Arbiter, April 17

Students of Boise State University
Parking fees expected to increase 15% this fall

BY JESSICA WIGLEY
News Writer

Currently, students are paying $59.00 for a general parking permit and $88.00 for a reserved permit. These rates are scheduled to change over the next two years, according to a proposed 15 percent fee increase for the 2006-2007 school year. As of fall 2008, students pay $64.00 for a general permit and $92.00 for a reserved permit.

"This increase is mostly needed because we are building a parking structure, improving some lots, and adding some security features to the garages," said Everett, director of Parking and Transportation.

Although this is the first increase in permits since 2003, Everett explained that had the increase been implemented, students would be paying more than 15 percent increase these next four years.

Comparing BSU to its peer institutions, the average price students are paying at other universities is currently $214.00.

According to Everett, there are about 6,600 parking spaces on campus, of which roughly 40 percent general, 30 percent reserved and 30 percent other (residents, visitor and disabled).

Due to the desire to fill parking lots to capacity, parking permits are sold out. The number of permits sold this past school year was unavailable from parking services. "This is the standard in the industry and we can do it because most students are not here every day for eight hours," said Everett.

Rejecting the proposed increases would leave Boise State with limited options. Some changes might include restricting freshmen from bringing vehicles to campus similar to the policy at Portland State University, limit employee and fac-

PARKING AT Boise State

Other services will continue to be provided for staff and faculty. These include the free bus pass for the Boise City Bus, free jump start and courtesy services, and a free shuttle in the Boise State vicinity.

The proposed plan suggests that more educational buildings be built as close to existing buildings as possible. Everett said in order to keep the walking distance between classes short and more convenient for students, buildings are going to replace parking lots.

Nobel Prize Winner Stiglitz visits Boise State

BY JESSICA WIGLEY
News Writer

Nobel-prize-winning economist Joseph Stiglitz filled the Jordan Ballroom of the SUB Wednesday night with his "Economics of Information" lecture.

This new branch of economics that Stiglitz helped create explores the consequences of information asymmetries. His work has explored, in simple terms, the circumstances in which markets don't work well and how government intervention can help.

His theory is utilized by many theoretical and political analysts. President Bob Kustra opened the lecture with the aim of the event.

"The distinguished lecture series strives to select speakers from a variety of disciplines and backgrounds who have played a role on the national and international stage," Kustra said.

Stiglitz has done so through his three global contributions epitomized throughout his economic career.

Regarded as a member of the high school debate team, Stiglitz found interest in public policy at an early age. Stiglitz's passion for economics started in his junior year of high school where he read a book on the Jubilee of 1980's, he also looked for its economic impact.

As a result, the proposed parking structure on Belmont and Lindon, one block south of the SUB, will have 750 parking spaces plus 800 square feet of office space. How the office space will be utilized is underdetermined at the time.

"While 15 percent seems like a large increase for one year...as you compare rates to the City of Boise and one peer universities, Boise State parking is still a good value and low cost," said Everett.

Other services will continue to be provided for students, staff and faculty. These include the free bus pass for the Boise City Bus, free jump start and courtesy services, and a free shuttle in the Boise State vicinity.

For more information, contact parking services at 266-PARK.

Stiglitz explained the concept of information asymmetry which markets don't work well. In simple terms, the circumstances in which markets don't work well and how government intervention can help. His theory is utilized by many theoretical and political analysts, President Bob Kustra opened the lecture with the aim of the event.

"The distinguished lecture series strives to select speakers from a variety of disciplines and backgrounds who have played a role on the national and international stage," Kustra said.
London — In the past three months, Muslims around the world have responded to the attacks on Muslim men in Bangladesh, and in Afghanistan, the death sentence for converting to Christianity. Meanwhile, two populist Christian preachers in the US have called for driving out of the country those who believe in Islam or write about it.

The two preachers, the Rev. Robert Hanning and the Rev. John MacArthur, are well known for their anti-Muslim rhetoric. Hanning, for example, has repeatedly called for the United States to build a wall on its southern border to keep Muslims out. MacArthur, on the other hand, has called for the United States to declare war on Iran.

Despite these calls for action, many Muslims feel that their voices are not being heard. In the wake of the attacks on Muslim men in Bangladesh and Afghanistan, some Muslims have called for a more constructive response.

One such response is the development of a new organization, the Muslim American Coalition for Action (MACA). MACA is a group of Muslim Americans who are dedicated to promoting understanding and respect between Muslims and non-Muslims.

The organization has been established to address the needs of Muslim Americans in the US, and to provide a platform for Muslims to express their views and concerns. The organization is led by a team of experienced Muslim leaders, including former political activists and community organizers.

MACA is committed to promoting understanding and respect between Muslims and non-Muslims, and to promoting peace and stability in the US and around the world. The organization is dedicated to working with other groups and organizations to achieve these goals.

In addition to its focus on promoting understanding and respect, MACA is also committed to addressing the needs of Muslim Americans in the US. The organization is working to ensure that Muslim Americans have access to the resources and support they need to succeed in their lives.

MACA is open to all Muslim Americans, regardless of their background or beliefs. The organization is committed to working for the rights of all Muslims, and to promoting a society that is open to all.

In conclusion, the Muslim American Coalition for Action (MACA) is an organization that is dedicated to promoting understanding and respect between Muslims and non-Muslims, and to promoting peace and stability in the US and around the world. The organization is committed to working for the rights of all Muslims, and to promoting a society that is open to all.

For more information about MACA, please visit www.maca.org. To learn more about the work of MACA, please follow them on Facebook and Twitter.
Poll reveals college students more invested in religion

BY JENNIFER MARTINEZ

Washington, D.C. — A majority of college students say religion is important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.

In a telephone survey of 1,200 American college students, 7 in 10 said they think of religion as very important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.

In a telephone survey of 1,200 American college students, 7 in 10 said they think of religion as very important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.

In a telephone survey of 1,200 American college students, 7 in 10 said they think of religion as very important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.

In a telephone survey of 1,200 American college students, 7 in 10 said they think of religion as very important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.

In a telephone survey of 1,200 American college students, 7 in 10 said they think of religion as very important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.

In a telephone survey of 1,200 American college students, 7 in 10 said they think of religion as very important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.

In a telephone survey of 1,200 American college students, 7 in 10 said they think of religion as very important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.

In a telephone survey of 1,200 American college students, 7 in 10 said they think of religion as very important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.

In a telephone survey of 1,200 American college students, 7 in 10 said they think of religion as very important in their lives and that they're concerned about the moral and political direction, a finding that could influence the way they vote in upcoming elections, according to a Harvard University Institute of Politics poll that was released Tuesday.
Theater Arts Department prepares to open new production

FRANCY MARCOTTE

On April 19, the Boise State Theatre Arts Department will open its most recent production, "Touch," a play that will surely tug at the heartstrings of anyone who has ever experienced disabling deafness.

The play is directed by Theatre Arts Maggy Leeds, who chose the script and describes it as "very contemporary." "Touch" was written by Tom提炼

Gillman, an author of 12 plays and several screenplays. The play was originally produced in Arizona in 2004. It was also performed in Britain in 2006 and featured Tom Everett Scott ("That Thing You Do!") as the lead character.

The fact that a student is directing "Touch" makes it an intriguing show before even opening. The play is set in a classroom, and the setting helps to create a realistic atmosphere. The play is about a man who has to deal with his deafness, and it explores the emotional and psychological aspects of the condition.

In conclusion, "Touch" is a play that is sure to tug at the heartstrings of anyone who has ever experienced disabling deafness. It is a play that will surely tug at the heartstrings of anyone who has ever experienced disabling deafness.
Local artist on the rise

BY DANIEL KEDISH
Assistant Culture Editor

Making your way to the "Big Time" is not an easy journey; and while some musicians reach their desired threshold, others topple at the bottom of the ladder to success. However, one local Treasure Valley artist is giving it his all and making a name for himself with his acoustic sound, emotionally inspired lyrics and stunning performance.

As the rain sprinkled across the sweeping foothills and flatlands surrounding Eagle's Rembrandt Coffee House, Nate Fowler brought an atmosphere of comfort, openness and a name for himself with his acoustic sound, emotionally inspired lyrics and stunning performance. As the audience members stepped down their Chai teas, mochas, and walls lined with artwork for sale, the stage for what became a night of music any Howie Day or Jacob Delefon fan would appreciate appears on his soon to be released CD, "The Cooking," to reflect the qualities of a hit. With chilling lyrics about separation from a best friend accompanied with mellow rhythms, the song can move any listener in one way or another.

As the rain sprinkled across the sweeping foothills and flatlands surrounding Eagle's Rembrandt Coffee House, Nate Fowler brought an atmosphere of comfort, openness and a name for himself with his acoustic sound, emotionally inspired lyrics and stunning performance. As the audience members stepped down their Chai teas, mochas, and walls lined with artwork for sale, the stage for what became a night of music any Howie Day or Jacob Delefon fan would appreciate appears on his soon to be released CD, "The Cooking," to reflect the qualities of a hit. With chilling lyrics about separation from a best friend accompanied with mellow rhythms, the song can move any listener in one way or another.

As the rain sprinkled across the sweeping foothills and flatlands surrounding Eagle's Rembrandt Coffee House, Nate Fowler brought an atmosphere of comfort, openness and a name for himself with his acoustic sound, emotionally inspired lyrics and stunning performance. As the audience members stepped down their Chai teas, mochas, and walls lined with artwork for sale, the stage for what became a night of music any Howie Day or Jacob Delefon fan would appreciate appears on his soon to be released CD, "The Cooking," to reflect the qualities of a hit. With chilling lyrics about separation from a best friend accompanied with mellow rhythms, the song can move any listener in one way or another.

As the rain sprinkled across the sweeping foothills and flatlands surrounding Eagle's Rembrandt Coffee House, Nate Fowler brought an atmosphere of comfort, openness and a name for himself with his acoustic sound, emotionally inspired lyrics and stunning performance. As the audience members stepped down their Chai teas, mochas, and walls lined with artwork for sale, the stage for what became a night of music any Howie Day or Jacob Delefon fan would appreciate appears on his soon to be released CD, "The Cooking," to reflect the qualities of a hit. With chilling lyrics about separation from a best friend accompanied with mellow rhythms, the song can move any listener in one way or another.
BY MARCUS OGAWA
Special to The Arbiter

Tucked amidst the bounds of national retail chains and mainstream corporate clothing, one can almost find the nitty-gritty downtown: the only store in Boise that is visually in line with up-and-coming BoDo development downtown, resides the chains and mainstream corporate cuisine at the scale clothing boutiques found in bigger cities. To their wardrobe or just find a funky accent piece fresh air for those consumers looking to add flair attention to angular detail, Funktion is a breath of to boost their basics. It seems to be the love child of Madonna and Gwen Stefani, opened Funktion in December 2002. A, marketing career in Ketchum after 11 years to follow her true passion: fashion. She decided to bring something different to Boise, and fill a niche mar, and younger people want nicer denim for going out. "She also said, "People want to differentiate themselves. They want to go out without seeing the same shirt as them at the bar." For this reason, Butler has made it one of her business philosophies to keep orders limited to only six of one piece, making any purchase an investment in individuality and fashion.

The celestial experience of 30 Seconds to Mars

BY APRIL RUMORE
Culture Writer

I'm not gonna lie. 30 Seconds to Mars is quite the tip-top. Their 2005 CD release of "A Beautiful Lie" is an awesome complement of anger, passion and deep feelings. Edition runs rampant with classic breakup lyrics of "came back too soon...I'm finished with you" and life-observational lyrics of "Why you live and you die?". Highlights from Jared Leto's song music of a harmonic ballad chorus, to a rapid transition in screaming words of pain and emphasis encompass the songs.

Lead singer Jared Leto, with the help of the band's guitarist player and bass player, wanted to convey his music to be honest and pure reflections of his personal experiences and the genuine consequential feelings that resulted from them. "We wanted to focus on the inside of the song," Leto says. "To cut away anything extraneous. To get the truth of it all. As dark as some of the moments can be, there is always a huge sense of optimism and celebration." Leto actually wrote the songs from the band's "Beautiful Lie" throughout the tour of the band's first CD. Amongst the traveling and bus rides in five tour of the band's first CD. Amongst the traveling and bus rides in five

The Arbiter for a review of Sunday's 30 Seconds to Mars Concert

30 Seconds to Mars Concert

Album delves deep into the band's emotions

APRIL RUMORE
Culture Writer

"A Beautiful Lie" is an awesome complement of anger, passion and deep feelings. Edition runs rampant with classic breakup lyrics of "came back too soon...I'm finished with you" and life-observational lyrics of "Why you live and you die?". Highlights from Jared Leto's song music of a harmonic ballad chorus, to a rapid transition in screaming words of pain and emphasis encompass the songs.

Lead singer Jared Leto, with the help of the band's guitarist player and bass player, wanted to convey his music to be honest and pure reflections of his personal experiences and the genuine consequential feelings that resulted from them. "We wanted to focus on the inside of the song," Leto says. "To cut away anything extraneous. To get the truth of it all. As dark as some of the moments can be, there is always a huge sense of optimism and celebration." Leto actually wrote the songs from the band's "Beautiful Lie" throughout the tour of the band's first CD. Amongst the traveling and bus rides in five tour of the band's first CD. Amongst the traveling and bus rides in five

The Arbiter for a review of Sunday's 30 Seconds to Mars Concert

30 Seconds to Mars Concert

Album delves deep into the band's emotions
America's feeling a little... gassy

Exxon Mobil overtakes Wal-Mart as Americas top business

BY JACOB GOOD

BY BRANDON NOLTA

BY BRANDON NOLTA

Opinion Writer

Senator's need's only a few weeks away

Journalism Editor

405 University Drive

The Arbiter

Phone 724-299-3197

The Arbiter

Fax 402-896-9940

E-mail: letters@arbiteronline.com

www.arbiteronline.com

2006 by Arbor SMB

President: Drew Mayes

Sports Editor: Heather English

Opinion Editor: Drew Mayes

Business Editor: Mike Field

Design Director: Sarah Scaggs

Culture Editor: Laura Ramey

Arbiter Online is an independent student publication.

E-mail: editors@arbiteronline.com

http://www.arbiteronline.com

2006 by Arbor SMB

President: Drew Mayes

Sports Editor: Heather English

Opinion Editor: Drew Mayes

Business Editor: Mike Field

Design Director: Sarah Scaggs

Culture Editor: Laura Ramey

Arbiter Online is an independent student publication.

E-mail: editors@arbiteronline.com

http://www.arbiteronline.com

April 17, 2006

ProCon

http://www.procon.org

News

http://www.newsweek.com

Politics

http://www.cnn.com

Sports

http://www.espn.com

Business

http://money.cnn.com

Weather

http://www.weather.com
White team wins B&O

As Bush Hamdan, No. 3, bumps the ball on third and goal, Hamdan had led the White team on a 20-yard drive before turning over the ball. The White team won the scrimmage 7-0. The game was scoreless through three quarters of play.

Shields named WAC player of the week

Boise State's Luke Shields has been named the XBox Live Western Athletic Conference Men's Tennis Player of the Week for the week of April 12.

Shields, a sophomore from Grand Junction, Colo., led Boise State, ranked No. 23 by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with a 2-0 record last week. The Broncos knocked off Santa Clara (10-0), Montana (6-1) and Montana State (6-1).

Shields was highlighted in the Broncos' 6-1 win over the Gauchos last week. He defeated the Gauchos' No. 6 player with a score of 6-4, 7-5.

Correction

In the weekly Arkansas Democrat-Gazette, in the lead coach of the BSU women's basketball team, the name of coach Mark Tichenor was incorrectly used. The correct name is Mark Tichenor.

Correction:

Shields named WAC player of the week

Boise State's Luke Shields has been named the XBox Live Western Athletic Conference Men's Tennis Player of the Week for the week of April 12.

Shields, a sophomore from Grand Junction, Colo., led Boise State, ranked No. 23 by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with a 2-0 record last week. The Broncos knocked off Santa Clara (10-0), Montana (6-1) and Montana State (6-1).

Shields was highlighted in the Broncos' 6-1 win over the Gauchos last week. He defeated the Gauchos' No. 6 player with a score of 6-4, 7-5.

White team wins B&O

As Bush Hamdan, No. 3, bumps the ball on third and goal, Hamdan had led the White team on a 20-yard drive before turning over the ball. The White team won the scrimmage 7-0. The game was scoreless through three quarters of play.

Shields named WAC player of the week

Boise State's Luke Shields has been named the XBox Live Western Athletic Conference Men's Tennis Player of the Week for the week of April 12.

Shields, a sophomore from Grand Junction, Colo., led Boise State, ranked No. 23 by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with a 2-0 record last week. The Broncos knocked off Santa Clara (10-0), Montana (6-1) and Montana State (6-1).

Shields was highlighted in the Broncos' 6-1 win over the Gauchos last week. He defeated the Gauchos' No. 6 player with a score of 6-4, 7-5.

Correction

In the weekly Arkansas Democrat-Gazette, in the lead coach of the BSU women's basketball team, the name of coach Mark Tichenor was incorrectly used. The correct name is Mark Tichenor.

Correction:

Shields named WAC player of the week

Boise State's Luke Shields has been named the XBox Live Western Athletic Conference Men's Tennis Player of the Week for the week of April 12.

Shields, a sophomore from Grand Junction, Colo., led Boise State, ranked No. 23 by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with a 2-0 record last week. The Broncos knocked off Santa Clara (10-0), Montana (6-1) and Montana State (6-1).

Shields was highlighted in the Broncos' 6-1 win over the Gauchos last week. He defeated the Gauchos' No. 6 player with a score of 6-4, 7-5.

Correction

In the weekly Arkansas Democrat-Gazette, in the lead coach of the BSU women's basketball team, the name of coach Mark Tichenor was incorrectly used. The correct name is Mark Tichenor.

Correction:

Shields named WAC player of the week

Boise State's Luke Shields has been named the XBox Live Western Athletic Conference Men's Tennis Player of the Week for the week of April 12.

Shields, a sophomore from Grand Junction, Colo., led Boise State, ranked No. 23 by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with a 2-0 record last week. The Broncos knocked off Santa Clara (10-0), Montana (6-1) and Montana State (6-1).

Shields was highlighted in the Broncos' 6-1 win over the Gauchos last week. He defeated the Gauchos' No. 6 player with a score of 6-4, 7-5.

Correction

In the weekly Arkansas Democrat-Gazette, in the lead coach of the BSU women's basketball team, the name of coach Mark Tichenor was incorrectly used. The correct name is Mark Tichenor.

Correction:

Shields named WAC player of the week

Boise State's Luke Shields has been named the XBox Live Western Athletic Conference Men's Tennis Player of the Week for the week of April 12.

Shields, a sophomore from Grand Junction, Colo., led Boise State, ranked No. 23 by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with a 2-0 record last week. The Broncos knocked off Santa Clara (10-0), Montana (6-1) and Montana State (6-1).

Shields was highlighted in the Broncos' 6-1 win over the Gauchos last week. He defeated the Gauchos' No. 6 player with a score of 6-4, 7-5.

Correction

In the weekly Arkansas Democrat-Gazette, in the lead coach of the BSU women's basketball team, the name of coach Mark Tichenor was incorrectly used. The correct name is Mark Tichenor.

Correction:

Shields named WAC player of the week

Boise State's Luke Shields has been named the XBox Live Western Athletic Conference Men's Tennis Player of the Week for the week of April 12.

Shields, a sophomore from Grand Junction, Colo., led Boise State, ranked No. 23 by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with a 2-0 record last week. The Broncos knocked off Santa Clara (10-0), Montana (6-1) and Montana State (6-1).

Shields was highlighted in the Broncos' 6-1 win over the Gauchos last week. He defeated the Gauchos' No. 6 player with a score of 6-4, 7-5.

Correction

In the weekly Arkansas Democrat-Gazette, in the lead coach of the BSU women's basketball team, the name of coach Mark Tichenor was incorrectly used. The correct name is Mark Tichenor.

Correction:

Shields named WAC player of the week

Boise State's Luke Shields has been named the XBox Live Western Athletic Conference Men's Tennis Player of the Week for the week of April 12.

Shields, a sophomore from Grand Junction, Colo., led Boise State, ranked No. 23 by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with a 2-0 record last week. The Broncos knocked off Santa Clara (10-0), Montana (6-1) and Montana State (6-1).

Shields was highlighted in the Broncos' 6-1 win over the Gauchos last week. He defeated the Gauchos' No. 6 player with a score of 6-4, 7-5.
DeLaet finishes tied for second place

DeLaet has finished in the top 25 in each of the Boise State tournaments, a mark that he has been able to maintain since his return to the team.

DeLaet has only been able to compete three other times since 2007: DeLaet was also tied for fourth in the 2007-08 season.

The finish also puts him in sole possession of second place in 2006 in a season win.

With a three-round total of 66, Boise State is tied for 12th place in the field. This was the Broncos' third senior, Alanah Carroll in 2006, and the third best outdoor mark in school history.

This was the Broncos' third senior, Alanah Carroll in 2006, and the third best collegiate mark in the men's javelin this season. Carroll is also the third best outdoor mark in school history.

She has just returned to the team, after missing the last 10 matches of the season. She has an advantage to win it, Biorkman said.

"With the home crowd, we'll definitely have an advantage," Biorkman said. "It will be great, my last year, having the WAC tournament here. I'm really looking forward to it."

Boise State will host the WAC Tournament on April 15, leading the Broncos to a fourth place finish in 2004. He returned to the team this season.

He posted the team's second-best collegiate mark in the men's javelin this season. Carroll is also the third best outdoor mark in school history.

He has just returned to the team, after missing the last 10 matches of the season. He has an advantage to win it, Biorkman said.

"With the home crowd, we'll definitely have an advantage," Biorkman said. "It will be great, my last year, having the WAC tournament here. I'm really looking forward to it."

Boise State will host the WAC Tournament on April 15, leading the Broncos to a fourth place finish in 2004. He returned to the team this season.
Today's Birthdays: 04-17-00

By Linda C. Black

The day's rating: 10 is the easiest day. It is a good day to face new challenges. By doing so you will better the best you've done before. Go farther, faster, higher with faith.

At work, however, keep after your questions coming at you like those years of training have been. Write them down and send them to people in power. You will be afforded it, as your place increases

Today is an 8 - Don't let the answers be denied. Your intuition then is a great ally. Even if they are ready to succeed, but information at first causes a problem. You may feel uncomfortable.

Africas are ready for fish. 921-362-7150.

Web site: www.arbiternet.com

Personnel Plus 5900 Overland Rd Boise 378-8700

Phone Survey Reps $5.00 immediate openings $50.00 sign-on bonus!

No experience Needed - Training Provided
Great hours on weekends!
Work in a fun, casual office conducting business phone surveys. 5-hour work week. Monthly bonuses. Make up to $55.00/hr.

For more information on the survey insanity call 208-602-8380.

Personnel Plus 5900 Overland Rd Boise 378-8700

Bring in ad for sign-on bonus

Internet Sales Reps $50.00 SIGN-ON BONUS!

No experience needed - training provided
Need full-time flexibility with your schedule?

Try our 5-hour work week. Immediate openings. Make up to $55.00/hr.

For more information on the survey insanity call 208-602-8380.