do the job; we need the qualities of all of them to evolve to a state of perfection.

ARBITER: Is it possible to reach perfection in this lifetime?

LISTER: It is not possible to reach perfection in ANY few lifetimes. But, also earth living is, I feel, a comparatively low stage of evolution.

ARBITER: How do you think the psychic sciences are accepted? Do you think any people of credence believe in them?

LISTER: Ten years ago very few people accepted the psychic; today it is accepted by men who have walked on the moon. The occult, I use this word as an all-encompassing word which could include both psychics and astrology, can be as helpful as an owner's manual for a new piece of machinery. It enables us to understand what makes us and the rest of the world tick, and shows us how to relate to what is going on.
Margaret Best wins stipend, senior recital to be presented

by Frances Brown

Margaret Best, Boise flutist and University of Idaho student, won the Idaho Federation of Music Clubs’ trust fund scholarship of $750 at auditions held April 6-7 at BSU. Margaret is the daughter of the John Bests, 2716 Camas and is a former BSU student.

Steven Gloth, pianist, BSU student and son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Gloth, 4644 Crestview Circle, was first place winner and won a $500 award.

Idaho State University concert choir is touring southern Idaho the week of April 15. The Choir is scheduled to perform in BSU in the Music Auditorium, Friday April 19 during the concert class, 12:40-1:30 pm. There is no admission fee.

“The Telephone,” a one-act opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti was directed and sung by Sue Nichols and Jim Dobson at the Concert Hall, Friday, April 12 in the BSU Music Auditorium. The whimsical musical proposal was well done and warmly applauded. The Messingers sang five selections with Will Elliott as Director. I was particularly impressed with “Sand” which was narrated by Don Wellnup backed by chorale humming and singing. It was very distinctive and most appropriate for Holy Week.

April 24, Wednesday at 8:15 pm, Darlene Meyer, pianist will present her “senior recital,” in the BSU Music Auditorium.

Patricia Berg, mezzo-soprano and a full-time music major studying under Catherine Elliott will appear on the same program. Patricia will perform a Schumann song cycle entitled “Frauenliebe und Leben” (Woman’s Life and Love). Alan Ludwig will be the accompanist.

BSU Community Symphony to present Spring Concert on April 19

by Frances Brown

The Boise State University Community Symphony is scheduled to perform the Spring Concert of the 38th season on Friday, April 19, in the Music Auditorium. The conductor is John Best. The Symphony Movement for Orchestra by Dr. Sy Brumback, visiting composer in residence. The new opus is dedicated to the Boise Community Symphony. Soloist Glenn Desch is a junior music major at BSU and is a voice student of William K. Taylor. Grant’s tenor voice was chosen by annual auditions for junior and senior music students to perform with the Symphony’s Spring Concert. He is also a guitarist and teaches a number of students in this field.

Student ensemble series concert shows April 16

Boise State University’s Music Department will present another concert in the “Student Ensemble Series” Tuesday, April 16 at 8:15 pm. The BSU Percussion ensemble and Keyboard Percussion Ensemble will present their annual spring concert in the Music Auditorium, under the direction of Dr. John Baldwin. The eleven-member percussion ensemble will open the program with Benchescutto’s “Rondeau for Percussion” to be followed by Carlos Chavez percussion classic “Fusca for Percussion.”

Featured in the program will be trumpet soloist Barbara Wertz and clarinet soloist Dave Hill playing Sarasin’s “Rimini Rondo” and drummers Patrick Kirby and also sax player Kevin Chase playing “Fantasy Doo” by Hopkins.

The Percussion Ensemble will also play Arthur Larsen’s “No Two Crystals Alike” a composition featuring keyboard instruments augmented by electric bass and guitar.

Singing Moon’s tune

Dragnet would have been tighter than tight with “switch” crowd. And then, or course, there are THE BELIEVERS. Two of whom, at last count, spoke English without an accent. The remaining Moonmen seemed to be the faithful, following Moon all over the world. Finally, a “Yes” answer with a few of the old time favorites of the choir set (no requests allowed). This is followed by a reading of telegrams supporting Sunshine and company. Senators Humphry, Fullbright and Helms were this evening’s telegraphers. It’s not surprising that these particular senators should support Mr. Moon. Humphry will kiss the ass of anyone old enough to vote. Fullbright somehow manages to offend everybody, and Helms usually doesn’t know on Monday what he will believe on Tuesday. Finally the Rev. Moon gives his pitch, but an added surprise! An interpreter! Sometimes Moon doesn’t speak English. So we sit and listen to first one, then the other, tell us the same thing. Lots of like a Cherych and Chung album. I’d wanted to talk with Sunshine, but his Charley McCarthy hasn’t scene the word. Some of that old-time religion, dress it up in a toedro, and you have the Rev. Sun’s ma, Moon, knocks over my shoulder and see what I Composer’s Residence. The new opus is dedicated to the Boise Community Symphony. "PLEASE HELP MAKE NEXT WEEK THE BIGGEST OF MY CAREER." The brewers of Budweiser, in cooperation with ABC Radio, asked me to remind you that April 22-27 is National College "Pitch In!" Week. All week, all over America, students like you will be filling up litter cones like no tomorrow. If there's an official "Pitch In!" Week program in your campus community, join up. If there isn't, you can still support the "Pitch In!" program by pick up any litter in your path next week and bring it to me. Thanks, see you then.

The University of Nevada Reno runs in dual meet with Boise State, April 20

The University of Nevada Reno track and field team brings its 32-strong and nine win record to Boise State University’s Bronco Stadium Saturday morning, April 20.

The meet will begin with the field events starting at 10:30 a.m. and the track events will start at 11 a.m. There will be an admission charge for all except Boise State students.

Boise State, with a 3-1 dual meet record after its 100-53 win last weekend over Weber State, will be facing some very tough competition according to Bronco coach Ed Jacoby.

The Wolf Pack have three team members who hold foreign national records. Three-ender Ham Menet is the Norwegian national champion in that event and has a 52-8\1\2 credit this season who turned in a 14:20.2 time this year of 14:07. This year he has a 52-8\1\2 and Fred Williams, UNR, 56.0; Bruce Williams, UNR, 56.0; 220-Sam Jenkins, BSU, 21.3; and Rollie Steeplechase, Hans Menet, UNR, 1:55.0; Long Jump-Christian Tebadulza, 4: 11.0; Jim Bonnell, Ore-Idaho tournament Thursday that they finished in that horrible weather. They were consistent, but didn’t have anyone shoot very well. They will be facing some very tough competition.

Competing for the Broncos at the Ore-Idaho will be Rich Stanwood, Jeff Rodwell, Steve Farris, Keith Ayres, Tom Williamson and Don Towery.

After taking a third place finish in their own Bronco Invitational last week, Boise State’s golf team will pack its bags and head for Latazrane, Oregon and the Ore-Idaho tournament Thursday and Friday, April 11-12.

“Some other teams expected to compete at the Ore-Ida include the College of Idaho, Eastern Oregon and Treasure Valley.” commented Bronco head coach Mike Montgomery. “I am still concerned with our Sian Andrew BSUI4-0. tournament,” commented Bronco. Williamson and Don Towery. They will be facing some very tough competition.

Baseballers get practice time

With the next varsity set not until April 26, the Boise State baseball team will have plenty of time to work out on the practice field. The next game for the Bronco varsity will be April 16 in Lewiston against Lewis Clark State.

Boise State has a 14-14 season record (2-4 in the Big Sky) after a full weekend of baseball. They took one game of a three-game series with the Idaho Vandals and then split a double-header with Lewis Clark.

Vaughn said, “We are hitting the ball and the pitching isn’t that bad but our defense has been our big problem. We have a lot of time to work on our defense.”

The Bronco’s fielding is now .939 compared to their opponents’ .952. The team has jacked up its batting average and is now hitting .277 to their .272.

Senior Karl Benson, from Pullman, Wash., is the leading hitter on the team with a .341 average and he is followed closely by senior Gary Allen with .340. The leading pitcher is junior Paul Lever with an ERA of 2.60 and a record of 2-3. Two pitchers with four wins are Scott Humaker and Nick Mitchell.
