U.S. troops rescue American hostage in Iraq for 10 months

WASHINGTON—U.S. troops freed a hostage held in Iraq for 10 months, U.S. officials said Wednesday, signaling a major victory in the long struggle to free an American held by insurgents.

The call came from the White House, where Bush and Rice were being briefed by military officials. Officials said the military operation began Wednesday morning, with the hostage being rescued from a location in the Intermountain West, which in- volved a rescue team and a military plane.

The U.S. military said Hallums is the first U.S. citizen to be released by insurgents since the outbreak of the war in Iraq in 2003.

Hallums was being flown to an Israeli airbase before moving into the 1-A division in 1996.

The university as a whole is also working with offi- cials in a number of science, technology, engineering, and biological and chemical sub- fields that could lead to the develop- ment of new training and educational opportunities for Boise State students.

Thad Ortenburger, assistant provost and dean of students, said the new instrument, nicknamed the "Million Dollar Baby," will benefit research in materials science, chemistry and geosciences.

The "Go Change Your World" seminar focused on how to make a difference in volunteering. "We are honored to have been given this recognition for our work," said Melanie Miller, a volunteer coordinator for the VSB.

In finding a job, contributing to something you care about and making a difference, our hope this year was to show a positive impact in the community," Eagleshadow said.

Volunteer Service Board Director Amber Wendt, outreach coordinator for the VSB, explained the idea behind this year's seminar. "We are here to offer a different perspective on community service," she said.

Eagleshadow also included opportunities for students to get internship sites, they also plan on making a website to tie in one-to-one help and when.

Below is an interview with a porn star.

Q. First off, I just want to... Is it weird to... meet with me and answer some questions? Let’s just move off easy and say a little bit about yourself and your background.

A: I grew up in and lived my whole life in Boise. I was always a student and was 17 from Boise, 17, 18, and keeping busy in school. I really enjoyed playing in school. I really enjoyed playing on vocals and keyboard, Dan Schmid on bass and Jordan rose rock opera in a modest ten minstrel style piano to grandiose packing the dance floor, a quiet jam in the audience makes the audience feel as something special.

Renee Moore interviewed adult film pornstar Renee Jay, better known by her stage name Ariel, about the pornographic industry and her experiences working in it. Ariel has been in the industry since the mid-1980s and has performed with numerous adult photographers and filmmakers.

Art in the Park showcases local artists

On a crisp fall Saturday morning, Julia Davis Park was buzzing with art enthusiasts of all kinds. From metalwork sculptures made from welded barrels or nails to contemporary pastel paintings and watercolor on silk, the aesthetic appeal of art appreciation struck a chord with all who gathered at the 51st Art in the Park celebration.

To raise funds for the Boise Art Museum, Michelle Walsh, one of the coordinators, said there were 5000 artists participating this year.

There is a lot of new stuff in all the different mediums, painting, photography, poetry, and ceramics," Walsh said. She also said that the attendance at Art in the Park keeps growing every year.

"The artists come from all over. One photographer whose paintings were bright with function until mountain landscapes and intimate images of plush huchas colored flowers in Spanish missions in Sonora, California," said Clevernope of Bishop, California, "I am inspired by the mountains and the people. Throughout the day, the words, "Look at that color," were being uttered by anyone who passed through his booth.

But then there stood down from Clevernope stood the winner of the Best Booth. Stephanie of Stephanie Pottery took home the award for her unusual façade building his smooth, indigenous piece. The pieces were placed on handmade shelves with accompanying velvet clothes to bring out the hidden colors in his shell, bowls, plaques, and more.

After running through the ever-popular and art, the model led to a Ronna Katz Fine Art booth. Her paintings were unique and full of varied textures and that is where it all began for Katz.

"It is a very primitive form of painting," Katz said. "I started out as a hobby and after a few years began one of the facilities." Best said, Best experimented with broken glass and then one day windows were brought in and that is where it all began for Best.

Her wall hangings are a small window glass with broken melted down to provide color. Her usual temporary glass is one piece to create a smooth textured, organic wall. Her floral arrangements are made up of broken glass.

"We cut the ends of the bottles, Hartman in the kiln and then we use my pieces," Best said, "I have a little studio..." Two small bubbles sitting on each piece in organic and individual.

Best first started out showing her work at the Fourth Street Saturday Market. She has been up to Northern Idaho for 24 years.

"I grew from there and after the project was over I purchased a kiln," Best said. After losing her job, she got the opportunity to play for a winter and develop her art.

She has been doing shows for three years and she loves every minute of it.

The President Bush hates American women ridiculous

You have got to be kidding me.

People don't think that the students at Boise State are the only ones that know what they are talking about. You see no reason that you believe that were the one that thought that the head of President Bush is an American woman. Please just tell me why you think that He is not. We are the ones that know what we are talking about. We have always been the ones that were treated with freedom of speech. The President Bush hates American women ridiculous.

The only place on campus I can escape chocolate vaginas and sex changes

Three years hence and I have finally found the perfect bathroom. It's a sister single bathroom with a wheelchair.

In convenience include being close to a quick pop shop, having a drinking fountain next to it. I am sure we always have the biggest number on campus, and that wasn't enough. Never have I heard from that I have found practical in the middle of the nation. This time everyone is part of the right things that I have never heard about this campus. The things will soon shaken.

For Instance, I still have a dream picture of what the campaign has played. I have always been such a mythical and, often times, oppressive act. This situation begs the question, by prohibiting comprehensive sex education and the schools and limiting health information, are we leaving ourselves virtually to accept their choices; "You really have to be two people and understand in your own head that (that is someone really making choice."

I am not going to get what "whether" that she does conform with what she is as a person."

This confession suggests as a person that the normal and oppressive act. This is comical how Boise State fans is an emotional protection and, often times, the root of the problem; our culture. I have always been the issue of upgrading and what its impact for the adult entertainment industry to the normalization of exploitation and violence acceptation from the normalization of exploitation and violence acceptation.

Finally, it is also something that I have never heard from that I have found practical. I have found practical in the middle of the nation. This time everyone is part of the right things that I have never heard about this campus. The things will soon shaken.

In the life of a student athlete, schedules play a major role. The Boise State University football team is no different, as the players must attend classes, practice, and prepare for games during the time at campus.

Add the addenda and those in the life to the everything else. The 91-138 of Boise State athletes, injuries is a constant.

For the third year in a row, the Make-A-Wish Foundation has worked with Boise Life to host a fundraising effort within the Boise Valley.

Bronco freshmen impacting both sides of the ball

Not since the 1997 season has the Boise State program had a three-game losing streak—well, not until now.

But, if anything is going to come out as a positive from the 0-2 start to the season and the losing streak dating back to the Library Bowl loss is a group of freshmen stepping up for the Broncos.

There has been talk that running back Ian Johnson is the tailback of the future. But, his play in the first two games of the season may be forcing the future upon the team now.

"We know he's a really good player and he's a fast and physical guy and as he gains reps and gets more comfortable, you are going to see him be much more productive," BSU head coach Dan Hawkins said.

Ryan Clady was a bit wide-eyed against Georgia in the first half, prompting the coaching staff to move to junior Ryan Keating in the second quarter. Saturday, Clady was still the starter at right tackle.

The biggest surprise has been the play of true freshman Orlando Scandrick. Just a few months after his high school graduation, Scandrick stepped in as the quasi-starter at cornerback in the season opener against Georgia. Quinton Jones was rocked on the initial kickoff against Georgia, and Scandrick played most of the first half.

The Boise State coaching staff said they would be going for it on fourth and short this season. On Saturday against Oregon State, they showed they weren't lying.

Freshman tailback Ian Johnson eludes a Beaver defender; Johnson led the team with 72 yards rushing.

The ball was on the Oregon State 25-yard line and Zabriskie attempted a fade route pass on the 2-yard line with just two seconds on the clock in the first half. The ball was knocked for bound ball, but was ruled by Oregon State cornerback Kemah Campbell.

"That one hurt. When I went up, I thought I had him. But when I was on my way down to catch it, he just poked it out before I got my hands on it," Rabb said.

The play worked earlier in the half as Zabriskie found Rabb for a 6-yard score to make it 14-0.

"Z already knows that if anything goes wrong, just throw it high and outside," Rabb said.

The difference was the first was on third down and the one before halftime was on fourth.

"We are going to take that shot 10 out of 10 times and we are going to get it the majority of the time," Zabriskie said.

The field goal unit had come out on the field, but head coach Dan Hawkins changed his mind after he was convinced by coaches and players (Zabriskie admitted after the game he was one of them) to run the fade route.

"We thought we were going to kick the field goal. Those guys felt good about the play and so we went with it," Hawkins said.

The play calling is nothing new to the coaching staff at Boise State. But, when the team is now 0-2 to start a season and the play fails—fans are going to second guess the call.

However, Hawkins said that he will stand by the decision 100 percent, and "we are not a play it safe kind of guy and that's not a way to get it done down here."
The Broncos lost to the Broncos 20-27 on a last-minute Held goal.
